Ziegler said that as of midday there was "no change" in the status of staff. In response to a question, he said "no resignations have been submitted." He sidestepped a question whether Nixon had asked for any resignations.

With Nixon now conducting his own, personal investigation of how much White House staffers were involved in the scandal, these were among developments:

—The New York Times said summaries of transcripts of some bugged telephone conversations at Democratic headquarters at the Watergate were sent regularly to the White House. The Times account quoting federal investigators said the identity was not learned of who received the reports at the White House.

—The Washington Star-News, a Nixon supporter in both 1968 and 1972, published a lengthy editorial calling on Nixon to fire immediately staff members — including his closest aides — who were involved in any way in the Watergate.

New Paris Talks Aimed At Saving Viet Peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In an apparent effort to keep the Vietnam cease-fire agreement from completely falling apart, the White House said today Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho would return to Paris to discuss violations of the pact.

White House sources said the meetings would begin about the middle of next month.

To lay the groundwork for those sessions, William Sullivan, deputy assistant secretary of state, and North Vietnam's foreign minister, Nguyen Co Thach, will meet Friday morning in Paris.

State Department sources said Sullivan planned to depart tonight.

Announcement of the meeting between Kissinger and Tho, chief negotiators of the Vietnam settlement, came a day after the United States formally accused Hanoi of committing "numerous and extremely serious" violations of the agreements and of preparing to open new infiltration routes into South Vietnam.

North Vietnam also has charged the United States and South Vietnam with "flagrant violations."

In making the U.S. accusations Tuesday, the State Department said Hanoi's allegations were "utterly groundless" but that the United States no longer felt bound by the agreement because of North Vietnam's failure to comply with it.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Sullivan and Thach would seek "to prepare a review of the implementation of the Paris agreement and of appropriate measures to bring about the strict implementation of the agreement."

In its announcement of Friday's Sullivan-Thach meeting, Hanoi's diplomatic mission in Paris said it was a move "to prepare an examination of the application of the Paris (peace) treaty and

City Pact Limits Redevelopment

The mayor of San Rafael yesterday presented county supervisors with a signed agreement limiting the scope of the city's redevelopment project in return for county dismissal of two suits blocking the controversial project.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini's offering of the document came just hours after Supervisor Michael Wornum, the swing vote on dropping the suits, said he might change his favorable stand if the city didn't speed up its signing of the agreement.

The agreement says, in effect, that the county will dismiss its suits once the city agrees to limit redevelopment to $6 million of public funds over an eight-year period.

As a result of the city's signing of the document, supervisors are expected next week to formally drop the suits, which allege redevelopment is unconstitutional, among other things, since it siphons off tax revenues from other agencies such as the county.

A spokesman for the Marin Council for Civic Affairs urged the board to continue pressing its suits. The civic affairs council also has threatened to file suit against the San Rafael project on the same grounds.

In a last ditch effort to gain board opposition to the project, Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini, an opponent of the project, presented new tax rate figures on the impact of redevelopment.

For the owner of a $40,000 home living in the redevelopment area, which cuts a wide swath through the city, some $251 of his taxes will be going toward redevelopment in the eighth and final year of the project, Giacomini said.

Giacomini's calculations, based on a 3.8 per cent yearly increase in assessed valuation, were challenged by supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Robert A. Roumiguiere, who said the assessed valuation would increase by about 6 per cent — thus lowering taxes.

"I would urge that this board withdraw its offer and its tendered agreement until this tax impact information on San Rafael residents is promulgated to them and they have had an opportunity to react to it," Giacomini said.

Supervisors rejected the request but said they would discuss it again next week when they consider dropping the suits. (Other supervisors stories pages 6, 7.)

Petaluma's Growth Plan Prompts Suit

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Developers filed suit yesterday in U.S. District Court asking that Petaluma's controlled growth plan be declared unconstitutional.

The action, filed by attorney Malcom A. Misuraca on behalf of the Construction Industry Association of Sonoma County, asks that the city's building limitation of 500 new living units per year be struck down, along with provision for a 200-foot greenbelt around the community set in the city's environmental design plan.

The developers say the ordinance is an attempt to prevent new residents from moving into the community. It also claims that Petaluma will invite court retaliation by neighboring communities which will have to absorb new residents.

"Nothing in the rights of Petaluma residents give them the power to classify themselves as an insular, small town people free to tell others to keep out," the suit maintained.

Jack O'Neel, president of the association and Young America Homes Inc., said members are not opposed to some form of controlled growth, but believe the Petaluma plan to be unconstitutional.

"We're not in favor of unrestricted growth," O'Neel said. "After all, we live here with our families, too."

City officials said they have received no notification of the suit. Mayor Helen Putnam said if notification is received soon, a special meeting of the city council may be called for Monday to discuss the situation.

A measure on the June 12 city ballot asks residents to reaffirm the city growth restrictions.

The court has not set a hearing date on the suit.

Fire Chief Hits Plans For Fairfax Facilities

Construction plans for public safety facilities — for which Fairfax voters last week approved a $300,000 bond issue — are inadequate, Fire Chief Charles Thornton declared last night as he proposed a sweeping redesign of the facilities.

Architectural renderings of a new firehouse and remodeled police station fail to provide for adequate toilet facilities and pose a security threat due to a public right of way between the buildings, Thornton claimed.

The public breezeway should be eliminated, the firehouse building shifted slightly and squared off and interior rooms remodeled, the chief said.

The Fairfax Town Council, receiving Thornton's views with concern, promptly tabled authorization for architect Donald Olsen to proceed with construction plans, pending staff review of the redesign proposal. Councilman Robert R. Souza opposed the delay and colleague Albert E. Gately was absent.

Thornton, appearing before the council with a fistful of drawings, said firehouse restrooms designed by Olsen are inadequate since "you have to walk through the toilet to get to the shower." Provision for a walkway between the remodeled police station and new firehouse, he added, encroaches upon the security of the buildings.

Thornton's request that the buildings be improved by interior and exterior alterations, perhaps including a four-foot shift of structures from their proposed site at Bolinas Road and Park Street, received a mixed reaction from councilmen and audience members.

Souza said Thornton's call for elimination of the public right of way in favor of building security "appears to have merit," a view that prompted disagreement from colleague Frank

Slight Drop In Span Crossings During March

The number of private cars crossing the Golden Gate Bridge dipped by 29,410 trips in March compared to the same month last year.

Bridge district officials attributed the 1.1 per cent drop to increased bus patronage. The total included both weekend and weekday counts, and was arrived at by doubling the number of southbound cars through the toll gates.

The drop put traffic congestion at the 1970 level. District plans call for cutting it back even further. This, however, will require purchase of more buses — a staff proposal stalled by district directors for the next six months pending a study of hiking tolls and fares to offset rising transit deficits.

Sausalito Asks For New Plans

By PAT ANGLE

A multi-million dollar Sausalito waterfront development was sent back to the drawing board — via the planning commission — by the Sausalito City Council last night.

The council asked restaurateur Sam Zakessian to resubmit his proposal to the commission on the ground that it does not conform to zoning on the waterfront or to the city's general plan.

By a 3-2 vote, with Mayor Robin Sweeny and Councilman Stephen A. Fraser dissenting, the council ordered Zakessian to work out the needed changes with the commission and city staff, but did not specify what alterations are needed. The two dissenters wanted firmer rejection of the plan.

The commercial-recreational development, proposed for 20 acres of land and water between Johnson and Litho streets, features a Barbary Coast fishing village, Victorian railroad station and a schooner wharf, all commercially oriented.

It also includes a yacht harbor, shops fashioned from antique railroad cars, and a 120-unit floating hotel.

The project, which may cost as much as $15 million when completed, was rejected last month by the planning commission, which also thought it did not conform to city zoning and regulations.

"The essence of this project, which is 50 per cent tourist retail, is completely at variance with what the city wants," said Fraser. "It would completely paralyze the Caledonia Street area and choke traffic."

Fraser and Mrs. Sweeny wanted to deny Zakessian's appeal of the planning commission's decision, a move that would mean new development plans could not be submitted for one year.

But Councilman Earl F. Dunphy objected and found support from Sally Stanford and Evert Heynneman. "To deny it would be to kill it," he said.

Zakessian said he would be "more than delighted" to return his proposal to the planning commission. "Just don't change the zoning ordinance and make it more restrictive," he pleaded.

He was referring to amendments to the central waterfront zone, scheduled for adoption by the council next Tuesday. If approved, the changes would outlaw almost all retail-commercial establishments on the waterfront.

"Fraser directly designed the central waterfront amendments to kill off my project and he thinks he'll get it passed May 1," Zakessian told the council. "If he does, I'll have to sell off my property and let someone else develop it."

Discussion of the project by the council was limited because an environmental impact report has not been made and City Atty. Leland H. Jordan said councilmen could hear Zakessian's appeal but could not approve the development — or even comment on it extensively until the impact report is ready.

Jordan's opinion touched off a

Owner Of Marsh Asks $10 Million In Marin Lawsuit

Inverse Condemnation Charged Against Several Public Bodies

Stymied six times in seven years in efforts to build on 68 acres of Corte Madera Marsh, landowner William J. Heerdt today filed a $10 million inverse condemnation suit in Marin Superior Court.

The suit filed by San Francisco attorney Joseph L. Bortin claims Corte Madera, Marin County, the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and the State of California have combined to confiscate Heerdt's property "by forbidding him any use thereof, whatever, and perpetuating it as a marsh."

The latest plan, which would have placed a $5.5 million marina and industrial area on the site, was unanimously rejected Jan. 4 by the conservation commission.

The project of San Rafael developer Frank M. Burke for the first time included no open space so Corte Madera, which had backed the five previous applications to the conservation commission, joined the opposition.

Both governing bodies also rejected Heerdt's inverse condemnation claim, which Bortin said is based on the value of the land at its most profitable use under the current light industrial zoning.

The suit claims the only reason Burke's proposal to dredge 21.3 acres and fill 47 acres was rejected was the desire to leave the land undeveloped.

The town, according to the suit, voted April 18, 1972, to try to acquire the marsh, but has not done so.

The commission charged with reviewing any development along San Francisco Bay forbade Heerdt any use whatever, according to the suit. Bortin wrote that commission executives stated "the plan should not be presented, as no plan, whatever, would be authorized or approved; that said property was going to be retained as a marsh, regardless of the merit of any plan proposed."

In addition to the alleged value of the property, Heerdt is seeking return of the $1,219 filing fee charged by the commission, 7 per cent interest beginning April 18, 1972, plus taxes and other costs from that date.

When the commission turned down the plans, it said such marshes should be given high priority for purchase. Its staff reported development would substantially harm the bay.

Bortin contends the commission was required to show how the plan presented by Burke did not conform to its purposes, but refused to.

Sonoma State Area Density Fuss Erupts

By BONNIE BARD

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors deadlocked last night amid heated debate on the density of development to be allowed in the vicinity of Sonoma State College.

The supervisors split on a 2-to-2 vote with Charles Hinkle and Ignazio A. Vella supporting a minimum 10-acre lot size to preserve open space around the college. Philip L. Joerger and Henry Spomer supported the request of landowners for one-acre lots, 10 times the Hinkle-Vella density.

Supervisor Robert Theiller did not vote because he is a partner in Brians Land Investments which owns 200 acres in the area. He asked the county counsel's office to determine if he can vote later if his property is excluded from the master plan.

The board listened to nearly four hours of conflict between landowners and the Rohnert Park City Council and the college.

Both the council and college representatives urged the lower density zoning so the land can be kept in open space and prevent urban sprawl in the valley.

College President Thomas McGrath said the college is cooperating by slowing growth to 200 new students per year.

"We feel it's important to preserve the environment," McGrath said. "We don't want students living in an urban ghetto like they do in Santa Barbara."

Rohnert Park Vice Mayor Louis G. Beary said the city general plan reflects the 10 acre parcels around the college and into the foothills of the Sonoma mountains. "We don't want massive urban development on the periphery of our city," he said.

Beary said the council had

Councilman Is Employed As Valhalla's Maitre d'

Sausalito City Councilman Stephen A. Fraser has gone to work as maitre d' at the restaurant owned by fellow Councilman Sally Stanford.

Fraser began his duties — which include greeting guests — at Sally Stanford's Valhalla Inn five days ago.

"We've agreed not to discuss politics — except for planter boxes — during working hours," he said with a laugh. (Miss Stanford, also a councilman, is a vocal and ardent foe of the boxes, which the city installed along downtown Bridgeway three years ago when it banned parking on that portion of the street.)

Fraser said he took the job after giving up his practice as a city planning consultant in San Francisco in order to write a detective novel. "I needed something that would give me time to write in the mornings. This is perfect because I don't go in until late afternoon."

He will also assist in managing the restaurant when Miss Stanford is out of town.

Will the fact that he and Miss Stanford usually disagree about most issues before the council pose a problem?

"No, not at all," said Fraser. "When I'm at Valhalla, I'm working for Miss Stanford. But when I'm on the council, I'm working for the city. There'll be no conflict."

He said he accepted the post "on a trial basis," to "see how it works out for both of us."

Angry Nixon Is Reported Near Decision On Shakeup Of Staff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, described as "very angry" because his second administration's image has been tarnished by the Watergate case, was reported near a decision today on a major staff shakeup as fresh reports surfaced of possible White House involvement.

Administration sources gave the "very angry" description of Nixon's attitude, although he made Easter weekend telephone calls from Florida to some top aides whose names have been mentioned in allegations of planning or coverup of the bugging plot.

"The important thing," White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "is to get to the bottom of the Watergate. The President intends to do that."

Ziegler was asked today about published reports that Nixon was told as early as last August that aides might be implicated in the bugging. "Any suggestion that the President had knowledge at that time or that someone warned him in this matter is not correct," Ziegler said.

Owner Of Marsh Asks $10 Million In Marin Lawsuit

Inverse Condemnation Charged Against Several Public Bodies

Stymied six times in seven years in efforts to build on 68 acres of Corte Madera Marsh, landowner William J. Heerdt today filed a $10 million inverse condemnation suit in Marin Superior Court.

The suit filed by San Francisco attorney Joseph L. Bortin claims Corte Madera, Marin County, the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and the State of California have combined to confiscate Heerdt's property "by forbidding him any use thereof, whatever, and perpetuating it as a marsh."

The latest plan, which would have placed a $5.5 million marina and industrial area on the site, was unanimously rejected Jan. 4 by the conservation commission.

The project of San Rafael developer Frank M. Burke for the first time included no open space so Corte Madera, which had backed the five previous applications to the conservation commission, joined the opposition.

Both governing bodies also rejected Heerdt's inverse condemnation claim, which Bortin said is based on the value of the land at its most profitable use under the current light industrial zoning.

The suit claims the only reason Burke's proposal to dredge 21.3 acres and fill 47 acres was rejected was the desire to leave the land undeveloped.

The town, according to the suit, voted April 18, 1972, to try to acquire the marsh, but has not done so.

The commission charged with reviewing any development along San Francisco Bay forbade Heerdt any use whatever, according to the suit. Bortin wrote that commission executives stated "the plan should not be presented, as no plan, whatever, would be authorized or approved; that said property was going to be retained as a marsh, regardless of the merit of any plan proposed."

In addition to the alleged value of the property, Heerdt is seeking return of the $1,219 filing fee charged by the commission, 7 per cent interest beginning April 18, 1972, plus taxes and other costs from that date.

When the commission turned down the plans, it said such marshes should be given high priority for purchase. Its staff reported development would substantially harm the bay.

Bortin contends the commission was required to show how the plan presented by Burke did not conform to its purposes, but refused to.

Sonoma State Area Density Fuss Erupts

By BONNIE BARD

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors deadlocked last night amid heated debate on the density of development to be allowed in the vicinity of Sonoma State College.

The supervisors split on a 2-to-2 vote with Charles Hinkle and Ignazio A. Vella supporting a minimum 10-acre lot size to preserve open space around the college. Philip L. Joerger and Henry Spomer supported the request of landowners for one-acre lots, 10 times the Hinkle-Vella density.

Supervisor Robert Theiller did not vote because he is a partner in Brians Land Investments which owns 200 acres in the area. He asked the county counsel's office to determine if he can vote later if his property is excluded from the master plan.

The board listened to nearly four hours of conflict between landowners and the Rohnert Park City Council and the college.

Both the council and college representatives urged the lower density zoning so the land can be kept in open space and prevent urban sprawl in the valley.

College President Thomas McGrath said the college is cooperating by slowing growth to 200 new students per year.

"We feel it's important to preserve the environment," McGrath said. "We don't want students living in an urban ghetto like they do in Santa Barbara."

Rohnert Park Vice Mayor Louis G. Beary said the city general plan reflects the 10 acre parcels around the college and into the foothills of the Sonoma mountains. "We don't want massive urban development on the periphery of our city," he said.

Beary said the council had

Councilman Is Employed As Valhalla's Maitre d'

Sausalito City Councilman Stephen A. Fraser has gone to work as maitre d' at the restaurant owned by fellow Councilman Sally Stanford.

Fraser began his duties — which include greeting guests — at Sally Stanford's Valhalla Inn five days ago.

"We've agreed not to discuss politics — except for planter boxes — during working hours," he said with a laugh. (Miss Stanford, also a councilman, is a vocal and ardent foe of the boxes, which the city installed along downtown Bridgeway three years ago when it banned parking on that portion of the street.)

Fraser said he took the job after giving up his practice as a city planning consultant in San Francisco in order to write a detective novel. "I needed something that would give me time to write in the mornings. This is perfect because I don't go in until late afternoon."

He will also assist in managing the restaurant when Miss Stanford is out of town.

Will the fact that he and Miss Stanford usually disagree about most issues before the council pose a problem?

"No, not at all," said Fraser. "When I'm at Valhalla, I'm working for Miss Stanford. But when I'm on the council, I'm working for the city. There'll be no conflict."

He said he accepted the post "on a trial basis," to "see how it works out for both of us."

Young Man Admits Eight Santa Cruz Area Murders

EDMUND KEMPER
Confesses slayings

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — A hulking young man who killed his grandparents nine years ago has confessed to eight recent slayings in the Santa Cruz area, including the hammer beating death of his mother.

Edmund Kemper, 24, a 6-foot-9 laborer, called authorities in Santa Cruz—the "murder capital of the world" —Tuesday from Pueblo, Colo., where he was arrested while still talking in the phone booth.

Santa Cruz County deputies went to his mother's home in nearby Aptos and found her body and that of a visiting friend. Kemper said he beat both women to death with a hammer, but his mother's body was decapitated and one hand was cut off.

Santa Cruz County District Attorney Peter Chang and homicide detectives flew to Colorado to question Kemper about the slaying of his mother, her friend, and six college coeds. Officers said he confessed all eight slayings during the phone call.

The suspect was interrogated Tuesday night for three hours and 15 minutes by the California officils. Lt. Charles Sherer of the Santa Cruz Police Department said later the suspect "definitely" ties in with all the murders.

Kemper shot and stabbed his grandparents to death while living with them at North Fork, Calif., in 1964, and then called his divorced mother to tell her about the slayings. He was released on parole to his mother from Atascadero State Hospital at the age of 21.

Deputies found the bodies of Kemper's mother, Mrs. Clarenell Strandberg, 52, and her friend, Sara Taylor Hallett, 59, at Mrs. Strandberg's apartment in Aptos.

Sheriff Douglas James said both women were apparently killed last Saturday night. Mrs. Hallett was reported missing Monday by her son.

Kemper also admitted slaying six college coeds in the Santa Cruz area in recent months. Portions of the bodies of five of the girls have been discovered.

There have been 18 killings in the Santa Cruz area this year, leading Chang to call it "the murder capital of the world." Another young man, Herbert W. Mullin, 25, Felton, Calif., has been charged with 10 of the slayings.

Two University of California at Santa Cruz coeds, Alice Liu, 21, and Rosalind Thorpe, 23, disappeared while hitchhiking Feb. 5. Their bodies were found 40 miles away and their heads near Santa Cruz.

The dismembered remains of Cynthia Schall, 19, a Cabrillo College coed from San Rafael who disappeared Jan. 8, washed up along local beaches two weeks later. The decomposed body of coed Mary Guilfoyle, 24, who had been stabbed five times, was found in nearby hills in early February.

The head of Mary Ann Pesc, 19, a Fresno State University coed, was found last August in the Santa Cruz Mountains. She disappeared a few months earlier while hitchhiking with Anita Luchessa, 18, another Fresno coed who has not been found.

Police Comb Bunyard's Apartment

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police gathered sackfuls of evidence Tuesday from the apartment of John Bunyard, a 28-year-old ex-convict who allegedly went on a weekend crime spree that included the killing of two Mariposa women.

Bunyard's apartment was entered with a search warrant indicating he was the prime "Nob Hill rapist" suspect, but investigators refused to comment on the matter.

The suspect is presently in a Merced Hospital in fair condition after being wounded in a shootout with police that ended a weekend of rape, kidnapings and murder.

Bunyard allegedly began his crime spree at Lake Tahoe Friday by kidnaping and raping a young woman parking lot attendant. He then fled to Marysville, San Francisco, Oakland and to Mariposa, commandeering different cars along the way and taking several shots at policemen.

El Dorado County charged Bunyard Tuesday with three counts of kidnaping, two of assault with intent to commit murder, robbery, rape and burglary.

Three-Day Japanese Transport Strike Threatens The Economy

TOKYO (UPI) — Labor unions today called a 72-hour general transportation strike for Thursday, one day ahead of schedule, threatening to plunge Japan in its worst economic chaos in decades.

Scores of passengers and railroad employes were injured and 130 arrested by about 18,000 riot police.

The government-owned Japan National Railways (JNR) shut down its service to the capital today to prevent more riots, resulting in massive delays for commuters struggling to get into the city.

Thursday's walkout will include local government employes, communications workers and employes of Japan Air Lines, the international carrier, and All Nippon Airways, the domestic airline. The general walkout seemed inevitable after Premier Kakuei Tanaka's government refused to accept civil servants' demands for the right to strike by government employes.

Communications workers also were scheduled to walk out, disrupting broadcast and cable communications.

In addition to the right to strike, the workers are demanding pay increases averaging about $20 a week. The railroad workers are demanding less.

The government mobilized a fleet of trucks to transport daily foods such as fish and vegetables to major cities and asked office workers to stay home if possible. Big Japanese companies, including banks, were reported to have booked all the rooms in Tokyo's downtown hotels for their workers in preparation for the transport strike.

On Friday, 11 major private railways, including subways, are scheduled to join the government railroad walkout for 48 hours.

Santa Rosan Found Alive After Light Plane Crash

UKIAH (UPI) — A Santa Rosa man whose wife and inlaws perished in a Friday night light plane crash was rescued with only minor injuries —a circumstance doctors described as "utterly remarkable."

Donald King Conner, 21, was pulled from the wreckage of a rented Piper Cherokee Tuesday after it was spotted in woody, hilly country seven miles southwest of here.

After four days trapped in the wreckage, Conner was flown by helicopter to Hillside Hospital, where he was described as in satisfactory condition with a broken wrist, multiple lacerations and contusions and dehydration.

Conner's wife, Mrs. Cheryl Conner, 23, and her parents, Leland and Doris Monroe of Santa Rosa, were killed in the crash. Monroe, a pharmacist, was piloting the plane.

Mendocino County authorities said the aircraft was making a turn when the right wing struck an oak tree and the plane flipped over and dug a 30-foot groove down a hillside. They said Conner was on the uphill side of the plane and was still belted in with his head resting on a log when found.

New Ruling Unit Formed In Lebanon

BEIRUT (UPI) — Lebanese Premier-designate Amin Hafez formed a new government today to replace the one that resigned 21 hours after the April 10 Israeli raid on Beirut, Beirut Radio announced.

The announcement came as Beirut newspapers reported that Palestinian forces fired on a boat "believed to be Israeli" off the coast of Lebanon Tuesday night and shot at an Israeli helicopter near a Palestinian refugee camp.

Political sources said the reason for the delay was the jockeying for influential cabinet posts among Lebanon's traditional faction leaders who each control small blocs of deputies in the 99-member Lebanese Parliament.

Hafez was the first new face appointed to the premiership since 1956. In building his cabinet he had to reconcile the demands of the traditional leaders, among them outgoing premier Saeb Salam, 68.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Coup Thwarted

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — The Bolivian government said yesterday it thwarted a planned coup and expelled 20 politicians to Paraguay.

Interior Minister Afredo Arce Cappio said "there were only intentions" for a plot and no actual attempts were made to overthrow the 18-month-old government of Col. Hugo Banzer.

Torture Concern

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Without citing them by name, a U.N. committee expressed concern yesterday about some countries that use unusually cruel methods, including torture, to execute criminals.

The Economic and Social Council, acting on a report by Secretary General Kurt Waldheim, adopted a resolution on the captial punishment issue after a week of debate.

The resolution said the council was deeply concerned "at the introduction on occasion, of harsher methods of execution involving, for example, torture or beating no matter where or in what circumstances these may have occurred."

No Alternative

LONDON — Diplomatic sources said today Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev told fellow Kremlin leaders this week that Moscow has no practical alternative to cooperation with the United States.

His words, they said, were aimed at convincing the ruling central committee that Moscow's political options are limited because there is no chance in the foreseeable future of realigning Moscow with Peking.

New Managua Will Be Built On Ruins

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — A new Managua will be built on the ruins of the city that has been destroyed three times by earthquakes in the last century, Gen. Anastasio Somoza said Monday night.

Somoza, a former president who remains the real ruler of this Central American country, said the reconstruction of Managua was based on Mexican plans intended to prevent another razing of the city by earthquakes.

Craft In Trouble

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet space laboratory Salyut appears to have run into serious trouble and may be tumbling end-over-end, according to U.S. space experts.

The American sources said that 20 to 30 unexplained objects also appeared to be floating near Salyut, indicating possible disintegration of the spacecraft.

The Salyut laboratory was placed in orbit in early April and it was originally anticipated that a manned Soyuz spaceship would be sent aloft to link up with the orbiting laboratory.

However, the Soyuz has never been launched and, the sources said, the possibility of the participation of a space crew in the Salyut shot now appears doubtful.

Datsun The Best

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government tests conducted on cars designed to meet the 1973 air pollution standards demonstrate that Japan's Datsun gave the best mileage, nearly 29 miles to a gallon.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) said yesterday the Datsun 1200, using a 71 cubic inch engine, weighing 2,000 pounds and equipped with a manual four-speed transmission, travelled 28.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

The EPA said the highest fuel consumption of 6.3 miles per gallon was recorded for the 4,000 pound Italian Ferrari Daytona, which has a 268 cubic inch engine.

Attack By Teens

BELFAST (UPI) — A teenage mob early today attacked the Londonderry home of a Roman Catholic housewife who has campaigned for peace, smashing windows and hitting her 16-month-old baby in the head with a stone, police said.

In other incidents, snipers fired on a woman member of Britian's security force for the first time since Northern Ireland's violence began almost four years ago and a land mine exploded between two army trucks on a border road known as "Bomb Aley."

Police said a gang of youths shouted abuse and showered the home of Mrs. Margaret Doherty with stones and bottles shortly after midnight.

U.S. Visit Off

TOKYO (UPI) — Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira said today that because of Communist and Socialist opposition, Emperor Hirohito will not visit the United States — as he himself said he wanted.

The government had hoped the 72-year-old emperor would make the trip, Ohira said, but he said political opposition made it impossible.

Today's Church

ATLANTA (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham, stating that Biblical law no longer is compatible with modern society, said yesterday he knew of no town in America where the majority of people were "real believing Christians."

"And I make a distinction between believing Christians and churchgoers who go to church for social, business or family tradition reasons," he told a news conference.

Graham said he is studying the question of how far a minister ought to go in trying to lead and direct the thinking of society.

UKIAH (UPI) — A Santa Rosa man whose wife and in-laws perished in a Friday night light plane crash was rescued with only minor injuries —a circumstance doctors described as "utterly remarkable."

Donald King Conner, 21, was pulled from the wreckage of a rented Piper Cherokee Tuesday after it was spotted in woody, hilly country seven miles southwest of here.

After four days trapped in the wreckage, Conner was flown by helicopter to Hillside Hospital, where he was described as in satisfactory condition with a broken wrist, multiple lacerations and contusions and dehydration.

Conner's wife, Mrs. Cheryl Conner, 23, and her parents, Leland and Doris Monroe of Santa Rosa, were killed in the crash. Monroe, a pharmacist, was piloting the plane.

Mendocino County authorities said the aircraft was making a turn when the right wing struck an oak tree and the plane flipped over and dug a 30-foot groove down a hillside. They said Conner was on the uphill side of the plane and was still belted in with his head resting on a log when found.

New Ruling Unit Formed In Lebanon

BEIRUT (UPI) — Lebanese Premier-designate Amin Hafez formed a new government today to replace the one that resigned 21 hours after the April 10 Israeli raid on Beirut, Beirut Radio announced.

The announcement came as Beirut newspapers reported that Palestinian forces fired on a boat "believed to be Israeli" off the coast of Lebanon Tuesday night and shot at an Israeli helicopter near a Palestinian refugee camp.

Political sources said the reason for the delay was the jockeying for influential cabinet posts among Lebanon's traditional faction leaders who each control small blocs of deputies in the 99-member Lebanese Parliament.

Hafez was the first new face appointed to the premiership since 1956. In building his cabinet he had to reconcile the demands of the traditional leaders, among them outgoing premier Saeb Salam, 68.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Coup Thwarted

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — The Bolivian government said yesterday it thwarted a planned coup and expelled 20 politicians to Paraguay.

Interior Minister Afredo Arce Cappio said "there were only intentions" for a plot and no actual attempts were made to overthrow the 18-month-old government of Col. Hugo Banzer.

Torture Concern

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Without citing them by name, a U.N. committee expressed concern yesterday about some countries that use unusually cruel methods, including torture, to execute criminals.

The Economic and Social Council, acting on a report by Secretary General Kurt Waldheim, adopted a resolution on the captial punishment issue after a week of debate.

The resolution said the council was deeply concerned "at the introduction on occasion, of harsher methods of execution involving, for example, torture or beating no matter where or in what circumstances these may have occurred."

No Alternative

LONDON — Diplomatic sources said today Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev told fellow Kremlin leaders this week that Moscow has no practical alternative to cooperation with the United States.

His words, they said, were aimed at convincing the ruling central committee that Moscow's political options are limited because there is no chance in the foreseeable future of realigning Moscow with Peking.

New Managua Will Be Built On Ruins

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — A new Managua will be built on the ruins of the city that has been destroyed three times by earthquakes in the last century, Gen. Anastasio Somoza said Monday night.

Somoza, a former president who remains the real ruler of this Central American country, said the reconstruction of Managua was based on Mexican plans intended to prevent another razing of the city by earthquakes.

Craft In Trouble

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet space laboratory Salyut appears to have run into serious trouble and may be tumbling end-over-end, according to U.S. space experts.

The American sources said that 20 to 30 unexplained objects also appeared to be floating near Salyut, indicating possible disintegration of the spacecraft.

The Salyut laboratory was placed in orbit in early April and it was originally anticipated that a manned Soyuz spaceship would be sent aloft to link up with the orbiting laboratory.

However, the Soyuz has never been launched and, the sources said, the possibility of the participation of a space crew in the Salyut shot now appears doubtful.

Datsun The Best

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government tests conducted on cars designed to meet the 1973 air pollution standards demonstrate that Japan's Datsun gave the best mileage, nearly 29 miles to a gallon.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) said yesterday the Datsun 1200, using a 71 cubic inch engine, weighing 2,000 pounds and equipped with a manual four-speed transmission, travelled 28.7 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

The EPA said the highest fuel consumption of 6.3 miles per gallon was recorded for the 4,000 pound Italian Ferrari Daytona, which has a 268 cubic inch engine.

Attack By Teens

BELFAST (UPI) — A teenage mob early today attacked the Londonderry home of a Roman Catholic housewife who has campaigned for peace, smashing windows and hitting her 16-month-old baby in the head with a stone, police said.

In other incidents, snipers fired on a woman member of Britian's security force for the first time since Northern Ireland's violence began almost four years ago and a land mine exploded between two army trucks on a border road known as "Bomb Aley."

Police said a gang of youths shouted abuse and showered the home of Mrs. Margaret Doherty with stones and bottles shortly after midnight.

U.S. Visit Off

TOKYO (UPI) — Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira said today that because of Communist and Socialist opposition, Emperor Hirohito will not visit the United States — as he himself said he wanted.

The government had hoped the 72-year-old emperor would make the trip, Ohira said, but he said political opposition made it impossible.

Today's Church

ATLANTA (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham, stating that Biblical law no longer is compatible with modern society, said yesterday he knew of no town in America where the majority of people were "real believing Christians."

"And I make a distinction between believing Christians and churchgoers who go to church for social, business or family tradition reasons," he told a news conference.

Graham said he is studying the question of how far a minister ought to go in trying to lead and direct the thinking of society.

Sabin Claims Virus Link To Cancer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Polio conqueror Dr. Albert B. Sabin reports he has found new evidence linking a common cold sore virus with nine types of cancer.

"It is one of the causes of these cancers, definitely a cause," Sabin said Tuesday at a news conference at the 110th annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

Sabin, 66, reported that he and a colleague made the discovery while working at a former biological warfare center converted to peaceful cancer research.

The National Cancer Institute, which financed the crash basis research by Sabin and Dr. Giulio Tarro of the University of Naples, Italy, said that "early results of these studies provide additional evidence suggesting that herpes viruses may be causally implicated in cancers of the lip, mouth, oropharynx, nasopharynx, kidney, bladder, prostate, uterine cervix and vulva."

The white-haired, bespectacled Sabin said his studies implicated a group of viruses which probably afflict everybody at one time or another with fever blisters, cold sores, genital or eye infections and more serious maladies.

Other undetermined co-factors, such as environmental causes, probably also contribute to the cancers, he added.

Sabin, whose oral polio vaccine contributed to conquest of that dread disease along with the work of Dr. Jonas E. Salk, said that an eventual cancer vaccine was an "iffy" possibility.

"One present application of the work of Drs. Sabin and Tarro would be to guide the treatment of patients with certain types of cancers," said Dr. John B. Moloney, associate scientific director for viral oncology in the cancer institute.

Moloney said the institute plans to coordinate the Sabin Tarro research at the Frederick Cancer Research Center at Fort Detrick, Md., with other research "to come to an understanding as quickly as possible of the absolute role of these viruses in human cancers.

"Such studies could lead to the development of suitable control measures for such cancers in man. However, a great deal of work remains before this goal will be realized," he said.

Although none of the nine cancers linked in the government financed study to herpes viruses is among the nation's leading cancer killers, each leads to thousands of new cases and some deaths each year.

Cancer Drugs Are Said Dangerous, Ineffectual

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI) — Many cancer treatment drugs approved by the government are sometimes dangerous to patients, are largely ineffectual and have been known to produce cancer themselves in laboratory animals, a cancer researcher testified Tuesday.

Dr. Dean Burk, a biochemist and chief of the cytochemistry section of the National Cancer Institute, testified specifically about the drug "Laetrile" which as been used as a cancer "cure" although not approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

Burk was a defense witness at the sentencing hearing for Harry Howard, 58, who pleaded guilty to furnishing Laetrile as a cure for a woman afflicted by cancer.

In earlier testimony, a prosecution witness said Laetrile had no value in the treatment of cancer.

Burk read from the stand a letter he had written to Dr. Frank J. Rauscher Jr., director of the National Cancer Institute, about cancer drugs.

"Ironically," Burk wrote, "virtually all of the chemotheraputic anticancer agents now approved by the FDA for use or testing on human cancer patients are 1, highly or variously toxic at applied dosages, 2, markedly immunosuppressive, that is destructive of the patient's native resistance to a variety of diseases, including cancer, and 3, usually highly carcinogenic in rats and mice, producing cancers in a wide variety of body organs."

"Furthermore, what has just been said of the FDA approved anticancer chemotheraputic drugs is true, though perhaps less conspicuously, of radiological and surgical treatments of human cancers."

"Do you mean the drugs used to treat cancer can produce cancer?" asked defense lawyer Frank Wood.

"Yes," Burk replied, "that's widely accepted knowledge."

Burk testified that there are no wonder cures for cancer, a disease "almost uncured and uncurable by conventional methods."

"It is one of the causes of these cancers, definitely a cause," Sabin said Tuesday at a news conference at the 110th annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

Sabin, 66, reported that he and a colleague made the discovery while working at a former biological warfare center converted to peaceful cancer research.

The National Cancer Institute, which financed the crash basis research by Sabin and Dr. Giulio Tarro of the University of Naples, Italy, said that "early results of these studies provide additional evidence suggesting that herpes viruses may be causally implicated in cancers of the lip, mouth, oropharynx, nasopharynx, kidney, bladder, prostate, uterine cervix and vulva."

The white-haired, bespectacled Sabin said his studies implicated a group of viruses which probably afflict everybody at one time or another with fever blisters, cold sores, genital or eye infections and more serious maladies.

Other undetermined co-factors, such as environmental causes, probably also contribute to the cancers, he added.

Sabin, whose oral polio vaccine contributed to conquest of that dread disease along with the work of Dr. Jonas E. Salk, said that an eventual cancer vaccine was an "iffy" possibility.

"One present application of the work of Drs. Sabin and Tarro would be to guide the treatment of patients with certain types of cancers," said Dr. John B. Moloney, associate scientific director for viral oncology in the cancer institute.

Moloney said the institute plans to coordinate the Sabin Tarro research at the Frederick Cancer Research Center at Fort Detrick, Md., with other research "to come to an understanding as quickly as possible of the absolute role of these viruses in human cancers.

"Such studies could lead to the development of suitable control measures for such cancers in man. However, a great deal of work remains before this goal will be realized," he said.

Although none of the nine cancers linked in the government financed study to herpes viruses is among the nation's leading cancer killers, each leads to thousands of new cases and some deaths each year.

Workshop Is Set On Lung Diseases

A day-long workshop for Marin medical personnel on new concepts of lung disease will be held next Wednesday at Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

The program is sponsored by the Marin Unit of the American Cancer Society and the Lung Association of Redwood Empires, Marin branch.

Cancer Drugs Are Said Dangerous, Ineffectual

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UPI) — Many cancer treatment drugs approved by the government are sometimes dangerous to patients, are largely ineffectual and have been known to produce cancer themselves in laboratory animals, a cancer researcher testified Tuesday.

Dr. Dean Burk, a biochemist and chief of the cytochemistry section of the National Cancer Institute, testified specifically about the drug "Laetrile" which as been used as a cancer "cure" although not approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

Burk was a defense witness at the sentencing hearing for Harry Howard, 58, who pleaded guilty to furnishing Laetrile as a cure for a woman afflicted by cancer.

In earlier testimony, a prosecution witness said Laetrile had no value in the treatment of cancer.

Burk read from the stand a letter he had written to Dr. Frank J. Rauscher Jr., director of the National Cancer Institute, about cancer drugs.

"Ironically," Burk wrote, "virtually all of the chemotherapeutic anticancer agents now approved by the FDA for use or testing on human cancer patients are 1, highly or variously toxic at applied dosages, 2, markedly immunosuppressive, that is destructive of the patient's native resistance to a variety of diseases, including cancer, and 3, usually highly carcinogenic in rats and mice, producing cancers in a wide variety of body organs."

"Furthermore, what has just been said of the FDA approved anticancer chemotheraputic drugs is true, though perhaps less conspicuously, of radiological and surgical treatments of human cancers."

"Do you mean the drugs used to treat cancer can produce cancer?" asked defense lawyer Frank Wood.

"Yes," Burk replied, "that's widely accepted knowledge."

Burk testified that there are no wonder cures for cancer, a disease "almost uncured and uncurable by conventional methods."

J. Egger. "The architect has already done the best he can with this sensitive area," Egger said, adding that a public breezeway between the fire and police structures "breaks up their massive look.

"It's important that the public have easy access to the facilities" and nearby park, he declared.

Councilman Lee Nelder, who appeared surprised at Thornton's proposals, called redesign of the facilities a major change. "This is news to me," he said.

Glenn Meagher, chairman of the town general plan committee and a critic of the location of the safety facilities, called Thornton's proposal a "further encroachment" on nearby Peri Park. "It's just nibble, nibble, nibble, nibble," he said.

Councilmen said they will consider authorizing Olsen to proceed with detailed construction plans at 8 p.m. May 14, pending discussions among Olsen, Thornton, Police Chief Charles A. Grasso, and Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe.

The council also officially canvassed election returns, noting that Fairfax voters last week approved a $300,000 bond issue to finance the safety facilities by a vote of 1,103 to 419.

In other business, the council approved a $3,000 allocation for two street striping machines; said two councilmen will attend a legislative conference May 15 and 16 in Sacramento at a cost of $200, and called for applicants to two vacancies on the parks and recreation commission.

BUGGING

citizens' expression of support for the administration —to give a "distorted view" of alleged public backing of the President's order last May to mine Haiphong harbor.

—A lawyer hired by Nixon's top two aides, H.R. Haldeman and John D. Erlichman — whose names have been mentioned in recent days in reports suggesting they tried to help cover up the Watergate details after the break-in —visited the White House for the second straight day this morning. He is John J. Wilson. Nixon met with Wilson last week but the lawyer said he was "absolutely not" providing legal counsel to the President.

—The grand jury investigating the Watergate, which expects to hear testimony shortly from White House legal counsel John W. Dean —the White House staff member most frequently mentioned in reports of alleged high level knowledge of the bugging — apparently was not in session today.

—Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., former GOP national chairman, said Nixon "was not involved and ought not to be implicated in the Watergate" while Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said the "harshest indictment of the President is that he created a mood and environment where his closest advisers felt that what they did was proper."

Administration sources said Nixon probably would announce staff changes —possibly including departure of some of his closest aides —before the week is out.

There have been a variety of reports that Nixon would ask either Secretary of State William P. Rogers, former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird or former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally to handle the job of reorganizing the White House staff.

Newly revealed testimony before the Watergate grand jury by one of the convicted Watergate conspirators alleged that the break-in took place following a meeting in the office of former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and was cleared through the White House under conditions whereby Mitchell could deny involvement.

Bridge Accident Injures One, Snarls Traffic

A two-car smashup in the middle of the Golden Gate Bridge sent a Daly City man to the hospital today and caused a massive traffic tie-up on Highway 101.

Clifford S. McMillen, 51, was reported in satisfactory condition later at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael with rib fractures.

The California Highway Patrol had no details of the accident, which occurred about 7:35 a.m. in the curb lane of the bridge, although bridge employees reported the traffic jam didn't ease until about 9:30.

Traffic was backed up at one point to Corte Madera, the highway patrol said, with delays of 30 minutes reported to reach San Francisco from there.

Town Meeting Will Discuss Master Plan

The Marin City Community Services District will hold a "town meeting" to discuss a revised master plan for Marin City at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Manzanita Center.

George B. Baxter, the district's consultant-manager, said the community plan will be presented to residents. For the past several months, the Marin County Planning Department has been making changes in the plan and these, too, will be reviewed at the sessions.

The board of supervisors is scheduled to consider adoption of the plan at its May 8 meeting, but the district has asked that action be postponed until the community has had the opportunity to study the altered proposal.

POLICY

Diplomatic observers saw the high-level action as an indication that the cease-fire accords might be in danger of crumbling.

Administration officials have been saying that any breaches of the Jan. 27 agreement by the United States —such as suspension of American minesweeping operations in North Vietnamese harbors —were part of a concerted administration effort to induce Hanoi's leaders to respect terms of the pact.

Kissinger and Tho last met in Hanoi Feb. 10-17 for what were described as talks aimed at reconstruction of Indochina and possible U.S. aid toward that effort.

Since then, President Nixon has expressed deep concern several times about Hanoi's willingness to live up to terms of the Jan. 27 cease-fire pact and the U.S. charges against North Vietnam Tuesday were seen as a major effort to bring about compliance.

As for the upcoming talks, Ziegler said "We are not going to participate in this process for the purpose of recriminations."

Diplomatic sources had said American officials were in contact with North Vietnam to try to find out whether Hanoi's leaders would respect the cease-fire agreement.

In Tuesday's protest, the State Department charged North Vietnam had sent 30,000 men and 400 armored vehicles into South Vietnam since the cease-fire began.

The U.S. note, which was also considered a rebutal of North Vietnamese allegations against the United States, also expressed concern over North Vietnamese road building activities in Laos, moving eastward towards South Vietnam.

"There is evidence of continuing North Vietnamese efforts to construct a road from southern Laos into Quang Tri and Quang Ngai provinces (of South Vietnam). The cross border route is not close to any of the designated entry points and its only logical use could be as a clandestine supply highway into the central coast of South Vietnam," the U.S. note said.

There was fear within the administration that North Vietnam might be seeking to establish a route which could be brought into use at some future date when Hanoi attempted to split South Vietnam into two parts.

Modern Art Display Slated

An unusual collection of modern art, ranging from sculpture to sound paintings will be exhibited from 4 to 8 p.m. Saturday in the Sausalito Art Center, 630 Nevada Street.

The works — by 16 artists from the New Museum of Modern Art in Sausalito — will include dancing, paintings and video.

Performances of the live productions will begin at 4 and 6 p.m., according to Keith A. Campagna, assistant center director.

Summer Program Plans Announced

The Novato Youth Commission summer program will include operation of a youth center from 6 to 10 p.m. weekdays at the Novato High School cafeteria.

Recreation supervisor Larry Dito said special events such as jam sessions, movies and youth forums will be held once a week.

The daytime "drop-in center," which operated from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays last summer, will be dropped, he said, but major weekend events are being considered.

OBITUARIES

Christofa Casarotti Succumbs At Age 85

Christofa Casarotti, 85, of Petaluma, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Casarotti was born and reared in Bergen, Norway. She moved to San Francisco in 1906 and lived for several months in temporary shelter in Golden Gate Park after the earthquake and fire.

She and her late husband, Charles Casarotti, moved to Chileno Valley in 1910. Mrs. Casarotti had lived in Petaluma for more than seven years and was a member of the Catholic Ladies Aid Society at St. Vincent De Paul Church.

She is survived by two daughters, Bernice Nielsen of Petaluma and Doris Garcia of Hayward; a son, Vernon Casarotti of Windsor; a sister, Clara Jacobsen of Petaluma; 14 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Private requiem mass will be offered at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Vincent De Paul Church. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

SONOMA

adopted a policy to compensate property owners who will not be able to develop their land. He said the city hopes to buy land outright or at least the development rights.

Beary and City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the 10-acre zoning and refusal by the city to annex more land around the college should persuade the assessor's office to reduce property taxes for the ranchers.

Property owners said they are skeptical of any promises of compensation or lower taxes no matter what the density or zoning on their land.

Most said they have owned land for many years and can not be considered speculators, but have seen taxes rise rapidly over the years to the point where ranching is no longer profitable.

Landowner and attorney Charles DeMeao said, "What we've heard is idealistic proposals. We want our property rights protected."

The supervisors said they hope some compromise may still be reached by settling on a density of five acres, but got negative reactions from both sides.

With the deadlock appearing firm, the board agreed to continue the session to May 15 at 7:30 p.m. in hope of finding a solution.

PLAN

minor skirmish as several persons in the audience, including Attorney Ted Williams, said it was never the intent of the Environmental Quality Act to stifle discussion or hogtie public agencies.

At the outset, Jordan told the council it did, however, have the options of denying the appeal, referring the development back to the planning commission or simply taking no action.

Roger Bush, the project architect, spoke briefly, saying the development's goals include providing public access to the water, leaving a "maximum amount" of open water and trying to cut down on vehicular traffic by using a railroad and a water taxi to transport visitors.

"You have 118,000 square feet of retail commercial operations in your plan," Fraser said. "The ordinance about to be passed (changing regulations in the central waterfront zone) really leaves no retail uses. What do you intend to do with all that space?" he asked.

"We have to operate within the framework of existing laws," Bush retorted. "It's quite possible the amendments will go through and we'll have to deal with them at that time."

Several members of the audience suggested the city should measure not only the impact of the Zakessian project on Sausalito, but the impact of the proposed large Schoonmaker and Deak developments as well.

The council continued the public hearing until June 5 to give the planning commission and Zakessian time to work out changes.

In other action, the council indicated it was not opposed to the planning commission's suggestion that the Golden Gate Bridge District's ferry terminal should be located near El Portal in the heart of downtown rather than at Johnson Street farther to the north.

The council suggested that the bridge district be notified that the environmental impact report it is preparing on the facility should focus on the El Portal location.

Man May Face Evasion Charge

Theodore Marcellan Stratton, 22, of 406 D Street, San Rafael, was arrested yesterday by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents on suspicion of failure to report for induction into the service.

He was scheduled to be arraigned before a U.S. magistrate today in San Francisco. Stratton was wanted for failure to report for induction May 2, 1971, in Los Angeles, according to Charles Bates, special agent in charge of the FBI in San Francisco.

HILDA ABRAHAMS

Hilda R. Abrahams, a schoolteacher and former commercial artist, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a brief illness. She was 45.

Born in New York City, she went to work at age 14 as a commercial artist and later worked as a stage and television set designer in Baltimore and New York.

After working as a teacher in a Virginia school for two years, Mrs. Abrahams moved to San Francisco 10 years ago with her husband, Sydney G. Abrahams, and worked briefly as display artist for the White House department store before becoming a teacher for the Presidio Hill School, a private school. She held that job nine years.

In addition to her husband, chief architect for the San Francisco Area Office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, she is survived by three children, David, Eve and Sharon, all of the home address, 347 Marin Avenue, Tamalpais Valley; her mother, Dora Rehfeld; of New York, and a sister, Charlotte Rehfeld, of Oakland.

Memorial service will be at 7 p.m. Friday at the Unitarian Fellowship of Marin, 240 Channing Way, San Rafael, with private burial to follow. Memorial gifts may be made to a favorite charity. Russell and Gooch funeral Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

JOSEPH ROBERT

Requiem Mass for Joseph Robert, father of Mrs. Eva Houston of Larkspur, will be at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Cornelius Catholic Church, Richmond.

Robert, 82, a retired chef, died Sunday in San Francisco, where he had lived for eight years. He formerly lived in Richmond and was a native of France.

In addition to his daughter in Larkspur, he is survived by his wife, Clementina of San Francisco; another daughter, Mrs. Norma Hogge of Kentucky; two grandsons and five great-grandchildren.

MRS. COLLINS

Gertrude M. Collins, 74, of 78 Marina Boulevard, San Rafael, died yesterday in a local hospital, where she had been a patient a week.

Mrs. Collins, who resided in Marin a year after living most of her life in Alameda, formerly was an office worker with the Southern Pacific Railroad. Her husband, V. D. Collins, who died more than 30 years ago, also worked for the railroad.

Survivors are a son, Martin T. Collins, with whom she lived; three brothers, William Hackett of Long Beach, Clarence Hackett of Cloverdale and Hrold F. Hackett of Alameda; a sister, Maude Marshall of Alameda, and two grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Friday at St. Philip's Neri Church, Alameda, with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Smiley and Gallagher mortuary, Alameda.

WILLIAM FOWLER

William R. Fowler, 28, died at his Santa Venetia home yesterday after a five-year fight with cancer.

He was born in San Rafael and lived all his life in Marin, graduating from St. Raphael's School and San Rafael High School.

He was an employee of the Marin Municipal Water District.

He is survived by his parents, Jack E. and Rose Fowler, of the family home at 331 North San Pedro Road, and his sister, Mrs. Jackie P. Kenilvort of San Anselmo.

Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. Friday at Blessed Sacrament Church in Santa Venetia. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Blessed Sacrament Church.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

ALVIN SPALDING

Alvin B. Spalding, 74, retired sheet metal worker, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness.

Spalding was a native of Etterville, Mo., and had lived in Petaluma for 34 years. He had worked for various feed mills and had owned and operated a sheet metal shop until his retirement in 1968.

Spalding was a member of Petaluma Odd Fellows Lodge 30. He lived at 314 Edith Street.

He is survived by his wife, Mary; three daughters, Jean Scott of Petaluma, Helen Perry of Santa Rosa and Maribelle Elie of Merced; a son, Gail Spalding of Petaluma; four brothers, Stanley, Harold and Raymond Spalding of Kansas City, Mo., and Gilbert Spalding of Jefferson City, Mo.; a sister, Ann Myers of Eldon, Mo.; eight grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Private inurnment will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park. The family prefers contributions to the American Cancer Society.

MRS. CONTINI

Funeral for Margarita (Lily) Contini, 70, of Loma Verde, wife of Charles J. Contini, retired bank manager, will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Mrs. Contini, of 791 Calle De La Mesa, died Monday at a San Francisco hospital after a brief illness.

She was a native of San Francisco and had lived in Marin for six years. Her husband was a branch manager for the Bank of America in San Francisco.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a daughter, Charlotte Cline of Sacramento; four brothers, Mario and Frank Imperiale of San Francisco, William Imperiale of San Pedro, Los Angeles County, and George Imperiale of Atherton; and three grandchildren.

Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery. The family prefers memorial contributions to the Heart Fund.

CLAYTON CHAPMAN

Funeral for Clayton M. Chapman of Larkspur, who died in a local hospital Monday after suffering from emphysema for several years, will be at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur.

Chapman, 66, was born in the State of Washington and grew up in Seattle. He attended the University of Washington, where he was a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

Before World War II he was an importer of silk merchandise from the Orient. After the war, he manufactured silk neckwear in San Francisco under the label "Clay Chapman."

He also was employed as a salesman for many years with the Hastings and Bullock and Jones stores in San Francisco, before ill health forced him to retire.

He has lived in Marin County 14 years.

Chapman is survived by his wife, Gerda; a daughter, Bonnie Lee Marty of San Carlos; two brothers, Robert and Richard Chapman of Portland, Ore., and four grandchildren.

The family prefers contributions to the Marin Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

MRS. BELL

Mass of the Resurrection for Margaret M. Bell, a California native and resident of Almonte for 47 years, will be at 10:30 a.m. Friday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church in Mill Valley. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Mrs. Bell died Monday in a local convalescent hospital after a brief illness. She was 90.

She was born in San Francisco and moved to Marin 47 years ago, where she lived at 217 Morning Sun Avenue with her husband, William Garfield Bell, a purchasing agent for a San Francisco pharmaceutical firm. He died in 1947.

Mrs. Bell is survived by a son, Donald R. Harper, of Mill Valley, and a daughter, Dorothy M. Morton of Albany, both children of a marriage to Raymond T. Harper, secretary of a San Francisco insurance and real estate firm who was killed in an auto accident in 1916. She also is survived by three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Memorial gifts may be made to a favorite charity.

GARY CLARKE

Funeral for Gary Michael Clarke of San Rafael, an insurance salesman and Scout leader, was held today in San Mateo.

According to the Contra Costa County coroner's office, the 31-year-old Clarke died early Sunday in a rural area near Orinda after running a hose from the exhaust of his car inside the auto.

The body was found by a patrolling sheriff's deputy.

Clarke, of 275 Canal Street, worked for the General Insurance Association of Novato. He was assistant scoutmaster of Troop 57 in San Rafael.

Survivors include his father, Arthur, and a sister, Linda.

J. Egger. "The architect has already done the best he can with this sensitive area," Egger said, adding that a public breezeway between the fire and police structures "breaks up their massive look.

"It's important that the public have easy access to the facilities" and nearby park, he declared.

Councilman Lee Nelder, who appeared surprised at Thornton's proposals, called redesign of the facilities a major change. "This is news to me," he said.

Glenn Meagher, chairman of the town general plan committee and a critic of the location of the safety facilities, called Thornton's proposal a "further encroachment" on nearby Peri Park. "It's just nibble, nibble, nibble, nibble," he said.

Councilmen said they will consider authorizing Olsen to proceed with detailed construction plans at 8 p.m. May 14, pending discussions among Olsen, Thornton, Police Chief Charles A. Grasso, and Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe.

The council also officially canvassed election returns, noting that Fairfax voters last week approved a $300,000 bond issue to finance the safety facilities by a vote of 1,103 to 419.

In other business, the council approved a $3,000 allocation for two street striping machines; said two councilmen will attend a legislative conference May 15 and 16 in Sacramento at a cost of $200, and called for applicants to two vacancies on the parks and recreation commission.

BUGGING

citizens' expression of support for the administration —to give a "distorted view" of alleged public backing of the President's order last May to mine Haiphong harbor.

—A lawyer hired by Nixon's top two aides, H.R. Haldeman and John D. Erlichman — whose names have been mentioned in recent days in reports suggesting they tried to help cover up the Watergate details after the break-in —visited the White House for the second straight day this morning. He is John J. Wilson. Nixon met with Wilson last week but the lawyer said he was "absolutely not" providing legal counsel to the President.

—The grand jury investigating the Watergate, which expects to hear testimony shortly from White House legal counsel John W. Dean —the White House staff member most frequently mentioned in reports of alleged high level knowledge of the bugging — apparently was not in session today.

—Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., former GOP national chairman, said Nixon "was not involved and ought not to be implicated in the Watergate" while Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., said the "harshest indictment of the President is that he created a mood and environment where his closest advisers felt that what they did was proper."

Administration sources said Nixon probably would announce staff changes —possibly including departure of some of his closest aides —before the week is out.

There have been a variety of reports that Nixon would ask either Secretary of State William P. Rogers, former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird or former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally to handle the job of reorganizing the White House staff.

Newly revealed testimony before the Watergate grand jury by one of the convicted Watergate conspirators alleged that the break-in took place following a meeting in the office of former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and was cleared through the White House under conditions whereby Mitchell could deny involvement.

Bridge Accident Injures One, Snarls Traffic

A two-car smashup in the middle of the Golden Gate Bridge sent a Daly City man to the hospital today and caused a massive traffic tie-up on Highway 101.

Clifford S. McMillen, 51, was reported in satisfactory condition later at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael with rib fractures.

The California Highway Patrol had no details of the accident, which occurred about 7:35 a.m. in the curb lane of the bridge, although bridge employees reported the traffic jam didn't ease until about 9:30.

Traffic was backed up at one point to Corte Madera, the highway patrol said, with delays of 30 minutes reported to reach San Francisco from there.

Town Meeting Will Discuss Master Plan

The Marin City Community Services District will hold a "town meeting" to discuss a revised master plan for Marin City at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Manzanita Center.

George B. Baxter, the district's consultant-manager, said the community plan will be presented to residents. For the past several months, the Marin County Planning Department has been making changes in the plan and these, too, will be reviewed at the sessions.

The board of supervisors is scheduled to consider adoption of the plan at its May 8 meeting, but the district has asked that action be postponed until the community has had the opportunity to study the altered proposal.

POLICY

Diplomatic observers saw the high-level action as an indication that the cease-fire accords might be in danger of crumbling.

Administration officials have been saying that any breaches of the Jan. 27 agreement by the United States —such as suspension of American minesweeping operations in North Vietnamese harbors —were part of a concerted administration effort to induce Hanoi's leaders to respect terms of the pact.

Kissinger and Tho last met in Hanoi Feb. 10-17 for what were described as talks aimed at reconstruction of Indochina and possible U.S. aid toward that effort.

Since then, President Nixon has expressed deep concern several times about Hanoi's willingness to live up to terms of the Jan. 27 cease-fire pact and the U.S. charges against North Vietnam Tuesday were seen as a major effort to bring about compliance.

As for the upcoming talks, Ziegler said "We are not going to participate in this process for the purpose of recriminations."

Diplomatic sources had said American officials were in contact with North Vietnam to try to find out whether Hanoi's leaders would respect the cease-fire agreement.

In Tuesday's protest, the State Department charged North Vietnam had sent 30,000 men and 400 armored vehicles into South Vietnam since the cease-fire began.

The U.S. note, which was also considered a rebutal of North Vietnamese allegations against the United States, also expressed concern over North Vietnamese road building activities in Laos, moving eastward towards South Vietnam.

"There is evidence of continuing North Vietnamese efforts to construct a road from southern Laos into Quang Tri and Quang Ngai provinces (of South Vietnam). The cross border route is not close to any of the designated entry points and its only logical use could be as a clandestine supply highway into the central coast of South Vietnam," the U.S. note said.

There was fear within the administration that North Vietnam might be seeking to establish a route which could be brought into use at some future date when Hanoi attempted to split South Vietnam into two parts.

Modern Art Display Slated

An unusual collection of modern art, ranging from sculpture to sound paintings will be exhibited from 4 to 8 p.m. Saturday in the Sausalito Art Center, 630 Nevada Street.

The works — by 16 artists from the New Museum of Modern Art in Sausalito — will include dancing, paintings and video.

Performances of the live productions will begin at 4 and 6 p.m., according to Keith A. Campagna, assistant center director.

Summer Program Plans Announced

The Novato Youth Commission summer program will include operation of a youth center from 6 to 10 p.m. weekdays at the Novato High School cafeteria.

Recreation supervisor Larry Dito said special events such as jam sessions, movies and youth forums will be held once a week.

The daytime "drop-in center," which operated from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays last summer, will be dropped, he said, but major weekend events are being considered.

OBITUARIES

Christofa Casarotti Succumbs At Age 85

Christofa Casarotti, 85, of Petaluma, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Casarotti was born and reared in Bergen, Norway. She moved to San Francisco in 1906 and lived for several months in temporary shelter in Golden Gate Park after the earthquake and fire.

She and her late husband, Charles Casarotti, moved to Chileno Valley in 1910. Mrs. Casarotti had lived in Petaluma for more than seven years and was a member of the Catholic Ladies Aid Society at St. Vincent De Paul Church.

She is survived by two daughters, Bernice Nielsen of Petaluma and Doris Garcia of Hayward; a son, Vernon Casarotti of Windsor; a sister, Clara Jacobsen of Petaluma; 14 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Private requiem mass will be offered at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Vincent De Paul Church. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

SONOMA

adopted a policy to compensate property owners who will not be able to develop their land. He said the city hopes to buy land outright or at least the development rights.

Beary and City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the 10-acre zoning and refusal by the city to annex more land around the college should persuade the assessor's office to reduce property taxes for the ranchers.

Property owners said they are skeptical of any promises of compensation or lower taxes no matter what the density or zoning on their land.

Most said they have owned land for many years and can not be considered speculators, but have seen taxes rise rapidly over the years to the point where ranching is no longer profitable.

Landowner and attorney Charles DeMeao said, "What we've heard is idealistic proposals. We want our property rights protected."

The supervisors said they hope some compromise may still be reached by settling on a density of five acres, but got negative reactions from both sides.

With the deadlock appearing firm, the board agreed to continue the session to May 15 at 7:30 p.m. in hope of finding a solution.

PLAN

minor skirmish as several persons in the audience, including Attorney Ted Williams, said it was never the intent of the Environmental Quality Act to stifle discussion or hogtie public agencies.

At the outset, Jordan told the council it did, however, have the options of denying the appeal, referring the development back to the planning commission or simply taking no action.

Roger Bush, the project architect, spoke briefly, saying the development's goals include providing public access to the water, leaving a "maximum amount" of open water and trying to cut down on vehicular traffic by using a railroad and a water taxi to transport visitors.

"You have 118,000 square feet of retail commercial operations in your plan," Fraser said. "The ordinance about to be passed (changing regulations in the central waterfront zone) really leaves no retail uses. What do you intend to do with all that space?" he asked.

"We have to operate within the framework of existing laws," Bush retorted. "It's quite possible the amendments will go through and we'll have to deal with them at that time."

Several members of the audience suggested the city should measure not only the impact of the Zakessian project on Sausalito, but the impact of the proposed large Schoonmaker and Deak developments as well.

The council continued the public hearing until June 5 to give the planning commission and Zakessian time to work out changes.

In other action, the council indicated it was not opposed to the planning commission's suggestion that the Golden Gate Bridge District's ferry terminal should be located near El Portal in the heart of downtown rather than at Johnson Street farther to the north.

The council suggested that the bridge district be notified that the environmental impact report it is preparing on the facility should focus on the El Portal location.

Man May Face Evasion Charge

Theodore Marcellan Stratton, 22, of 406 D Street, San Rafael, was arrested yesterday by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents on suspicion of failure to report for induction into the service.

He was scheduled to be arraigned before a U.S. magistrate today in San Francisco. Stratton was wanted for failure to report for induction May 2, 1971, in Los Angeles, according to Charles Bates, special agent in charge of the FBI in San Francisco.

HILDA ABRAHAMS

Hilda R. Abrahams, a schoolteacher and former commercial artist, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a brief illness. She was 45.

Born in New York City, she went to work at age 14 as a commercial artist and later worked as a stage and television set designer in Baltimore and New York.

After working as a teacher in a Virginia school for two years, Mrs. Abrahams moved to San Francisco 10 years ago with her husband, Sydney G. Abrahams, and worked briefly as display artist for the White House department store before becoming a teacher for the Presidio Hill School, a private school. She held that job nine years.

In addition to her husband, chief architect for the San Francisco Area Office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, she is survived by three children, David, Eve and Sharon, all of the home address, 347 Marin Avenue, Tamalpais Valley; her mother, Dora Rehfeld; of New York, and a sister, Charlotte Rehfeld, of Oakland.

Memorial service will be at 7 p.m. Friday at the Unitarian Fellowship of Marin, 240 Channing Way, San Rafael, with private burial to follow. Memorial gifts may be made to a favorite charity. Russell and Gooch funeral Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

JOSEPH ROBERT

Requiem Mass for Joseph Robert, father of Mrs. Eva Houston of Larkspur, will be at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Cornelius Catholic Church, Richmond.

Robert, 82, a retired chef, died Sunday in San Francisco, where he had lived for eight years. He formerly lived in Richmond and was a native of France.

In addition to his daughter in Larkspur, he is survived by his wife, Clementina of San Francisco; another daughter, Mrs. Norma Hogge of Kentucky; two grandsons and five great-grandchildren.

MRS. COLLINS

Gertrude M. Collins, 74, of 78 Marina Boulevard, San Rafael, died yesterday in a local hospital, where she had been a patient a week.

Mrs. Collins, who resided in Marin a year after living most of her life in Alameda, formerly was an office worker with the Southern Pacific Railroad. Her husband, V. D. Collins, who died more than 30 years ago, also worked for the railroad.

Survivors are a son, Martin T. Collins, with whom she lived; three brothers, William Hackett of Long Beach, Clarence Hackett of Cloverdale and Hrold F. Hackett of Alameda; a sister, Maude Marshall of Alameda, and two grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Friday at St. Philip's Neri Church, Alameda, with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Smiley and Gallagher mortuary, Alameda.

WILLIAM FOWLER

William R. Fowler, 28, died at his Santa Venetia home yesterday after a five-year fight with cancer.

He was born in San Rafael and lived all his life in Marin, graduating from St. Raphael's School and San Rafael High School.

He was an employee of the Marin Municipal Water District.

He is survived by his parents, Jack E. and Rose Fowler, of the family home at 331 North San Pedro Road, and his sister, Mrs. Jackie P. Kenilvort of San Anselmo.

Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. Friday at Blessed Sacrament Church in Santa Venetia. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Blessed Sacrament Church.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

ALVIN SPALDING

Alvin B. Spalding, 74, retired sheet metal worker, died yesterday at a local hospital after a short illness.

Spalding was a native of Etterville, Mo., and had lived in Petaluma for 34 years. He had worked for various feed mills and had owned and operated a sheet metal shop until his retirement in 1968.

Spalding was a member of Petaluma Odd Fellows Lodge 30. He lived at 314 Edith Street.

He is survived by his wife, Mary; three daughters, Jean Scott of Petaluma, Helen Perry of Santa Rosa and Maribelle Elie of Merced; a son, Gail Spalding of Petaluma; four brothers, Stanley, Harold and Raymond Spalding of Kansas City, Mo., and Gilbert Spalding of Jefferson City, Mo.; a sister, Ann Myers of Eldon, Mo.; eight grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Private inurnment will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park. The family prefers contributions to the American Cancer Society.

MRS. CONTINI

Funeral for Margarita (Lily) Contini, 70, of Loma Verde, wife of Charles J. Contini, retired bank manager, will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Mrs. Contini, of 791 Calle De La Mesa, died Monday at a San Francisco hospital after a brief illness.

She was a native of San Francisco and had lived in Marin for six years. Her husband was a branch manager for the Bank of America in San Francisco.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a daughter, Charlotte Cline of Sacramento; four brothers, Mario and Frank Imperiale of San Francisco, William Imperiale of San Pedro, Los Angeles County, and George Imperiale of Atherton; and three grandchildren.

Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery. The family prefers memorial contributions to the Heart Fund.

CLAYTON CHAPMAN

Funeral for Clayton M. Chapman of Larkspur, who died in a local hospital Monday after suffering from emphysema for several years, will be at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur.

Chapman, 66, was born in the State of Washington and grew up in Seattle. He attended the University of Washington, where he was a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

Before World War II he was an importer of silk merchandise from the Orient. After the war, he manufactured silk neckwear in San Francisco under the label "Clay Chapman."

He also was employed as a salesman for many years with the Hastings and Bullock and Jones stores in San Francisco, before ill health forced him to retire.

He has lived in Marin County 14 years.

Chapman is survived by his wife, Gerda; a daughter, Bonnie Lee Marty of San Carlos; two brothers, Robert and Richard Chapman of Portland, Ore., and four grandchildren.

The family prefers contributions to the Marin Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

MRS. BELL

Mass of the Resurrection for Margaret M. Bell, a California native and resident of Almonte for 47 years, will be at 10:30 a.m. Friday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church in Mill Valley. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

Mrs. Bell died Monday in a local convalescent hospital after a brief illness. She was 90.

She was born in San Francisco and moved to Marin 47 years ago, where she lived at 217 Morning Sun Avenue with her husband, William Garfield Bell, a purchasing agent for a San Francisco pharmaceutical firm. He died in 1947.

Mrs. Bell is survived by a son, Donald R. Harper, of Mill Valley, and a daughter, Dorothy M. Morton of Albany, both children of a marriage to Raymond T. Harper, secretary of a San Francisco insurance and real estate firm who was killed in an auto accident in 1916. She also is survived by three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Memorial gifts may be made to a favorite charity.

Margaret B. Azevedo Reappointed Planner

Marin County Planning Commissioner Margaret B. Azevedo was reappointed yesterday to a new four-year term by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Mrs. Azevedo, longest serving member of the planning commission, was first appointed in 1956. She resigned her seat in 1960 prior to an extended tour of Europe but was reappointed in 1965 and has served since.

In 1968, she made an unsuccessful bid for election to the Third District seat on the board of supervisors. The seat was won by Michael Wornum who later reappointed her to the planning commission.

In other appointments yesterday, Dee Freitas of Larkspur was named to the county human rights department and Reuben Kaehler was reappointed to the county redevelopment agency.

The board also named a nine-member drug abuse advisory committee, required by state law. Members are: Marin Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson, Sausalito Police Chief James D. Wright, Roger Smith of Marin Open House, Dr. William M. Lamers Jr., Sidney Smith, Gersen Jacobs, Linda Remy, Dorothy Leake and Dallas Wagner.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

MEETING — Set a special meeting for 8 a.m. tomorrow to continue review of the proposed countywide general plan. The meeting, second of four scheduled for the plan, will be held at Civic Center.

CHAIRS — Announced that five new high-backed leather chairs were purchased for supervisors at a cost of about $300 each. The new chairs replace five older high-back leather chairs which supervisors said were uncomfortable. Supervisor Michael Wornum attested to the comfort of the new chairs by almost nodding off once in the afternoon.

MAPS — Directed County Administrator John F. Barrows to investigate printing small maps of the Administration Building and Hall of Justice to aid visitors to Civic Center.

COMMITTEE — Appointed Supervisors Gary T. Giacomini and Robert A. Roumiguiere to a special committee to meet with San Rafael officials to discuss that city's concern over providing fire protection to unincorporated areas without compensation.

HOUSING — Heard a status report from Margaret B. Azevedo on the Association of Bay Area Governments' regional housing study which will indicate Marin's "fair share" of low and moderate-income housing based on regional needs.

ORCHESTRA — Appropriated unanimously $500 to support the Orchestra Piccola. The funding was requested by Supervisor Roumiguiere.

TRANSFER — Approved the transfer of properties on Corinthian Island from the City of Tiburon to the City of Belvedere and Northridge properties from the City of San Rafael to the Town of Ross.

GUIDELINES — Accepted guidelines prepared by the county planning department for environmental impact reporting of public projects.

FUNDS — Agreed to budget $10,000 next year for a local facility for residential treatment of schizophrenic young adults. The Marin Parents for Mental Recovery have been promised $25,000 from the San Francisco Foundation and $10,000 from the Babcock Foundation for the project.

APPEAL — Rejected the appeal of Karl Marchegger on the planning commission's denial of his request to divide a half-acre lot in Tamalpais Valley. The division would not meet the county's slope policy for the area which requires large lots on steep slopes.

BOATING — Turned down a request by the Independent-Journal that the county buy an advertisement on boating safety in an upcoming special supplement planned by the newspaper on the subject because it would "not be a legitimate expenditure of public funds."

FAIR — Passed a resolution honoring the Marin Israeli Fair set for May 27 and 28 at the Marin County Fairgrounds.

LEGISLATION — Approved a letter to Assemblyman William T. Bagley urging adoption of a piece of legislation that would eliminate a provision of the water code appendix regarding the sale of flood control district bonds by the county flood control and water conservation district. The legislation would permit bonds to be sold with a redemption schedule of less than 40 years.

ENTRYWAYS — Agreed to open a rollup door at the south end of the civic center building between the hours of 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. to allow access to a hilltop for picnicking and to open a ground floor entranceway near the administration building archway that leads to the second floor.

Panel Discussion On Redevelopment

A panel discussion on redevelopment in Marin will be held at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the Howard Johnson motor lodge in Mill Valley, according to the Howard George School of Social Science.

Panelists at the event will be Supervisor Arnold Baptiste, County Counsel Douglas Maloney and William Filante, a Marin Community College District trustee.

Staff For Boundary Commission Asked

Marin County supervisors received without comment yesterday a recommendation from the grand jury that a separate staff be established for the local agency formation commission.

The recommendation, contained in the latest "interim report" from the grand jury, was referred to the formation commission for its review May 9.

Currently, County Administrator John F. Barrows serves as executive officer to the formation commission and is assisted by other members of his office.

By creating a separate staff for the commission, the grand jury said, it would become "independent of either county or city bias."

The report criticized the formation commission, made up of two county supervisors and three city representatives as having neglected important responsibilities.

While the commission has only limited authority over land use in unincorporated areas of Marin, the report maintains the commission's "primary purpose is to discourage urban sprawl and to encourage the orderly formation and development of local government agencies."

The report said, "The grand jury finds that Marin County's LAFC has not fully exercised its powers to influence orderly growth; it has neglected to fulfill its statutory responsibilities in its sphere of influence studies; nor has LAFC constructively used its powers to bring about positive uniform service boundaries."

It said the commission should develop a budget sufficient to cover studies and programs required by legislation creating the commission.

Nevada Abortion Bill Is Passed

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — The Nevada legislature has completed passage of an abortion bill designed to be as strict as possible and still meet U.S. Supreme Court guidelines.

The Assembly Tuesday agreed to Senate amendments which require a husband's consent to an abortion and require the doctor to try to save the life of the fetus.

It prohibits advertising of abortion services, and an abortion may be performed only by a physciain in a hospital or licensed health care center. It may be performed only during the first six months of pregnancy.

Funds Shifted To Youth Summer Work Program

The Marin County Board of Supervisors voted yesterday to terminate 17 positions in the federal Emergency Employment Act programand opted to use part of its final appropriation to fund a summer youth employment program.

Supervisors agreed to fund 100 positions in the Neighborhood Youth Corps at a cost of $45,000, of which $10,000 is in the current budget and $35,000 is to be drawn from the EEA monies.

By using some of the EEA funds, the EEA program will be terminated a month earlier than its maximum, according to Department of Labor guidelines, ending Dec. 31, 1973.

John F. Barrows, county administrator, said 12 of 29 positions in the EEA program will be included as regular jobs in next year's budget.

LONG POSTAL CAREER ENDS

Donald E. Rudnick, 63, of San Rafael, sorts a few last pieces of mail at the Mission San Rafael post office, where he began work 33 years ago. Rudnick, who also worked as Kentfield's first mounted carrier, a route he drove 23 years, retired last weekend as assistant superintendent at the San Rafael facility. "There are bound to be more complaints now" about postal service, he said, because Marin's population has increased so much since his start with the post office.

Rock Concert Hall Funds Blocked

Two Marin County supervisors blocked a request yesterday from the county youth commission for $2,000 "seed money" to plan a youth cultural center and rock concert hall.

While the board voted 3 to 2 to approve the funds, such action requires four favorable votes. Supervisors Robert A. Roumiguiere and Peter R. Arrigoni voiced strong opposition.

It was the second time in a year county supervisors have been asked to help finance the project. As in the past, supervisors yesterday were requested to provide the seed money plus a promise of $25,000 if a like amount could be raised through donations.

Youth commissioners, headed by commission Chairman Janice Fuhrman of Novato High School, told supervisors the seed money would be used for a feasibility study on the cultural center and concert hall.

The $50,000 in county and private funds would be used to renovate an old building such as the vacant Purity market in Mill Valley for nonprofit concert use, they said.

Run by a separate board of directors, the rock hall would promote local rock bands at ticket prices teen-agers can afford, they said.

"It will be self sustaining after a year," Miss Fuhrman said, adding there is currently no place for local rock bands to perform with reasonable admission charges.

A parade of speakers — including representatives of the White Panther Party, which first proposed the idea, and a musicians union spokesman — urged the board to go along with the proposal.

Supervisor Roumiguiere told the group he would not vote tax dollars for the project, which, he said, was promoted by the White Panther Party using the youth commission as a front.

"I'm sympathetic with what the kids are after but disappointed that the youth commission has been led down the path by the wrong group," he said. Roumiguiere later offered his services to help raise the money privately.

Arrigoni, meanwhile, said the proposal is unrealistic since renovation of any building would easily exceed the $50,000 proposed. He urged the youth commission to wait until a flat-floor exhibition hall is constructed at the fair grounds in the near future.

Chairman Arnold M. Baptiste appeared to sum up the position of those supporting the proposal when he said the youth cultural center "goes far beyond a place for music. It goes to the essence of young people doing for themselves. . . this process is what's importnat."

Supervisor Michael Wornum and Gary T. Giacomini said they would go along with the $2,000 seed money request but would not commit the county to a promise of $25,000 in matching funds.

Both said they would consider the $25,000 request when a feasibility study is complete. They urged the group to return during June budget hearings when only three votes are needed to appropriate funds.

Board To Seek Improved Ambulance Firm Service

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday extended its contract with United Ambulance Service until June 30, but ordered negotiations with both ambulance companies in Marin in an effort to improve service "at a realistic cost."

Supervisors were stunned by a report from county staff that in order to increase the level of service by adding one station and one ambulance in the Ross Valley, costsowould soar to about $105,000 annually in a joint contract with United and Bay Cities ambulance companies.

The county pays $12,000 per year under its current agreement with United Ambulance Service for three stations and three ambulances.

The study was ordered in February after recommendations by the Marin County Comprehensive Health Planning Council that service be improved.

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste called the ambulance companies' estimated costs "unrealistic," and threatened to contract with the Novato Fire Department for all ambulance service.

In extending the present contract and ordering negotiations with both private ambulance firms, supervisors said they would consider a joint agreement for improved service "but not at these costs."

On recommendation from the health planning council, the board indicated it would consider appropriating $1,000 to initiate a para-medic training course for emergency personnel at the College of Marin if the college guarantee it would begin the program if the money is approved.

Supervisors also authorized the county administrator to send a letter to the state Division of Traffic Safety indicating the county's intent to apply for federal money for projects related to traffic safety.

Three Receive Appointment To Academies

Three Terra Linda High School seniors have been appointed to military academies by Rep. William S. Maillard, R-6th District, principal Frank Stocking reported today.

Ronald M. Losk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Losk of 20 Circle Drive, and Gregory D. Beltram, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Beltran of 42 Mount Ranier Drive, were appointed to West Point.

James L. McCarthy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McCarthy of 24 Cabrillo Court, was appointed to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

Supervisors Reject Bid For Nude Beach

Supervisors not only rejected a recommendation by the county administrator's office to reduce the mounted patrol of Muir Beach to 20 hours a week, but also slammed the door on a proposal to investigate an alternative beach site for nude sunbathing.

The board voted to continue the present patrol of Muir Beach by sheriff's deputies on horseback for five hours a day, seven days a week for ten weeks at a cost of $2,341.50.

Supervisors also approved a mounted patrol of Bolinas Beach for two days per weekend plus Memorial Day, beginning May 26 and continuing through June 30 at a cost of $367.95.

They voted 3-2 against a proposal by Supervisor Michael Wornum that the Parks and Recreation Commission investigate the possibility of a beach area suitable for nude sunbathing and swimming.

Wornum said it is the county's responsibility to consider the rights of minorities, whether they be tennis players, motorcycle enthusiasts or nude sunbathers in a "reasonable society."

Arrigoni disagreed, saying that "it is not the function of county government" to find a place for a few persons to sunbathe in the nude.

Sheriff's deputies on horseback began patrol of a small stretch of sand adjacent to Muir State Beach last Saturday after complaints by residents of the area that nude sunbathers were drawing large crowds of onlookers that clogged the highway and caused disturbances.

Since then the county has received requests that the mounted patrol be discontinued, or that another area be set aside for legal beach nudity.

Reuben Awards Are Announced

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Cartoonists' Society Monday awarded Denver Post editorial cartoonist Pat Oliphant its "Reuben" award as top cartoonist of 1972.

The award, a sculpture named for the late cartoonist Rube Goldberg, was announced at the society's 27th annual awards dinner. Oliphant won over 32 other nominees.

Besides the Reuben, the society also presented 11 other awards in various categories, among them the humor strips: Dick Browne's "Hi and Lois;" and "Hagar The Horrible," King Features Syndicate, which outpaced "Miss Peach" by Mel Lazaras, an Independent-Journal strip.

Average Faculty Pay For Women

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Women on college and university faculties average almost $2,500 a year less than their male counterparts, a study of the U.S. Office of Education showed today.

The agency said women make up 22.5 per cent of the nation's 254,930 full-time college and university faculty members on nine and 10-month contracts.

LONG POSTAL CAREER ENDS

Donald E. Rudnick, 63, of San Rafael, sorts a few last pieces of mail at the Mission San Rafael post office, where he began work 33 years ago. Rudnick, who also worked as Kentfield's first mounted carrier, a route he drove 23 years, retired last weekend as assistant superintendent at the San Rafael facility. "There are bound to be more complaints now" about postal service, he said, because Marin's population has increased so much since his start with the post office.

Rock Concert Hall Funds Blocked

Two Marin County supervisors blocked a request yesterday from the county youth commission for $2,000 "seed money" to plan a youth cultural center and rock concert hall.

While the board voted 3 to 2 to approve the funds, such action requires four favorable votes. Supervisors Robert A. Roumiguiere and Peter R. Arrigoni voiced strong opposition.

It was the second time in a year county supervisors have been asked to help finance the project. As in the past, supervisors yesterday were requested to provide the seed money plus a promise of $25,000 if a like amount could be raised through donations.

Youth commissioners, headed by commission Chairman Janice Fuhrman of Novato High School, told supervisors the seed money would be used for a feasibility study on the cultural center and concert hall.

The $50,000 in county and private funds would be used to renovate an old building such as the vacant Purity market in Mill Valley for nonprofit concert use, they said.

Run by a separate board of directors, the rock hall would promote local rock bands at ticket prices teen-agers can afford, they said.

"It will be self sustaining after a year," Miss Fuhrman said, adding there is currently no place for local rock bands to perform with reasonable admission charges.

A parade of speakers — including representatives of the White Panther Party, which first proposed the idea, and a musicians union spokesman — urged the board to go along with the proposal.

REAGAN MUM ON SIZE OF TAX-PAYMENT

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said yesterday he paid state and federal income taxes this year, but he refused to disclose the amount.

Reagan owed no personal income taxes two years ago because of personal losses which were never formally revealed to the public. Asked by a reporter today what the situation was for 1972, he responded: "I paid my taxes."

Asked if he would reveal the amount, the Republican governor said, "No. I don't think that's smart or required."

State Isn't Paying Tax Limit Aides

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said yesterday there is "complete separation" between his aides which are on the state payroll and those working on his controversial tax limitation ititiative.

"There is no violation of anything, no separation that is being violated," Reagan added. "There is a complete separation, except that people in my own administration are volunteering, helping out on their own time."

Reagan also said the special election he plans to call in November for the initiative will cost between $2.9 million and $3.5 million.

Earlier Reagan had estimated the cost at $2.5 million while critics said it could cost up to $10 million.

Answering questions at a news conference, Reagan also said state funds were used to mail printed copies of his controversial tax proposal to 250 newspaper editors in other states.

Asked why the "showing the way" booklet is being sent to editors outside California, Reagan said in some cases it was in response to questions and in others it was to "inform" and hopefully win prestigious editorial endorsements.

Critics have said the out-of-state mailings are another sign that Reagan is using the initiative as a plank for a 1976 presidential platform. The Republican governor made no comment on that today, although he has consistently denied the initiative is tied to any political ambition.

Reagan also said his initiative drive, which needs signatures of 520,806 registered voters by June, is "running scared" in its petition campaign.

But, Reagan said, that is normal. "You always run scared. You should in any election . . . or you get in trouble."

He claimed no person circulating one of his petitions has reported being turned down by any voter. He said the plan - criticized by Democrats in the legislature-is supported by "everyone across party lines" and that Republican support is particularly strong.

The plan would clamp a constitutional lid on the spending of future governors and legislatures.

Asked about Republican critics of the plan, Reagan said, "I've never made a claim this is totally on party lines."

A reporter then asked: "Can you be a good Republican and oppose the initiative?"

"In Democratic eyes, yes. In my eyes, no," Reagan replied, adding that he did not ask for or expect complete party unity.

Tipster's Drug Report Is False

HENFIELD, England (UPI) — The drug squad swung into action Monday after it received a tip that someone was growing cannabis plants—rows and rows of them.

Detectives raced to the Sussex Naturalist Trust headquarters.

All they found was a 5-foot-high plant called eupatorium cannabium.

A visitor, a police spokesman said, apparently misread the name label on the plant and called the drug squad.

Watergate Query Bugs The Governor

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan became irritated today at a barrage of reporters' questions about the Watergate bugging incident, saying, "You've been doing this for weeks and I have nothing new to offer."

The Republican chief executive said again the media and Democrats have blown the incident out of proportion to a past history of election fraud, vote stealing and stuffing of ballot boxes.

"I can think of a few worse crimes that have happened in the nation's history," said Reagan, who was President Nixon's California campaign manager.

"No question about it," Reagan said, "the wrongdoing's been done. I think the law is taking its course and hope, as I'm sure everybody hopes, it will be cleared up completely and quickly."

But Reagan said he still believes that high Nixon administration officials were unaware that officials of the Committee to Re-elect the President planned to bug and burglarize the Democratic National Committee headquarters during the campaign last year.

And he said he sees no "credibility gap" problem that would harm Republicans in general in the 1974 and 1976 elections.

Finally, a reporter asked Reagan why he was so irritated about being asked, as a major Republican party figure, about the incident.

The governor replied, "I'm irritated at a fly that keeps bussing around my head and won't go away. You've been doing this for weeks and I have nothing new to offer."

Reagan also said:

-He has no knowledge of any major California Repubican campaign contributors deciding to hold back funds from 1974 races in order to bankroll a possible Reagan presidential campaign in 1976.

-Indicated he would oppose any tax increase by the Nixon administration in an effort to curb inflation. He said that would be like "telling a drunk to take another drink and it will cure him."

Woman Sues As Result Of Accident

A 22-year-old Los Angeles woman, critically injured in a March 24 traffic accident on Mount Tamalpais, has filed a $1.5 million damage suit in Marin Superior Court.

Through San Francisco attorney John H. Finger, Terry Ann Rosecrans seeks the damages from Alan H. Branch, 30, of Salt Lake City, driver of a motorcycle on which Miss Rosecrans was riding; Jack F. Fowler, 23, of Sausalito, operator of a pickup which collided with the motorcycle, and George G. Dunford, owner of the motorcycle.

Branch and Miss Rosecrans, hospitalized after Fowler's northbound pickup on Panoramic Highway strayed into the southbound lane and collided with the southbound motorcycle east of the Pan Toll Ranger Station, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Miss Rosecrans was admitted to the hospital in critical condition with head and lung injuries. Branch had a fractured skull, a broken right shoulder and back injuries.

Those are in the water districts of Alameda and Contra Costa counties and the cities of San Francisco, Long Beach and Vallejo.

REAGAN MUM ON SIZE OF TAX PAYMENT

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said yesterday he paid state and federal income taxes this year, but he refused to disclose the amount.

Reagan owed no personal income taxes two years ago because of personal losses which were never formally revealed to the public. Asked by a reporter today what the situation was for 1972, he responded: "I paid my taxes."

Asked if he would reveal the amount, the Republican governor said, "No. I don't think that's smart or required."

State Isn't Paying Tax Limit Aides

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said yesterday there is "complete separation" between his aides which are on the state payroll and those working on his controversial tax limitation ititiative.

"There is no violation of anything, no separation that is being violated," Reagan added. "There is a complete separation, except that people in my own administration are volunteering, helping out on their own time."

Reagan also said the special election he plans to call in November for the initiative will cost between $2.9 million and $3.5 million.

Earlier Reagan had estimated the cost at $2.5 million while critics said it could cost up to $10 million.

Answering questions at a news conference, Reagan also said state funds were used to mail printed copies of his controversial tax proposal to 250 newspaper editors in other states.

Asked why the "showing the way" booklet is being sent to editors outside California, Reagan said in some cases it was in response to questions and in others it was to "inform" and hopefully win prestigious editorial endorsements.

Critics have said the out-of-state mailings are another sign that Reagan is using the initiative as a plank for a 1976 presidential platform. The Republican governor made no comment on that today, although he has consistently denied the initiative is tied to any political ambition.

Reagan also said his initiative drive, which needs signatures of 520,806 registered voters by June, is "running scared" in its petition campaign.

But, Reagan said, that is normal. "You always run scared. You should in any election . . . or you get in trouble."

He claimed no person circulating one of his petitions has reported being turned down by any voter. He said the plan - criticized by Democrats in the legislature-is supported by "everyone across party lines" and that Republican support is particularly strong.

The plan would clamp a constitutional lid on the spending of future governors and legislatures.

Asked about Republican critics of the plan, Reagan said, "I've never made a claim this is totally on party lines."

A reporter then asked: "Can you be a good Republican and oppose the initiative?"

"In Democratic eyes, yes. In my eyes, no," Reagan replied, adding that he did not ask for or expect complete party unity.

Tipster's Drug Report Is False

HENFIELD, England (UPI) — The drug squad swung into action Monday after it received a tip that someone was growing cannabis plants—rows and rows of them.

Detectives raced to the Sussex Naturalist Trust headquarters.

All they found was a 5-foot-high plant called eupatorium cannabium.

A visitor, a police spokesman said, apparently misread the name label on the plant and called the drug squad.

Watergate Query Bugs The Governor

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan became irritated today at a barrage of reporters' questions about the Watergate bugging incident, saying, "You've been doing this for weeks and I have nothing new to offer."

The Republican chief executive said again the media and Democrats have blown the incident out of proportion to a past history of election fraud, vote stealing and stuffing of ballot boxes.

"I can think of a few worse crimes that have happened in the nation's history," said Reagan, who was President Nixon's California campaign manager.

"No question about it," Reagan said, "the wrongdoing's been done. I think the law is taking its course and hope, as I'm sure everybody hopes, it will be cleared up completely and quickly."

But Reagan said he still believes that high Nixon administration officials were unaware that officials of the Committee to Re-elect the President planned to bug and burglarize the Democratic National Committee headquarters during the campaign last year.

And he said he sees no "credibility gap" problem that would harm Republicans in general in the 1974 and 1976 elections.

Finally, a reporter asked Reagan why he was so irritated about being asked, as a major Republican party figure, about the incident.

The governor replied, "I'm irritated at a fly that keeps bussing around my head and won't go away. You've been doing this for weeks and I have nothing new to offer."

Reagan also said:

-He has no knowledge of any major California Repubican campaign contributors deciding to hold back funds from 1974 races in order to bankroll a possible Reagan presidential campaign in 1976.

-Indicated he would oppose any tax increase by the Nixon administration in an effort to curb inflation. He said that would be like "telling a drunk to take another drink and it will cure him."

New Government Formed To Seek Cambodia Peace

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — President Lon Nol said today he had formed a ruling High Political Council with three "old friends" to unify Cambodia and end the war. As he did so, the military situation worsened and U.S. fighterbombers could be seen striking Communist units just across the Mekong River from Phnom Penh.

Lon Nol has been under U.S. pressure to broaden his government so that negotiations could get underway on a cease-fire in Cambodia, the only Indochina country where none exists. But deposed Prince Norodom Sihanouk and the Communists have said they will never negotiate with the Lon Nol regime.

Lon Nol Tuesday night announced the formation of a new government which he said would be dedicated to a "search for peace." He said the National Assembly would be suspended for six months effective immediately and its duties undertaken by the High Political Council.

Joining Lon Nol in the new government were Gen. Sirik Matak, leader of the coup which overthrew Sihanouk; In Tam, former chairman of the National Assembly, and Cheung Heng, who served as chief of state after the 1970 coup. Sihanouk regards all four as his bitter enemies.

The announcement made no mention of Gen. Lon Non, the president's brother who is generally regarded as the power behind the scenes. The three members of the council said they would not work with Lon Nol unless he got rid of his brother; Lon Nol subsequently announced that Lon Non would make a trip to Washington.

American planes this afternoon bombed along the east bank of the Mekong River where the villages of Arey Ksach and Svay Chrum opposite downtown Phnom Penh were infiltrated during the night by the Communists. Hundreds of persons in the capital lined the river bank to watch the raids less than two miles away. Military spokesmen said the Communists were driven out and the villages remained in government hands.

Major Communist units have been reported as close as five miles from downtown Phnom Penh and B52s have carried out their heaviest raids of the Cambodian war in this general area. The thunderous explosions of the carpet bombing has jarred Phnom Penh residents awake night after night.

The heaviest fighting reported today was at the village of Prek Tapeo, 11 miles south of Phnom Penh. Government troops trying to push further south from the village ran into heavy rebel resistance and were forced to withdraw, field reports said.

U.S. jet fighter-bombers were called in two hours later to strike the rebel positions in the area along Highway 1.

Lon Nol made his "end the war" remarks to newsmen on a quick two-hour morale-boosting flying visit to Kampot, a province capital about 55 miles south of Phnom Penh near the Gulf of Thailand. He also told them that "Phnom Penh is not yet besieged."

Another 200-truck convoy loaded with supplies for Phnom Penh rumbled into the capital today after a successful 134-mile trip up Highway 4 from the deep water port of Kompong Som (formerly Sihanoukville). It was the second major convoy to reach Phnom Penh since Saturday along the highway. On Monday six fuel tankers and two cargo ships sailed into Phnom Penh on the Mekong, bringing badly needed gasoline.

Hospital Writes Off $24,758 In Bad Debts

The Marin Hospital District board last night heard that bad debts written off at Marin General Hospital for the first three months of this year totalled $24,758.41.

Hospital administrator Ray K. Bolinger said the directors wrote off a total of $31,970.37 for January, February and March, and recovered $7,211.96 from previously written-off debts. The net total amounted to .93 per cent of the hospital's revenue of $2,635,063.55 for the period.

Bolinger said most hospitals operate on a basis of between 1 to 2 per cent bad debts.

The hospital board heard that the question of four challenged votes on hospital employee union representation should be resolved within two weeks through the state arbitration service.

Directors approved a deferment in the retirement of nurse aide Esther P. Laine; formally adopted rules for the safe use of nonflammable anesthetics, and agreed to pay $3.16 more for employees' Blue Cross membership.

New Government Formed To Seek Cambodia Peace

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — President Lon Nol said today he had formed a ruling High Political Council with three "old friends" to unify Cambodia and end the war. As he did so, the military situation worsened and U.S. fighterbombers could be seen striking Communist units just across the Mekong River from Phnom Penh.

Lon Nol has been under U.S. pressure to broaden his government so that negotiations could get underway on a cease-fire in Cambodia, the only Indochina country where none exists. But deposed Prince Norodom Sihanouk and the Communists have said they will never negotiate with the Lon Nol regime.

Lon Nol Tuesday night announced the formation of a new government which he said would be dedicated to a "search for peace." He said the National Assembly would be suspended for six months effective immediately and its duties undertaken by the High Political Council.

Joining Lon Nol in the new government were Gen. Sirik Matak, leader of the coup which overthrew Sihanouk; In Tam, former chairman of the National Assembly, and Cheung Heng, who served as chief of state after the 1970 coup. Sihanouk regards all four as his bitter enemies.

The announcement made no mention of Gen. Lon Non, the president's brother who is generally regarded as the power behind the scenes. The three members of the council said they would not work with Lon Nol unless he got rid of his brother; Lon Nol subsequently announced that Lon Non would make a trip to Washington.

American planes this afternoon bombed along the east bank of the Mekong River where the villages of Arey Ksach and Svay Chrum opposite downtown Phnom Penh were infiltrated during the night by the Communists. Hundreds of persons in the capital lined the river bank to watch the raids less than two miles away. Military spokesmen said the Communists were driven out and the villages remained in government hands.

Major Communist units have been reported as close as five miles from downtown Phnom Penh and B52s have carried out their heaviest raids of the Cambodian war in this general area. The thunderous explosions of the carpet bombing has jarred Phnom Penh residents awake night after night.

The heaviest fighting reported today was at the village of Prek Tapeo, 11 miles south of Phnom Penh. Government troops trying to push further south from the village ran into heavy rebel resistance and were forced to withdraw, field reports said.

U.S. jet fighter-bombers were called in two hours later to strike the rebel positions in the area along Highway 1.

Lon Nol made his "end the war" remarks to newsmen on a quick two-hour morale-boosting flying visit to Kampot, a province capital about 55 miles south of Phnom Penh near the Gulf of Thailand. He also told them that "Phnom Penh is not yet besieged."

Another 200-truck convoy loaded with supplies for Phnom Penh rumbled into the capital today after a successful 134-mile trip up Highway 4 from the deep water port of Kompong Som (formerly Sihanoukville). It was the second major convoy to reach Phnom Penh since Saturday along the highway. On Monday six fuel tankers and two cargo ships sailed into Phnom Penh on the Mekong, bringing badly needed gasoline.

Letter Due Parents Is Supported

The Petaluma Board of Education last night unanimously agreed to the contents and distribution of a letter warning parents of the consequences of rapid growth in Rohnert Park.

The low-key letter stemmed from a decision April 11 to alert parents to the problem of accommodating 706 new students expected by the end of 1974. The alternatives to such growth would be double sessions, split sessions or year-round school.

A proposal by trustee Robert T. Stimson to send a copy of the letter to the Rohnert Park and Cotati city councils for comment prior to distribution was defeated 3-to-1, with trustees William K. Kortum, Daniel B. Plumley and Wesley W. Ebert opposed.

Recalling the heated joint meeting held last month, Ebert said, "At our meeting they implied the responsibility for education rested with the school board. It's our responsibility. There's nothing in the letter that infringes on their jurisdictional area.

"In essence it is saying to the parents, here is what you're faced with. We're asking that they be involved with the necessary considerations involved."

Supt. Lesly H. Meyer added that both councils had been informed of the letter and agreed to its distribution.

"This is just to inform the public out there of logistics," said Kortum. "We can't provide facilities over night."

The letter, which Meyer said could be continued as a semiannual communication of problems, advises parents that new space will not be provided by 1975. The 1973-74 school year will be supplemented with six additional portable buildings at Rancho Cotate but the board anticipates problems the following year.

The Petaluma Board of Eduktion also:

ADDITIONS — Approved additions and alterations to schools, retaining the firm of Reynolds and Chamberlain as architects for the district.

CONTINUATION — Approved moving San Antonio Continuation High School from its present location at the fairgrounds to two acres adjacent to the National Guard and authorized new portable buildings and ground improvements by its opening in September.

PORTABLES — Authorized Petaluma Senior High School to receive eight new portable buildings and Rancho Cotate six portables currently in use at San Antonio.

STUDY — Heard John Anderson, principal of Penngrove Elementary School, say a survey of parents concerning a year-round 45-15 school year has received an 84 per cent response, with 56 per cent of those in favor of the plan.

MEETING — Called closed session for May 11 at 7 p.m. in the administration building to continue discussion of salary negotiations.

RETIRED — Accepted the resignation of Mary Steuart of Valley Vista Elementary School, a teacher in the district since 1953 and a former principal of McDowell and McKinley schools, effective June 30.

MEETING — Adjourned to May 8 at 7 p.m. in the administration building to continue discussion on the 45-15 Plan at Penngrove School.

Youth To Pay Expenses Of Friend's Rites

PLACERVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — At his own request, Dennis R. McGuire, 18, will pay $1,400 in hospital and funeral expenses incurred by the family of a 19-year-old youth he accidentally shot and killed.

McGuire, of El Dorado, pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter in the death of Lester M. Toombs Jr. and was sentenced to a suspended six-month jail term and placed on three years probation.

Superior Court records showed Tuesday that Judge Robert E. Roberts officially made the payment an order of the court after McGuire requested it and the Toombs family agreed.

Authorities said Toombs died several hours after he was shot in the head with a .38-caliber revolver the two youths were passing between each other in Toombs' mobile home Jan. 20.

Driver Will Face Several Charges

CLOVIS, N.M. (UPI) — Police say Ralph M. Madrid during the weekend drove his car through the wall of a house, rammed two other cars, struck the side of a railroad overpass, and then apparently jumped off a bridge.

Madrid, 26, recovering from his injuries in a local hospital, Monday was charged with criminal damage, assault with a motor vehicle, four counts of leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated and attempted suicide.

Minimal Development Of Deer Park School Area Is Backed

The Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission, while supporting turfing of the Deer Park School playground, last night backed Porteous Avenue residents and urged minimal development of the area.

Turfing of the playground should not exceed two acres, the commission said, adding that turfing plans should not include an access road, bridge, realignment of a nearby creek or any cutting of trees.

The commission action, which appeared to please several Porteous Avenue residents who attended the meeting, was opposed by commissioners Gratia Landley and Noel A. Cimino.

Plans by the Fairfax School District to turf two baseball diamonds and provide an access road in a joint effort with the county have been loudly opposed by neighbors who have argued the improvement will result in costly maintenance, traffic congestion and potential development of nearby water district lands. The county has jurisdiction over the unincorporated area near Fairfax.

The city council failed to endorse the plan when councilmen split on how much grass to plant, and the school district board has not yet acted on the matter.

Residents last night drew a pledge from commissioner Irma Kay to fight any installation of Little League facilities on the playground, and Conway Enscoe of 160 Porteous Avenue announced plans to circulate petitions to annex the area to the town "so we can have control of its future."

The fate of plans to improve the playground remains uncertain, however, as Fairfax officials have said that the county will be wary of splitting an estimated $37,000 tab with the school district without a nod from the town council.

In addition, a financial squeeze in the school district may force the district board to use monies allocated for the project for more important matters, according to trustee Jane S. Durr.

The Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission also:

EASTER EGGS — Said that 200 residents appeared at a recent town Easter egg hunt and asked that the Little League, which held practice simultaneously with the hunt near White Hill School, cooperate in scheduling of events.

FIRING — Routinely postponed discussion of a proposal that the town's top recreational aides be fired despite a directive from the city council to come up with a "collective recommendation" on the situation at last night's meeting.

BUDGET — Said a proposed budget of $20,752 for 1973-74, down from this year's $21,514 spending program, will be discussed at 7:30 p.m. May 9.

OFFICER — Elected Leo Cronin as commission chairman for 1973-74. Commissioner Randall Garrison was absent.

ATTENDANCE — Asked that an attendance record for use of Peri Park and the Fairfax Pavilion be drafted by parks staff.

BICKERING — Amid extended procedural bickering, heard commissioner Gratia Landley declare that colleagues Joann Walla and Noel A. Cimino are "theoretically not commissioners" since their terms expired last April 5. The town council has instructed the two to remain in office until they are reappointed or others appointed.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. May 9.

Popularity Of Rum

SAN JUAN (UPI) — Puerto Rican rum has zoomed in popularity in recent years, according to the Economic Development Administration. The reasons given are that many people are looking for light, dry liquors and that rum also is very versatile.

Six Hurt In Brawl At Quentin

A free-swinging brawl involving six convicts with two prison-made knives and two baseball bats broke out shortly after lunch yesterday in San Quentin's lower yard but was broken up after a guard fired a warning shot.

The intense fight, which left all the participants wounded to one extent or another, apparently was an "in-house power struggle" among members of the Aryan Brotherhood, according to Lee DeBord, prison information officer.

He said the brawlers were all members or "closely associated with" the inmate organization, composed of Nazi-like white supremacy advocates.

The fight broke out at 12:44 p.m., when the yard was filled with inmates during the lunch break, DeBord said. Other convicts apparently quickly scattered to avoid the fight, and a correctional officer in a tower fired a shot into the air.

Most seriously injured was Dan Rawlinson, 24-year-old inmate sent to prison from San Diego County for escape and an attempt to free another prisoner. He was reported in satisfactory condition today in the prison hospital with stab wounds in the chest, neck and leg.

Also stabbed was Joshua Hill, 28, a former Death Row inmate serving time for the murder of a Los Angeles liquor store owner. He was treated for wounds on his face and left shoulder.

One of Charles Manson's crime partners, Bobby Beausoleil, also a former Death Row inmate and convicted murderer, "apparently was the recipient of a baseball bat," De Bord said. Beausoleil suffered a broken jaw and broken hand as well as a black eye.

Three other inmates, who suffered cuts and scrapes, were not identified by prison officials as "they may be charged" in connection with the incident, De Bord said.

Prison authorities said the Aryan Brotherhood is not so much interested in political activities as in imposing its members' will on other inmates.

Yesterday's incident brought this year's stabbings at San Quentin to 18. DeBord said that counting Beausoleil, there have been 19 serious assaults.

REMAINS OF A CLASSROOM

Minimal Development Of Deer Park School Area Is Backed

The Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission, while supporting turfing of the Deer Park School playground, last night backed Porteous Avenue residents and urged minimal development of the area.

Turfing of the playground should not exceed two acres, the commission said, adding that turfing plans should not include an access road, bridge, realignment of a nearby creek or any cutting of trees.

The commission action, which appeared to please several Porteous Avenue residents who attended the meeting, was opposed by commissioners Gratia Landley and Noel A. Cimino.

Plans by the Fairfax School District to turf two baseball diamonds and provide an access road in a joint effort with the county have been loudly opposed by neighbors who have argued the improvement will result in costly maintenance, traffic congestion and potential development of nearby water district lands. The county has jurisdiction over the unincorporated area near Fairfax.

The city council failed to endorse the plan when councilmen split on how much grass to plant, and the school district board has not yet acted on the matter.

Residents last night drew a pledge from commissioner Irma Kay to fight any installation of Little League facilities on the playground, and Conway Enscoe of 160 Porteous Avenue announced plans to circulate petitions to annex the area to the town "so we can have control of its future."

The fate of plans to improve the playground remains uncertain, however, as Fairfax officials have said that the county will be wary of splitting an estimated $37,000 tab with the school district without a nod from the town council.

In addition, a financial squeeze in the school district may force the district board to use monies allocated for the project for more important matters, according to trustee Jane S. Durr.

The Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission also:

EASTER EGGS — Said that 200 residents appeared at a recent town Easter egg hunt and asked that the Little League, which held practice simultaneously with the hunt near White Hill School, cooperate in scheduling of events.

FIRING — Routinely postponed discussion of a proposal that the town's top recreational aides be fired despite a directive from the city council to come up with a "collective recommendation" on the situation at last night's meeting.

BUDGET — Said a proposed budget of $20,752 for 1973-74, down from this year's $21,514 spending program, will be discussed at 7:30 p.m. May 9.

OFFICER — Elected Leo Cronin as commission chairman for 1973-74. Commissioner Randall Garrison was absent.

ATTENDANCE — Asked that an attendance record for use of Peri Park and the Fairfax Pavilion be drafted by parks staff.

BICKERING — Amid extended procedural bickering, heard commissioner Gratia Landley declare that colleagues Joann Walla and Noel A. Cimino are "theoretically not commissioners" since their terms expired last April 5. The town council has instructed the two to remain in office until they are reappointed or others appointed.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. May 9.

Popularity Of Rum

SAN JUAN (UPI) — Puerto Rican rum has zoomed in popularity in recent years, according to the Economic Development Administration. The reasons given are that many people are looking for light, dry liquors and that rum also is very versatile.

Six Hurt In Brawl At Quentin

A free-swinging brawl involving six convicts with two prison-made knives and two baseball bats broke out shortly after lunch yesterday in San Quentin's lower yard but was broken up after a guard fired a warning shot.

The intense fight, which left all the participants wounded to one extent or another, apparently was an "in-house power struggle" among members of the Aryan Brotherhood, according to Lee DeBord, prison information officer.

He said the brawlers were all members or "closely associated with" the inmate organization, composed of Nazi-like white supremacy advocates.

The fight broke out at 12:44 p.m., when the yard was filled with inmates during the lunch break, DeBord said. Other convicts apparently quickly scattered to avoid the fight, and a correctional officer in a tower fired a shot into the air.

Most seriously injured was Dan Rawlinson, 24-year-old inmate sent to prison from San Diego County for escape and an attempt to free another prisoner. He was reported in satisfactory condition today in the prison hospital with stab wounds in the chest, neck and leg.

Also stabbed was Joshua Hill, 28, a former Death Row inmate serving time for the murder of a Los Angeles liquor store owner. He was treated for wounds on his face and left shoulder.

One of Charles Manson's crime partners, Bobby Beausoleil, also a former Death Row inmate and convicted murderer, "apparently was the recipient of a baseball bat," De Bord said. Beausoleil suffered a broken jaw and broken hand as well as a black eye.

Three other inmates, who suffered cuts and scrapes, were not identified by prison officials as "they may be charged" in connection with the incident, De Bord said.

Prison authorities said the Aryan Brotherhood is not so much interested in political activities as in imposing its members' will on other inmates.

Yesterday's incident brought this year's stabbings at San Quentin to 18. DeBord said that counting Beausoleil, there have been 19 serious assaults.

Base Cutbacks Lead To A Bleak School Report

Novato Unified School District faces a loss of 1,600 pupils and almost $2 million in federal and state funds because of the cutbacks at Hamilton Air Force Base, according to Supt. James G. Bunker.

Ronald D. Schenck, chairman of the district board, said last night "everyone is in a bit of a state of shock" and seeking to learn "where we are and where we are going to go."

The bad news came as the board faced an audience of more than 250 persons, including teachers seeking a 21.26 per cent pay raise, a minority group seeking a multiethnic program and pupils seeking a gymnasium for Hill Junior High School.

Throughout the evening the cutback at Hamilton crept into the discussion, creating an air of uncertainty about the coming school year.

Trustees agreed to seek ways to recoup the financial setback described by Bunker as "a catastrophic loss of revenue."

One of the possibilities is getting legislation passed that would permit "a local tax election and ask the people to rescue their schools from what is a real disaster," Bunker said.

Schenck said an election to increase the property tax rate would have to be held by the end of July to provide funds for the 1973-74 budget. The district's rate this year is $5.745 per $100 assessed valuation.

Another possibility would be to "get special dispensation to decrease to a staff sufficient to handle pupils we will have, and do not have teachers we do not need," Schenck said.

Bunker said the district stands to lose public law 874 funds allocated to districts which serve students connected with federal bases and state funds based on average daily attendance.

The district serves 2,370 pupils connected with the base.

Hamilton and Meadow Park schools on the base and Pacheco School in San Raphael Village a federal housing area, are expected to suffer major declines in enrollment.

Bunker estimated that enrollment at San Jose Junior High School would decline about 35 per cent with the cutback at the base.

Trustees agreed to discuss ways to recoup the expected loss of funds at their next meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Novato High School lecture hall.

Trustee Carolyn M. Crabtree said it appears the district "has been hurt worse proportionately than any other school district in the station" by the military cutbacks.

The running dispute between teachers and the board over salary negotiations arose briefly when an unidentified man said the district could cut the costs of the "outside attorneys" it has hired to negotiate with teachers, a remark greeted with applause by some in the audience.

Schenck replied there is a possibility of "delaying any negotiation until we know what we're talking about," in regards to the effect of the Hamilton cutback. This prompted muttering and a series of grumblings from teachers.

Schenck then said the board would move on to the next agenda item and scores of teachers walked out of the meeting without further comment.

Jail Term Given In Burglary Case

A 26-year-old Missouri man was ordered Monday to spend six months in jail for breaking into the Community Action of Marin office in San Rafael in December.

Judge Charles Read Best also placed MarvinEllis Otey on probation for six months. Probation was not extended beyond the jail term because Otey faces extradition to Missouri for violating probation imposed in an armed robbery case there.

Otey was convicted of burglarizing the office at 1006 Lincoln Avenue by a jury in Best's court March 19.

Safe Is Looted Of $700,000

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (UPI) — Brinks Express Co. of Canada Ltd. discovered Monday that $700,000 was taken from its electrically operated safe over the weekend.

Warrants were issued Monday for two Brinks employes, Leslie James Dominey, 32, a driver-guard, and Melvin Edward Alberta Downs, 36, an assistant cashier. U.S. authorities were alerted to be on the lookout for the two.

The theft was discovered Monday morning after the electrically operated safe would not open. A Brinks official was flown in from Montreal to open the vault and found the money gone.

Base Cutbacks Lead To A Bleak School Report

Novato Unified School District faces a loss of 1,600 pupils and almost $2 million in federal and state funds because of the cutbacks at Hamilton Air Force Base, according to Supt. James G. Bunker.

Ronald D. Schenck, chairman of the district board, said last night "everyone is in a bit of a state of shock" and seeking to learn "where we are and where we are going to go."

The bad news came as the board faced an audience of more than 250 persons, including teachers seeking a 21.26 per cent pay raise, a minority group seeking a multiethnic program and pupils seeking a gymnasium for Hill Junior High School.

Throughout the evening the cutback at Hamilton crept into the discussion, creating an air of uncertainty about the coming school year.

Trustees agreed to seek ways to recoup the financial setback described by Bunker as "a catastrophic loss of revenue."

One of the possibilities is getting legislation passed that would permit "a local tax election and ask the people to rescue their schools from what is a real disaster," Bunker said.

Schenck said an election to increase the property tax rate would have to be held by the end of July to provide funds for the 1973-74 budget. The district's rate this year is $5.745 per $100 assessed valuation.

Another possibility would be to "get special dispensation to decrease to a staff sufficient to handle pupils we will have, and do not have teachers we do not need," Schenck said.

Bunker said the district stands to lose public law 874 funds allocated to districts which serve students connected with federal bases and state funds based on average daily attendance.

The district serves 2,370 pupils connected with the base.

Hamilton and Meadow Park schools on the base and Pacheco School in San Raphael Village a federal housing area, are expected to suffer major declines in enrollment.

Bunker estimated that enrollment at San Jose Junior High School would decline about 35 per cent with the cutback at the base.

Trustees agreed to discuss ways to recoup the expected loss of funds at their next meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Novato High School lecture hall.

Trustee Carolyn M. Crabtree said it appears the district "has been hurt worse proportionately than any other school district in the station" by the military cutbacks.

The running dispute between teachers and the board over salary negotiations arose briefly when an unidentified man said the district could cut the costs of the "outside attorneys" it has hired to negotiate with teachers, a remark greeted with applause by some in the audience.

Schenck replied there is a possibility of "delaying any negotiation until we know what we're talking about," in regards to the effect of the Hamilton cutback. This prompted muttering and a series of grumblings from teachers.

Schenck then said the board would move on to the next agenda item and scores of teachers walked out of the meeting without further comment.

Jail Term Given In Burglary Case

A 26-year-old Missouri man was ordered Monday to spend six months in jail for breaking into the Community Action of Marin office in San Rafael in December.

Judge Charles Read Best also placed MarvinEllis Otey on probation for six months. Probation was not extended beyond the jail term because Otey faces extradition to Missouri for violating probation imposed in an armed robbery case there.

Otey was convicted of burglarizing the office at 1006 Lincoln Avenue by a jury in Best's court March 19.

Safe Is Looted Of $700,000

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (UPI) — Brinks Express Co. of Canada Ltd. discovered Monday that $700,000 was taken from its electrically operated safe over the weekend.

Warrants were issued Monday for two Brinks employes, Leslie James Dominey, 32, a driver-guard, and Melvin Edward Alberta Downs, 36, an assistant cashier. U.S. authorities were alerted to be on the lookout for the two.

The theft was discovered Monday morning after the electrically operated safe would not open. A Brinks official was flown in from Montreal to open the vault and found the money gone.

Hill Junior High Gym— Top Priority

The Novato Unified School District board, to resounding applause from about 25 pupils, gave top priority in its building program to a gymnasium for Hill Junior High School.

Supt. James G. Bunker estimated that a gymnasium will cost $330,000, the entire amount the district has in unsold bonds to finance capital improvements projects.

Hill Principal Harry J. Moore said, however, that a suitable gymnasium can be constructed for from $153,000 to $212,000.

Trustees also called for bids on addition to the auto shop at Novato High School estimated at $43,520 and a plastics shop, estimated at $8,000.

Under way at Novato High School is remodeling of the metal shop, part of a program to improve the vocational education facilities at the school, at a cost of $4,500.

The board voted to sell $100,000 in existing bonds to finance building projects.

Trustees also heard an appeal from Bradley Scott of Hamilton Air Force Base to institute a full multiethnic study program including the hiring of a coordinator, a multiethnic activities week and a citizens advisory board.

The board named Jack O. Rothe, curriculum director to head a steering committee on a multiethnic study program including students, members of Novatans for Racial Equality and interested persons.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

JUNIOR MISS — Presented a plaque to Lori Gieleghem, a Novato High School senior, who was selected California Junior Miss and will compete for the National Junior Miss title next month.

BOUNDARIES — Continued indefinitely a proposal to shift junior high school attendance boundaries to ease overloading at Sinaloa Junior High School. Asst. Supt. Paul C. Mobley said a discussion of proposed boundary changes will be held at 8 p.m. today at Hill Junior High.

GIFTS — Accepted gifts of $500 from the Pacheco School Parent-Teacher Association and a $269 check from the San Jose Junior High School student body for a sprinkler system at the school.

COUNCIL — Appointed Joseph D. Gargiulo, principal of the Adult Evening School, and Daniel Spelling, education officer at Hamilton Air Force Base, to the Marin County Adult Continuing Education Coordinating Council.

FUNDING — Approved applications for state and federal funds totaling $332,099 for various education programs including reading, vocational education and programs for handicapped students.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignation of Elizabeth Lacy, a teacher at San Jose Junior High, effective June 15.

LEAVES — Granted leaves for the 1973-74 school year to five teachers, Mae Gelula, Lu Sutton School, Marilyn Evans, Rancho School; Patricia Rosen, Pleasant Valley School; Jean Nixon, San Jose Junior High, and Reta Tyler, Loma Verde School.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Novato High School lecture hall.

Circus Aimed At Promoting KQED Auction

A free circus to promote KQED television's annual fund-raising auction will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. May 12 at the Strawberry Town and Country Village shopping center.

Present will be bay area television and radio personalities Ron Magers, Carter B. Smith and Barry Tompkins, as well as Mill Valley schoolteacher and songwriter Rita Abrams, who recorded the hit song, "Mill Valley."

The event will take place in the parking lot opposite the Ancient Mariner restaurant, according to Susan Kolb, Marin publicity chairman for the auction.

A $50 savings bond will be awarded to the winner of an art contest for Marin school children in ceremonies at the circus, said Mrs. Kolb. The top five artists will tour KQED's San Francisco studios and their works will be sold at the auction, slated for June 1-10.

Show Bettors Strike It Rich

PIMLICO, Md. (UPI) — It was the kind of day the $2 bettor dreams of.

Winsome Imp won Monday's Politely Stakes for three year olds at Pimlico, paying $73 for a show ticket while Rambelle, the second horse, paid $159.40 to show and third place finisher Pegemina paid $124.00 to show.

The reason for the large payoffs for show tickets— traditionally the bet placed by the small, cautious bettor—was that the favorite, Marian Bender, finished fifth but had more than 90 per cent of the third place money bet on it.

Cong Rejects Election Plan

SAIGON (UPI) — Saigon today proposed general elections with Viet Cong participation Aug. 26 to settle South Vietnam's political future but the Viet Cong rejected the plan as "merely an artificial maneuver."

The four-page, six-point document contains a Saigon provision—never before proposed—for demobilization of its troops on a scale proportionate to withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam. North Vietnam has never admitted having any troops in the South.

The proposal was turned down by the Viet Cong in Paris as Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam was announcing it at a Saigon news conference. It came as the Saigon command reported agreement with the Viet Cong on the exchange of 1,387 civilian prisoners and more post-truce fighting in South Vietnam that killed 12 persons and wounded 49 others in the past 24 hours.

"The scheme seems to be merely an artificial maneuver not in compliance with the stipulations of the Paris peace treaty," said Viet Cong negotiator Nguyen Van Hieu at political talks with the South Vietnamese in Paris.

It was the first time either side has announced a suggested date for the elections. Under terms of the Jan. 27 agreement ending the Vietnam War, the two parties have 90 days to sign an initial agreement on the future of South Vietnam. That deadline is only three days away.

Lam indicated that some terms of the proposal were deliberately vague to allow for participation by the Communists in drafting the details. He did not specify whether Saigon is proposing a presidential election, as Saigon supposedly favors, or parliamentary elections, as the Communists are said to prefer.

The proposal provides that:

The two parties at the Paris meeting will sign a "final and comprehensive agreement on the internal matters of South Vietnam" within 30 days after the preliminary accord is signed.

The election will be held 120 days after the preliminary accord is signed.

In addition to the control over the election given to the International Commission of Control and Supervision (ICCS) as provided in the Vietnam truce, additional foreign countries shall be invited to send observers to monitor the balloting.

The National Council of Reconciliation and Concord, also provided for under the Paris cease-fire agreement, will be established no later than 30 days after signing of the final and comprehensive agreement (60 days after signing the preliminary accord).

All "non-South Vietnamese armed forces (presumably North Vietnamese) must totally withdraw from South Vietnam and be returned to their homes." At the same time South Vietnam "shall demobilize an equivalent number of troops."

This demobilization and withdrawal would be done in two phases—the first within 30 days after signing of the comprehensive agreement (60 days after signing the preliminary accord), the second phase within 60 days after the comprehensive agreement is signed (90 days after signng the preliminary accord);

While the demobilization and withdrawal is under way, restrictions on democratic liberties will be abolished.

Lam said in a preliminary statement his government hoped that the preliminary accord might be signed April 27 in accord with the provisions of the Jan. 27 Paris agreement. That pact provided that South Vietnam and the Viet Cong would do "their utmost to accomplish this within 90 days" after the Vietnam cease-fire.

Water Tests Used In Study Of Quakes

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Pressures along earthquake faults can be artificially and predictably relieved by pumping water in and out of them, a scientist at the U.S. Geological Center says.

Barry Raleigh at the Center for Earthquake Research was talking Tuesday about an experiment in which quakes were turned off and on by pumping water in and out of an active Colorado fault zone.

Tests still are continuing, but if small quakes could be induced artificially and controlled, large temblors could be prevented.

The idea for the pumping a decade ago when a series of quakes in the Denver area were blamed on the Army's Rocky Mountain Arsenal injected liquid wastes into a 12,000-foot-deep well.

Raleigh and his colleagues guessed that the liquids were seeping into a locked earthquake fault, separating rocks and allowing them to slip under the always present pressures.

To test the theory, they pumped water from 6,000-foot-deep wells in an oil field near Rangely, Colo., in 1970 and noted that small quakes which had averaged 30 a month were reduced to one a month.

When water was pumped back in 1972 the quakes returned and Raleigh said there were 30 so far this month in the oil field.

Scientists have since duplicated the feat in laboratory experiments and are now looking for a California quarry with a single quake fault for even more testing.

59 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

With 59 cases, streptococcus infection was the most prevalent communicable disease reported last week in Marin County, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County health officer.

Nineteen cases of gonorrhea and one of syphillis also were reported.

Secret Funding Probe Is Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Senate majority leader George Moscone says it is "more than remotely possible" that secret campaign contributions were given to California candidates last year.

The San Francisco Democrat made the statement in a letter Monday to Attorney General Evelle J. Younger requesting an investigation to determine if California candidates had received any secret donations.

Referring to "recent revelations" that a large amount of secret contributions were made to President Nixon's reelection campaign, Moscone said, "It would seem more than remotely possible that such contributions could have been made to those seeking state office in California.

ANNUAL EVENT

Food Featured With Antiques

Almost as famous for the delicious food served as for the antiques displayed, is the Marin County Antiques Show and Sale, sponsored by the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley.

Now in its 21st renewal, the show opens a three-day run tomorrow at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito. This year French cuisine will be featured by Mrs. Gordon Gritter and her committee. Hearty French soups as well as delicate crepes asparagas will be tempting.

Not forgetting those who are counting calories and interested in good nutritional values in baked goods, the women are preparing unusual items, like a low calorie dessert, apricot delight, and the high nutrition sunflower seed cookies.

For take-home enjoyment, Mmes. Kenneth Kew and John Richardson head the Grandmother's Cupboard Committee, preparing home baked breads, cookies, chutney, jams, jellies and the fudge which has been a favorite of show visitors since 1952.

Luncheon and dinner will be sserved each day of the show and a snack bar will operate continuously from noon until 9 p.m. tomorrow and Friday, and noon until 7 p.m. Saturday.

APRICOT DELIGHT

(50 calaries per serving)

2 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon granulated sugar (or sugar substitute)
1 16-ounce can peeled apricots, pitted and drained

About 15 minutes before serving, beat egg whites and salt until frothy, in medium bowl of electric mixer at high speed.

Gradually beat in sugar. Beat two minutes, or until the sugar is dissolved. Gradually beat in apricots until shredded.

Makes five one-half cup servings.

SUNFLOWER SEED COOKIES

1 cup margarine or butter
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
3 cups quick oatmeal
1 cup shelled sunflower seeds

Cream butter, sugar, eggs and vanilla. Beat and blend well. Add flour, salt, and soda. Blend in oatmeal. Gently blend in sunflower seeds. Form into rolls one and a half inches in diameter. Wrap in waxpaper and chill. Slice and bake on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 10 minutes.

Tips On Knives

Knives should be kept razor sharp. A dull blade requires more pressure and is more likely to slip and gouge. Always slice away from yourself. Store knives in their own drawer or rack. Never hand a person a knife point first.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS prepare Sunflower Seed Cookies in the kitchen of the Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley. Mrs. Joseph W. Taylor cut the chilled roll of dough into slices and placed them on a baking sheet, while Mrs. Pieter van Dalen mixed the batter for the next batch. The nourishing cookies will be available as snacks or take home treats at the Marin County Antiques Show and Sale tomorrow through Saturday at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito.

RIGHT NOW IS the time to enjoy the fresh asparagus that is in the market in Marin. Serve it with a variety of dressings which are low calorie or less expensive than the usual Hollandaise.

The Asparagus Season Arrives; Some Tasty Sauces Suggested

Take advantage of the fresh asparagus season, suggests home economist Peggy Hopkins of the San Rafael Pacific Gas and Electric Co. office. Four stalks contain only 10 calories, she points out.

Mrs. Hopkins presents some sauces to dress the dish. One is low calorie, another a thrifty Hollandaise and a third is for a mock sour cream dressing.

To serve four persons generously, allow for two pounds of asparagus. Wash, break off ends of stalks where they snap easily. Cook, covered, in one inch of boiling water in large skillet until just tender, for five to eight minutes. Drain immediately. Serve with one of the following sauces:

LOW-CALORIE YOLLANDAISE

(This sauce has only 14 calories in a tablespoon)

¾ cup plain yogurt
2 egg yolks, beaten
2 or 3 teaspoons lemon juice butter-flavored salt and Pepper to taste
¼ teaspoon imitation butter flavor (This may be purchased in spice department of markets)
1 drop yellow food coloring

Stir beaten yolks into yogurt. Stir in lemon juice, seasonings and coloring. Heat slowly over hot water, and keep warm for serving. Makes about 1 cup.

THRIFTY HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

(This useful Hollandaise sauce, less expensive than many, enhances the flavor of fish, meats or vegetables)

2 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons melted margarine
3 tablespoons lemon juice

Melt margarine over low heat. Blend in flour and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat. Add milk and mix thoroughly. Return to heat; bring to boil and boil one minute, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened. Remove from heat; beat in pepper and egg yolks. Gradually beat in melted margarine and lemon juice. Serve at once. Makes about one and one-fourth cups sauce.

MOCK SOUR CREAM

3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons liquid non-fat milk
8 ounces (1 cup) low-fat cottage cheese

Put lemon juice and milk in blender. Add cottage cheese gradually while on low speed. Blend a few minutes on high speed. If this becomes too thick upon standing, thin with nonfat milk. This is an excellent substitute for sour cream and yet has only 13 calories in one tablespoon. Try it on baked potatoes; a medium sized baked potato, plain, contains only about 100 calories.

This oxtail dish is excellent served with sourdough bread and a green or fruit salad, says Mrs. Hopkins.

BRAISED OXTAILS

5 pounds oxtails
Shortening
Seasonined salt and pepper
1 large clove garlic, finely chopped
1 large onion, chopped
3 large stalks celery, cut in chunks
3 medium carrots, peeled and cut in chunks
⅛ teaspoon each, thyme, rosemary and marjoram (more, if desired)
1 bay leaf
1 cup tomato puree
2 beef bouillon cubes
Water
12 2-inch chunks peeled potatoes
18 2-inch chunks peeled carrots

In large saucepot, slowly brown oxtails, using shortening if needed. Season with salt and pepper. Add garlic, onion, the three stalks celery, the three carrots, herbs, bay leaf, tomato puree, bouillon cubes and enough water to cover all.

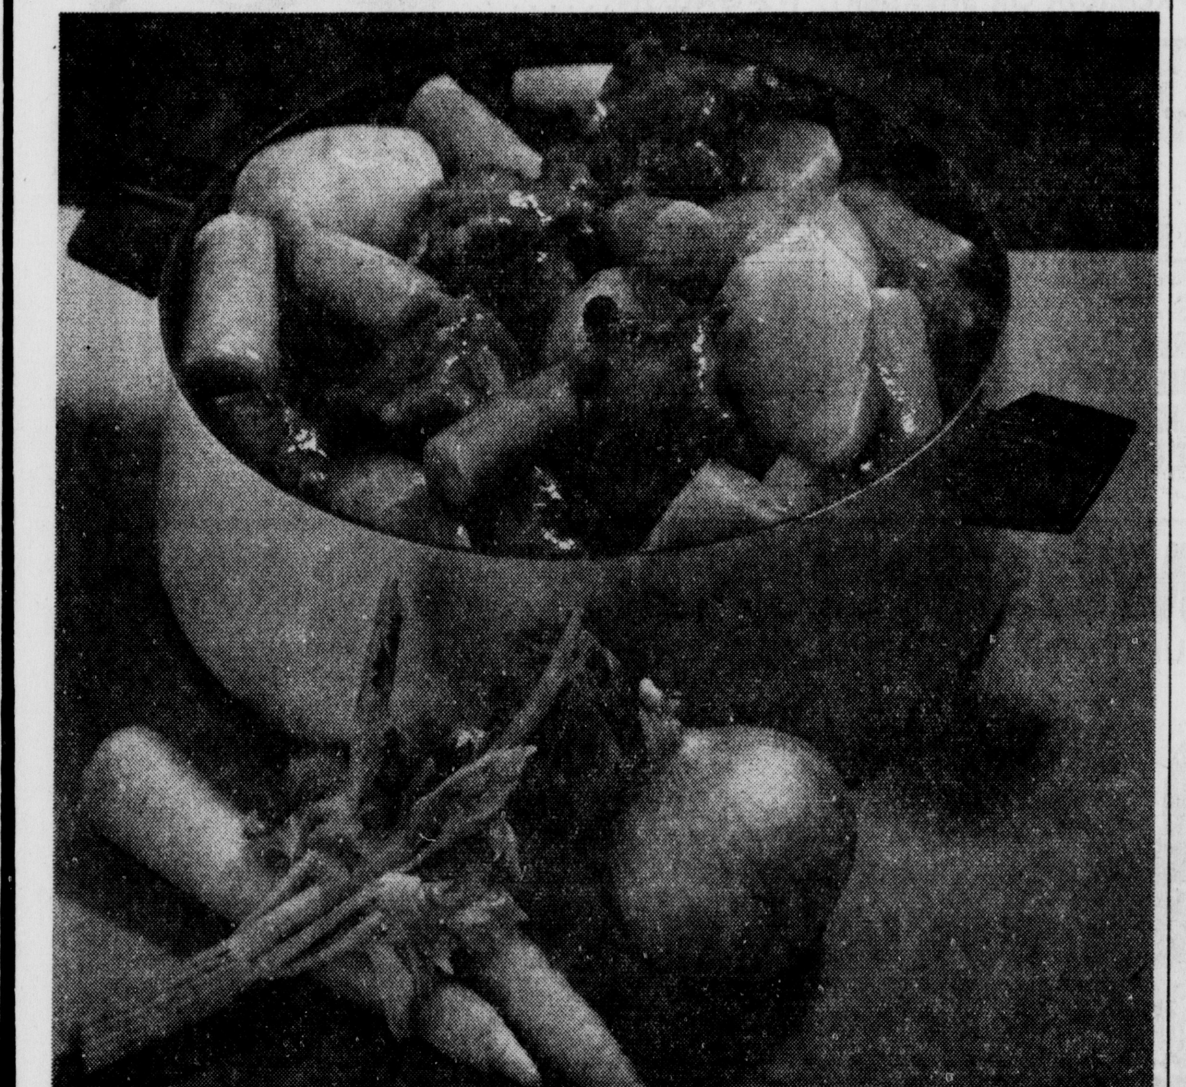
Cover and bring to boil on high heat, then turn to low and simmer gently for two to three hours, or until oxtails are tender. Skim off excess fat. Add chunks of potato and carrots. Sprinkle with additional salt.

Simmer until vegetables are tender. Thicken sauce if desired. Makes six generous servings. Approximate cost per serving: 64 cents. (For a gourmet touch, substitute one-half to one cup dry red wine for part of the liquid.)

Pork Is Good Nutrient Supplier

Pork is always a good buy in terms of the important food nutrients it supplies. The top food source of thiamin, it also is a generous contributor of other B vitamins.

Like other meats, pork supplies high quality, body building protein and iron.



BRAISED OXTAILS is a good main dish that contains the vegetables as well. Serve it with sourdough bread and a salad of greens or fruit.

Introducing sesame seeds, cinnamon, coconut, rolled oats, cashews, almonds, raisins, peanut oil, wheat germ, sea salt, brown sugar, and honey.

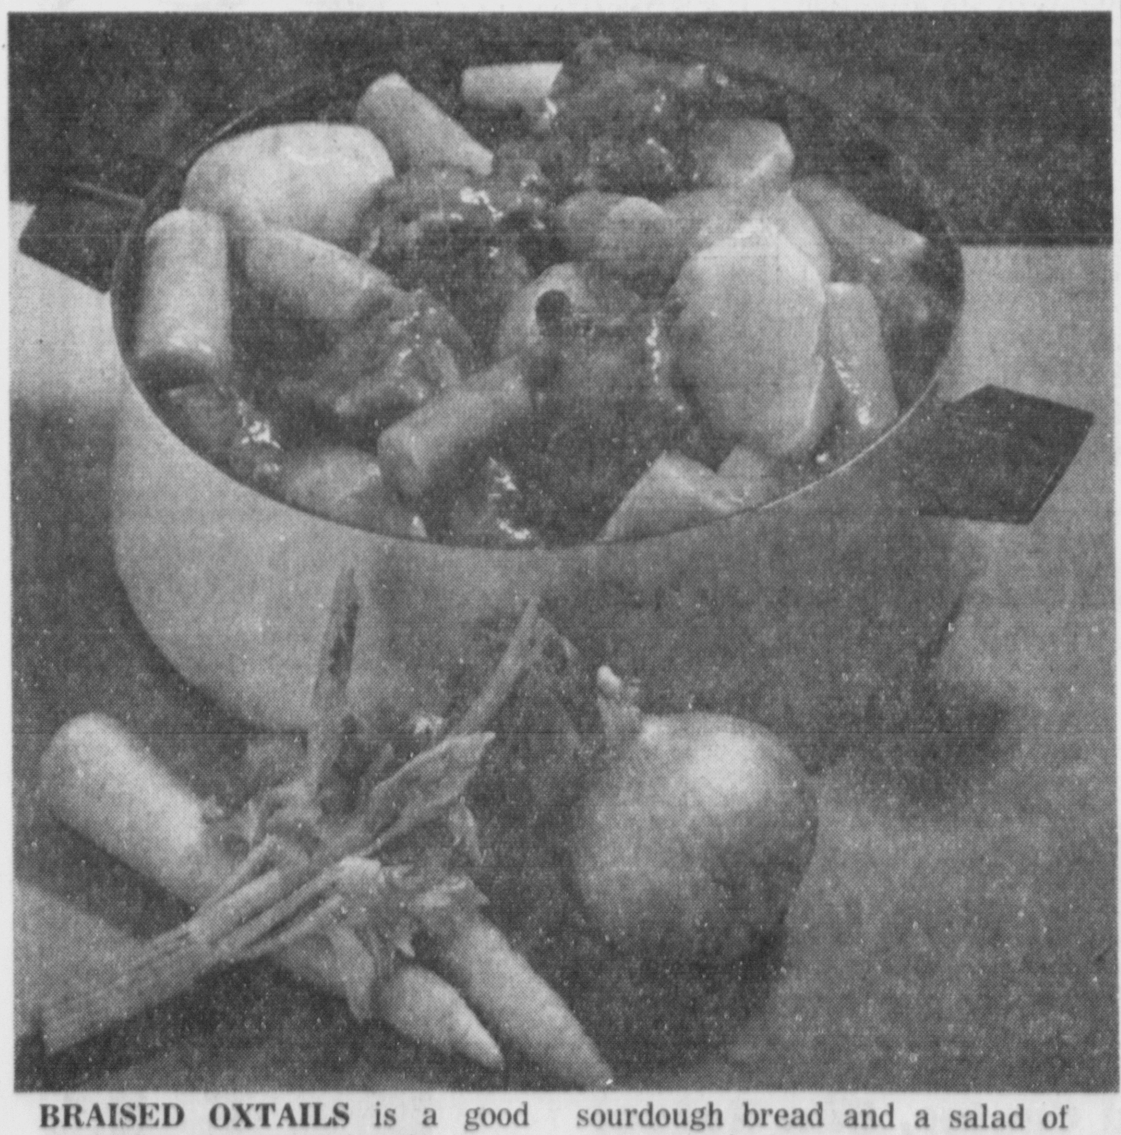
Simmer until vegetables are tender. Thicken sauce if desired. Makes six generous servings. Approximate cost per serving: 64 cents. (For a gourmet touch, substitute one-half to one cup dry red wine for part of the liquid.)

Pork Is Good Nutrient Supplier

Pork is always a good buy in terms of the important food nutrients it supplies. The top food source of thiamin, it also is a generous contributor of other B vitamins.

Like other meats, pork supplies high quality, body building protein and iron.



BRAISED OXTAILS is a good main dish that contains the vegetables as well. Serve it with sourdough bread and a salad of greens or fruit.

ANNUAL EVENT

Food Featured With Antiques

Almost as famous for the delicious food served as for the antiques displayed, is the Marin County Antiques Show and Sale, sponsored by the Episcopal Churchwomen of the Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley.

Now in its 21st renewal, the show opens a three-day run tomorrow at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito. This year French cuisine will be featured by Mrs. Gordon Gritter and her committee. Hearty French soups as well as delicate crepes asparagas will be tempting.

Not forgetting those who are counting calories and interested in good nutritional values in baked goods, the women are preparing unusual items, like a low calorie dessert, apricot delight, and the high nutrition sunflower seed cookies.

For take-home enjoyment, Mmes. Kenneth Kew and John Richardson head the Grandmother's Cupboard Committee, preparing home baked breads, cookies, chutney, jams, jellies and the fudge which has been a favorite of show visitors since 1952.

Luncheon and dinner will be sserved each day of the show and a snack bar will operate continuously from noon until 9 p.m. tomorrow and Friday, and noon until 7 p.m. Saturday.

APRICOT DELIGHT

(50 calaries per serving)

2 egg whites
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon granulated sugar (or sugar substitute)
1 16-ounce can peeled apricots, pitted and drained

About 15 minutes before serving, beat egg whites and salt until frothy, in medium bowl of electric mixer at high speed.

Gradually beat in sugar. Beat two minutes, or until the sugar is dissolved. Gradually beat in apricots until shredded.

Makes five one-half cup servings.

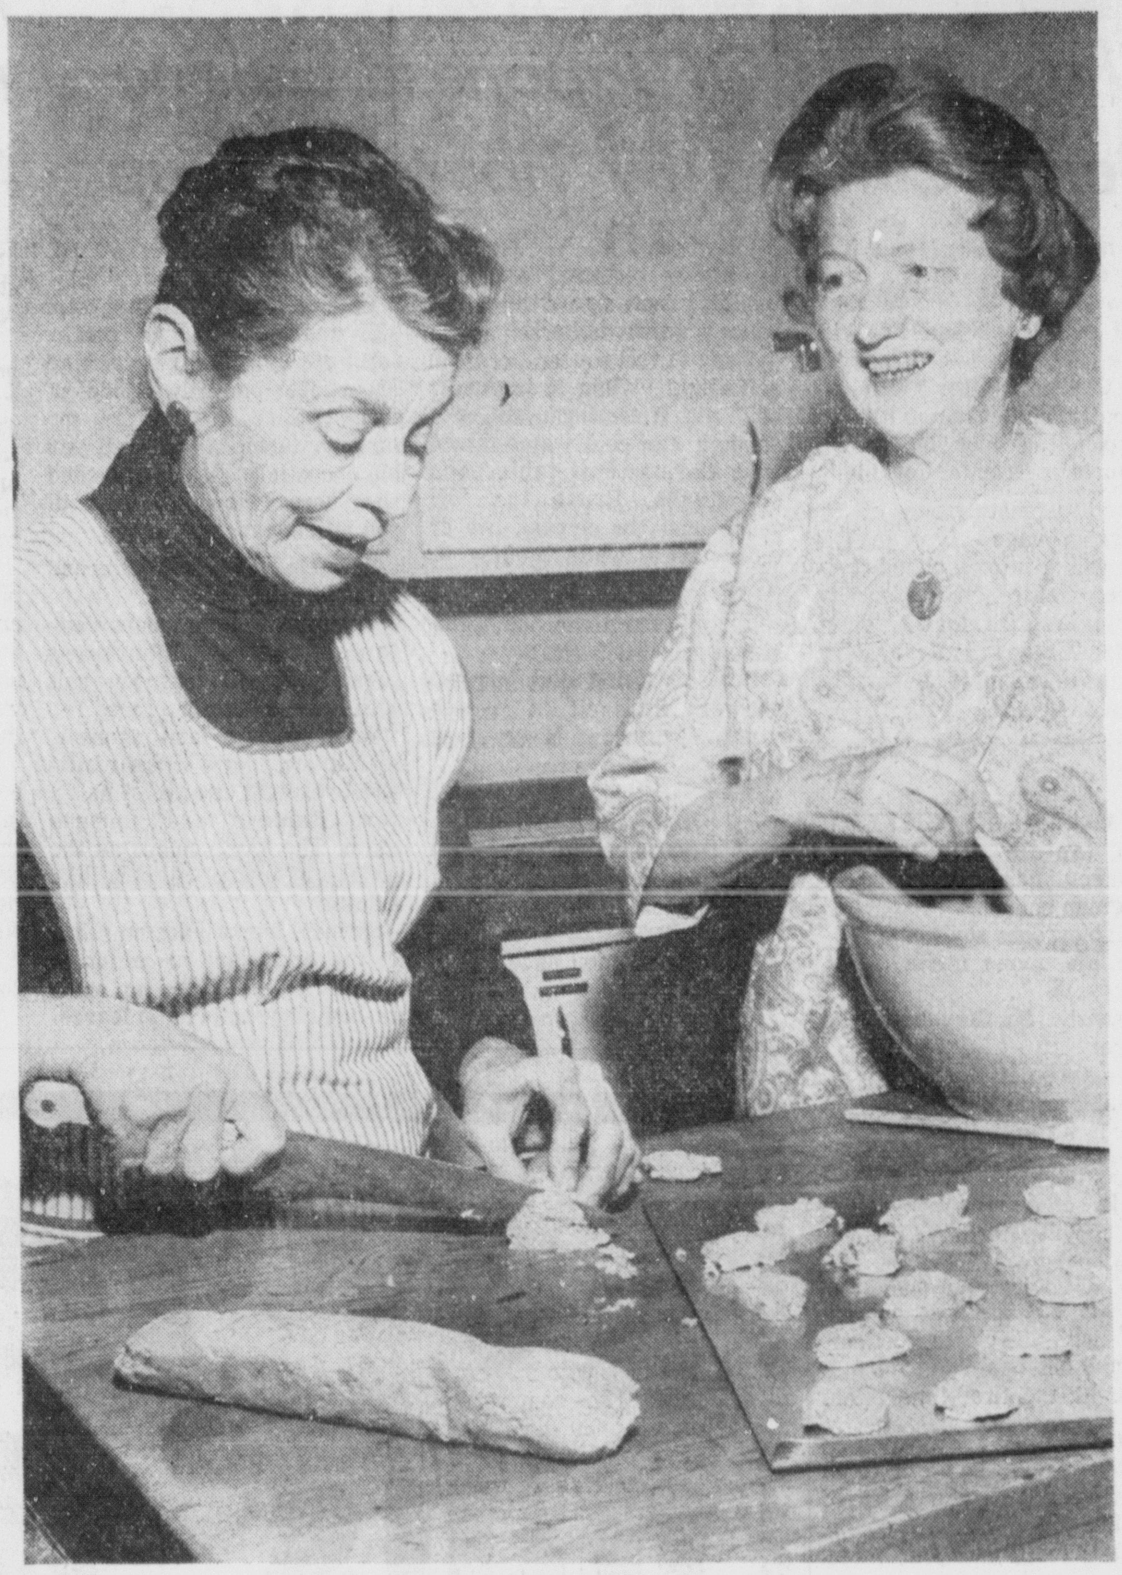
SUNFLOWER SEED COOKIES

1 cup margarine or butter
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
3 cups quick oatmeal
1 cup shelled sunflower seeds

Cream butter, sugar, eggs and vanilla. Beat and blend well. Add flour, salt, and soda. Blend in oatmeal. Gently blend in sunflower seeds. Form into rolls one and a half inches in diameter. Wrap in waxpaper and chill. Slice and bake on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 10 minutes.

Tips On Knives

Knives should be kept razor sharp. A dull blade requires more pressure and is more likely to slip and gouge. Always slice away from yourself. Store knives in their own drawer or rack. Never hand a person a knife point first.



COMMITTEE MEMBERS prepare Sunflower Seed Cookies in the kitchen of the Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley. Mrs. Joseph W. Taylor cut the chilled roll of dough into slices and placed them on a baking sheet, while Mrs. Pieter van Dalen mixed the batter for the next batch. The nourishing cookies will be available as snacks or take home treats at the Marin County Antiques Show and Sale tomorrow through Saturday at the IDESST Hall in Sausalito.

The Secrets Of Japanese Cuisine Being Offered By Tiburon Group

A native of Kobi, Japan, Mrs. Kay Countouriotis of San Francisco teaches the art of Japanese cuisine at San Francico State College, San Francisco City College and the YWCA.

The Japanese woman has just completed a cook book, "Adventures in Oriental Cooking."

The gourmet group of St. Hilary' Women's Club in Tiburon will sponsor a series of six of her classes on consecutive Wednesdays, beginning today, at the Tiburon home of Mrs. Bryan Cowman. The sessions begin at 10 A.M.

Two recipes she will demonstrate follow:

YAHATAMAKI CHICKEN

2 complete chicken legs (drumsticks and thighs)
6 green onions
3 tablespoons soy souce
3 tablespoons mirin (sweet sake)
1 sanshò ko (Japanese pepper)
½ teaspoon MSG.
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup water
½ tablespoon cornstarch

Take bones out of chicken legs. Lay whole leg skin side down and slice the thigh and drumstick the long way and open into one sheet of chicken.

Pound chicken with back of a knife.

Cut onion into same width as chicken. Arrange two or three stalks of onion with chicken, Roll like jellyroll around onions and bind with string or skewers.

Insert bamboo skewer and broil over charcoal or under broiler, basting with a teri sauce made as follows:

Bring to boil soy sauce, mirin and sugar. When it begins to boil, add ½ teaspoon MSG and one-half cup cold water mixed with the one-half tablespoon cornstarch. Brush the teri sauce over the chicken two or three times, while broiling it. Do not over-broil.

Remove from fire and sprinkle on pepper.

Remove string and bamboo skewers and cut in ½-inch lengths to serve. Makes four servings.

KIKU-KA-KABU
(Chrysanthemum Turnip)

8 to 12 small turnips
2 teaspoons ikura (salmon roe)
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 red pepper
4 teaspoons vinegar
1½ teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt

Cut off turnip stems, peel skin and make long notches by laying two big-size cooking chopsticks on either side of turnip. Slice down from top through turnip down until you hit chopsticks. Make a second slice across turnip, down until you hit chopsticks.

Sprinkle salt over turnips and press to wilt.

Combine four teaspoons vinegar, one and one half teaspoons. sugar, one-half teaspoon salt with the red pepper minced.

Wash turnips and squeeze, soak in sweetened vinegar mixture overnight or at least half a day. Remove and squeeze again. The long notches on the surface of turnip will open like a flower.

Sprinkle lemon juice on salmon roe and place in center of turnip-flower. Garnish with washed chrysanthemum leaves.

Leftover Ham Can Be Turned Into Tasty Dish

Meat leftover from a baked ham dinner can be converted into an economical yet distinguished dish that merits a place on the company luncheon table. Ham a la king is a pleasing example.

Simply add cubes of cooked ham, canned mushrooms (stems and pieces), chopped pimiento, sliced ripe olives and chopped hard cooked egg to a medium white sauce and heat through.

Serve the mixture on toast triangles. It's a smooth and easy recipe that will delight guests. Makes fine family fare too.

Tuna Price Varies With Meat Type

The price of canned tuna is affected by the type of meat and style of pack. Light meat tuna costs less than white meat tuna. In descending order of price are fancy or solid, chunk, flaked and grated.

Wedges of cheese are usually less expensive than cheese purchased sliced, cubed or grated. Mild cheese may cost less than aged or sharp natural cheese. Pasteurized process cheese often costs less than natural.

New Cobbler Idea For Strawberries

Strawberries — plain or with cream, classical strawberry shortcake or spectacular strawberry pie.

Although fresh berries are now available almost year round, they are an extremely good buy in late spring. When selecting strawberries, look for bright, plump, well shaped berries that are solid in color. The caps should be attached.

At home, sort the berries and place in a shallow container or on a cookie sheet and refrigerate. Wash gently just before using, removing the caps after washing in order to preserve the best flavor and texture.

Among the interesting strawberry desserts we think your family will enjoy is strawberry rhubarb deepdish cobbler. The combo of sweet red strawberries and tangy rhubarb is a pleasing taste sensation — and it's light enough to provide a good finale to any meal.

To make, the fruits are first sweetened, then heated until slightly thickened. The hot misture is transferred to a casserole then we add the finishing touch — an easy-do topper made from a can of large-size flaky refrigerated biscuits. The ready- to-use dough is cut in half, arranged atop the hot fruit and sprinkled with cinnamon and sugar.

The cobbler bakes only 20 minutes and should be served warm with just a splash of cream.

STRAWBERRY RHUBARB DEEPDISH COBBLER

1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 pint fresh strawberries, sliced
2 cups fresh rhubarb, diced
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can refrigerated biscuits
Cinnamon-sugar

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. In large saucepan, combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Stir in strawberries, rhubarb, lemon juice and butter. Cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, until hot, bubbly and slightly thickened. Pour into two-quart casserole or baking dish. Separate biscuit dough into 10 biscuits; cut each in half. Arrange cut-side-down on hot fruit in circle around edge of casserole. Sprinkle biscuits with cinnamon-sugar mixture. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes until biscuits are golden brown. Serve warm with cream.

One package (16 oz.) frozen rhubarb, thawed and undrained, may be used for fresh rhubarb. Decrease sugar to three-fourths cup.)

Makes six servings.

Fancy Cheesecake

Top purchased, plain cheesecake with a traditional topping of ground almonds, grated orange rind, sugar and enough dessert wine or orange juice to get a spreading consistency. Decorate with whole almonds and candied cherries.

Breakfast Bonus

For variety, add chopped cooked meat such as bacon, sausage, ham, luncheon meat, frankfurters or chipped beef to scrambled eggs as they begin to thicken.

Talented Designer Donates Much Of Unusual Artistry

NOT SHIPS, but spring flowers in a bottle are the unusual table decorations designed by Willajean Fisher McGuinness of Mill Valley for the dinner dance to be given by the Parent Teachers Group of Mount Carmel School on Saturday in the school auditorium. Such innovative decorations have launched Mrs. McGuinness into a new career.

By BETTY FROST

For years Willajean Fisher McGuinness has donated her designing talent to clubs, church groups and other organizations in creating unusual decorations for special events.

Using materials that are easily available, she has created Irish castles out of tin cans, "clay" pipes that seem to smoke because a bit of dry ice has been added, and miniature clothes on tiny racks to point out the travel theme of a fashion show. Her current project is supplying the table decorations for the Spring Fling, a dinner dance which will benefit Mount Carmel School, and which is being sponsored by the school's Parent Teachers Club in the school auditorium in Mill Valley Saturday.

"THERE IS no budget for decorations," Mrs. McGuinness explained. Making a variation on the "ship in a bottle" theme, the Mill Valley woman has devised authentic looking spring flowers out of crepe paper, and is putting the colorful bouquets in large bottles. Pink, blue, yellow and green cloths will be placed on long tables, and clear glass candle holders with yellow wax will complete the arrangements.

"Once I made enough California poppies out of crepe paper to decorate for a political dinner at the Cow Palace," she reminisced.

Her unusual decorating ideas have attracted so much interest that she is now keeping a file of samples of things she has done in the past, and creating customized decor for organizations and individuals for parties or fund-raising events.

This is in addition to another enterprise, Pillows by Willow, which involves her in making custom designed pillows for decorators and the inner pillows which she does to order for needlepoint coverings. In association with Bella Vista Enterprises of San Rafael she also designs and creates bedspreads, bolsters, draperies and couch covers for display in model homes.

MRS. McGUINNESS is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and studied art at the University of California at Davis and Dominican College.

She has taught art at Mount Carmel School as a volunteer. She is a member of the Parent Teachers Group, with seven children enrolled in the school this year.

You Can Make Nose Look Nicer With Makeup

If your nose is less than perfect, clever use of makeup and the right hair style often helps camouflage its shortcomings, according to Max Factor beauty experts.

A too small nose appears less like a button if a lighter shade of makeup is applied to the top. Brush the tip with a rosy tone of blusher and shade in its sides with brownish tones of the blusher of a deeper makeup color.

Bangs, by closing in the forehead, help the small nose to become more prominent. Shadowing the undertip of a long pointed noise with deeper makeup colors or brownish blushers creates a shorter appearance.

Also medium length hair with an asymmetrical side parting and longish side swept fringe also will help make it appear smaller, as will sweeping hair forward, which adds height for balance.

Vows Said In Novato Ceremony

Jean Marie Thomas and Kenneth Howard Loer were married at Grace Lutheran Church in Novato on April 14.

Jean, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roby Thomas of Novato, chose Nancy Warner of Bakersfield as her maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Debra Foster of Novato and Mrs. Laura Reynolds of South Pasadena, her sister.

Victor Orang of Davis was best man, and ushers were Gerald Kyle of Hayward and Alan Thomas of Novato, brother of the bride.

The bride was graduated from San Marin High School and will be graduated from Santa Rosa Junior College in June. She is also the sister of Stanley Thomas of Novato. Their grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Loura of San Francisco.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Loer of Novato. He was graduated from Novato High School and Galivan Junior College. He is now attending the University of California at Berkeley and is employed at the Straw Hat Pizza Parlor in Novato.

MR. AND MRS. WAYNE L. PARKS

The Newman Center Chapel in Chico was the setting for the wedding of Kathleen Marie McCurdy and Wayne L. Parks. Kathleen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. McCurdy of Novato and Wayne is the son of Mrs. Gorganna Parks of Hamilton City and the late Orville Parks. Both attend California State University, Chico.

Marinites Make Holy Land Trip With San Francisco Bible Club

By MOLLY MARIN

Members of the Bible Breakfast Club of San Francisco returned home from a pilgrimage to the Holy Land with 45 members from the Bay Area. Participating leader was Chester MacPhee of the Marin Country Club Estates who was accompanied by his wife.

MacPhee is moderator of the Bible Club, and many members from Marin County accompanied the MacPheees.

They walked the 14 stations of the cross and saw the Dead Sea Scrolls in Jerusalem and the manger where Jesus was born in Bethlehem. They had a Papal audience in Vatican City while in Rome. They also visited the Greek Islands and saw the place where Paul preached to the Corinthians. Several of the women and men in the party rode donkeys 700 feet to the top of the island of Santorini above Crete.

Accompanying the MacPhees from Marin were the James Sullivans, Thomas Ruanes, Arthur Lindauers, Anthony Wiechers, and Mr. Harry Flachs, all of the Marin Country Club Estates in Novato, Mrs. Don Albertson of Kentfield and two grandsons of the MacPhees, James R. Collins, 15, of Greenbrae and David G. Russell, 16, of Kentfield.

MRS. ROLAND Gotti of Kentfield and Mrs. Raymond Syufy of Sausalito have been named to the newly organized activities committee of the 17th annual San Francisco International Film Festival, according to the festival director, Claude Jarman of Napa.

The women will assist with the opening night party in October and other social activities planned in conjunction with the 1973 festival.

A SON, Zachary Davis Nightingale, was born on April 13 to Mr. and Mrs. David Allyn Nightingale in Reading, Mass. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Nightingale of San Rafael and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reeves of Winchester, Mass.

MR. AND MRS Cletus Fitzharris of San Rafael have returned from a caravan of recreation vehicles that toured Northern Mexico.

The trip included a "piggyback" ride across the Chihuahua Pacific Railroad, which crosses the Sierra Madre mountains. The Fitzharris' trailer was transformed into a private rail car by securing it to a rail flat car. Traveling at speeds of 20 to 25 miles an hour, the train took four days to cross the 420 mile route, moving only during daylight hours.

The railroad rises 8,000 feet and drops back to sea level on the Pacific Coast, has 86 tunnels, one more than a mile long, and 36 trestles, the highest 300 feet.

MR. AND MRS. Robert Scott Thomas and children, Heidi and Robert Jr., of San Rafael recently returned from a vacation in Puerto Vallarta and Mazatlan.

BETH RITZINGER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Ritzinger of Novato, became the bride of David J. Heinz in a ceremony April 7 at the Sausalito Presbyterian Church.

The newlyweds are living in Piedmont.

Mrs. Lucile Heinz of Los Angeles is the bridegroom's mother.

FORMER MARIN resident, John M. Harlan, president of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, honored the 50,000th visitors to George G. Hoberg Vista Point, where the chambers offices are located.

It makes a lovely wedding gift.

Volkswagen has come up with a way for you to get a Volkswagen—or at least a part of one—as a wedding gift.

Just go to your participating VW dealer and register for a Volkswagen—the same way you'd register at a department store for china or silver.

Then your friends and relatives can buy you a fender or steering wheel or windshield wiper or whatever part of the car suits their budget. (And they don't have to bother about gift wrapping what they buy. We'll present it to you right on the car.)

Depending on the size and generosity of your guest list, you could end up with a nice down payment on—or all of—a Volkswagen.

Which is a lot more practical than nine silver trays, six toasters, four blenders and seven whatchamacallits.

See your Volkswagen dealer now and get all the details.

With a little luck you could drive off on your honeymoon in your very own Volkswagen.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Retired Husband Thinks Wife's Social Security Is His Money

DEAR HELEN:

Retirement for the man of the house isn't all it's cracked up to be — for the wife, that is. Mine sits around all day, does as he pleases and says no one is going to tell him what to do.

He's always "tired," but never too tired to play golf.

He didn't want me to work outside the home, as I was busy raising his three children by a previous marriage, and our own.

Soon, I will start collecting Social Security — my "wife's share." We don't need the money to live on, having other income from investments. But my man insists it's his money and I must turn it over to him to dole out as he sees fit.

That's the way it's always been: I had to give an accounting of every dollar spent. Not that he complained, but I felt like a small child, asking for nickels and dimes.

So finally I've decided to have something of my own. I'm not a spendthrift, but I'd love to feel free of "the dole." While he golfs or "rests," I could lunch downtown with friends, shop for gifts, etc. — and do it on my own.

Since we don't need this extra money, am I asking too much? — J.C.

DEAR J.:

You certainly aren't asking too much! Though you didn't work outside, you nevertheless worked hard for your retirement money and it's yours.

Every married person (especially the retired) needs get-away time — as with your husband's golf — and this costs money. Since the $150 or so you'll receive from Social Security isn't necessary for living expenses, I see no reason why he should dole it out to you, through his bank account. It isn't "getting away" if you must ask permission and beg lunch money. — H.

LAMENT TO READERS OF HHU:

Commenting on pertinent, fast-breaking news in an advice column is risky! By the time my remarks reach print — some four weeks after I type them — who knows what new developments will have arisen to make me look unaware and out-of-date?

In last Wednesday's column (written March 14) I tacitly agreed that housewives aren't organized against outrageous prices, and suggested "The Buck Stops Here!" slogans for their purses.

Almost immediately newspapers blossomed with reports of "shoppers' revolts" and indicated mid-March meat sales were down and dropping. Wish I could take credit, but darn it, my column hadn't yet hit print.

Let's hope "selective buying" continues so that living costs will soon no longer kill us. Menawhile (as of March 23 when the April 25 HHU is under construction), I note a breakthrough:

In my supermarket's steak department are dozens of packages red-tagged "reduced for quick sale" and marked down some 20 per cent from original prices.

You know something? — They still sit there, getting older!

We women may be termed the weaker sex, but we can pack a hefty wallop —with our wallets! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My mother, in her late 40s, is normal most of the time, but she gets very morbid. She keeps saying she will die very soon, and what's more, she's happy about it. She's "ready to go to God," even called my grandfather to help make funeral arrangements when the time came. Insisted he call all the kids.

There's no medical problem that we know about. Could it be change of life blues? We tell her we love and need her, to no avail. What else can we do? — GROWN CHILDREN

DEAR GROWN CHILDREN:

Insist that your mother have a complete physical check-up. Possibly all she needs is hormones and an understanding talk with her doctor. — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? A fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, care of the Independent-Journal.

Vitamin E Is An Urban Ally

DURHAM, N.C. (UPI) — Urban dwellers choking on smog and auto exhaust fumes may have found an ally to help fortify their lungs — vitamin E.

A Duke University Medical Center researcher has turned up evidence that a vitamin E-rich diet can help protect the lungs from the effects of noxious air pollutants such as ozone and nitrogen dioxide.

Dr. Daniel B. Menzel found that rats deprived of vitamin E in their diets for four weeks survived only eight days when placed in an atmosphere with a concentration of one part per million of ozone or nitrogen dioxide. Rats given a vitamin E-supplemented diet for four weeks lived twice as long, 18 days, in the same concentration of pollutants.

Traditional Wedding Making Return

By PHYLLIS FELDKAMP
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Weddings American style have moved away from the barefoot bride and her blue-jeaned groom, exchanging self-written vows to refrains of guitar music.

Far from the girl of the radical '60's, today's bride is picking the sentimental lace-trimmed gown, complete with veil, orange blossoms, and blue garter. And she's going along with much of the consumerism that surrounds the full-scale wedding with all the trappings.

According to a Bride's Magazine survey, most couples want the traditional wedding. Of the more than 1½ million newlyweds expected in the U.S. this year, Bride's says 79 per cent will opt for a formal or semiformal ceremony.

HAVING MADE this decision, the median bride, aged 20.6, employed either full-time or part-time, is thereafter propelled into acquiring a staggering amount of worldly goods.

Once she has announced her engagement (ten months preceding the wedding), Miss Average Bride-to-Be is bombarded with booklets, circulars, telephone calls, free gifts, and other blandishments prodding her into purchasing a panoply of merchandise.

Her future husband is similarly importuned. Under the general pressure, he may sign up for an expensive honeymoon — possibly in a mountain retreat where the couple is promised a heart-shaped bed and bathtub.

By the time all the bills are paid the median bride will have laid out $4,600 for tributary expenditures, which include wedding costs, her trousseau, and furnishings for her new home. The bridal gown costs an average of $121, with $43 added for the headdress.

For his part, the groom will, among other expenses, have attended to both the engagement diamond and the wedding ring and will have paid out an average $680 for a U.S. honeymoon or $1,100 for a foreign trip.

ALL THIS is but the tip of the wedding business iceberg. Of all sales of silver, china, and crystal in the U.S., brides account for 60 per cent. The newlywed market for home furnishings and household equipment in 1972 amounted to $4.1 billion.

Taking a cool-headed, if a bit mercenary, look at the expenses of the wedding day, one recently married woman remarked:

"The rationale is that it costs you $1,000 to get married with all the trimmings, but your mother figures you will get $1,000 back in presents. I was dumb. I had a small reception but an expensive one. By the time all the food and drinks were paid for, I'm sure we came out in the red. Weddings have simply become a fine science."

But although she follows tribal patterns and is caught up in the intensively increasing commercialization of the business of weddings and of setting up housekeeping, Miss Average Bride of today is nonetheless attuned to change.

Under her clouds of tulle and ruffles, many a bride is thinking nonromantic thoughts on the shape her married life should take. The women's movement has made its impression — even on the bride who is otherwise traditionally minded.

MANY SEE, for example, the wisdom of coming to a premarital agreement — on paper — that covers the shared responsibilites and specific contributions that each partner will be expected to undertake.

They define in advance, as their parents never did, such terms as "the structure of our marriage" and draw up contracts that divide "routine life-supportive activities" — which is just another way of saying who does the dishes, the vacuuming, the shopping, the laundry, and when.

Even periodicals like Bride's Magazine and Modern Bride, which cater to couples whose combined annual take-home pay averages $13,000, show the inroads being made by the consciousness raising of women's liberation.

Along with the usual hearts-and-flowers advice, the magazines are running down-to-earth articles that counsel women on such issues as pitfalls of the joint bank account.

Home Is Best Recovery Place

NEW YORK (UPI) — The best place for a child to recover after minor surgery is in a hospital — right? Wrong, according to Dr. A. Frederick North Jr., at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

He thinks kids should be sent home the day of the minor surgery, noting: "Hospitals are dangerous places. The kids are in high, uncomfortable beds from which they're likely to fall. They're always threatened by medication errors."

In most cases the parents would be better off spending $20 to get a housekeeper to help out the next day rather than spending $100 to keep the child in a hospital after surgery.

Plexiglas Is Fashionable In World Of Furnishings

Plexiglas, plastic, lucite — by any of its variants and any of its names, this sturdy, see-through material has become the high-fashion home furnishings touch.

Plexiglass in particular is a decorator's dream. It comes in many colors and it's used in everything from paperweights to planters to mod-styled grandfather clocks.

Plexiglas accessories are easier to take care of than most. No polishing or waxing — just routine dusting. For dirt marks or fingerprints, a spray with a household cleaner will return it to perfect luster.

When Insurance Protection For Children Ends

Family health insurance protection for your son or daughter usually ends when they reach age 19 or 21 — although some companies will extend coverage to age 23.

Protection also ends, reports the Health Insurance Institute, when your youngster marries or enters the armed forces.

Some policies, however, will continue coverage for unmarried, full-time students dependent on parental support.

Most modern policies, too, contain an option allowing your youngsters to obtain their own coverage when they ultimately become ineligible for benefits under your policy.

Retired Husband Thinks Wife's Social Security Is His Money

DEAR HELEN:

Retirement for the man of the house isn't all it's cracked up to be — for the wife, that is. Mine sits around all day, does as he pleases and says no one is going to tell him what to do.

He's always "tired," but never too tired to play golf.

He didn't want me to work outside the home, as I was busy raising his three children by a previous marriage, and our own.

Soon, I will start collecting Social Security — my "wife's share." We don't need the money to live on, having other income from investments. But my man insists it's his money and I must turn it over to him to dole out as he sees fit.

Nursery School Group Chooses Mrs. Cooper

The new president of Novato Parents Nursery School is Mrs. William Cooper. She served last year as vice president and has been a member two years.

Carol Cooper said the ultimate purpose of the organization is to offer the children of Novato a rich experience in pre-school education and to offer their parents the opportunity to learn and grow along with their children.

Mrs. Cooper and her husband, school principal in Ross, have two children. Kristin is 5, and McGregor is 3 years old. The new president was born in Spokane, Wash., has a bachelor of arts degree in education from Central Washington State College in Ellensburg, and did graduate work at Buffalo State University, California State University, San Jose and California State University, Sonoma.

She is a member of Grace Lutheran Church in Novato and a discussion leader in the Great Books program at Ross School. She said she enjoys all outdoor activities including water skiing, and swimming, sewing painting and guitar playing.

Officers serving with Mrs. Cooper are Mmes. Ed Essick, vice president; Ian Sammis, treasurer; Steve White, secretary; Jerry Thompson, membership chairman; and Laird Doherty, participation director.

Sheer Stockings Will Make Return

For fall,the sheer stocking is supposed to return in a big way, giving opaque and colored hose of all kinds a run for the money. The sheers are part of the big ladylike look being drummed in by many drumbeaters in the various segments of the fashion industry.

With the sheers come the opera pumps. These are for wearing with the dresses that are part of the look.

Ruth Dayan Sees Hope In Mideast

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Time and the process of "normalization" can unlock the deadlock in the Mideast. The Israelis and the Arabs can do it themselves eventually. Negotiations through a "third person" are not the ultimate answer. That's like trying to talk with a broken telephone connection.

The views are those of Ruth Dayan, the woman whose marriage of nearly 37 years to Israel's Defense Minister Moshe Dayan ended with their divorce in December 1971.

Mrs. Dayan talked candidly of the troubled situation in her homeland observing its 25th anniversary as a nation and of Israel's Arab neighbors, during an interview in New York.

She's been in the United States for several reasons—publication of her memoir "And Perhaps...the Story of Ruth Dayan" (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich), to lecture and raise funds for Israel, and expand markets for the handicrafts organization, Maskit, which manufacturers and distributes Israeli products throughout the world. She is Maskit's director.

MANY DIPLOMATIC and political observers see in the Mideast's continuing deadlock without a formal peace the seeds of World War III, I reminded her.

"I don't think so," she said, pondering the prospect. "I don't think the Arabs will bring the situation to a head themselves...and they know the strength of Israel.

"But as time passes, the Arabs are working and making money and not waiting for a final solution for which they've waited for 20 years...

"In the normalization process of the last six years (since the six-day war in 1967), we never had it so good. The Arabs already have changed their whole way of agriculture with Israeli help.

"With peace, the whole area would develop as Israel has developed.

"We talk of borders. I don't think the border question is all that important these days...not in a world where we go from one country to another without even needing visas.

"WITH THE world powers out (not trying to mandate peace terms), there must be some way to sit down and talk. The United Nations isn't effective now. All this negotiation with a third person is like a broken phone line...we need to talk directly with each other.

"Normalization is solving so many of the everyday problems. Give it 10, perhaps 20 years. No matter what goes on in the diplomatic world, this (Mideast deadlock) will resolve itself anyway."

Ruth Dayan was born in Haifa in 1917, was educated in London and Jerusalem. She and Dayan were married when she was 18, he was 20. The couple has three children — Udi, a farmer-poet; Yael, a novelist, and Assi, a movie star. There are five grandchildren.

In addition to heading Maskit, she also directs an Israeli organization to promote better understanding between her countries' Jews and Arabs.

Her book, written with Helga Dudman, of the staff of the Jerusalem Post, is a personal story set against modern Israel's development.

The story of her life with Israel's famed warrior has been a big hit in her homeland in part because it devotes one candid chapter to his extramarital conquests.

"The whole country knew what was happening," she said without bitterness. "One cannot say I tolerated it; just that I got used to it. And there were the children first, they needed a home."

20-Year Reunion Set Next Month

Marin County residents of the 1953 spring graduating class of Geroge Washington High School in San Francisco are invited to attend the 20-year reunion at 7:30 p.m. May 12 at Sabella's restaurant in San Francisco.

Mrs. Marilyn Gaal Smith of San Carlos is chairman, according to Gail Niebur of Novato, a former graduate of the school.

Discrimination Suit Is Filed

The Women's Equity Action League has filed a complaint of sex discrimination against 25 selected colleges and universities including Stanford and the University of California at Berkeley, for sponsorship of chapters of Phi Delta Kappa, a professional education society limited to men.

The complaint was filed under Title IX of the Education Amendments Act of 1972 with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. WEAL contended that membership in Phi Delta Kappa can enhance a person's standing in the education profession.

Phi Delta Kappa reaffirmed its no-female policy in 1971 and by a vote of its board of directors in February of this year.

Kathryn McLaughlin Heads Cancer Drive

Kathryn McLaughlin of Novato is the volunteer chairman for the American Cancer Society 1973 residential crusade, which will begin Friday in Marin.

She is the widow of John McLaughlin, who died in January of 1972 of cancer.

"The slogan of this year's crusade is, 'We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime.' One way to cut down on cancer deaths is to get more patients to their doctors in time. That is the major goal of this year's campaign," she said.

MRS. JOHN MC LAUGHLIN
Heads cancer drive

The drive will raise funds for support of the society's year-round programs of cancer research, education and service to cancer patients. Volunteers are still being sought so a goal of the drive, to contact every Marin resident, can be achieved.

Kathryn McLaughlin is the mother of Lisa, 17, Sean, 15, Susan, 13, and Beth, 11. She enjoys working with the Novato Community Players and is interested in pursuing a career as a travel consultant.

Section chairmen for the crusade are Mmes. Vincent Severietti, Novato; Robert Cuneo, North Marin; Lloyd McEntire, Central; Raymond Reffitt, Southern.

Anne Strathairn To Wed Robert William Jean III

Dr. T. Scott Strathairn of San Rafael and Mrs. Francis Strathairn of Mountain View have announced the engagement of their daughter, Anne, to Robert William Jean III of Seattle, Wash.

Anne is the sister of Tom Strathairn of Seattle and Dave Strathairn of Bennington, Vt. Mrs. R.G. Frazier of Salt Lake City, Utah, is her grandmother. She is a graduate of Redwood High School and attends the University of Puget Sound in Tacoma, Wash., where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

The future bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Jean Jr. of Lynnwood, Wash., and Mary Frances Jean is his sister. He is a graduate of Los Gatos High School and the University of California at Santa Barbara. Mrs. Charles Simonson of Stanwood, Wash., is his grandmother. He is the assistant manager of K-Mart in Edmonds, Wash.

An August wedding is planned.

Covers Made Of Blue Denim

An entire living room furniture group dressed in good old American jeans? The blue denim covered furniture continues a trend to denim jeans handbags and the jeans car interior.

The furniture denim is treated to be stain-resistant, and of course, it comes with the bright red stitching, brass grommets, metal buttons and double stitched seams of the real Levi jeans.

Parent-Teacher State Meet Is Next Month

Mrs. Dallas Wagner of San Rafael, District 14 president, will be one of the more than 3,000 delegates to the California State Parent-Teacher Association Convention May 2, 3 and 4 in San Diego.

"P-TA - Service and Action" will be the theme of the convention which will include addresses by guest speakers Dr. Wilson Riles, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Dr. Haim Ginott, lecturer and author of "Between Parents and Children."

Governor Ronald Reagan will share the platform with P-TA representatives Wednesday evening to discuss school finance and educational legislation at the state level.

Among the resolutions to be voted on during the general business meetings are those dealing with bicycle and school bus safety, sex role stereotypes in education, weapons on campus and school emergency first-aid plans. Presentations of honors and awards for P-TA service will be interspersed throughout the convention.

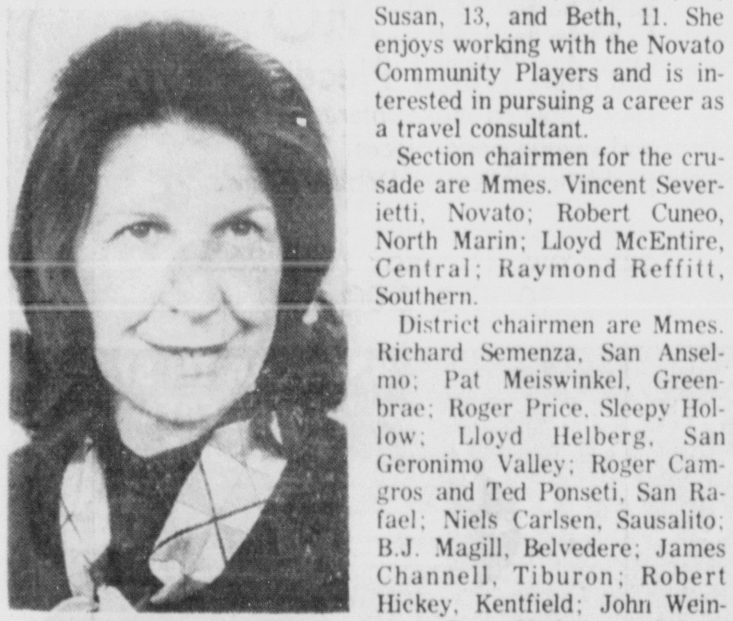
Kathryn McLaughlin Heads Cancer Drive

Kathryn McLaughlin of Novato is the volunteer chairman for the American Cancer Society 1973 residential crusade, which will begin Friday in Marin.

She is the widow of John McLaughlin, who died in January of 1972 of cancer.

"The slogan of this year's crusade is, 'We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime.' One way to cut down on cancer deaths is to get more patients to their doctors in time. That is the major goal of this year's campaign," she said.



MRS. JOHN MC LAUGHLIN
Heads cancer drive

The drive will raise funds for support of the society's year-round programs of cancer research, education and service to cancer patients. Volunteers are still being sought so a goal of the drive, to contact every Marin resident, can be achieved.

Kathryn McLaughlin is the mother of Lisa, 17, Sean, 15, Susan, 13, and Beth, 11. She enjoys working with the Novato Community Players and is interested in pursuing a career as a travel consultant.

Section chairmen for the crusade are Mmes. Vincent Severietti, Novato; Robert Cuneo, North Marin; Lloyd McEntire, Central; Raymond Reffitt, Southern.

Dr. T. Scott Strathairn of San Rafael and Mrs. Francis Strathairn of Mountain View have announced the engagement of their daughter, Anne, to Robert William Jean III of Seattle, Wash.

Anne is the sister of Tom Strathairn of Seattle and Dave Strathairn of Bennington, Vt. Mrs. R.G. Frazier of Salt Lake City, Utah, is her grandmother. She is a graduate of Redwood High School and attends the University of Puget Sound in Tacoma, Wash., where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

The future bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Jean Jr. of Lynnwood, Wash., and Mary Frances Jean is his sister. He is a graduate of Los Gatos High School and the University of California at Santa Barbara. Mrs. Charles Simonson of Stanwood, Wash., is his grandmother. He is the assistant manager of K-Mart in Edmonds, Wash.

An August wedding is planned.

Covers Made Of Blue Denim

An entire living room furniture group dressed in good old American jeans? The blue denim covered furniture continues a trend to denim jeans handbags and the jeans car interior.

The furniture denim is treated to be stain-resistant, and of course, it comes with the bright red stitching, brass grommets, metal buttons and double stitched seams of the real Levi jeans.

Novato's Spring Cleanup Drive To Begin Saturday

Novato's annual spring cleanup will start Saturday with a collection center operating at Rowland and Redwood Boulevards from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., administrative assistant Rodney B. Brown reported today.

Materials taken to the site must be bagged, boxed or bundled and prunings should be in three-foot lengths and tied with a strong cord, Brown said.

Dirt, gravel, concrete or car parts won't be accepted, he said.

Persons with loads containing furniture, appliances or other heavy or bulky items will be given a dump slip with a value of $1.25 for dumping at the Redwood Sanitary Land Fill site north of Novato.

A recycling center for clean bottles, tin and aluminum cans will be operated by Survival Inc. at San Marin High School from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Newspapers tied in bunddles can be delivered to 35 San Carlos Avenue for recycling, Brown said.

Brown said several local groups will be participating in special cleanup and McDonald's restaurant has donated hamburgers and soft drinks for the first 10 groups participating. The restaurant also has contributed plastic trash bags for the cleanup work.

The spring cleanup will continue on May 5.

Electric Shock Victim Is Home

COVINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Fourteen-year-old Homer Teal, who survived a 13,300 volt electric shock Feb. 21, is back home after a two-month hospital stay and five skin grafts on his back, legs, feet and hands.

The youth, of nearby Highland Heights, accidentally touched electrical apparatus in the basement of Regents Hall on the campus of Northern Kentucky State College where his father is a custodian.

"The high voltage knocked me out," recounted Homer, "and I slumped to the floor. It seemed as though I floated in space for hours."

Production Drops

Reopening Of Talks At Wounded Knee Considered

While the government listened to a request to reopen the talks, Dick Wilson, chairman of the Oglala Sioux tribe, Tuesday led a band of about 100 disgruntled Indians to a federal roadblock in a one-hour peaceful confrontation with U.S. marshals.

The Wilson group, which included men, women and children opposed to the American Indian Movement (AIM), protested the government's warning against establishing an Indian roadblock and the government's failure to end the 58-day-old armed confrontation which Wilson described as "tearing this reservation apart."

Wilson then set up a roadblock, despite the government's insistance that he was not allowed to do so, about four miles away from an FBI roadblock.

Government negotiator Richard Hellstern, a deputy assistant attorney general, at first denied Wilson's group had taken the action. But he admitted later Tuesday that local Oglala Sioux Indians were at the roadblock with FBI agents and he would get "a clarification on what the Indians are doing out there."

On the negotiating frnt, Hellstern said the militant Indians inside Wounded Knee met a government demand to submit a proposed agenda before reopening talks that have been dormant since April 10.

Outlays In Marin Jump 11.6 Pct.

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — Annual expenditures by local government agencies in Marin jumped by an average of 11.6 per cent each year from 1962 to 1970, according to a study released today by the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The increase throughout the nine-county region averaged almost 11 per cent a year, according to the study done by the Center for Continuing Study of the California Economy.

The biggest single increase in spending in Marin was for parks and recreation, which went up an average of 23.5 per cent a year.

Other figures for Marin show the following average annual growth of expenditures: education, 11.6 per cent; highways, 10.3 per cent; welfare, 15.3 per cent; health and hospitals, 16.1 per cent, and other urban services, 10.1 per cent. The last included: police, 16.1 per cent; fire, 14.4 per cent; sewage and sanitation, down 4.6 per cent, and parks and recreation, 23.5 per cent.

Regionally, education accounted for about 42 per cent of local government expenditures, and totaled $1.2 billion in 1970. The percent spent ranged from a low of 25 per cent of San Francisco's budget to a high of 48.4 per cent in Solano County.

Welfare cost local government $411.8 million in 1970 and represented more than 14 per cent of local budgets.

The study predicted education and welfare costs will increase at slower rates between now and 1980, though both are expected to almost double by then.

Overall expenditures for local government in the Bay Area were projected to increase from 1970's $2.9 billion to $6.6 billion in 1980.

The ABAG report estimated that each dollar of the 1980 local government budget will be spent as follows: 37 cents for education, four cents for highways, 12 cents for public welfare, 13 cents for health and hospitals, 12 cents for urban services and 21 cents for other direct general expenditures.

Free Collection Of Trash Set

Homestead Valley residents may get rid of up to three cubic yards of trash this week during a semi-annual trash pickup by the Mill Valley Refuse Service.

Garden trimmings and other debris will be collected free by the refuse company, said Kenyon Spalding, director of the Homestead Valley Sanitary District, but no garbage or rocks, concrete or large appliances will be collected.

Bundles of debris should be placed at curbside on the regular garbage collection day, he said.

Span's Bug Base Plans Delay Action On Proposed Lot Split

The San Rafael Planning Commission postponed consideration of a proposed lot split on Jacoby Street last night after learning that the Golden Gate Bridge District has an option to buy the subdivided land for expansion of its East San Rafael bus base.

Owner Barney Norwitt has proposed that a parcel adjacent to the transit facility be subdivided into two parcels of 15 and 6.4 acres, according to Charles J. Linthicum, senior planner, who added the transit district has an option to buy the subdivided land from Norwitt. Commissioners postponed consideration of the lot split and a companion use permit after being told the city council at 5:30 p.m. today will consider plans by the Golden Gate Bridge District to expand the bus base onto 15 adjacent acres, he said.

A district committee has recommended that the district's 10-acre San Rafael base be expanded to 25 acres to provide for a total fleet expected to grow from the present 188 coaches to about 500 by the mid-1980s.

Councilmen, who have viewed the proposed expansion with alarm, will review the environmental impact of the proposal at today's meeting at city hall.

San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

FOURPLEX — Approved a fourplex proposed for 1815 Second Street with Jessup Street access, despite a staff recommendation the project be denied due to traffic congestion on Jessup.

VARIANCES — Approved variance applications for parking within the front setback and a driveway encroaching up the right-of-way at 139 Reservoir Road, and a ten-foot setback at 197 Altura Way.

CARS — Approved use permits under the city's building moratorium for a sales facility on a vacant lot at 640 Francisco Boulevard for new and used recreational vehicles, and for an industrial office complex proposed by Kurt Kissman on Jacoby Street.

MARIN OPEN HOUSE — Approved a day care facility — including methadone maintenance and psychotherapy — proposed by Marin Open House for 1466 Lincoln Avenue, where it now has administrative offices. No member of the audience opposed Marin Open House's proposal to switch treatment from its current C Street location to its Lincoln Avenue offices, Linthicum said.

USE PERMITS — Approved use permits for office use of a warehouse building proposed for 79 Belvedere Street and for an auto repair shop in a building at 115B Bellam Boulevard.

DESIGN REVIEW — Approved environmental and design review of the following proposed structures: a five-unit apartment building at 123 Union Street; an office warehouse at 79 Belvedere Street; a warehouse addition at 27 Larkspur Street; a warehouse and warehouse remodeling at 47 De Luca Place and an office and warehouse complex at 30 Castro Avenue.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. May 8.

Heroin Addiction May Be Dropping

DETROIT (UPI) — President Nixon's top adviser on drug abuse said Monday there are hopeful signs heroin addiction is declining in the United States.

Dr. Jerome H. Jaffe, in a speech before the Economic Club of Detroit, based his optimism on studies showing the majority of addicts now entering treatment programs became addicted before 1969.

"This indicates that fewer people have become addicted in the past four years," Jaffe said. He added that the growth of treatment programs was another hopeful sign.

Reopening Of Talks At Wounded Knee Considered

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Government negotiators, faced with mounting pressure from local Oglala Sioux Indians to "clean out" the village of Wounded Knee by armed force, today considered reopenсg negotiations with militkt Indians holding the hamlet.

While the government listened to a request to reopen the talks, Dick Wilson, chairman of the Oglala Sioux tribe, Tuesday led a band of about 100 disgruntled Indians to a federal roadblock in a one-hour peaceful confrontation with U.S. marshals.

The Wilson group, which included men, women and children opposed to the American Indian Movement (AIM), protested the government's warning against establishing an Indian roadblock and the government's failure to end the 58-day-old armed confrontation which Wilson described as "tearing this reservation apart."

Wilson then set up a roadblock, despite the government's insistance that he was not allowed to do so, about four miles away from an FBI roadblock.

Government negotiator Richard Hellstern, a deputy assistant attorney general, at first denied Wilson's group had taken the action. But he admitted later Tuesday that local Oglala Sioux Indians were at the roadblock with FBI agents and he would get "a clarification on what the Indians are doing out there."

On the negotiating frnt, Hellstern said the militant Indians inside Wounded Knee met a government demand to submit a proposed agenda before reopening talks that have been dormant since April 10.

MITCHELL IS MUM — Former U.S. Attorney General John N. Mitchell yesterday told newsmen "I answered all questions fully, freely and frankly" during a federal court appearance before a grand jury in New York. He refused to tell newsmen, however, what the questions or his answers were. The grand jury is investigating a secret $250,000 contribution to the Nixon campaign fund last year by New Jersey financier Robert L. Vesco. (UPI Telephoto)

Grand Jury Questions Mitchell

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Attorney General John N. Mitchell said he had "fully, freely and frankly" answered all questions raised Tuesday by a federal grand jury probing a secret contribution to a Nixon campaign fund allegedly linked to the Watergate case.

Mitchell, who said he appeared before the grand jury voluntarily, would not divulge details of his testimony. He seemed dismayed by the swarm of reporters and spectators who surrounded him outside the U.S. District Court and made only the briefest replies to the reporters' questions.

Queried about the possibility of being recalled by the grand jury, Mitchell said, "I expect not...I hope not."

The New York Daily News, in today's edition, quoted sources close to the investigation as saying former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans had made at least two appearance before the same grand jury.

The News said Stans "was asked to bring records of any phone conversations with William J. Casey, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, and with commission counsel G. Bradford Cook," Casey's successor.

Stans appeared before the grand jury Monday and one time previously, The News said.

The grand jury is investigating a $200,000 contribution made by New Jersey financier Robert Vesco in April, 1972, to the Committee to Re-elect the President when Mitchell was Nixon's campaign manager. Vesco was under investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission at the time.

The contribution was made three days after the effective date of a new federal law requiring disclosure of such contributions to the General Accounting Office. The $200,000 and an additional $50,000 donation made by Vesco were returned to the financier earlier this year by Nixon's re-election committee.

Last November, the SEC filed a suit against Vesco and 40 others alleging misuse of $224 million in assets of four foreign mutual funds managed by IOS Ltd., a firm headed by Vesco.

According to a Washington newspaper report, the $200,000, in $100 bills, was put in a safe in the office of Stans, the Nixon campaign finance chairman following a number of meetings involving Stans, Mitchell and a Vesco representative.

The paper said money from the safe "was used to finance the Watergate bugging operation, as well as other facets of the Republicans' alleged espionage campaign in 1972."

Computers Can Help The Needy Collegian

By MARY KELLY
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — Money for a college education really isn't all that scarce — if one knows where to look, that is. That's what Kevin Owens and Susana Gruvman have discovered.

These two New York high school students are among many thanking a computer for introducing them to financial aid possibilities that number into the thousands.

Data on available scholarships and student financial aids has been collected here by a firm and fed into its computer.

S. Robert Freede, president of Scholarship Search (7 W. 51st St., New York, N. Y. 10019), says one of the big assets the firm offers is hopeful news for the student who is not at the top of his class.

His educational adviser, Dr. Fred Pinkham, a consultant for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, says this development is one of the most interesting things the computer has yet done.

"It's a very personal service that meets the student's individual need in guiding him to a college," Dr. Pinkham said. "It brings together more information about scholarships than has ever been available in one spot."

He added that heretofore there has been no really comprehensive listing of scholarships sponsored by labor unions, foundations, churches, business schools, and others. The amount of unused money for such purposes is said to go into the millions, he said.

Students are matched up to suitable scholarships ranging from one to four years. Often the shorter ones are renewable.

More than 250,000 scholarships, fellowships, loans, and grants are available and are valued at more than $450 million.

"Often the requirements for such aid have nothing to do with scholastic achievement," said Freede. "We have in our files many awards that are available to veterans and to the average student."

The conclusion reached by many students that there is no use in seeking financial aid because they cannot qualify for it "is far from the truth," he said.

The company is so sure of its ability to help match student with educational finances that it promises to refund the student's fee if he doesn't receive at least five sources of funds.

"This is absolutely fantastic. It's hard to believe," said Jennifer Skinner after discovering that she had 13 sources of awards worth $8,000 for which she might be eligible.

Factors which opened opportunities for her aid included: the student's interest in a nursing career, labor unions of which her father was a member, the business firm which employed her mother, and the Protestant church with which she was affiliated. The total value of possible aid amounted to $18,000.

The need for finding some means of cataloging and presenting some fast means of matching students with sources of financial aid for college was noted by S. Freede when he said that 62 per cent of all families with incomes of $14,000 or less had not set aside any money for the college education of their youngsters — probably thinking that they could never afford it. Perhaps the computer is bringing an end to that misconception.

Counterfeiting Plates Landed

Jim and Jeff Johnson, 15 and 16, pulled up a bundle containing 37 copper plates for printing bogus bills, mostly $100.

They turned them over to the Secret Service, which said they were probably several years old since most counterfeiters now used lithography instead of copper plates.

Mailliard Due At Mayor Meet

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-San Francisco, is scheduled to attend a meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen tonight at the Marin Golf and Country Club, Novato.

Mailliard isn't scheduled as a speaker but councilmen are expected to question him about the switching of Hamilton Air Force Base from an active to a reserve status.

Councilmen also are to discuss ordinances to require a filing fee for nomination papers for city elective offices. Social hour is at 6:30 p.m. and the dinner at 7:30 p.m.

Jewish Appeal's Fund Drive Set

The Petaluma United Jewish Appeal Committee will launch its seventh annual fund drive with a dinner May 5 at 7 p.m. at the Petaluma Jewish Community Center.

Committee Chairman Irving Newman said a guest speaker is expected from the National Appeal Headquarters in New York City. Mrs. David Krinitsky, musical director of Temple Rodef Sholom in Marin, will present a program of Israeli music.

$500,000 Worth Of Forest Vandalism

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Vandals caused $500,000 damage to California's 17 national forests during 1972.

Doug R. Leisz, regional U.S. forester, said the most frequent vandalism involved damage to rest rooms and picnic tables, signs torn down or shot up, fireplaces wrecked and spray can painting on rocks.

San Rafael High Music Show Is Set

San Rafael High School's eighth annual free "Spring Musicale" featuring the school's concert and symphonic bands will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school auditorium.

Among selections to be played by the concert band are Osser's "Holiday for Winds" and Herman's "Ballet for Young Americans." The band is directed by Jay Lehmann, a San Rafael High School alumnus and graduate of the University of California, Davis.

The performance of the symphonic band will be highlighted by the conducting talents of several senior band members, including Cathy Beckwith conducting Williams' "The Sinfonians," Micky Kramer conducting Chance's "Blue Lake" and William Mobley conducting Nixon's "Elegy" and "Fanfare March."

Candidates Out Of Tabernacle

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — For many years presidential candidates were invited to speak during campaigns in the Mormon Tabernacle here.

But in the fall of 1972 the church decided that no more political events would be held in the silver-domed tabernacle, including speeches by candidates running for President.

The church said it had offered the tabernacle facilities for such appearances in the past as a community service, but decided that with the availability of the 12,000-seat Salt Palace nearby it was no longer necessary to use the tabernacle for other than cultural and religious events.

Grant Is Received For Opera Production

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Opera and Chicago Lyric Opera have received a grant from the Gamma Fisher Foundation to finance a joint production of Benjamin Britten's "Peter Grimes."

The grant from the Marshalltown, Iowa, foundation will pay for scenery and costumes for the opera, which will be performed four times this fall during the San Francisco season and again during the Lyric Opera's 1974 season.

J. William Fisher, foundation president, said it was the organization's first experiment in a co-production by major opera companies and was part of an effort to make more new productions available.

Sir Geraint Evans will direct "Peter Grimes" for both companies and sing the role of Captain Balstrode. The San Francisco cast also includes soprano Ava June in her American debut and tenor Jess Thomas.

Welfare Drop

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The March welfare caseload in California was 2,031,450, a decrease of 128,600 persons over the same period last year and the smallest February to March increase in 10 years, Acting Welfare Director David B. Swoap said today.

MITCHELL IS MUM — Former U.S. Attorney General John N. Mitchell yesterday told newsmen "I answered all questions fully, freely and frankly" during a federal court appearance before a grand jury in New York. He refused to tell newsmen, however, what the questions or his answers were. The grand jury is investigating a secret $250,000 contribution to the Nixon campaign fund last year by New Jersey financier Robert L. Vesco. (UPI Telephoto)

Grand Jury Questions Mitchell

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Attorney General John N. Mitchell said he had "fully, freely and frankly" answered all questions raised Tuesday by a federal grand jury probing a secret contribution to a Nixon campaign fund allegedly linked to the Watergate case.

Mitchell, who said he appeared before the grand jury voluntarily, would not divulge details of his testimony. He seemed dismayed by the swarm of reporters and spectators who surrounded him outside the U.S. District Court and made only the briefest replies to the reporters' questions.

Queried about the possibility of being recalled by the grand jury, Mitchell said, "I expect not...I hope not."

The New York Daily News, in today's edition, quoted sources close to the investigation as saying former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans had made at least two appearance before the same grand jury.

The News said Stans "was asked to bring records of any phone conversations with William J. Casey, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, and with commission counsel G. Bradford Cook," Casey's successor.

Stans appeared before the grand jury Monday and one time previously, The News said.

The grand jury is investigating a $200,000 contribution made by New Jersey financier Robert Vesco in April, 1972, to the Committee to Re-elect the President when Mitchell was Nixon's campaign manager. Vesco was under investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission at the time.

The contribution was made three days after the effective date of a new federal law requiring disclosure of such contributions to the General Accounting Office. The $200,000 and an additional $50,000 donation made by Vesco were returned to the financier earlier this year by Nixon's re-election committee.

Last November, the SEC filed a suit against Vesco and 40 others alleging misuse of $224 million in assets of four foreign mutual funds managed by IOS Ltd., a firm headed by Vesco.

According to a Washington newspaper report, the $200,000, in $100 bills, was put in a safe in the office of Stans, the Nixon campaign finance chairman following a number of meetings involving Stans, Mitchell and a Vesco representative.

The paper said money from the safe "was used to finance the Watergate bugging operation, as well as other facets of the Republicans' alleged espionage campaign in 1972."

Computers Can Help The Needy Collegian

By MARY KELLY
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — Money for a college education really isn't all that scarce — if one knows where to look, that is. That's what Kevin Owens and Susana Gruvman have discovered.

These two New York high school students are among many thanking a computer for introducing them to financial aid possibilities that number into the thousands.

Data on available scholarships and student financial aids has been collected here by a firm and fed into its computer.

S. Robert Freede, president of Scholarship Search (7 W. 51st St., New York, N. Y. 10019), says one of the big assets the firm offers is hopeful news for the student who is not at the top of his class.

His educational adviser, Dr. Fred Pinkham, a consultant for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, says this development is one of the most interesting things the computer has yet done.

"It's a very personal service that meets the student's individual need in guiding him to a college," Dr. Pinkham said. "It brings together more information about scholarships than has ever been available in one spot."

He added that heretofore there has been no really comprehensive listing of scholarships sponsored by labor unions, foundations, churches, business schools, and others. The amount of unused money for such purposes is said to go into the millions, he said.

Students are matched up to suitable scholarships ranging from one to four years. Often the shorter ones are renewable.

More than 250,000 scholarships, fellowships, loans, and grants are available and are valued at more than $450 million.

"Often the requirements for such aid have nothing to do with scholastic achievement," said Freede. "We have in our files many awards that are available to veterans and to the average student."

The conclusion reached by many students that there is no use in seeking financial aid because they cannot qualify for it "is far from the truth," he said.

The company is so sure of its ability to help match student with educational finances that it promises to refund the student's fee if he doesn't receive at least five sources of funds.

"This is absolutely fantastic. It's hard to believe," said Jennifer Skinner after discovering that she had 13 sources of awards worth $8,000 for which she might be eligible.

Factors which opened opportunities for her aid included: the student's interest in a nursing career, labor unions of which her father was a member, the business firm which employed her mother, and the Protestant church with which she was affiliated. The total value of possible aid amounted to $18,000.

The need for finding some means of cataloging and presenting some fast means of matching students with sources of financial aid for college was noted by S. Freede when he said that 62 per cent of all families with incomes of $14,000 or less had not set aside any money for the college education of their youngsters — probably thinking that they could never afford it. Perhaps the computer is bringing an end to that misconception.

Counterfeiting Plates Landed

Jim and Jeff Johnson, 15 and 16, pulled up a bundle containing 37 copper plates for printing bogus bills, mostly $100.

They turned them over to the Secret Service, which said they were probably several years old since most counterfeiters now used lithography instead of copper plates.

Mailliard Due At Mayor Meet

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-San Francisco, is scheduled to attend a meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen tonight at the Marin Golf and Country Club, Novato.

Mailliard isn't scheduled as a speaker but councilmen are expected to question him about the switching of Hamilton Air Force Base from an active to a reserve status.

Councilmen also are to discuss ordinances to require a filing fee for nomination papers for city elective offices. Social hour is at 6:30 p.m. and the dinner at 7:30 p.m.

$500,000 Worth Of Forest Vandalism

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Vandals caused $500,000 damage to California's 17 national forests during 1972.

Doug R. Leisz, regional U.S. forester, said the most frequent vandalism involved damage to rest rooms and picnic tables, signs torn down or shot up, fireplaces wrecked and spray can painting on rocks.

San Rafael High Music Show Is Set

San Rafael High School's eighth annual free "Spring Musicale" featuring the school's concert and symphonic bands will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school auditorium.

Among selections to be played by the concert band are Osser's "Holiday for Winds" and Herman's "Ballet for Young Americans." The band is directed by Jay Lehmann, a San Rafael High School alumnus and graduate of the University of California, Davis.

The performance of the symphonic band will be highlighted by the conducting talents of several senior band members, including Cathy Beckwith conducting Williams' "The Sinfonians," Micky Kramer conducting Chance's "Blue Lake" and William Mobley conducting Nixon's "Elegy" and "Fanfare March."

Candidates Out Of Tabernacle

FLOODING IN ARKANSAS — A North Little Rock child finds that high water has its advantages as well as its disadvantages. The situation from the rampaging Arkansas River has prompted Gov. Dale L. Bumpers to call the flooding the state's worst disaster. (UPI Telephoto)

Mississippi Continues To Rampage

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The mighty Mississippi and its tributaries surged southward at record flood levels today, leaving thousands homeless along 1,400 miles of submerged valleys from Iowa to Louisiana.

The Mississippi was expected to reach 43.5 feet—13 ½ feet over flood stage—at St. Louis tomorrow, the highest stage ever recorded in the Gateway city since French fur traders began measuring the river there in 1764.

At least five deaths have been blamed on the floods since the Mississippi went on its latest rampage over the Easter weekend. An estimated 5,800 persons have been driven from their homes.

The Mississippi set new flood records all along the way. Crests were due to hit from Dubuque, Iowa, to Cape Girardeau, Mo. and Cairo, Ill., by Sunday. The river at Cairo was up to 51.2 feet, more than 11 feet over flood stage, and was expected to hit 54.5 feet when the weekend is over.

About 2,000 mobile home dwellers in Missouri's St. Charles County began driving over water-soaked roads away from the rising brown waters.

Levee workers were fighting a losing battle and only a few trailer owners remained behind to chance the floods. One mobile homeowner worked nine hours to raise his trailer six feet with hydraulic jacks and hoped for the best.

To the south, the Arkansas River swept over its banks at Little Rock, Ark. The Coast Guard commandeered private boats to ferry 68 persons to higher ground and another 250 were expected to leave the same way if the situation worsens.

Arkansas Gov. Dale L. Bumpers said flood threatened his state with its worst disaster and worst potential farming losses in history. Army engineers said even with clear skies the river would not rollback to its banks for a month.

Gov. Robert D. Ray of Iowa toured inundated lands near Burlington by helicopter and saw flood damage upstream and downstream which has put an estimated 1,000 persons out of work.

"The damage is something you just can't comprehend until you see it," Ray said. River waters were four feet deep in an industrial area and an entire railroad freight yard was submerged.

Leary Is Handed Added Sentence

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (UPI) — Dr. Timothy Leary, leader of the LSD "turn on" movement in the 60s, was sentenced Monday to six months to five years additional time behind bars for escaping from prison.

Leary was serving a six month to 10 year marijuana sentence when he escaped from a prison camp in 1970. Leary now faces trial in Santa Ana, Calif., as the head of the "Brotherhood of Eternal Love," which authorities charge was a wealthy, international drug smuggling ring that brought hashish to the United States and exported LSD made in mobile laboratories.

Baseball Opening Parade Set

The Sausalito-Marin City Little League will kick off its summer season Sunday with an old fashioned parade through both communities.

Cmdr. Charles E. Southwick, Sausalito's only returning POW, will serve as grand marshal of the parade, which begins at 11 a.m. at the corner of Second and Main streets.

Participants will include the Little League players, Boy Scouts, Troop 8, Girl Scouts, Troop 341, Brownies, Troop 1909, the Martin Luther King School band and the Red Garter calliope.

The marchers will proceed to northern Sausalito and then to Marin City, returning to the Little League field near Bayside School on Nevada Street where the game will begin at 1 p.m.

Bill Would Set Safety Rules For High-Rises

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation establishing minimum fire safety standards for all new and existing high-rise buildings was introduced Tuesday by Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco.

"No longer can we tolerate people having to jump to the street in their desperation to avoid the ravages of fire," Moscone said. "Too often we have seen the heat and smoke from a minor fire completely block the escape routes and cause death or serious injury."

The measure (SB941) would require the state fire marshal and the Fire Advisory Board to draw minimum standards for fire prevention and safety in high rises. It would permit local government to impose even stiffer standards.

Wounds Fatal From Mugger

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 24-year-old man died Tuesday from gunshot wounds suffered when he refused to give a mugger $80 he got from cashing a check in the middle of the day.

Thomas Berman, a free-lance film-maker, and a friend had just cashed the check at a Manhattan branch of the Chemical Bank about 1 p.m. Monday when when a man approached and demanded the money.

The friend ran, but police said Berman refused to hand over the money. He was shot once in the chest and died a day later. The gunman fled.

Man Pleads To Lesser Theft Count

A 38-year-old Marin City man, charged in connection with a stolen safe which contained thousands of dollars, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of concealing stolen property.

Judge Henry J. Broderick accepted the plea from Billy Maurice Thomas, who had made a plea bargain with Judge E. Warren McGuire. McGuire, who promised no more than 60 days in jail, is slated to sentence him May 15.

Thomas's plea came on the verge of trial before Broderick on a felony stolen property count, along with two others linked by sheriff's deputies to the safecracking in Marin City Jan. 19.

Trial began yesterday for Kenny Ray White, 21, and Claude Burton, 28, both of Marin City. White is charged with felony burglary and concealing stolen goods; Burton is charged with the stolen property violation.

Seeral anonymous calls to deputies Jan. 19 led them to an apartment at 223 Drake Avenue, where they found a safe cut open by an acetylene torch.

The safe, said to have contained about $9,000, and stereo equipment had been taken earlier in the day from the Leonard Lew home at 32 Underhill Road, Mill Valley.

James Otis Ames, 23, of Marin City, also is charged with concealing stolen property, an allegation that was filed after he refused to talk to a deputy district attorney on the verge of a preliminary hearing for the other three in February.

His case is still pending in municipal court.

Honorary Degree

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock will receive an honorary doctor of humane letters degree tomorrow from the University of Toledo.

Center Takes Nominations

The Novato Human Needs Center Inc. is accepting nominations and applications for its board of directors, according to Chairman Robert B. Stockwell.

They should be submitted to the center, 1523 South Novato Bouldevard, by May 11, Stockwell said.

Nominations and applications must come from volunteers who work for the center or clients served by the center, he said. Board members must be at least 16 years of age and residents of Novato.

Four directors will be elected at the annual meeting at 7:30 p.m. June 11 at the center.

FLOODING IN ARKANSAS — A North Little Rock child finds that high water has its advantages as well as its disadvantages. The situation from the rampaging Arkansas River has prompted Gov. Dale L. Bumpers to call the flooding the state's worst disaster.
(UPI Telephoto)

Mississippi Continues To Rampage

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The mighty Mississippi and its tributaries surged southward at record flood levels today, leaving thousands homeless along 1,400 miles of submerged valleys from Iowa to Louisiana.

The Mississippi was expected to reach 43.5 feet—13 ½ feet over flood stage—at St. Louis tomorrow, the highest stage ever recorded in the Gateway city since French fur traders began measuring the river there in 1764.

At least five deaths have been blamed on the floods since the Mississippi went on its latest rampage over the Easter weekend. An estimated 5,800 persons have been driven from their homes.

The Mississippi set new flood records all along the way. Crests were due to hit from Dubuque, Iowa, to Cape Girardeau, Mo. and Cairo, Ill., by Sunday. The river at Cairo was up to 51.2 feet, more than 11 feet over flood stage, and was expected to hit 54.5 feet when the weekend is over.

About 2,000 mobile home dwellers in Missouri's St. Charles County began driving over water-soaked roads away from the rising brown waters.

Levee workers were fighting a losing battle and only a few trailer owners remained behind to chance the floods. One mobile homeowner worked nine hours to raise his trailer six feet with hydraulic jacks and hoped for the best.

To the south, the Arkansas River swept over its banks at Little Rock, Ark. The Coast Guard commandeered private boats to ferry 68 persons to higher ground and another 250 were expected to leave the same way if the situation worsens.

Arkansas Gov. Dale L. Bumpers said flood threatened his state with its worst disaster and worst potential farming losses in history. Army engineers said even with clear skies the river would not rollback to its banks for a month.

Gov. Robert D. Ray of Iowa toured inundated lands near Burlington by helicopter and saw flood damage upstream and downstream which has put an estimated 1,000 persons out of work.

"The damage is something you just can't comprehend until you see it," Ray said. River waters were four feet deep in an industrial area and an entire railroad freight yard was submerged.

Leary Is Handed Added Sentence

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (UPI) — Dr. Timothy Leary, leader of the LSD "turn on" movement in the 60s, was sentenced Monday to six months to five years additional time behind bars for escaping from prison.

Leary was serving a six month to 10 year marijuana sentence when he escaped from a prison camp in 1970. Leary now faces trial in Santa Ana, Calif., as the head of the "Brotherhood of Eternal Love," which authorities charge was a wealthy, international drug smuggling ring that brought hashish to the United States and exported LSD made in mobile laboratories.

Baseball Opening Parade Set

The Sausalito-Marin City Little League will kick off its summer season Sunday with an old fashioned parade through both communities.

Cmdr. Charles E. Southwick, Sausalito's only returning POW, will serve as grand marshal of the parade, which begins at 11 a.m. at the corner of Second and Main streets.

Participants will include the Little League players, Boy Scouts, Troop 8, Girl Scouts, Troop 341, Brownies, Troop 1909, the Martin Luther King School band and the Red Garter calliope.

The marchers will proceed to northern Sausalito and then to Marin City, returning to the Little League field near Bayside School on Nevada Street where the game will begin at 1 p.m.

Bill Would Set Safety Rules For High-Rises

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation establishing minimum fire safety standards for all new and existing high-rise buildings was introduced Tuesday by Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco.

"No longer can we tolerate people having to jump to the street in their desperation to avoid the ravages of fire," Moscone said. "Too often we have seen the heat and smoke from a minor fire completely block the escape routes and cause death or serious injury."

The measure (SB941) would require the state fire marshal and the Fire Advisory Board to draw minimum standards for fire prevention and safety in high rises. It would permit local government to impose even stiffer standards.

San Anselmo Yields To Creekside Park Proposal

San Anselmo city councilmen last night yielded to a plea by 200 residents and undid a two-week-old resolution to create a creekside parking lot downtown, replacing it with a combination park and parking lot.

An undeveloped lot at the corner of Center and Sir Francis Drake boulevards has been the object of a running battle between the chamber of commerce, which favors a parking lot serving the business district, and residents favoring a city park there with some parking places for shoppers.

The council, after more than two hours debate, withdrew the previous requirement that the lot contain 45 parking spaces, calling instead for 39 to 45 spaces, depending on the number most consistent with a park and parking lot designed by Planning Commissioner Daniel H. Goltz.

Councilmen two weeks ago approved a so-called compromise plan prepared by City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell for a 45-space lot with "attractive natural landscaping" and parking below street level, rejecting the Goltz plan that set a limit of 39 parking spaces.

Faced with a petition signed by 200 citizens protesting the 45-space requirement and calling for a park plan that "relates to the creek" while still providing adequate parking, the council was forced to reconsider.

In voting for the new plan, Councilman Martin G. Blinder said that the six or so extra parking spaces are not critical to merchants, but would be critical to the establishment of the park.

"If our children remember us," he said, "it will be for putting in a park, not a parking lot."

Casting the lone dissenting vote was Councilman Warren R. Perry, who called the original 45-space plan "reasonable" and that to change it would mean yet another compromise, inviting protests from merchants who could demand the council reconsider the plan for a third time.

The new proposal includes the stipulation that "a substantial number" of allowed parking spaces be for compact cars and that an area be set aside for bicycle racks.

The council hired Goltz to prepare preliminary drawings for the creekside site at a cost of $2,800 and authorized the spending of $1,000 for surveys of the parcel.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

STOP SIGNS — Approved a request from citizens for a four-way stop sign at the intersection of Elm Avenue, Elm Court and Scenic Avenue and a stop sign on San Anselmo Avenue at the intersection of Scenic Avenue on a six-month trial basis to see if the signs reduce the number of autos that speed on Scenic Avenue.

USE PERMITS — Granted an appeal of a planning commission denial for a use permit to James Palmieri to build a house at 1 Indian Rock Road and denied an appeal by Donald H. DeVaughn for a use permit to build a house on an 11.4-acre parcel in the Cherne Lane-Carlson Avenue area, suggesting he submit a new, more detailed proposal to the planning commission.

BOTTLES — Passed an ordinance making it unlawful for stores to sell bottled soft drinks unless a sign is posted reminding consumers that "buying beverages in returnable bottles saves the environment and may save you money."

GENERAL PLAN — Granted a general plan committee request for assistance from the streets and traffic committee in preparing the traffic circulation element for the proposed city general plan.

POLLUTION — Supported passage of two bills in the state legislature that would restore the enforcement powers of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, struck down last month by the Benicia Justice Court in a suit filed by an oil company that overturned a key law used to prosecute air polluters.

NOISE — Approved the hiring of Roger P. Maineri for a noise survey and preparation of a noise ordinance at a cost of $1,700.

PARKS — Agreed to dedicate the play area at Robson Park to the children of San Anselmo and set ceremonies for 1 p.m. May 6; appointed William Pettit, currently working for the city under the Emergency Employment Act, to fill a regular maintenance man position now open and appointed David Carroll to the vacant EEA job; instructed the city attorney to seek interpretation in probate court regarding the serving of alcohol, and holding political meetings at the Robson House.

POLICE — Authorized the police department to buy a new camera at a cost of $64 and to buy lockers at a cost of $295.

CONSOLIDATION — Tabled a government structure study recommendation for consolidation of the city governments of San Anselmo and Fairfax, but instructed the fire chief to meet with the fire chief of Fairfax to discuss possible consolidation of fire services.

COUNTY PLAN — Agreed with a planning commission opinion that an environmental impact report by the county planning department into the countywide general plan does not include enough cost figures.

APPOINTMENTS — Approved a list of candidates for police officer and appointed the top three candidates from that list to the force.

FUNDS — Transferred $300 in city funds to the general plan committee for printing and mailing of questionnaires regarding the housing element in the proposed general plan.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 8 p.m. May 9 in the city offices.

Hinebaugh Creek Improvements Given Approval

The Rohnert Park City Council Monday night approved final plans for improvement work at Hinebaugh Creek.

A contract for construction work was awarded to Teichert Construction Co. at the low bid of $835,000. City Clerk Kathryn Logue said total cost of the project including land acquisition has been estimated at $1,201,342.

The project will be financed by an assessment district of landowners and developers.

In other business, the council approved revised improvement plans for the sewage plant and called for construction bids to be opened May 21.

Youth Nabbed At Golf Club

A 17-year-old youth was arrested Saturday by sheriff's deputies on suspicion of burglarizing the Indian Valley Golf Club near Novato, deputies reported yesterday.

The teen-ager was caught at 12:40 a.m. with $23.45, almost all in quarters, shortly after someone broke into the golf club through a skylight and looted vending machines, deputies said.

The youth's name was withheld because of a standing order by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court. He was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall for juvenile proceedings.

Police Affiliate With The Teamsters

FAIRFAX, Va. (UPI) — Police in this Washington suburb won the right to unionize last month and surprised county officials Monday by affiliating with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The vote was 176 for the Teamsters and 61 for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFSCME). There were 94 votes for no union and 91 who didn't vote in the election among 422 police privates eligible to vote.

San Anselmo Yields To Creekside Park Proposal

San Anselmo city councilmen last night yielded to a plea by 200 residents and undid a two-week-old resolution to create a creekside parking lot downtown, replacing it with a combination park and parking lot.

An undeveloped lot at the corner of Center and Sir Francis Drake boulevards has been the object of a running battle between the chamber of commerce, which favors a parking lot serving the business district, and residents favoring a city park there with some parking places for shoppers.

The council, after more than two hours debate, withdrew the previous requirement that the lot contain 45 parking spaces, calling instead for 39 to 45 spaces, depending on the number most consistent with a park and parking lot designed by Planning Commissioner Daniel H. Goltz.

Councilmen two weeks ago approved a so-called compromise plan prepared by City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell for a 45-space lot with "attractive natural landscaping" and parking below street level, rejecting the Goltz plan that set a limit of 39 parking spaces.

Faced with a petition signed by 200 citizens protesting the 45-space requirement and calling for a park plan that "relates to the creek" while still providing adequate parking, the council was forced to reconsider.

In voting for the new plan, Councilman Martin G. Blinder said that the six or so extra parking spaces are not critical to merchants, but would be critical to the establishment of the park.

"If our children remember us," he said, "it will be for putting in a park, not a parking lot."

Casting the lone dissenting vote was Councilman Warren R. Perry, who called the original 45-space plan "reasonable" and that to change it would mean yet another compromise, inviting protests from merchants who could demand the council reconsider the plan for a third time.

The new proposal includes the stipulation that "a substantial number" of allowed parking spaces be for compact cars and that an area be set aside for bicycle racks.

The council hired Goltz to prepare preliminary drawings for the creekside site at a cost of $2,800 and authorized the spending of $1,000 for surveys of the parcel.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

STOP SIGNS — Approved a request from citizens for a four-way stop sign at the intersection of Elm Avenue, Elm Court and Scenic Avenue and a stop sign on San Anselmo Avenue at the intersection of Scenic Avenue on a six-month trial basis to see if the signs reduce the number of autos that speed on Scenic Avenue.

USE PERMITS — Granted an appeal of a planning commission denial for a use permit to James Palmieri to build a house at 1 Indian Rock Road and denied an appeal by Donald H. DeVaughn for a use permit to build a house on an 11.4-acre parcel in the Cherne Lane-Carlson Avenue area, suggesting he submit a new, more detailed proposal to the planning commission.

BOTTLES — Passed an ordinance making it unlawful for stores to sell bottled soft drinks unless a sign is posted reminding consumers that "buying beverages in returnable bottles saves the environment and may save you money."

GENERAL PLAN — Granted a general plan committee request for assistance from the streets and traffic committee in preparing the traffic circulation element for the proposed city general plan.

POLLUTION — Supported passage of two bills in the state legislature that would restore the enforcement powers of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, struck down last month by the Benicia Justice Court in a suit filed by an oil company that overturned a key law used to prosecute air polluters.

NOISE — Approved the hiring of Roger P. Maineri for a noise survey and preparation of a noise ordinance at a cost of $1,700.

PARKS — Agreed to dedicate the play area at Robson Park to the children of San Anselmo and set ceremonies for 1 p.m. May 6; appointed William Pettit, currently working for the city under the Emergency Employment Act, to fill a regular maintenance man position now open and appointed David Carroll to the vacant EEA job; instructed the city attorney to seek interpretation in probate court regarding the serving of alcohol, and holding political meetings at the Robson House.

POLICE — Authorized the police department to buy a new camera at a cost of $64 and to buy lockers at a cost of $295.

CONSOLIDATION — Tabled a government structure study recommendation for consolidation of the city governments of San Anselmo and Fairfax, but instructed the fire chief to meet with the fire chief of Fairfax to discuss possible consolidation of fire services.

COUNTY PLAN — Agreed with a planning commission opinion that an environmental impact report by the county planning department into the countywide general plan does not include enough cost figures.

APPOINTMENTS — Approved a list of candidates for police officer and appointed the top three candidates from that list to the force.

FUNDS — Transferred $300 in city funds to the general plan committee for printing and mailing of questionnaires regarding the housing element in the proposed general plan.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 8 p.m. May 9 in the city offices.

Hinebaugh Creek Improvements Given Approval

The Rohnert Park City Council Monday night approved final plans for improvement work at Hinebaugh Creek.

A contract for construction work was awarded to Teichert Construction Co. at the low bid of $835,000. City Clerk Kathryn Logue said total cost of the project including land acquisition has been estimated at $1,201,342.

The project will be financed by an assessment district of landowners and developers.

In other business, the council approved revised improvement plans for the sewage plant and called for construction bids to be opened May 21.

Youth Nabbed At Golf Club

A 17-year-old youth was arrested Saturday by sheriff's deputies on suspicion of burglarizing the Indian Valley Golf Club near Novato, deputies reported yesterday.

The teen-ager was caught at 12:40 a.m. with $23.45, almost all in quarters, shortly after someone broke into the golf club through a skylight and looted vending machines, deputies said.

The youth's name was withheld because of a standing order by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court. He was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall for juvenile proceedings.

Police Affiliate With The Teamsters

FAIRFAX, Va. (UPI) — Police in this Washington suburb won the right to unionize last month and surprised county officials Monday by affiliating with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The vote was 176 for the Teamsters and 61 for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFSCME). There were 94 votes for no union and 91 who didn't vote in the election among 422 police privates eligible to vote.

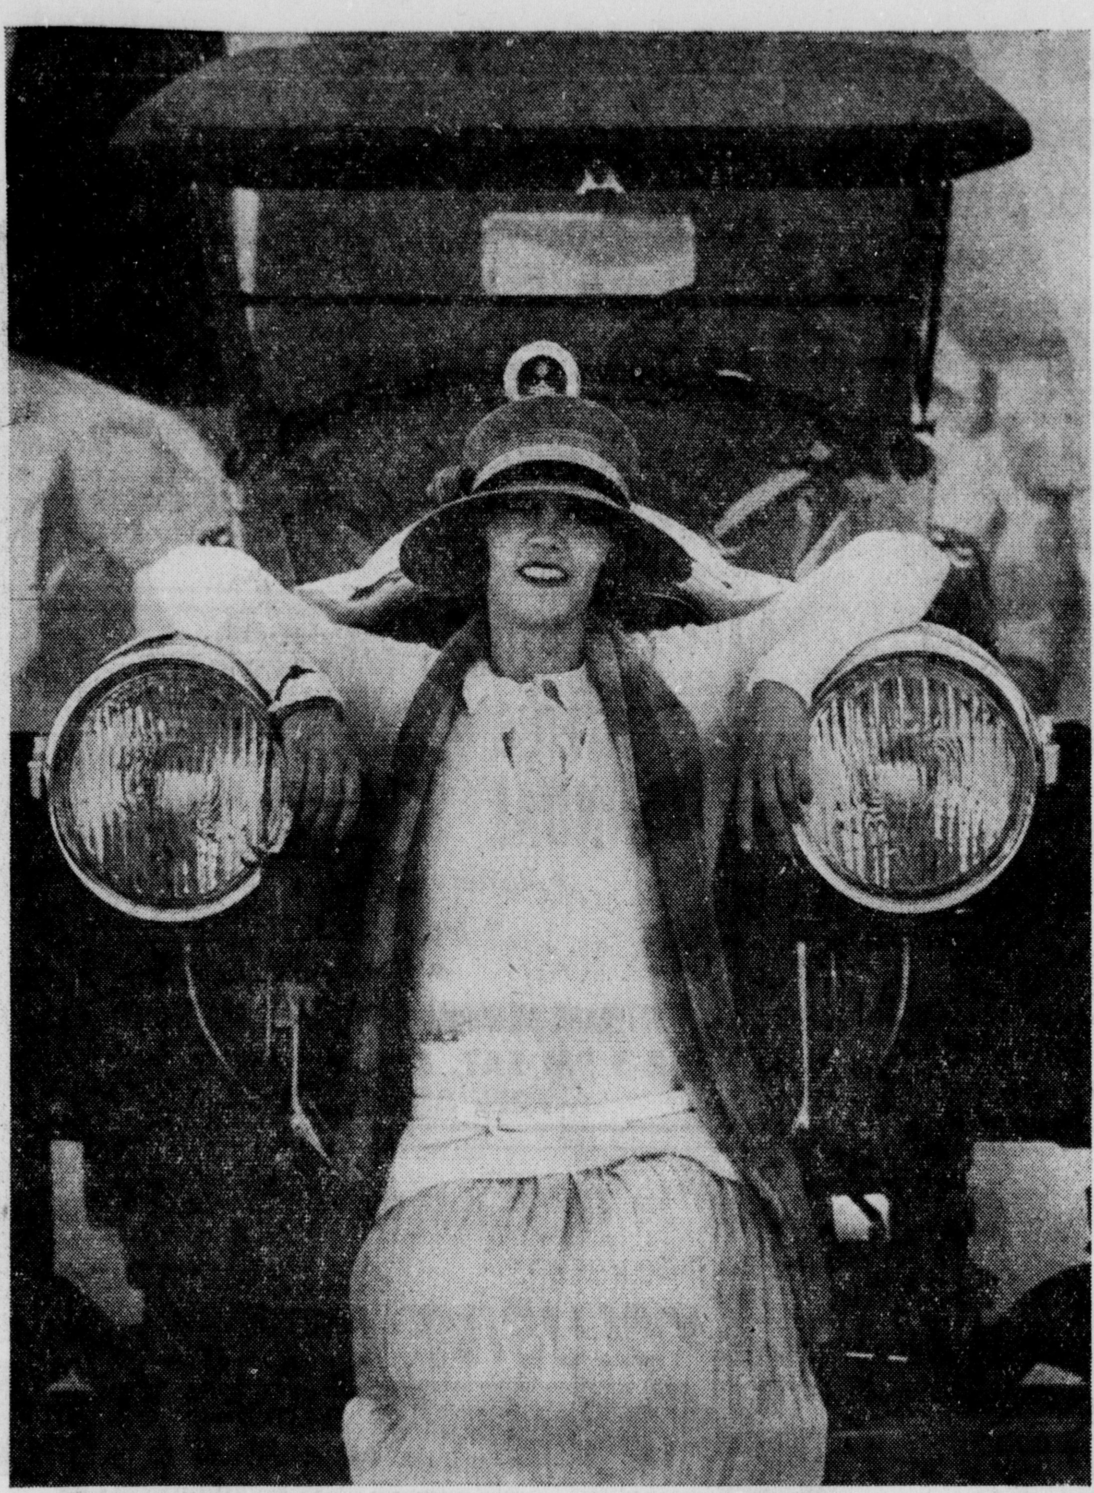
DAILY Independent-Journal Est. 1861
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY



OUT OF THE PAST — Although relics like this 1924 Packard will not be there, other old cars like it will vie for attention with the latest 1973 models at the giant auto show in Mill Valley this weekend. This old photograph, from a private collection, shows actress Julanne Johnston, leading lady in the 1924 movie "Thief of Bagdad", posing with the Packard touring car.

Vintage, New Models To Be Auto Show Features

Vintage automobiles from the Roaring 20s will join 1973 models this weekend at Strawberry Town and Country Village in Mill Valley where the Independent-Journal will cosponsor Marin's annual spring car show, The Greatest Show On Wheels.

Strawberry Town and Country Village will cosponsor the two-day show, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., both Saturday and Sunday. The auto extravaganza is open to the public free.

The shopping center parking area will be transformed into one giant auto showroom where latest model cars, trucks and recreational vehicles will be displayed by all of Marin's leading auto dealers.

Among specialty cars will be Model-T's provided by the Northern California Model-T Club, a 1963 Ferrari worth $12,000 to $15,000, Herk Viglienzone's 1929 Lincoln, antique Chevrolets of Tommy Thompson (Novato Datsun) and Richard Oldham (Empire Chevrolet), George Dexter's Excalibur, the $28,000 Monteverdi from Mill Valley Imports, and a diesel Peugeot from Shamrock Motors.

Many of the stores at Town and Country Village will be open for special previews of spring-summer fashions.

KTIM radio personality Clint Weyrauch will broadcast live throughout the show, highlighting special events and visitors.

Chicanos, Indians Planning Festival

Chicano and American Indian students at the College of Marin will sponsor four days devoted to the culture of their people on the Kentfield campus May 8, 9, 10 and 11.

The first two days, May 8 and 9, will feature Hispano-American culture, said Joaquin Gallardo, the college's bilingual coordinator.

On both days a Mexican fiesta will be held in the student center from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., with home-made Mexican food, art on display and strolling groups of musicians. The second day, May 9, the San Francisco group "Caesar" will appear.

The Theatro Cena group will perform an all-Spanish production of "La Buena Mujer de Zacoalco" (The Good Woman of Zacoalco) on May 8 in either the student center or the fine arts building studio theater, at a time to be announced.

Chicago-centered films will be shown at 7 p.m. May 8 in Olney Hall.

American Indian students will sponsor a continuous program from 11 a.m. on May 10 and 11. Speakers, at locations and times yet undetermined, will include "Coyote" a Cheyenne who will present videotapes of the Wounded Knee occupation and speak on the Cheyenne nation, and on American Indians' attitudes to military service.

Jim St. Martin, instructor in Native American Studies, said tribal dancers will perform on the college grounds both days, probably around noon.

On May 10 the movie "Little Big Man" will be shown in the fine arts theater at 7 p.m., and on May 11 the Bay Area Inter-Tribal Dancers will perform in the student center at 7:30 p.m.

St. Martin said other speakers who will appear at the college, at places and times still undetermined, include Adam Nordwall, a Chippewa who ran for Congress in the East Bay last fall; Herb Backer from the office of California Indian Legal Services, Steven McLemore, a Pima-Cherokee who teaches Native American studies at the University of California at Berkeley, Car Livermore, an artist, and Horace Spencer, an authority on Navajo culture.

Behr Newsletter Is Strongly Critical Of Super Agency Idea

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Sacramento — Indirect but storng criticism of proposals to consolidate six major Marin County departments into two "super agencies" has come from Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

The senator, a former Marin supervisor, has resisted efforts by citizens critical of the proposals to join the fight. His weekly "Sacramento Report," however, challenged the proposals without specific mention of the county.

Pressure on Behr has come especially from conservationists opposed to consolidating the planning and parks and recreation departments in a new department headed by Public Works Director Ray W. Foreaker.

Behr, in a column headlined "The Myth of the Super-Agency," said it is "impossible to point to a single superagency that has been less than a disaster."

He declared that "no one has yet been found with the genius to run them efficiently, let alone comprehend them. . . Despite this, however, superagencies are all the rage these days, a sort of Holy Grail for harried administrators."

One of many problems with superagencies, the senator cautioned, was that "if your problem or your claim doesn't fit the organizatin chart, nobody need take responsibility for its solution and nobody is likely to. Depending on your influence or your sheer persistence, it may eventually reach the big man who resides in the top box. More likely, it will get lost, like a letter with the wrong zip code.

"Superagencies, like conglomerates of the business world, also create serious morale problems."

As for the claim that bigness leads to economies of scale, "all the evidence is otherwise," Behr said. "It is easier to waste a large sum of money than a smaller one; it is also easier to waste it in a large organization. Large organizations have a built-in growth factor that smaller ones cannot match, and the whole invariably becomes greater than the sum of its previous parts, and sooner, too."

Behr also objected that a superagency is difficult for elected officials to control because funds can be moved about more freely and anonymously than between the former departments from which it is created. Spending priorities are set by the new boss, not by the former departments, he added.

The result is "a new layer of government has been added, and a new loyalty to a new go-between," Behr said.

Swap Show Set Saturday; Boyd Museum Benefit

"Marin Camp and Sport Swap" to benefit the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Marin Bay Lincoln Mercury grounds at 475 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

Camping and sports enthusiasts will buy and and sell use camping gear and sports equipment — from bicycles to saddles and tennis rackets — at the event, as well as view displays of camping and sporting equipment by Bay Area merchants.

No clothing, sleeping bags or firearms will be sold at the events.

Citizens wishing to sell used equipment may register at 8:30 a.m.

Redwood Senior Is Scholarship Winner

Russell G. Fujiwara, Redwood High School senior, has won a $1,000 National Merit Scholarship, it was announced today.

Fujiwara, of 41 Staghound Passage, Corte Madera, won a scholarship sponsored by General Foods Corp. which was awarded in open competition among finalists in the state. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noriya Fujiwara.

Fujiwara plans to major in humanities at the University of California at Berkeley and possibly go on to law school. He is a life member of the California Scholarship Federation, a bicycle racer and member of Marin Cyclists and a life member of the Redwood Honor Society.

He has played varsity soccer and belongs to his school's film, chess and mathematics clubs. He was a worker for the McGovern presidential campaign.

The 1973 National Merit $1,000 scholarship winners were selected from among 15,000 finalists who make up about one-half of one per cent of graduating high school seniors in the United States.

Earlier this month, the National Merit organization announced that Michael A. Grey of Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo and Thomas C. Elkjer and Mark R. Tummerman of Terra Linda High School had won four-year scholarships of unspecified amounts.

A Call For Purchase Of Mansion

Directors of Marin Heritage last night reviewed a feasibility study which indicated the Dollar Mansion could be made self-sustaining as a multiuse community activity center, and voted to ask the City of San Rafael to purchase the property.

The study by consultant Charles Page was jointly commissioned by Marin Heritage and the City of San Rafael. It shows uses of the mansion ranging from a tea room to private offices to produce sufficient revenue to make necessary repairs to the building and pay for maintenance.

The figures are predicated on operation of the building by a volunteer group. Marin Heritage directors voted to volunteer to assist the city in setting up such a group.

Director George J. Silvestri Jr. suggested that open space bond issue funds could be used to buy the 11-acre property on which the mansion sits. He noted that the house itself is carried on the assessor's roll at only $10,000, and was considered a liability in the proposal for apartment and townhouse development which the city recently rejected.

President Frederick Dekker said he would request that presentation of the report be put on the agenda for the May 7 city council meeting.

The board met in the mansion itself, which has been leased for his residence by Paul Lusczynski, Marin Heritage treasurer.

Delay Asked In Transit Link To San Francisco

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A one-year postponement of the deadline for a long-range transit plan linking Marin and Sonoma with San Francisco was proposed yesterday in a bill by Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco.

The bill would postpone to June 30 next year the deadline for the Golden Gate Bridge District to file such a plan with the Legislature.

Foran introduced the bill at the request of district officials. The president of the bridge board, Stephen C. Leonoudakis, is a law partner of Foran.

It was a 1971 bill by Foran that ordered drafting of a long-range plan detailing routes, stations, transit vehicles and costs. Foran said the one-year delay is needed to allow sufficient time for public hearings on the plan. The public has asked for more participation in the plan than had been anticipated, he said.

The delay also will permit coordination of the plan with the Metropolitan Transportation Commission, Foran noted.

The 1971 Foran bill prohibited the district from building a second deck on the span until 120 days after the plan is filed with the Legislature.

Bill Seeks Pay Boost In Prisons

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation hiking prison officers' pay to the same level as highway patrolmen has been introduced by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek.

The bill (SB 710) would halve the difference during fiscal 1974-75 and eliminate it by July 1, 1975. Spokesmen for the senator had no information available on the present salary gap between the two.

The measure would apply to salary ranges for correctional officers and youth group supervisors. It declares that job requirements for these employees generally are "at least as difficult, dangerous, varied and important" as those for highway patrolmen.

Development's Report Snagged

The Corte Madera Planning Commission said last night there were too many holes in an environmental impact report on the controversial Madera del Presidio development, and sent it back to its authors.

Commissioners complained that the document was incomplete, reported town zoning administrator William G. McBride, because it failed to grapple with potential schooling, noise, sewage and water problems.

McBride said a standing-room-only crowd of 100 people crammed the town hall for the public hearing on the report. Several speakers questioned whether the commission should even consider the report, he said, since the 532-unit townhouse and apartment project is currently halted by a taxpayers' suit.

The report by planning consultants Sedway and Cooke acknowledged the potential adverse impact of school problems. Thedevelopment lies entirely within the Mill Valley School District, which has no school within walking distance, and children wouldn't be entitled to attend neighboring Reed or Larkspur school district schools unless a district boundary change were made.

McBride said commissioners asked for more details on the school problem and how it could be solved.

They also were concerned that no in-depth analysis of vegetation on the site was given. They pointed out that even if the Corte Madera Sanitary District had the capacity to handle sewage from the development, the Ross Valley Sanitary District treatment plant, which treats town sewage, might not — a matter not covered in the report.

McBride said commissioners also asked for details on potential erosion which could silt up the San Clemente Creek.

Several people in the audience asked the commission to reject the report outrught, said McBride, but it was referred back to Sedway and Cooke for more detail, and will come back to the commission later.

FIFER — Accepted an environmental impact report on the Fifer Special Assessment District, formed to construct a stormwater pumping station on Lucky Drive between Fifer Avenue and Nellen Drive, fill a ponding area and put in underground drainage. The triangular-shaped station site, owned by the Western Real Estate Development Corp., is destined for commercial development, and the owners will pay off the district bonds.

CHURCH — Refused a conditional use application by Amin Quance of 112 Edison Avenue to use his home as a parish house for the Sufi Church after neighbors complained it would create parking problems.

POOL — Granted Inez Young two variances allowing a swimming pool and a six-foot fence in the front garden of a new home at 24 Fairview Avenue She had appealed board of adjustment refusal of the variances.

REZONING — Asked Hageman and Eklund Inc. to withdraw its application to rezone land at the southwest corner of Fifer Avenue and Lucky Drive from industrial to commercial until the town's general play is updated in June.

ABANDON — Recommended the town council abandon a piece of Church Court providing Holy Innocents Episcopal Parish either pays to pave and gutter the rest of the court, or pays $3,000 for the abandoned sliver of land.

OPEN SPACE — Set a public hearing on an interim open space element of the town's general plan for May 14 at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

Loma Alta School Leader Reassigned

The principal of Loma Alta School at Juvenile Hall, under criticism for its educational program, has been reassigned to the Marin County Superintendent of Schools Office.

He was replaced at the school by Sidney Smith, county schools personnel coordinator and overall trouble shooter.

Loma Alta School came under sharp criticism last month from both the Marin County Grand Jury and the County Juvenile Justice Commission.

The grand jury noted some Juvenile Hall inmates are not being allowed to attend classes for security reasons and others offered only limited educational opportunities.

It recommended the position of principal be abolished and two teacher-principals be appointed for the two schools at the hall which operate under one name.

While goals for the educational program call for improving the attitude of students toward school and learning, the committee concluded only that "students are attending school."

Robert Spain, assistant superintendent of schools, said today Worsham requested the reassignment earlier this month because "he realized he was not being effective."

Worsham had been principal at the school for about three and a half years.

Marinite Bound Over On Murder

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — San Rafael mechanic Lawrence Charles Brown, 35, yesterday was bound over to San Francisco Superior Court on a charge of murdering a man who tried to crash a party at a San Francisco motorcycle clubhouse.

Brown, whose home is at 3550 Redwood Highway, is being held in city prison without bail. He is to be arraigned in superior court May 15.

Brown is accused of shooting to death 47-year-old Harold Mayfield outside the Rattlers Motorcycle Club on Ellis Street.

Mayfield died a short time after the shooting on April 5.

Brown was arrested by police near the club. Witnesses said he had fired three shots at the victim.

Board Sets Session On Complaints

The Cotati-Rohnert Park School District board last night approved preparing plans for a year-round schedule for two schools in the district.

Supt. James H. Davidson said the board directed him to prepare a year-round plan for Waldo Rohnert and John Reed schools in Rohnert Park. If approved, the change could be put into effect this summer.

Davidson said the board agreed the so-called 45-15 Plan, popular with other school districts, would be a better way of coping with the student influx in the district than double sessions or adding portable classrooms. The plan would put students in class for 45 days, or nine weeks, followed by three weeks of vacation. Attendance would be staggered so that only 75 per cent of the students are in school at any one time.

He said John Reed and Waldo Rohnert schools were selected because their compact attendance areas would make scheduling easier.

Davidson said the plan will be presented to the board Tuesday at 8 p.m. He said no surveys of parent opinions had been made, but added parents would be permitted a full hearing on the plan Tuesday.

BART Suffers Damage Losses

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) reported today that freezing weather in December caused $242,000 damage to landscaping at transit stations.

And the district reported that rock-throwing vandals have broken $20,000 worth of windows in trains, and another $12,000 worth of station windows.

The landscaping damage was the heaviest at the Orinda station, BART officials said, but there was damage system-wide. Lost were 760,000 ground cover plants worth $152,000, and trees and shrubs costing $90,000.

Nixon Raises Quotas For Importing Cheese

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon increased cheese import quotas by 50 per cent Wednesday in an effort to dampen rising prices reflecting a switch by consumers from high-priced meat to cheese.

The President signed a proclamation allowing an additional 64 million pounds of cheese imports by July 31 above the present annual quota of 128 million pounds.

Director John Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council, announcing the President's action, said the council recommended doubling the quota because cheese prices had increased 5 to 10 per cent since last June.

"We are hopeful, by expanding the supply of imported cheese in the next few months, that rising cheese prices will at least level off," Dunlop said.

He said per capita consumption of cheese by Americans rose 9 per cent in 1972, or an average of 1.5 pounds, to a total of 18.4 pounds year for each person. He said cheese imports now account for about 6.5 per cent of U.S. consumption.

Petaluma Crime Shows Decrease

The Petaluma Police Department reports investigating 123 major offenses in March, a decrease from 195 crimes investigated in March of 1972.

Major offenses included an unsolved robbery; a solved aggravated assault; 29 burglaries with three solved; 12 auto thefts with two solved; 37 thefts over $50 in value and 47 thefts under $50.

The department made 20 adult felony arrests and 13 juvenile felony arrests. Fifteen injury accidents were reported and 291 moving traffic citations issued.

Because of the Danube River, Budapest, Hungary, although 850 miles from the Black Sea, is officially registered as a seaport.

Suit Seeks Permit For Hospital

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Petaluma General Hospital has filed suit in Sonoma County Superior Court to force the state to permit construction of a new hospital.

National Medical Enterprises and the private hospital asked in the suit that the decision of the state Health Planning Council and Bay Area Health Planning Council be overturned and a new hospital authorized.

The Bay Area Council rejected hospital plans by both the private group and the Petaluma Hospital District board, saying the population of Southern Sonoma does not warrant additional hospital beds.

The private group appealed the decision to the state council and contends a license must be issued because no action was taken on the appeal within the 90-day limit required by law.

No hearing date for the suit has beenset by the court.

$20 Yearly Sewerage Fee Asked

The Corte Madera Sanitary Commission last night recommended that residents of the sanitary district be charged at a rate of $20 a year for single-family residences next year to pay sewerage costs.

The recommendation was made, according to Arthur N. Morrison, town engineer, because the sanitary district is operating this year on reserve funds.

Because of new legislation, the district cannot raise its tax rate, he said, but is allowed to make the service charge.

Morrison said the commission, an advisory body of the town council which runs the sanitary district, figured that the annual $20 charge (with sliding rates for multiple residences) would be enough to finance the district in addition to the tax rate.

Development's Report Snagged

The Corte Madera Planning Commission said last night there were too many holes in an environmental impact report on the controversial Madera del Presidio development, and sent it back to its authors.

Commissioners complained that the document was incomplete, reported town zoning administrator William G. McBride, because it failed to grapple with potential schooling, noise, sewage and water problems.

McBride said a standing-room-only crowd of 100 people crammed the town hall for the public hearing on the report. Several speakers questioned whether the commission should even consider the report, he said, since the 532-unit townhouse and apartment project is currently halted by a taxpayers' suit.

The report by planning consultants Sedway and Cooke acknowledged the potential adverse impact of school problems. Thedevelopment lies entirely within the Mill Valley School District, which has no school within walking distance, and children wouldn't be entitled to attend neighboring Reed or Larkspur school district schools unless a district boundary change were made.

McBride said commissioners asked for more details on the school problem and how it could be solved.

They also were concerned that no in-depth analysis of vegetation on the site was given. They pointed out that even if the Corte Madera Sanitary District had the capacity to handle sewage from the development, the Ross Valley Sanitary District treatment plant, which treats town sewage, might not — a matter not covered in the report.

McBride said commissioners also asked for details on potential erosion which could silt up the San Clemente Creek.

Several people in the audience asked the commission to reject the report outrught, said McBride, but it was referred back to Sedway and Cooke for more detail, and will come back to the commission later.

Corte Madera Planning Commission Also:

FIFER — Accepted an environmental impact report on the Fifer Special Assessment District, formed to construct a stormwater pumping station on Lucky Drive between Fifer Avenue and Nellen Drive, fill a ponding area and put in underground drainage. The triangular-shaped station site, owned by the Western Real Estate Development Corp., is destined for commercial development, and the owners will pay off the district bonds.

CHURCH — Refused a conditional use application by Amin Quance of 112 Edison Avenue to use his home as a parish house for the Sufi Church after neighbors complained it would create parking problems.

POOL — Granted Inez Young two variances allowing a swimming pool and a six-foot fence in the front garden of a new home at 24 Fairview Avenue She had appealed board of adjustment refusal of the variances.

REZONING — Asked Hageman and Eklund Inc. to withdraw its application to rezone land at the southwest corner of Fifer Avenue and Lucky Drive from industrial to commercial until the town's general play is updated in June.

ABANDON — Recommended the town council abandon a piece of Church Court providing Holy Innocents Episcopal Parish either pays to pave and gutter the rest of the court, or pays $3,000 for the abandoned sliver of land.

OPEN SPACE — Set a public hearing on an interim open space element of the town's general plan for May 14 at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

BART Suffers Damage Losses

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) reported today that freezing weather in December caused $242,000 damage to landscaping at transit stations.

And the district reported that rock-throwing vandals have broken $20,000 worth of windows in trains, and another $12,000 worth of station windows.

The landscaping damage was the heaviest at the Orinda station, BART officials said, but there was damage systemwide. Lost were 760,000 ground cover plants worth $152,000, and trees and shrubs costing $90,000.

STANFORD, Calf. (UPI) — Employment prospects for graduating engineers are bright and getting brighter, and inside of four years there may be a real shortage, according to William M. Kays, dean of Stanford University's School of Engineering.

Loma Alta School Leader Reassigned

The principal of Loma Alta School at Juvenile Hall, under criticism for its educational program, has been reassigned to the Marin County Superintendent of Schools Office.

He was replaced at the school by Sidney Smith, county schools personnel coordinator and overall trouble shooter.

Loma Alta School came under sharp criticism last month from both the Marin County Grand Jury and the County Juvenile Justice Commission.

The grand jury noted some Juvenile Hall inmates are not being allowed to attend classes for security reasons and others offered only limited educational opportunities.

It recommended the position of principal be abolished and two teacher-principals be appointed for the two schools at the hall which operate under one name.

While goals for the educational program call for improving the attitude of students toward school and learning, the committee concluded only that "students are attending school."

Robert Spain, assistant superintendent of schools, said today Worsham requested the reassignment earlier this month because "he realized he was not being effective."

Worsham had been principal at the school for about three and a half years.

Board Sets Session On Complaints

The Cotati-Rohnert Park School District board last night approved preparing plans for a year-round schedule for two schools in the district.

Supt. James H. Davidson said the board directed him to prepare a year-round plan for Waldo Rohnert and John Reed schools in Rohnert Park. If approved, the change could be put into effect this summer.

Davidson said the board agreed the so-called 45-15 Plan, popular with other school districts, would be a better way of coping with the student influx in the district than double sessions or adding portable classrooms. The plan would put students in class for 45 days, or nine weeks, followed by three weeks of vacation. Attendance would be staggered so that only 75 per cent of the students are in school at any one time.

He said John Reed and Waldo Rohnert schools were selected because their compact attendance areas would make scheduling easier.

Davidson said the plan will be presented to the board Tuesday at 8 p.m. He said no surveys of parent opinions had been made, but added parents would be permitted a full hearing on the plan Tuesday.

Marinite Bound Over On Murder

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — San Rafael mechanic Lawrence Charles Brown, 35, yesterday was bound over to San Francisco Superior Court on a charge of murdering a man who tried to crash a party at a San Francisco motorcycle clubhouse.

Brown, whose home is at 3550 Redwood Highway, is being held in city prison without bail. He is to be arraigned in superior court May 15.

Brown is accused of shooting to death 47-year-old Harold Mayfield outside the Rattlers Motorcycle Club on Ellis Street.

Mayfield died a short time after the shooting on April 5.

Brown was arrested by police near the club. Witnesses said he had fired three shots at the victim.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Celebrity confusion! These are famous birthday folks if you know their first names. Do you?

1. FITZGERALD is 55 today. She was born in the same town as Pearl Bailey (Newport News, Va.) and got her start as Chick Webb's vocalist at age 16. Radio audiences discovered her on Decca records in the 1930's, making such hits as "Begin the Beguine" and "I Can't Get Started With You." Her first name is (A) F. Scott, (B) Barrie, (C) Ella.

2. BRENNAN is 67 today. This United States Supreme Court justice was named to the high bench by President Eisenhower in 1956 after a brilliant career as lawyer and judge. A native of Newark, N.J., he took his law degree from Harvard and served with the general staff corps of the Army in World War II, decorated with the Legion of Merit for his service. His first name is (A) Walter, (B) William, (C) Samuel.

3. MURROW was born in 1909. His birthplace: Greensboro, N.C. His parents moved west and he was reared in the state of Washington, attending WSC at Pullman. Probably the most award-honored man in broadcasting, his "This is London" broadcasts during World War II made his name a household word. His first name was (A) Edwin, (B) Edmund, (C) Edward. (It was officially changed from Egbert.) He died in 1965.

4. MARCONI was born 99 years ago. This Italian is credited with perfecting the communication system known as "wireless." In 1895 he succeeded in sending code messages one mile and he formed Marconi's Wireless Telegraph Company two years later. Among his many honors was that of receiving the Nobel Prize for physics in 1909. His first name was (A) Giovanni, (B) Guglielmo, (C) Giuseppe. He died in 1937.

ANSWERS: 1 - Ella Fitzgerald; 2 - William Brennan Jr; 3 - Edward R. Murrow; 4 - Guglielmo Marconi.

Disregard Old Rule For Safety's Sake Or You Will Be Doomed

According to the old rule, you finesse for a queen when you have eight cards of a suit between your own hand and the dummy; but you try to drop the queen with your ace and king when you have nine cards of the suit. That rule did not, however, apply to the hand shown today.

LOOKS AT HAND

West opened the ten of clubs. Declarer won in dummy with the king and considered his material.

Even if he lost a trick to the queen of trumps, he would still make four trump tricks, two hearts and four clubs. The only trouble was that he might lose a trump and three diamonds.

See what happens if South blindly follows the old finessing rule? He leads out the ace and king of trumps, failing to capture East's queen. South then tries to run the clubs. Before South can get rid of a diamond, East ruffs a club and leads the queen of diamonds. This permits the defenders to defeat the contract.

FINESSE NECESSARY

South must realize that he can afford to lose a trump trick, but not to East. Hence he must take a finesse in trumps, just to make sure of keeping East out.

At the second trick, therefore, declarer takes dummy's king of trumps. He continues by leading dummy's ten of spades and allowing it to ride for a finesse. The finesse happens to win, and South then makes his contract with an overtrick.

STILL BE SAFE

Even if the trump finesse happened to lose, however, South would still be safe. West could not attack diamonds without giving South a diamond trick. If West led anything else, South could run the clubs to get rid of a diamond.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you open the bidding with one spade, and partner raises to two spades. It is up to you again, since the opponents continue to pass.

You hold:
♠- A J 8 7 6
♥- A J
♦- K 5 4
♣- Q 5 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Partner's raise is a weak response, and he is most unlikely to have a hand that will provide a reasonable play for game. If you make a further bid, you may get yourself too high.

Audubon Society Seeking Funds

The Marin Audubon Society has announced its annual fund-raising Mother's Day chicken barbecue at the Audubon Canyon Ranch May 13.

The barbecue will be from noon to 3 p.m. and all proceeds will go to the Audubon Canyon Ranch, said Flora E. Maclise, society president.

Further information and reservations may be obtained by contacting the Audubon Society.

ALMANAC

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Wednesday, April 25, the 115th day of 1973 with 250 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

Guglielmo Marconi, Italian inventor of wireless telegraphy, was born April 25, 1874.

On this day in history:

In 1846, the first shots of the Mexican War were fired at La Rosa, Mexico.

In 1901, New York became the first state to require auto owners to have license plates. . . 954 vehicles were registered.

In 1945, delegates of 46 countries gathered in San Francisco to organize a permanent United Nations.

A thought for the day: American poet Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "Every sweet has its sour, every evil its good."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, clean air.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, significant air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

The Madrigal Singers of College of Marin, conducted by Scott G. Merrick, will give free concerts Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the choral hall of the Fine Arts Building.

Bay Panel Plans Suit Over Estuary Oil Spill

HAYWARD (UPI) — The Regional Water Quality Control Board voted Tuesday to sue the Port of Oakland and three firms because of an oil spill in the Oakland Estuary.

Board members instructed their attorney to draw up a suit against the port, Port Petroleum Co., Economy Refining and Service Co., Purity Oil Sales Co., "unknown persons" and Michael D. Marcus, who has an interest in oil firms.

Valves on storage tanks were opened mysteriously Jan. 19 and 125,000 gallons of reclaimed oil spilled.

The board decided the port and the firms shared responsibility for preventing spills.

A $6,000 fine can be assessed for each day the oil polluted the estuary, if guilt is found in court.

The board also recommended that the State Board prevent discharges of waste materials in areas of special biological significance.

They are the Farallon Island game and wildlife refuges, Seal Rocks in San Francisco, the James Fitzgerld Marine Reserve and the waters around the mouths of San Gregorio and Pescadero creeks in San Mateo County, Duxbury Reserve, Double Point, Point Reyes headlands and Bird Rock in Marin County.

Santana Takes Out Marriage License

Rock musician Carlos Santana, 25, and 22-year-old Deborah S. King both of Mill Valley, filed for a marriage license last week, records in Marin County Clerk's Office showed yesterday.

It will be the first marriage for Santana, leader of the Latin rock group bearing his name, and Miss King.

College Musicial Performance Set

The Sonoma State College Madrigal Singers and Chamber Music Workshop will combine for a concert May 4 at 8 p.m. in Ives Hall.

The Chamber Music Workshop, under the direction of Dr. Ellen Amsterdam, will perform renaissance music for recorder, lute and vocalists, as well as 18th and 19th century chamber music.

English and Italian madrigals from the 16th and 17th centuries will be performed by the 11-member Madrigal Singers under the direction of David Sloss.

ALMANAC

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Wednesday, April 25, the 115th day of 1973 with 250 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

Guglielmo Marconi, Italian inventor of wireless telegraphy, was born April 25, 1874.

On this day in history:

In 1846, the first shots of the Mexican War were fired at La Rosa, Mexico.

In 1901, New York became the first state to require auto owners to have license plates. . . 954 vehicles were registered.

In 1945, delegates of 46 countries gathered in San Francisco to organize a permanent United Nations.

A thought for the day: American poet Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "Every sweet has its sour, every evil its good."

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidants, clean air.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, clean air.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, significant air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Madrigal Concerts

The Madrigal Singers of College of Marin, conducted by Scott G. Merrick, will give free concerts Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the choral hall of the Fine Arts Building.

Bay Panel Plans Suit Over Estuary Oil Spill

HAYWARD (UPI) — The Regional Water Quality Control Board voted Tuesday to sue the Port of Oakland and three firms because of an oil spill in the Oakland Estuary.

Board members instructed their attorney to draw up a suit against the port, Port Petroleum Co., Economy Refining and Service Co., Purity Oil Sales Co., "unknown persons" and Michael D. Marcus, who has an interest in oil firms.

Valves on storage tanks were opened mysteriously Jan. 19 and 125,000 gallons of reclaimed oil spilled.

The board decided the port and the firms shared responsibility for preventing spills.

A $6,000 fine can be assessed for each day the oil polluted the estuary, if guilt is found in court.

The board also recommended that the State Board prevent discharges of waste materials in areas of special biological significance.

They are the Farallon Island game and wildlife refuges, Seal Rocks in San Francisco, the James Fitzgerld Marine Reserve and the waters around the mouths of San Gregorio and Pescadero creeks in San Mateo County, Duxbury Reserve, Double Point, Point Reyes headlands and Bird Rock in Marin County.

Santana Takes Out Marriage License

Rock musician Carlos Santana, 25, and 22-year-old Deborah S. King both of Mill Valley, filed for a marriage license last week, records in Marin County Clerk's Office showed yesterday.

It will be the first marriage for Santana, leader of the Latin rock group bearing his name, and Miss King.

College Musicial Performance Set

The Sonoma State College Madrigal Singers and Chamber Music Workshop will combine for a concert May 4 at 8 p.m. in Ives Hall.

The Chamber Music Workshop, under the direction of Dr. Ellen Amsterdam, will perform renaissance music for recorder, lute and vocalists, as well as 18th and 19th century chamber music.

English and Italian madrigals from the 16th and 17th centuries will be performed by the 11-member Madrigal Singers under the direction of David Sloss.

INFORMATION
OPERATION EVERGREEN

Dear Friends of the Outdoors,

This is just to let you know that we will be participating in OPERATION EVERGREEN '73 during Earth Week, in late April. This means we will be giving away three-year-old pine seedlings to residents of this area, Saturday, April 28.

This is an environmental improvement project sponsored by Winnebago dealers nationwide. Nearly a million young trees will be made available in the U.S. and Canada to anyone who will plant and care for them.

As business men, we realize our business depends on travelers' love of outdoors, and that responsible U.S. industries help replenish natural resources. Therefore, local persons are invited to stop by our dealership April 28 and pick up a bundle of seedlings (while they last). No gimmicks, coupons, test drives or anything else involved. We welcome area clubs who want a bundle of pines for group projects.

INFORMATION
OPERATION EVERGREEN

Dear Friends of the Outdoors,

This is just to let you know that we will be participating in OPERATION EVERGREEN '73 during Earth Week, in late April. This means we will be giving away three-year-old pine seedlings to residents of this area, Saturday, April 28.

This is an environmental improvement project sponsored by Winnebago dealers nationwide. Nearly a million young trees will be made available in the U.S. and Canada to anyone who will plant and care for them.

As business men, we realize our business depends on travelers' love of outdoors, and that responsible U.S. industries help replenish natural resources. Therefore, local persons are invited to stop by our dealership April 28 and pick up a bundle of seedlings (while they last). No gimmicks, coupons, test drives or anything else involved. We welcome area clubs who want a bundle of pines for group projects.

ORDINANCE NO. 1100
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING TITLE 11 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL BY ADDING THERETO CHAPTER 11.34 ENTITLED FRONTAGE IMPROVEMENTS AND DEDICATIONS OF STREET RIGHT OF WAY.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1. Title 11 of the Municipal Code of the City of San Rafael is hereby amended by adding thereto Chapter 11.34 which shall read as follows:

Chapter 11.34 Frontage Improvements and Dedications of Street Right of Way.

Sections:
11.34.010 Definitions.
11.34.020 Regulations.
11.34.030 Penalties.

11.34.010 DEFINITIONS. For the purpose of this Ordinance, certain words and phrases used herein are defined as follows:

A. "Public Street" shall mean the full width of the right-of-way of any street, whether or not maintained by any public agency, except streets forming part of the State Highway System, which is:

1. Laid out or constructed as such by the City;

2. Laid out or constructed by others and dedicated or abandoned to or acquired by the City;

3. Made a City street as part of the subdivision of real property pursuant to the conditions of the San Rafael Subdivision Ordinance; or

4. Subject to public use in any other legally recognized manner.

B. "Development" shall mean the following:

1. The construction of any structure either designed or intended for human use or occupancy upon any parcel of land abutting a public street, except minor repair or remodeling of existing single family structures; or

2. The moving of any structure either designed or intended for human occupancy onto any parcel of land abutting a public street; or

3. The modification or reconstruction of any existing surface on any parcel of land abutting a public street, which modification or reconstruction will increase traffic.

Public Notice

C. "Frontage Improvements" shall mean sidewalks, curbs, gutters, pavement, drainage facilities, driveways and utilities designed by an Engineer licensed in the State and constructed in accordance with specifications on file in the office of the City Engineer and approved by his office, the precise location of which shall be in accordance with the Department of Public Works, as applicable to the parcel of land for which such permit is applied.

D. "Extenuating Circumstances" shall mean the application of the improvement requirements, as applied to an individual property, by reason of the exceptional or extraordinary situation or condition of the property or the location thereof, or of the use or development of other property in its immediate vicinity, will involve practical difficulties or would cause undue hardship, unnecessary to carry out the purpose and spirit of this Ordinance.

E. "Pavement" shall mean pavement from the gutter lip to the centerline of the street.

F. "Right-of-Way" shall mean the full width of land, irrespective of the current use, which by deed, conveyance, agreement, easement, dedication, usage or process of law is reserved for or dedicated to the general public for street, highway, alley, public utility, or pedestrian walkway purposes.

11.34. 020 REGULATIONS. No permit for the development of any parcel of land abutting a public street within the City shall be issued until such time as the City Engineer shall have certified any of the following provisions:

A. That if the portion of the street upon which the parcel fronts requires widening or extension to conform to the City's Street Policy, rights of way for such widening and/or extension have been dedicated to the City by the owner of the parcel; and that frontage improvements in accordance with the current City specifications in use by the Department of Public Works and at the location prescribed by the City Engineer, in accordance with the City's Street Policy, have been installed at no cost to the City, or

B. That such frontage improvements will be so installed as a part of the development applied for and prior to occupancy thereof, or

C. That in lieu of such improvements the applicant has deposited with the City the estimated cost thereof, or

D. That the improvement requirement should be waived, or

E. That the improvement requirement should be deferred due to extenuating circumstances. If the City Engineer finds that improvements should be deferred, he shall require as a prerequisite to issuance of the permit that the owner agrees in writing to undertake the construction of the required improvements within ninety (90) days after written notice to begin construction is mailed to the owner at the premises or such other address as he may from time to time furnish the City. Such agreement shall further provide that in the event of the owner's default in commencing and completing the improvements, the City may, at its option, (1) treat the agreement as a petition for installation of improvements under the provisions of Section 5870 and following of the California Streets and Highways Code, or (2) may cause the work to be done and the cost thereof assessed as a lien against the owner's property. Such agreement shall also run with the land and shall be recorded to constitute notice to prospective purchasers or encumbrancers.

11.34 .030 PENALTIES. Any building or structure erected or constructed in violation of this Ordinance shall be and is hereby declared unlawful and a public nuisance and the City Attorney on direction of the City Council shall institute necessary legal proceedings for the abatement, removal or enjoinment thereof in the manner provided by law and shall take such other steps as may be necessary to accomplish these ends. Any person, firm, or corporation or agent or employee thereof, who does any act not in conformance with the requirements of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) or by imprisonment in the County Jail for a term not to exceed six (6) months or by both such fine and imprisonment. Such person, firm, or corporation shall be deemed guilty of a separate offense for each and every day during any portion of which any violation of this section is committed, continued or permitted by such person, firm or corporation and shall be punishable as herein provided.

DIVISION 2. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

DIVISION 3. This ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

ORDINANCE NO. 1100
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING TITLE 11 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL BY ADDING THERETO CHAPTER 11.34 ENTITLED FRONTAGE IMPROVEMENTS AND DEDICATIONS OF STREET RIGHT OF WAY.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1. Title 11 of the Municipal Code of the City of San Rafael is hereby amended by adding thereto Chapter 11.34 which shall read as follows:

Chapter 11.34 Frontage Improvements and Dedications of Street Right of Way.

Sections:
11.34.010 Definitions.
11.34.020 Regulations.
11.34.030 Penalties.

11.34.010 DEFINITIONS. For the purpose of this Ordinance, certain words and phrases used herein are defined as follows:

A. "Public Street" shall mean the full width of the right-of-way of any street, whether or not maintained by any public agency, except streets forming part of the State Highway System, which is:

1. Laid out or constructed as such by the City;
2. Laid out or constructed by others and dedicated or abandoned to or acquired by the City;
3. Made a City street as part of the subdivision of real property pursuant to the conditions of the San Rafael Subdivision Ordinance; or
4. Subject to public use in any other legally recognized manner.

B. "Development" shall mean the following:

1. The construction of any structure either designed or intended for human use or occupancy upon any parcel of land abutting a public street, except minor repair or remodeling of existing single family structures; or
2. The moving of any structure either designed or intended for human occupancy onto any parcel of land abutting a public street; or
3. The modification or reconstruction of any existing surface on any parcel of land abutting a public street, which modification or reconstruction will increase traffic.

C. "Frontage Improvements" shall mean sidewalks, curbs, gutters, pavement, drainage facilities, driveways and utilities designed by an Engineer licensed in the State and constructed in accordance with specifications on file in the office of the City Engineer and approved by his office, the precise location of which shall be in accordance with the Department of Public Works, as applicable to the parcel of land for which such permit is applied.

D. "Extenuating Circumstances" shall mean the application of the improvement requirements, as applied to an individual property, by reason of the exceptional or extraordinary situation or condition of the property or the location thereof, or of the use or development of other property in its immediate vicinity, will involve practical difficulties or would cause undue hardship, unnecessary to carry out the purpose and spirit of this Ordinance,

E. "Pavement" shall mean pavement from the gutter lip to the centerline of the street.

F. "Right-of-Way" shall mean the full width of land, irrespective of the current use, which by deed, conveyance, agreement, easement, dedication, usage or process of law is reserved for or dedicated to the general public for street, highway, alley, public utility, or pedestrian walkway purposes.

11.34. 020 REGULATIONS. No permit for the development of any parcel of land abutting a public street within the City shall be issued until such time as the City Engineer shall have certified any of the following provisions:

A. That if the portion of the street upon which the parcel fronts requires widening or extension to conform to the City's Street Policy, rights of way for such widening and/or extension have been dedicated to the City by the owner of the parcel; and that frontage improvements in accordance with the current City specifications in use by the Department of Public Works and at the location prescribed by the City Engineer, in accordance with the City's Street Policy, have been installed at no cost to the City, or

B. That such frontage improvements will be so installed as a part of the development applied for and prior to occupancy thereof, or

C. That in lieu of such improvements the applicant has deposited with the City the estimated cost thereof, or

D. That the improvement requirement should be waived, or

E. That the improvement requirement should be deferred due to extenuating circumstances. If the City Engineer finds that improvements should be deferred, he shall require as a prerequisite to issuance of the permit that the owner agrees in writing to undertake the construction of the required improvements within ninety (90) days after written notice to begin construction is mailed to the owner at the premises or such other address as he may from time to time furnish the City. Such agreement shall further provide that in the event of the owner's default in commencing and completing the improvements, the City may, at its option, (1) treat the agreement as a petition for installation of improvements under the provisions of Section 5870 and following of the California Streets and Highways Code, or (2) may cause the work to be done and the cost thereof assessed as a lien against the owner's property. Such agreement shall also run with the land and shall be recorded to constitute notice to prospective purchasers or encumbrancers.

11.34 .030 PENALTIES. Any building or structure erected or constructed in violation of this Ordinance shall be and is hereby declared unlawful and a public nuisance and the City Attorney on direction of the City Council shall institute necessary legal proceedings for the abatement, removal or enjoinment thereof in the manner provided by law and shall take such other steps as may be necessary to accomplish these ends. Any person, firm, or corporation or agent or employee thereof, who does any act not in conformance with the requirements of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) or by imprisonment in the County Jail for a term not to exceed six (6) months or by both such fine and imprisonment. Such person, firm, or corporation shall be deemed guilty of a separate offense for each and every day during any portion of which any violation of this section is committed, continued or permitted by such person, firm or corporation and shall be punishable as herein provided.

DIVISION 2. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

DIVISION 3. This ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

/s/ C. PAUL BETTINI,
Mayor
ATTEST:
/s/ MARION A. GRADY,
City Clerk

The above and foregoing Ordinance No. 1100 was read and introduced at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of San Rafael, held on Monday, the 16th day of April, 1973, and was ordered passed to print by the following vote, to-wit:

AYES: COUNCILMEN: Jensen, Miskimen, Mulryan and Mayor Bettini

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Headaches In Children That Come And Go Seldom Serious

Headaches in children that tend to come and go usually are not serious. The type is often recognized from the story the child and parent tell the physician. Accurate diagnosis is important, because best results are obtained when the cause is known. As an example, the tension headache stems from contractions of the scalp muscles and, as the name implies, follows a period of stress. It is most commonly seen in school-age children and adolescents.

It is not easily described, except as an aching bandlike pain all over the head. When asked where it hurts most, the child usually points to the space between the eyebrows. Pain is not throbbing or pounding. The headaches often develop during school examinations or when family problems exist.

THESE CHILDREN (and parents) may need counseling to establish more regular living habits, including more sleep and recreation and less TV. Many of these children are overly conscientious and under academic pressures because the teacher or parents have set unrealistic goals.

Relief is obtained with aspirin, along with heat and massage of the neck. We mention the neck, because tension headaches often stem from sustained contractions of the neck and shoulder muscles.

Recurrences are less likely to occur when the boy or girl lives in a relaxed atmosphere. If there is no improvement, an emotional disorder such as depression or severe anxiety may be at fault.

MIGRAINE HEADACHES are vascular in origin and easily confused with those brought on by tension. They are usually, but not always, one-sided and are throbbing or pounding. The episode may be preceded by an aura, such as spots before the eyes or numbness of one extremity. Nausea and vomiting may ensue. The child prefers to go to bed in a darkened room, and falls asleep after the pain subsides. Cafergot is a standard remedy. Repeat attacks are avoided with anticonvulsant medications or methysergide.

Headache in children may also be a sign of serious neurologic disease. This is a possibility when the distress persists or progresses. X-rays, radioactive brain scans, and consultation with a neurologist may be needed.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

N. K. writes: Can a person have a hernia three times in the same place?

REPLY

Yes, especially when the tissues have been overstretched for many years and, like old cloth, are not strong enough to support the abdominal wall following surgery. If another operation is needed, the surgeon may use a nonirritating vitallium or steel mesh to reinforce the area being repaired. Our leaflet on hernias can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

BLOOD SUGAR

Mr. G. writes: Two years ago when my blood sugar level was 178, I was told I had a mild case of diabetes. Now my blood sugar is normal. Does this mean I have been cured?

REPLY

No, and if you are cured the original diagnosis can be questioned. A blood sugar level of 178 often is associated with diabetes, but the test should be repeated and correlated with the urinalysis before diagnosis is made. A glucose tolerance test will answer this question.

Oud Player Sets Marin Concert

Hamza El-Din, the master oud player and singer from Nubia, will appear at the College of Marin's Olney Hall Friday at 8 p.m.

The oud is a wooden bellied fretless stringed instrument, the Arabic ancestor of the lute and mandolin.

Hamza is known as a master musician and has recorded many songs, given concerts worldwide and is a consultant and lecturer on music.

Born in the Sudan, he studied in Cairo and Rome, speaks Nubian, Arabic, Italian and English, and has been visiting associate professors of music at several American universities.

His appearance will be sponsored by the Associated Students.

Spaghetti Feed In San Anselmo

A spaghetti dinner benefiting the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce creekside parking lot fund will be held at 7:30 p.m. May 19 in the American Legion Log Cabin on Sonoma Avenue, chamber director Jean Roberts said today.

The event, billed as a "Night in 'lil' Italy," will feature music by Angelo Ferrigno's Band, a San Francisco group, she said.

Tickets to the affair are available at the chamber office in the Crocker Bank, she added.

May 6 Dog Show To Be Unbenched

The Redwood Empire Kennel Club dog show May 6 at the Sonoma-Marin Fairgrounds, Petaluma, will be an unbenched show and not a benched show as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

More than 2,000 dogs representing 118 breeds will be on display beginning at 8 a.m.

Budget Review Set By Board

The San Anselmo School District board will continue review of a proposed budget of $2,060,662 for 1973-74 when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Red Hill School library.

The proposed spending program, down $8,295 from this year's $2,068,957 budget, does not include wage increases for employees.

The board also will hear a maintenance needs report and convene in closed session to review salary proposals from the San Anselmo Teachers Association.

Black Selected As Fire Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Burton W. Johnson, a 30-year veteran of the Washington fire department, was named Monday as the first black fire chief in the history of the nation's capital.

Johnson, 55, and a native of Philadelphia, was the unanimous recommendation to Mayor Walter E. Washington from a five-member selection committee headed by police chief Jerry V. Wilson.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that there will be a public auction of bicycles and miscellaneous property at 9:00 A.M., Saturday, April 28, 1973, at the City of San Anselmo Police Department, San Anselmo, California, as provided for in Municipal Code, Chapter 5, Section 3-5.1007

RAYMOND R. BUCHIGNANI
Chief of Police
City of San Anselmo

No. 653 Apr. 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 1973

ORDINANCE NO. 1099
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING TITLE 11 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL BY ADDING THERETO CHAPTER 11.32, ENTITLED SITE DEVELOPMENT STANDARDS.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1. Title 11 of the Municipal Code of the City of San Rafael shall be amended by adding thereto Chapter 11.32 which shall read as follows:

Chapter 11.32 Site Development Standards.

Section 11.32.010

All development of private property shall conform to the Uniform Building Code as adopted by the City of San Rafael and in particular Chapter 70 thereof. The terms "excavation and grading" shall also mean site development requirements for private property. The City Engineer is hereby authorized to develop and prepare administrative rules, regulations and standards as needed, which shall be adopted by Resolution of the City Council after a noticed Public Hearing.

Section 11.32.020

A Boundary Survey accomplished by a land surveyor or Civil Engineer licensed by the State of California shall be completed for all parcels and sites being developed. This requirement may be waived at the discretion of the City Engineer. "Boundary Survey" shall mean the establishment of the property corners by setting thereon a minimum 2″ by 2″ redwood hub and tag with the Engineer's or Surveyor's License Number stamped thereon. This survey shall then be tied to a control point located within the public right-of-way.

DIVISION 2. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

DIVISION 3. This ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

CITY OF FAIRFAX, STATE OF CALIFORNIA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City of Fairfax will receive sealed bids at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Fairfax, California, on or before 10:00 a.m. on the 4th day of May, 1973 for the furnishing of all labor, materials, and services required for the 1973 STREET RESURFACING PROJECT.

Each bid shall be made in accordance with the plans, specifications, and contract documents prepared therefor, now on file at the office of Ben C. Albritton, City Engineer, 35 Mitchell Blvd., San Rafael, where they may be examined and copies thereof be obtained upon deposit of $10.00 per set, which deposit will not be refunded. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished by the City Engineer, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check, currency or bid bond, equal to ten per cent of the aggregate amount of the bids, which amount shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract, if awarded him, and will file the contract bonds required within fifteen days after notice that his bid has been accepted.

The City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any irregularity in any bid received.

Bidders are notified that, pursuant to law, the City Council has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages and rates in the locality in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, and the prevailing rate so determined is on file at the office of the City Clerk and incorporated by reference herein. It shall be mandatory that all persons employed in the execution of the contract be paid not less than said specific wages and rates, and that existing labor agreements, relative to overtime, holidays, and other special provision, be recognized.

Bids received by the City Clerk will be opened and read publicly at the time, date and place above specified, and will thereafter be tabulated and submitted to the City Council for consideration.

No. 632 April 18, 25, May 2, 1973

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS FIFER ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

Pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913 and the resolution directing this notice adopted on March 19, 1973 by the Town Council of the Town of Corte Madera, said Council invites sealed proposals or bids for the construction of storm water drainage facilities and all appurtenances, storm water pumping station with pumps, inlet and outlet structures, outfall storm water pressure line and appurtenances as more particularly described in Resolution of Intention No. 1418 adopted by said Council on August 21, 1972, which resolutions are on file in the office of the Town Clerk and to which reference is hereby expressly made for a more particular description of the work to be done.

All of said work is to be done at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes and dimensions and of the materials, and to the lines and grades and at the elevations as shown and delineated upon the plans, profiles and specifications made therefor and preliminarily approved by said Council on March 19, 1973.

Payments will be made in cash by said Town to the contractor in accordance with the provisions of the specifications and on itemized estimates duly certified and approved by the Engineer of Work submitted in accordance therewith, based on labor and materials incorporated into said work during the preceding month by the contractor. However, notice is given that a period of 30 days is given to the property owners in which to pay their assessments, and if cash collections are insufficient to meet such monthly estimates, there will be a delay in making such payments until money is received from the sale of bonds issued upon the unpaid assessments.

Notice is hereby given that on March 19, 1973, the Council adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages to be paid to the various craftsmen and laborers required to construct said improvements, a copy of which wage scale is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and also contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, to which reference is hereby made for further particulars.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by cash, cashier's or certified check payable to the order of the Town Clerk, amounting to ten per cent (10%) of the bid, or by a bond in said amount and payable to said Clerk signed by the bidder and a corporate surety, or by the bidder and two sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions. The amount so posted shall be forfeited to said Town in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within 15 days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the town.

Contractor shall furnish to Town a faithful performance bond and labor and material bond as required in said specifications.

Said sealed proposals shall be delivered to the Town Clerk of said Town on or before 2:00 o'clock P.M. of the 2nd day of May, 1973, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, said time being at least fourteen days from the time of first publication and posting of this notice. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said day and hour, and referred to and considered by the Council at its meeting at 7:30 o'clock P.M. on May 7, 1973

A copy of the plans and specifications may be obtained from the Engineering Department of the Town of Corte Madera, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, 94925, upon deposit therefor of $10.00, which will not be refunded.

Dated: March 19, 1973.

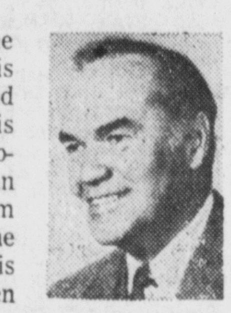
HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Headaches In Children That Come And Go Seldom Serious



Headaches in children that tend to come and go usually are not serious. The type is often recognized from the story the child and parent tell the physician. Accurate diagnosis is important, because best results are obtained when the cause is known. As an example, the tension headache stems from contractions of the scalp muscles and, as the name implies, follows a period of stress. It is most commonly seen in school-age children and adolescents.

It is not easily described, except as an aching bandlike pain all over the head. When asked where it hurts most, the child usually points to the space between the eyebrows. Pain is not throbbing or pounding. The headaches often develop during school examinations or when family problems exist.

THESE CHILDREN (and parents) may need counseling to establish more regular living habits, including more sleep and recreation and less TV. Many of these children are overly conscientious and under academic pressures because the teacher or parents have set unrealistic goals.

Relief is obtained with aspirin, along with heat and massage of the neck. We mention the neck, because tension headaches often stem from sustained contractions of the neck and shoulder muscles.

Recurrences are less likely to occur when the boy or girl lives in a relaxed atmosphere. If there is no improvement, an emotional disorder such as depression or severe anxiety may be at fault.

MIGRAINE HEADACHES are vascular in origin and easily confused with those brought on by tension. They are usually, but not always, one-sided and are throbbing or pounding. The episode may be preceded by an aura, such as spots before the eyes or numbness of one extremity. Nausea and vomiting may ensue. The child prefers to go to bed in a darkened room, and falls asleep after the pain subsides. Cafergot is a standard remedy. Repeat attacks are avoided with anticonvulsant medications or methysergide.

Headache in children may also be a sign of serious neurologic disease. This is a possibility when the distress persists or progresses. X-rays, radioactive brain scans, and consultation with a neurologist may be needed.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

THREE HERNIAS

N. K. writes: Can a person have a hernia three times in the same place?

REPLY

Yes, especially when the tissues have been overstretched for many years and, like old cloth, are not strong enough to support the abdominal wall following surgery. If another operation is needed, the surgeon may use a nonirritating vitallium or steel mesh to reinforce the area being repaired. Our leaflet on hernias can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

BLOOD SUGAR

Mr. G. writes: Two years ago when my blood sugar level was 178, I was told I had a mild case of diabetes. Now my blood sugar is normal. Does this mean I have been cured?

REPLY

No, and if you are cured the original diagnosis can be questioned. A blood sugar level of 178 often is associated with diabetes, but the test should be repeated and correlated with the urinalysis before diagnosis is made. A glucose tolerance test will answer this question.

Budget Review Set By Board

The San Anselmo School District board will continue review of a proposed budget of $2,060,662 for 1973-74 when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Red Hill School library.

The proposed spending program, down $8,295 from this year's $2,068,957 budget, does not include wage increases for employees.

The board also will hear a maintenance needs report and convene in closed session to review salary proposals from the San Anselmo Teachers Association.

Black Selected As Fire Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Burton W. Johnson, a 30-year veteran of the Washington fire department, was named Monday as the first black fire chief in the history of the nation's capital.

Johnson, 55, and a native of Philadelphia, was the unanimous recommendation to Mayor Walter E. Washington from a five-member selection committee headed by police chief Jerry V. Wilson.

Oud Player Sets Marin Concert

Hamza El-Din, the master oud player and singer from Nubia, will appear at the College of Marin's Olney Hall Friday at 8 p.m.

The oud is a wooden bellied fretless stringed instrument, the Arabic ancestor of the lute and mandolin.

Hamza is known as a master musician and has recorded many songs, given concerts worldwide and is a consultant and lecturer on music.

Born in the Sudan, he studied in Cairo and Rome, speaks Nubian, Arabic, Italian and English, and has been visiting associate professors of music at several American universities.

His appearance will be sponsored by the Associated Students.

Spaghetti Feed In San Anselmo

A spaghetti dinner benefiting the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce creekside parking lot fund will be held at 7:30 p.m. May 19 in the American Legion Log Cabin on Sonoma Avenue, chamber director Jean Roberts said today.

The event, billed as a "Night in 'lil' Italy," will feature music by Angelo Ferrigno's Band, a San Francisco group, she said.

Tickets to the affair are available at the chamber office in the Crocker Bank, she added.

May 6 Dog Show To Be Unbenched

The Redwood Empire Kennel Club dog show May 6 at the Sonoma-Marin Fairgrounds, Petaluma, will be an unbenched show and not a benched show as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

More than 2,000 dogs representing 118 breeds will be on display beginning at 8 a.m.

No. 653 Apr. 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 1973

ORDINANCE NO. 1099
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL AMENDING TITLE 11 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL BY ADDING THERETO CHAPTER 11.32, ENTITLED SITE DEVELOPMENT STANDARDS.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

DIVISION 1. Title 11 of the Municipal Code of the City of San Rafael shall be amended by adding thereto Chapter 11.32 which shall read as follows:

Chapter 11.32 Site Development Standards.

Section 11.32.010

All development of private property shall conform to the Uniform Building Code as adopted by the City of San Rafael and in particular Chapter 70 thereof. The terms "excavation and grading" shall also mean site development requirements for private property. The City Engineer is hereby authorized to develop and prepare administrative rules, regulations and standards as needed, which shall be adopted by Resolution of the City Council after a noticed Public Hearing.

Section 11.32.020

A Boundary Survey accomplished by a land surveyor or Civil Engineer licensed by the State of California shall be completed for all parcels and sites being developed. This requirement may be waived at the discretion of the City Engineer. "Boundary Survey" shall mean the establishment of the property corners by setting thereon a minimum 2" by 2" redwood hub and tag with the Engineer's or Surveyor's License Number stamped thereon. This survey shall then be tied to a control point located within the public right-of-way.

DIVISION 2. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Ordinance. The Council hereby declares that it would have adopted the Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

DIVISION 3. This ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage, in the Independent Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in the City of San Rafael, and shall be in full force and effect thirty (30) days after its final passage.

/s/ C. PAUL BETTINI,
Mayor

ATTEST:
/s/ MARION A. GRADY,

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

CITY OF FAIRFAX, STATE OF CALIFORNIA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City of Fairfax will receive sealed bids at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Fairfax, California, on or before 10:00 a.m. on the 4th day of May, 1973 for the furnishing of all labor, materials, and services required for the 1973 STREET RESURFACING PROJECT.

Each bid shall be made in accordance with the plans, specifications, and contract documents prepared therefor, now on file at the office of Ben C. Albritton, City Engineer, 35 Mitchell Blvd., San Rafael, where they may be examined and copies thereof be obtained upon deposit of $10.00 per set, which deposit will not be refunded. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished by the City Engineer, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check, currency or bid bond, equal to ten per cent of the aggregate amount of the bids, which amount shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract, if awarded him, and will file the contract bonds required within fifteen days after notice that his bid has been accepted.

The City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any irregularity in any bid received.

Bidders are notified that, pursuant to law, the City Council has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages and rates in the locality in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, and the prevailing rate so determined is on file at the office of the City Clerk and incorporated by reference herein. It shall be mandatory that all persons employed in the execution of the contract be paid not less than said specific wages and rates, and that existing labor agreements, relative to overtime, holidays, and other special provision, be recognized.

Bids received by the City Clerk will be opened and read publicly at the time, date and place above specified, and will thereafter be tabulated and submitted to the City Council for consideration.

No. 632 April 18, 25, May 2, 1973

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS
FIFER ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

Pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913 and the resolution directing this notice adopted on March 19, 1973 by the Town Council of the Town of Corte Madera, said Council invites sealed proposals or bids for the construction of storm water drainage facilities and all appurtenances, storm water pumping station with pumps, inlet and outlet structures, outfall storm water pressure line and appurtenances as more particularly described in Resolution of Intention No. 1418 adopted by said Council on August 21, 1972, which resolutions are on file in the office of the Town Clerk and to which reference is hereby expressly made for a more particular description of the work to be done.

All of said work is to be done at the places and in the particular locations, of the forms, sizes and dimensions and of the materials, and to the lines and grades and at the elevations as shown and delineated upon the plans, profiles and specifications made therefor and preliminarily approved by said Council on March 19, 1973.

Payments will be made in cash by said Town to the contractor in accordance with the provisions of the specifications and on itemized estimates duly certified and approved by the Engineer of Work submitted in accordance therewith, based on labor and materials incorporated into said work during the preceding month by the contractor. However, notice is given that a period of 30 days is given to the property owners in which to pay their assessments, and if cash collections are insufficient to meet such monthly estimates, there will be a delay in making such payments until money is received from the sale of bonds issued upon the unpaid assessments.

Notice is hereby given that on March 19, 1973, the Council adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages to be paid to the various craftsmen and laborers required to construct said improvements, a copy of which wage scale is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and also contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, to which reference is hereby made for further particulars.

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by cash, cashier's or certified check payable to the order of the Town Clerk, amounting to ten per cent (10%) of the bid, or by a bond in said amount and payable to said Clerk signed by the bidder and a corporate surety, or by the bidder and two sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount and over and above all statutory exemptions. The amount so posted shall be forfeited to said Town in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within 15 days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him, enter into a contract with the town.

Contractor shall furnish to Town a faithful performance bond and labor and material bond as required in said specifications.

Said sealed proposals shall be delivered to the Town Clerk of said Town on or before 2:00 o'clock P.M. of the 2nd day of May, 1973, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, said time being at least fourteen days from the time of first publication and posting of this notice. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said day and hour, and referred to and considered by the Council at its meeting at 7:30 o'clock P.M. on May 7, 1973

A copy of the plans and specifications may be obtained from the Engineering Department of the Town of Corte Madera, Town Hall, Corte Madera, California, 94925, upon deposit therefor of $10.00, which will not be refunded.

Dated: March 19, 1973.

BETTY BEHEL
Town Clerk of the TOWN OF CORTE MADERA

Burglary Case Hearing Set

A preliminary hearing for a 27-year-old San Francisco man, charged with two residential burglaries in Sausalito, has been set for May 1 in Marin Municipal Court.

The man, Paul Julian Bolton, also known as Joseph Charles Kauth, was said by Sausalito police to be wearing clothing and jewelry resembling items taken from two homes Feb. 22 when a car containing him and his roommate, Donald Edward Burns, also 27, was stopped by officers March 5.

Burns is awaiting trial in superior court, but Bolton's appearance was delayed by probation hearings in Contra Costa County. Bolton denied the burglary charges.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Unusual on television tonight:

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 5 p.m. — The New York Knickerbockers meet the Boston Celtics in a National Basketball Association play-off game.

KTVU (2), 8 p.m. — The San Francisco Warriors and the Los Angeles Lakers continue their NBA play-off series.

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 8 p.m. — "The Forbidden Desert of the Danakil" is a one-hour special documenting the 1934 exploration of Wilfred Thesiger. David Niven narrates.

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 8:30 p.m. — Israeli star Topol, Claire Bloom, Melvyn Douglas and Brandon Cruz appear in "The Going Up of David Lev," an original drama special filmed entirely on location in Israel, including Tel Aviv, Jerusalem and the Na'an kibbutz.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 10:30 p.m. — "Watergate" is the subject of an half-hour ABC news special.

CHANNEL CHUCKLES

Drinking Not A Good Thing

When Walter Edward Walsh, 43, of San Rafael staggered into judge David R. Baty's court for trial, the judge promptly sent him off to Marin County Jail for three days for contempt of court.

To ensure a more sober defendant, Baty reset the trial for tomorrow. Walsh, who has two prior drunken driving convictions, faced the most recent charge after San Rafael police arrested him Jan. 26 on Fifth Avenue.

Harberson Coffee

A coffee for Petaluma City Council candidate James Harberson will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Zurth, 609 D Street, Petaluma.

School Closing Plans Are Due For More Study

The San Rafael Board of Education will review plans for closing of West End School when it meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the district office.

The closing, together with proposed shutdown of a school in the Lucas Valley area, has been viewed by the district administration as necessary due to sagging enrollment.

Some residents have loudly opposed the closing of small neighborhood schools, saying they will result in the busing of children and in costly reestablishment of facilities should they be needed in the future, among other reasons.

The school board will also discuss a "slip session" proposed for San Pedro kindergarten classes and convene in closed session to hear charges lodged against a teacher.

Rent Rollback Stay Ordered

OAKLAND (UPI) — Alameda County Superior Court Judge Robert L. Bostick has ordered a stay on scheduled rent rollbacks in Berkeley.

The rollbacks had been ordered to the level of August, 1971, by a rent control board set up by the city council after voter approval of a charter amendment for that purchase last year.

Attorney for the landlords, JoAnn Mann, Monday filed the petition protesting the scheduled rollback and citing the fact the court still had under submission a constitutional challenge to the city charter amendment. Judge Bostick set a hearing for Thursday on the petition.

Burglary Case Hearing Set

A preliminary hearing for a 27-year-old San Francisco man, charged with two residential burglaries in Sausalito, has been set for May 1 in Marin Municipal Court.

The man, Paul Julian Bolton, also known as Joseph Charles Kauth, was said by Sausalito police to be wearing clothing and jewelry resembling items taken from two homes Feb. 22 when a car containing him and his roommate, Donald Edward Burns, also 27, was stopped by officers March 5.

Burns is awaiting trial in superior court, but Bolton's appearance was delayed by probation hearings in Contra Costa County. Bolton denied the burglary charges.

Drinking Not A Good Thing

When Walter Edward Walsh, 43, of San Rafael staggered into judge David R. Baty's court for trial, the judge promptly sent him off to Marin County Jail for three days for contempt of court.

To ensure a more sober defendant, Baty reset the trial for tomorrow. Walsh, who has two prior drunken driving convictions, faced the most recent charge after San Rafael police arrested him Jan. 26 on Fifth Avenue.

Harberson Coffee

A coffee for Petaluma City Council candidate James Harberson will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Zurth, 609 D Street, Petaluma.

School Closing Plans Are Due For More Study

The San Rafael Board of Education will review plans for closing of West End School when it meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the district office.

The closing, together with proposed shutdown of a school in the Lucas Valley area, has been viewed by the district administration as necessary due to sagging enrollment.

Some residents have loudly opposed the closing of small neighborhood schools, saying they will result in the busing of children and in costly reestablishment of facilities should they be needed in the future, among other reasons.

The school board will also discuss a "slip session" proposed for San Pedro kindergarten classes and convene in closed session to hear charges lodged against a teacher.

Rent Rollback Stay Ordered

The rollbacks had been ordered to the level of August, 1971, by a rent control board set up by the city council after voter approval of a charter amendment for that purchase last year.

Attorney for the landlords, JoAnn Mann, Monday filed the petition protesting the scheduled rollback and citing the fact the court still had under submission a constitutional challenge to the city charter amendment. Judge Bostick set a hearing for Thursday on the petition.

Airlines Told: Chart Fuel Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Major airlines have been told by government officials to map "a plan of action" to meet any possible fuel shortages.

Chairman Robert Timm of the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) told the Aero Club of Washington Tuesday that some airlines suffered fuel shortages last summer and that if "such shortages arise again we must be prepared to deal with them."

"I am beginning to mail letters to those airlines which provide the most flights and carry the most passengers out of the top 22 airports" in the nation, Timm said.

He said the airlines were told to prepare a plan of action "in the event a fuel shortage develops" at any of the airports.

Timm identified the airports as those at Atlanta, New Orleans, Houston, Boston, Miami, New York, Newark, Washington, D.C., Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Dallas, Detroit, Kansas City, St. Louis, Las Vegas, Minneapolis, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Timm also indicated his support for cutbacks in competing airline flights as a means of conserving fuel.

Sun Oil To Begin Dealer Rationing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Sun Oil Co. announced Tuesday that it will immediately begin rationing gasoline supplies for dealers, distributors and commercial customers.

Sun, the nation's 10th largest oil company, said a shortage of crude oil forced it to put a "gasoline allocation system" into effect.

"The raw material shortage and increased demand for gasoline have intensified the bidding for crude," the company said. "We're unable to get all we need to run our five refineries at full capacity."

Sun said that "essential use" customers would be exempt from the allocation system.

While the company promised it would be "fair and reasonable in its allocation of available resources," it said it "cannot seek expansion in its channels of distribution."

Robert G. Dunlop, the company's board chairman, reported that Sun's net income of $49.1 million for the first quarter of 1973 was up 42 per cent from last year.

Dunlop said earnings for the remaining quarters could be affected by the shortage of crude oil.

Independent Wholesaler Call Cutbacks Disaster

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The president of an independent gasoline company told a federal court Tuesday cutbacks by Phillips Petroleum Co. would put his firm out of business.

Earl Gehman, president of North Penn Oil and Tire Co., Perkasie, Pa., asked U.S. District Court Judge Raymond J. Broderick to continue an injunction preventing Phillips from terminating its supply contract with his company.

Gehman said his firm supplies more than a score of gasoline stations in nearby Bucks and Montgomery counties. He said his workers and those employed by the service stations would lose their jobs.

"I'll be out of business within 48 hours," the independent wholesaler told the court.

Phillips, of Bartlesville, Okla., the nation's ninth largest oil company, notified North Penn nine months ago it would terminate the supply contract because of a decision to withdraw from the Northeast market.

North Penn's attorney, Lawrence Grim Jr., said no major oil company was willing to supply Gehman's small firm.

Grim charged the major companies conspired to eliminate small dealers and divide territories among themselves.

Smoking Women On The Increase

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Former U.S. Surgeon General Luther Terry, the official who labeled cigarettes as dangerous to health, predicted Monday that women smokers will soon outnumber men with the habit.

Dr. Terry said men giving up the smoking habit outnumber women by 3 to 1 with women more likely to backslide, possibly, he said because they tend to gain weight after quitting.

He predicted at a news conference the smoking population would be predominantly female within five years.

Painting Exhibit

An exhibit of Tibetan drawings and paintings by Jay Kolb, Greenbrae artist, will be shown until May 1 at Wells Fargo Bank in Greenbrae.

Smoke Test Of Sewer Lines Slated

The Novato Sanitary District will start a program next month of smoke testing sewer lines to detect infiltration of outside waters, according to Dist. Mgr. Charles A. Joseph.

A trial period of testing will start in the 1,000-home Loma Verde-Marin Country Club area either next week or the week of May 7, Joseph said.

District directors Monday night approved the infiltration study, slated to extend throughout Novato from June through September.

Directors approved an additional treatment plant operator position with a salary range of $709 to $862 a month. Joseph said a maintenance man will be promoted, and then the maintenance post filled by recruiting.

The board also approved annexation of 5.3 acres on the south side of Vineyard Road, west of Wild Horse Valey Drive, and rescheduled its May 28 meeting to May 30 because of the Memorial Day holiday.

New Clean Air Plan Is Revealed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Air Resources Board has issued its updated plan for achieving national air quality standards in the San Francisco Bay Area, San Diego, Sacramento Valley and San Joaquin Valley air basins.

Revisions in the state's general plan, released last year, were made after the federal Environmental Protection Agency said the plan did not provide for achievement of certain government standards by 1977 as required.

The revisions were released Tuesday in preparation for public hearings in each of the basins. They include controls on agricultural burning, petroleum distribution and marketing, and organic solvent users.

A task force, the plan said, has offered two options —one calling for random idle roadside inspection "at a rate of about 20 per cent annually of the vehicles subject to emission inspection" and the other calling for 100 per cent annual inspection of engine idling.

The public hearings will be held May 18 in Fresno, May 21 in San Francisco, May 23 in San Diego and May 25 in Sacramento.

Stanford Professor Renews IQ Findings

Shockley, who has been rebuffed repeatedly in efforts to persuade the National Academy of Sciences to authorize further research on the thesis, said additional studies of his own substantiated the argument that the IQ of the Negro improves proportionally with the infusion of Caucasian blood.

Shockley said his own conclusion drawn from a 1964 study of 586 Jamaican children of varying black-Caucasian ancestry was that "intelligence increases with lighter color —in complete disagreement with" the analysis of some other scientists.

"The striking result, determined during the present research, but not noted by the previous authors," Shockley said in a statement to the academy's annual meeting, "is that ... the light colored groups outperformed the mixed and the mixed outperformed the dark."

He said there was "highly significant evidence for association of higher IQ with higher Caucasian ancestry."

Shockley said his new research "adds significance to the estimate that for low IQ populations each 1 per cent of Caucasian ancestry raises average IQ by one IQ point."

He added:

"If it should be found that Negroes having more Caucasian ancestry did not have higher IQs, then my own reactions would be mixed: scientifically, I would be distressed that my own reasoning had not been substantiated but this distress would be balanced by the hope that a new and relevant truth might contribute to social progress — for example, by adding scientific argument to overcome prejudice."

Colt Endorsed For Plan Seat

The Marinwood Association Monday night unanimously endorsed Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board member Calvin B. Colt for the county planning commission seat vacated by San Rafael Councilman-elect Jack G. Nixon.

Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, who will appoint Nixon's successor, has said that Colt is one of nine citizens he is considering for appointment to the post.

The association next meets at 8 p.m. May 21 in the community center.

Ex-Review Editor Wins Long Battle

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Editor Norman Cousins lost the battle, but won the war at Saturday Review.

The owners of Saturday Review suspended publication Tuesday, filed for reorganization under the Bankruptcy Act and announced a merger with Cousins' World Magazine with the veteran editor in charge.

Cousins, who had been editor of the weekly Review since 1940, quit 17 months ago in a dispute with its new owners, Nicholas J. Charney and John J. Veronis. He started the biweekly World last July.

Charney and Veronis filed for reorganization listing current assets of $1.9 million and current debts of $3.5 million with future liabilities running as high as $12 million.

Staff members said the high cost of promoting Saturday Review's new format caused the collapse.

Charney and Veronis, who achieved publishing success with Psychology Today, converted the Review into four slick monthly magazines devoted on different weeks to the arts, science, society and education.

DIETS? I'VE TRIED THEM ALL.

1. I lost weight so slowly, I got discouraged & quit.
2. I had weird cravings. I would have killed for a hot Fudge Sundae!
3. One slip and my will power disappeared. The result? An eating orgy until I gained back everything I lost.
4. Ten days on a diet, and I became too cranky and irritable to live with.
5. I became depressed, and after each failure, hated myself a little bit more.
6. I found I couldn't tolerate hunger, it was no fun to starve.

DOES THIS SOUND LIKE YOU?

Well I have solved all these problems. After 4 years of research, I developed a natural method of losing weight, and lost 55 lbs. in 2½ months. NO hunger! NO depression! NO cravings! ½ lb. to 1½ lbs. a day. I've shared this method with hundreds. I'll share it with you. If you're interested call us or write and we'll send you a tape cassette that tells the whole story. Airlines Told: Chart Fuel Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Major airlines have been told by government officials to map "a plan of action" to meet any possible fuel shortages.

Chairman Robert Timm of the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) told the Aero Club of Washington Tuesday that some airlines suffered fuel shortages last summer and that if "such shortages arise again we must be prepared to deal with them."

"I am beginning to mail letters to those airlines which provide the most flights and carry the most passengers out of the top 22 airports" in the nation, Timm said.

He said the airlines were told to prepare a plan of action "in the event a fuel shortage develops" at any of the airports.

Timm identified the airports as those at Atlanta, New Orleans, Houston, Boston, Miami, New York, Newark, Washington, D.C., Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Dallas, Detroit, Kansas City, St. Louis, Las Vegas, Minneapolis, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Timm also indicated his support for cutbacks in competing airline flights as a means of conserving fuel.

Sun Oil To Begin Dealer Rationing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Sun Oil Co. announced Tuesday that it will immediately begin rationing gasoline supplies for dealers, distributors and commercial customers.

Sun, the nation's 10th largest oil company, said a shortage of crude oil forced it to put a "gasoline allocation system" into effect.

"The raw material shortage and increased demand for gasoline have intensified the bidding for crude," the company said. "We're unable to get all we need to run our five refineries at full capacity."

Sun said that "essential use" customers would be exempt from the allocation system.

While the company promised it would be "fair and reasonable in its allocation of available resources," it said it "cannot seek expansion in its channels of distribution."

Robert G. Dunlop, the company's board chairman, reported that Sun's net income of $49.1 million for the first quarter of 1973 was up 42 per cent from last year.

Dunlop said earnings for the remaining quarters could be affected by the shortage of crude oil.

Independent Wholesaler Call Cutbacks Disaster

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The president of an independent gasoline company told a federal court Tuesday cutbacks by Phillips Petroleum Co. would put his firm out of business.

Earl Gehman, president of North Penn Oil and Tire Co., Perkasie, Pa., asked U.S. District Court Judge Raymond J. Broderick to continue an injunction preventing Phillips from terminating its supply contract with his company.

Gehman said his firm supplies more than a score of gasoline stations in nearby Bucks and Montgomery counties. He said his workers and those employed by the service stations would lose their jobs.

"I'll be out of business within 48 hours," the independent wholesaler told the court.

Phillips, of Bartlesville, Okla., the nation's ninth largest oil company, notified North Penn nine months ago it would terminate the supply contract because of a decision to withdraw from the Northeast market.

North Penn's attorney, Lawrence Grim Jr., said no major oil company was willing to supply Gehman's small firm.

Grim charged the major companies conspired to eliminate small dealers and divide territories among themselves.

Smoking Women On The Increase

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Former U.S. Surgeon General Luther Terry, the official who labeled cigarettes as dangerous to health, predicted Monday that women smokers will soon outnumber men with the habit.

Dr. Terry said men giving up the smoking habit outnumber women by 3 to 1 with women more likely to backslide, possibly, he said because they tend to gain weight after quitting.

He predicted at a news conference the smoking population would be predominantly female within five years.

Smoke Test Of Sewer Lines Slated

The Novato Sanitary District will start a program next month of smoke testing sewer lines to detect infiltration of outside waters, according to Dist. Mgr. Charles A. Joseph.

A trial period of testing will start in the 1,000-home Loma Verde-Marin Country Club area either next week or the week of May 7, Joseph said.

District directors Monday night approved the infiltration study, slated to extend throughout Novato from June through September.

Directors approved an additional treatment plant operator position with a salary range of $709 to $862 a month. Joseph said a maintenance man will be promoted, and then the maintenance post filled by recruiting.

The board also approved annexation of 5.3 acres on the south side of Vineyard Road, west of Wild Horse Valey Drive, and rescheduled its May 28 meeting to May 30 because of the Memorial Day holiday.

New Clean Air Plan Is Revealed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Air Resources Board has issued its updated plan for achieving national air quality standards in the San Francisco Bay Area, San Diego, Sacramento Valley and San Joaquin Valley air basins.

Revisions in the state's general plan, released last year, were made after the federal Environmental Protection Agency said the plan did not provide for achievement of certain government standards by 1977 as required.

The revisions were released Tuesday in preparation for public hearings in each of the basins. They include controls on agricultural burning, petroleum distribution and marketing, and organic solvent users.

A task force, the plan said, has offered two options —one calling for random idle roadside inspection "at a rate of about 20 per cent annually of the vehicles subject to emission inspection" and the other calling for 100 per cent annual inspection of engine idling.

The public hearings will be held May 18 in Fresno, May 21 in San Francisco, May 23 in San Diego and May 25 in Sacramento.

Stanford Professor Renews IQ Findings

Shockley, who has been rebuffed repeatedly in efforts to persuade the National Academy of Sciences to authorize further research on the thesis, said additional studies of his own substantiated the argument that the IQ of the Negro improves proportionally with the infusion of Caucasian blood.

Shockley said his own conclusion drawn from a 1964 study of 586 Jamaican children of varying black-Caucasian ancestry was that "intelligence increases with lighter color —in complete disagreement with" the analysis of some other scientists.

"The striking result, determined during the present research, but not noted by the previous authors," Shockley said in a statement to the academy's annual meeting, "is that ... the light colored groups outperformed the mixed and the mixed outperformed the dark."

He said there was "highly significant evidence for association of higher IQ with higher Caucasian ancestry."

Shockley said his new research "adds significance to the estimate that for low IQ populations each 1 per cent of Caucasian ancestry raises average IQ by one IQ point."

He added:

"If it should be found that Negroes having more Caucasian ancestry did not have higher IQs, then my own reactions would be mixed: scientifically, I would be distressed that my own reasoning had not been substantiated but this distress would be balanced by the hope that a new and relevant truth might contribute to social progress — for example, by adding scientific argument to overcome prejudice."

Colt Endorsed For Plan Seat

The Marinwood Association Monday night unanimously endorsed Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board member Calvin B. Colt for the county planning commission seat vacated by San Rafael Councilman-elect Jack G. Nixon.

Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere, who will appoint Nixon's successor, has said that Colt is one of nine citizens he is considering for appointment to the post.

The association next meets at 8 p.m. May 21 in the community center.

Ex-Review Editor Wins Long Battle

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Editor Norman Cousins lost the battle, but won the war at Saturday Review.

The owners of Saturday Review suspended publication Tuesday, filed for reorganization under the Bankruptcy Act and announced a merger with Cousins' World Magazine with the veteran editor in charge.

Cousins, who had been editor of the weekly Review since 1940, quit 17 months ago in a dispute with its new owners, Nicholas J. Charney and John J. Veronis. He started the biweekly World last July.

Charney and Veronis filed for reorganization listing current assets of $1.9 million and current debts of $3.5 million with future liabilities running as high as $12 million.

Staff members said the high cost of promoting Saturday Review's new format caused the collapse.

Charney and Veronis, who achieved publishing success with Psychology Today, converted the Review into four slick monthly magazines devoted on different weeks to the arts, science, society and education.

Football Sneaks Into The Picture

With the Giants in the midst of an early season hot streak and the Warriors trying desperately to stay alive in the National Basketball Association playoffs, the 49ers made sure they weren't forgotten in the Bay Area sports world yesterday by previewing their highlight film of the 1972 season for the press.

Like all promotion flicks, it's full of action, no dead space, and shows things good for the home team. But there are some shots of that playoff loss to Dallas, those agonizing final minute touchdowns which suddenly ended the 49ers' season, a loss that left a taste in your mouth worse than the morning after a colossal drunk.

EVEN 49ER PRESIDENT Lou Spadia made mention of that game when introducing the film, entitled, "The Best in the West," shown yesterday in the main ballroom of the Hyatt on Union Square in San Francisco. "There is a segment in the film called the Dallas game," said Lou, "and I was tempted to cut it out." He didn't, though.

The film is sponsored by the Theodore Hamm Co., but we didn't have to be told. There, right in the middle of all that football action, just like television, were two commercials for Hamm's Beer, the same ones you can see on the TV set in your living room. It will be fine as a commercial at your local Elk's Club but I don't think it will drum up much business at the Pop Warner showings in the Bay Area.

It was so hard for the cameramen for NFL Films to come up with some good (from the 49ers' standpoint) shots of the final Rams game that only one play was shown. Then it was on to the next game, fans.

AS WAS THE season, the film was a collection of dazzling pass plays, John Brodie and Steve Spurrier throwing and Gene Washington and Ted Kwalick catching. There was very little in the way of 49er running action, but the cameras can't record what isn't there. Crunching tackles by Dave Wilcox, Skip Vanderbundt, Cedrick Hardman, Tommy Hart and Charlie Krueger showed the toughness of the Niners' defense. The slow motion shots ripped away the real violence of the game and replaced it with grace and form.

Also on hand at the preview showing were head coach Dick Nolan and players Vanderbundt, Forrest Blue, Kwalick and Cas Banaszek. And of course some publicity people from Hamm's Beer. They put on a fine feed for the hungry and thirsty sports writers.

ABOUT THE RECENT trade which sent last year sometimes starting wide receiver Preston Riley to the New Orleans Saints for a future draft choice, Nolan said, "I have some very good people I can use at that position — John Isenbarger, Jimmy Thomas, Terry Beasley. And in the trade we got something good in return." That was an obvious hint that the unannounced draft choice was very high.

The highlight film is available to groups free of charge and can be obtained by getting in touch with the 49ers' business office in San Francisco.

Vida On Crutches, Can't Pitch Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI) — Just when the Oakland A's seem to be getting the kind of pitching that brought them a world championship in 1972, they lose a key starter.

Vida Blue, the sensation of 1971 and holdout flop of 1972, was on crutches with a sprained knee today just when he was supposed to take the hill against Cleveland tonight.

The injury caught Manager Dick Williams by such surprise that he could not name an alternate starter for tonight's contest.

A's officials said optimistically that Blue would have to miss only one turn, but Williams seemed far more pessimistic as he said that the A's would either bring up a lefty from their Tucson farm team in the PCL or pull a quick trade.

Blue was 1-1 as he, Catfish Hunter and Blue Moon Odom have fought to regain the form that has made them sensations in past campaigns.

He got late-inning help from Horacio Pina as they blanked Cleveland 4-0 on six hits Tuesday night.

And when Holtzman was pulled with two down in the eighth, it marked the first time he had failed to go the distance all year.

Gaylord Perry, 24-16 last year and 3-2 this year, went the distance for Cleveland and took the loss to see his record against the A's skid to 0-5 since coming from the National League.

The A's got their first run in the first on a single by Joe Rudi, the first of three walks to Reggie Jackson and Sal Bando's single.

Designated hitter Jay Johnstone singled home the second run in the fourth and a Ted Kubiak homer and a wild pitch brought in the other markers.

Marin Duo Dominates Statistics

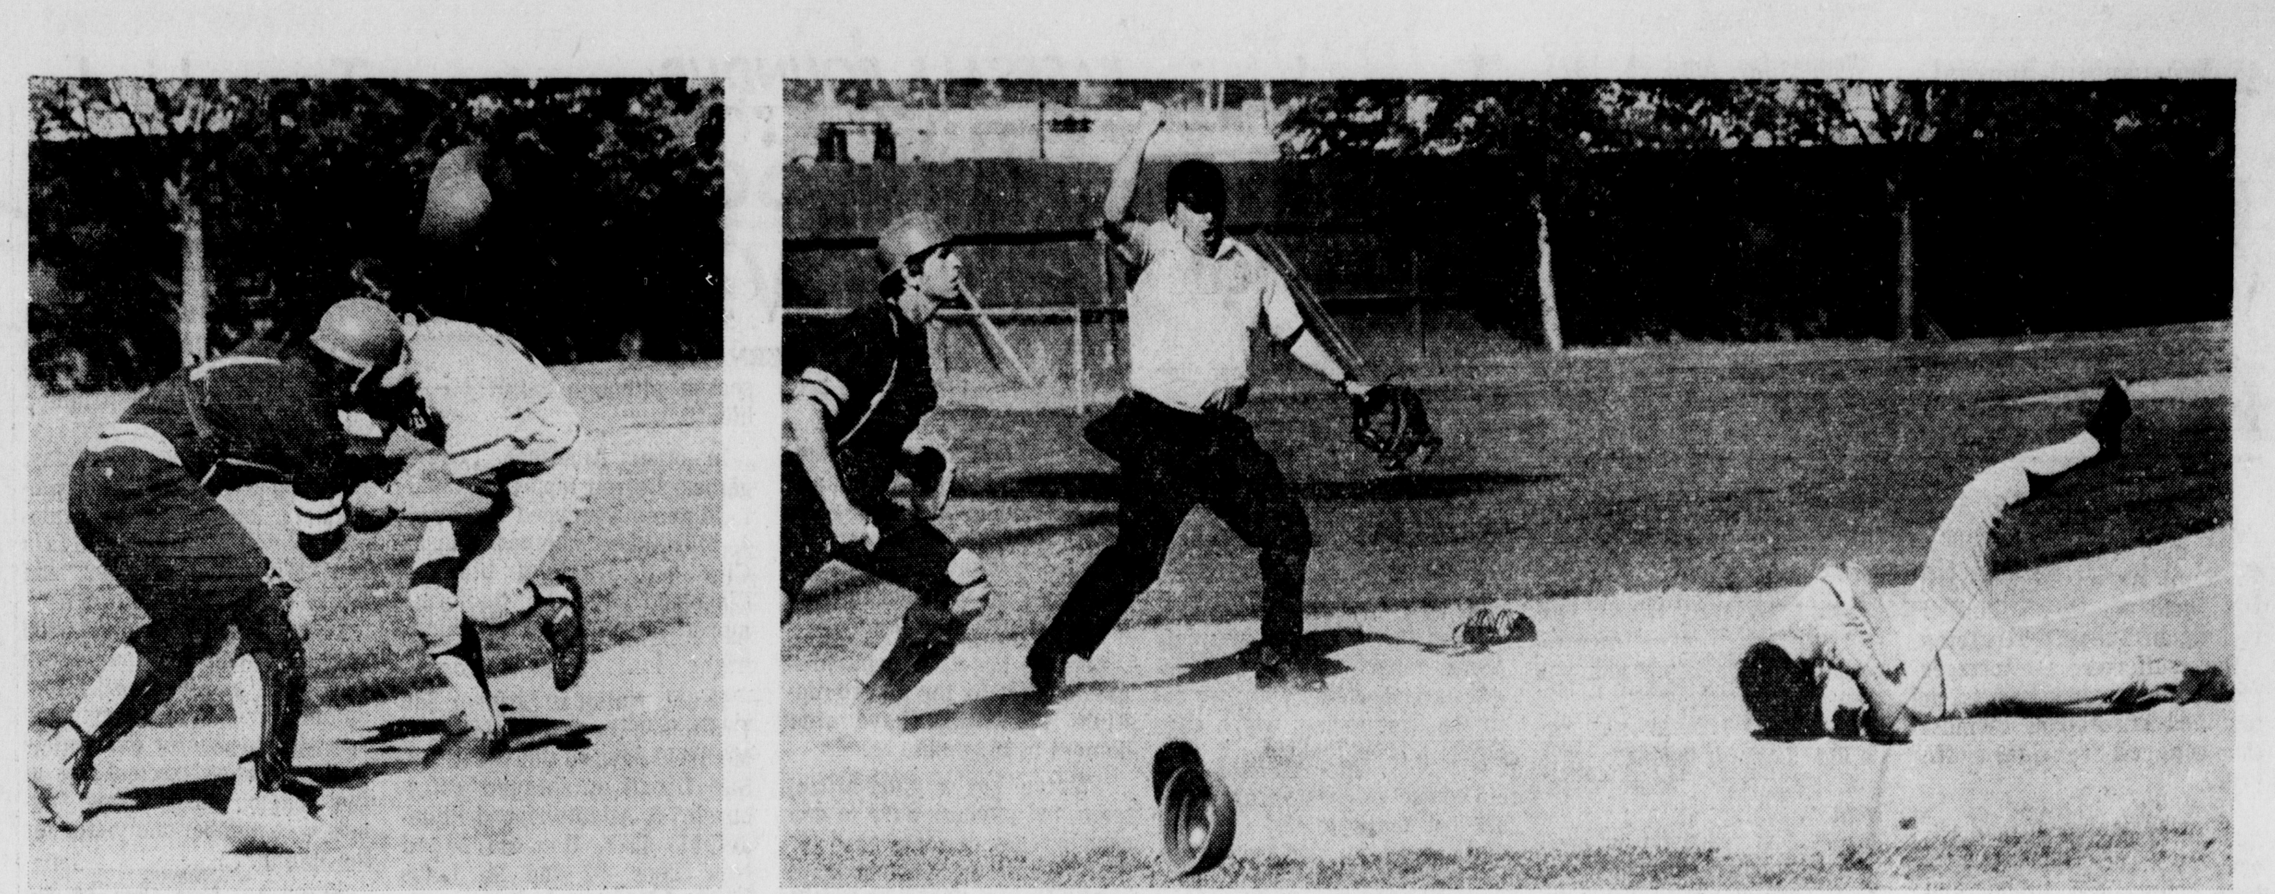
Bianchini held a 4-1 record and 1.37 earned run average through the first 12 Camino Norte Conference games and is 5-1 and 1.60 overall when he takes the mound and Olson catches him, according to statistics released by coach Vic Petreshene.

When they reverse roles, Olson is 2-0 and 2.04 in the league and 3-0 and 1.86 overall.

They are the team's leading hitters in league play as well, Olson batting .411 and Bianchini .367. Olson leads the team with three home runs and his nine runs batted in is second only to Dom Pomilia's 11.

Also stroking the ball is shortstop Steve Sherry, batting .355 in league. Overall, Bianchini leads at .337, Sherry is hitting .333 and Olson .323.

As a team, the Tars are hitting .277 in league and have a conference earned run average of 1.90. Overall figures are .252 and 2.47.



COLLISION AND DECISION — San Rafael High School catcher Dave Steele (dark uniform) and Terra Linda baserunner Steve Withers looked like a pair of football linemen as they collided at home plate in the first inning of yesterday's Marin County Athletic League baseball game at Albert Field. Steele held the ball and plate umpire Sam Watt signaled the demise of the prostrate Withers, who had tried to score from third base on a sharp grounder to Bulldog third-sacker Tim Madera. San Rafael won, 5-4, to retain its hold on second place.

Redwood Retains Unbeaten Record

Visiting Redwood High School was forced to use all three members of its vaunted starting rotation yesterday to fend off Marin Catholic for a 4-3 Marin County Athletic League baseball victory.

The league-leading Giants completed the first half of the season with a perfect 7-0 record, but their consecutive scoreless inning streak was ended at 25 on Rich Lopez' run-scoring triple and Layne Cozza's RBI single in the first.

Redwood broke a 2-2 tie with a pair in the sixth on a sacrifice fly by Doug Hartman and a Wildcat error, but the 'Cats almost salvaged the game in the last of the seventh.

With two runners on base, Bob Temen pinch-hit a single, but a complicated rundown followed in which one runner was retired and the other scored on baseline obstruction by Redwood's catcher.

Pitcher Gene Frey then entered to get the last out. He relieved winner Ed Andersen, who in turn relieved starter Mark Ruggles, whose personal scoreless inning streak of 14 was snapped in the first.

LEAGUE CHAMPS

Swimming Title For Redwood

Redwood High School (11-1) won the Marin County Athletic League swimming championship by whipping fifth place Novato, 77-18, in the Hornets' pool.

Yesterday's other MCAL swim scores were just as lopsided, as second place Terra Linda pounded Drake, 77-10, and Tamalpais smothered San Marin, 70-22.

San Rafael Nine In 5-4 Victory

Pitcher Mike Farris won his fifth straight game as San Rafael High School kept pace with Redwood in the Marin County Athletic League baseball race by defeating Terra Linda yesterday, 5-4, at Albert Field.

The Bulldogs (6-1) completed the first half of the season one game behind the Giants (7-0). Terra Linda is 3-4.

Craig Saunders tripled and John Sims singled him home for what proved to be the winning run in the fourth inning. The Bulldogs had scored three times in the first on a one-run single by Lance Loughlin and a two-run hit by Tim Madera.

MOFFITT NOT COMPLAINING

It's A Long Work Week

CHICAGO (AP) — At the pace Randy Moffitt is going, the budding San Francisco Giants bullpen ace could wind up hurling in some 80 games this season with impressive rescue results.

"I know that's not possible, but I'm not complaining about a lot of work," said Moffitt, a Mill Valley resident, after his second victory without defeat. The surging Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-2 in 10 innings Tuesday.

Moffitt has pitched in 10 of the Giants' 19 games.

Moffitt replaced starter Jim Willoughby beginning the eighth inning. Although he yielded Ron Santo's second solo homer of the game, lifting the Cubs to a 2-2 tie in the ninth, Moffitt became the winner when the Giants shoved across two 10-inning runs on three hits and an error.

Moffitt, brother of tennis star Mrs. Billie Jean King, said, "I didn't pitch a good game. My rhythm was off and I always seem to have trouble in Wrigley Field."

Giants manager Charlie Fox agreed with Moffitt that the game-saving play was a grass-top catch by leftfielder Gary Thomasson of Randy Hundley's low liner in the ninth.

Thomasson, who also delivered two one-run singles, speared Hundley's sinking drive to probably prevent the speedy Jose Cardenal from scoring the winning Cub run after Santo's second homer tied the score.

The teams were to meet again today with Juan Marichal, 3-1, going for San Francisco against the Cubs' Ferguson Jenkins, 1-1.

Fox admitted his confidence with Moffitt has zoomed since the 25-year-old righthander has developed an effective curve ball. "He did it on his own this spring," Fox explained. "He discovered a new grip which gave him a pretty good curve ball and it gets him some big outs."

"Furthermore, I wouldn't have pinch-hit for Willoughby in the eighth if I didn't have Moffitt to come in," he added.

Cub reliever Bob Locker was charged with the defeat. It was an unfortunate outing for starter Rick Reuschel, who posted a career high of 12 strikeouts in his seven innings.

76ers Draft Collins But Eye Trade

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Philadelphia 76ers, needing all the help they can get after finishing with the worst record in the NBA this season and losing Kevin Loughery as coach just prior to the college draft, were prepared to use No. 1 choice Doug Collins as trade bait today to secure experienced players.

Collins, a big guard at 6-6 whose value is doubling at forward, was the first of 165 players selected Tuesday in 10 rounds of drafting by the 17 National Basketball Association teams.

The American Basketball Association was to draft at 9 a.m. PST today, beginning with the third round. Two rounds were held secretly last January and the names of these players will be revealed prior to the 10-team conference call.

Cleveland sent Rick Roberson and John Johnson to Portland in a last-minute trade and received the Trail Blazers' right to choose second. The Cavaliers took Jim Brewer of Minnesota.

Other first-round selections:

Buffalo — Ernie DiGregorio, Providence; Seattle — Mike Green, Louisiana Tech; Los Angeles (from Cleveland) — Kermit Washington, American; Houston — Ed Ratleff, Long Beach State; Kansas City-Omaha — Ron Behagen, Minnesota; Phoenix — Mike Bantom, St. Joseph's (Pa.); Atlanta (from Detroit) — Dwight Jones, Houston (hardship); Atlanta — John Brown, Missouri; Golden State — Kevin Joyce, South Carolina; Chicago — Kevin Kunnert, Iowa; Capitol (formerly Baltimore) — Nick Weatherspoon, Illinois; New York — Mel Davis, St. John's; Portland — Barry Parkhill, Virginia; Milwaukee — Swen Nater, UCLA; Boston — Steve Downing, Indiana; Philadelphia (bonus pick) — Raymond Lewis, Los Angeles State (hardship).

Warriors' No. 1 Pick: Kevin Joyce

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors, looking for a play-making guard, picked 6-foot-3 Kevin Joyce of South Carolina in the first round of the NBA draft.

The only trouble with that pick is that the Carolina Cougars are also expected to go for the transplanted New Yorker, who averaged 20.4 points for the Gamecocks.

Joyce appeared to be ready for a little competitive bidding, as he commented, "I like San Francisco but I'll wait until the ABA draft. I'll go where the best contract is. I'm happy to be picked on the first round and I think I can play pro ball. That's all I've wanted to do."

Said Al Attles of Joyce, who also had about six assists per contest, "I saw him play. He is a good, strong aggressive kid, who can score and handle the ball."

In their other picks, the Warriors seemed to go for the best available prospect, regardless of position.

They chose 6-7 Derrick Dickey of Cincinnati, 6-9 Jim Retseck of Auburn, 6-4 Ron King of Florida State, 6-11 Nate Stephens of Long Beach State, 6-7 Bob Larinski of Utah State, 6-9 Steve Smith of Loyola (Calif.), 6-1 Jeff Dawson of Illinois, 6-9 Everett Fopma of Idaho State and 6-8 Fred Laveroni of Santa Clara.

Warriors, Lakers On TV

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Jim McMillian and Keith Erickson, who both sat out the second half of Monday night's eight-point loss to the Golden State Warriors because of injuries, are expected back for the Los Angeles Lakers tonight in Los Angeles Lakers tonight in game No. 5 of the National Basketball Association Western Conference finals. The game will be televised on Channel 2 at 8 o'clock.

The Lakers hold a 3-1 advantage in the best-of-seven series that will go back to Oakland for the sixth game Friday night if the Warriors prevail.

If the Lakers and New York Knicks win tonight—New York against the Boston Celtics in Boston—the championship series is expected to start here Sunday night. The Knicks hold a 3-1 edge in the Eastern Conference finals.

McMillian, a starting forward, and Erickson both worked out with the Lakers Tuesday and reported their injuries felt "much better," according to a team spokesman. Both said they would play in the fifth game.

McMillian bruised his left knee and Erickson sprained his ankle in Saturday night's 126-70 Laker rout. Golden State won 117-109 Monday night as fireman Cazzie Russell came off the bench to pour in 33 points.

McMillian and Erickson, a reserve swingman, played in the first half but Coach Bill Sharman held them out in the second half as a precautionary measure.

Marin Tars Drop 5-2 Decision

College of Marin's hopes for a Camino Norte Conference baseball championship were dealt a cruel blow yesterday by Solano of Suisun City, which took a 5-2 victory in Kentfield.

The Loss dropped the Tars (8-5) into third place behind Contra Costa of San Pablo (9-5), which beat Canada of Redwood City yesterday, 9-8. West Valley of Campbell leads.

The Tars pounded nine hits, but stranded 10 baserunners, including three in the fourth inning, when they loaded the bases with nobody out.

Dom Pomilia went three for four and Tom Olson two for three for the Tars, each driving in a run in the fifth inning. For Solano, Steve Copeland pitched the victory and hit a solo homer over the right field fence in the fifth, about 340 feet away.

Football Sneaks Into The Picture

With the Giants in the midst of an early season hot streak and the Warriors trying desperately to stay alive in the National Basketball Association playoffs, the 49ers made sure they weren't forgotten in the Bay Area sports world yesterday by previewing their highlight film of the 1972 season for the press.

Like all promotion flicks, it's full of action, no dead space, and shows things good for the home team. But there are some shots of that playoff loss to Dallas, those agonizing final minute touchdowns which suddenly ended the 49ers' season, a loss that left a taste in your mouth worse than the morning after a colossal drunk.

EVEN 49ER PRESIDENT Lou Spadia made mention of that game when introducing the film, entitled, "The Best in the West," shown yesterday in the main ballroom of the Hyatt on Union Square in San Francisco. "There is a segment in the film called the Dallas game," said Lou, "and I was tempted to cut it out." He didn't, though.

The film is sponsored by the Theodore Hamm Co., but we didn't have to be told. There, right in the middle of all that football action, just like television, were two commercials for Hamm's Beer, the same ones you can see on the TV set in your living room. It will be fine as a commercial at your local Elk's Club but I don't think it will drum up much business at the Pop Warner showings in the Bay Area.

It was so hard for the cameramen for NFL Films to come up with some good (from the 49ers' standpoint) shots of the final Rams game that only one play was shown. Then it was on to the next game, fans.

AS WAS THE season, the film was a collection of dazzling pass plays, John Brodie and Steve Spurrier throwing and Gene Washington and Ted Kwalick catching. There was very little in the way of 49er running action, but the cameras can't record what isn't there. Crunching tackles by Dave Wilcox, Skip Vanderbundt, Cedrick Hardman, Tommy Hart and Charlie Krueger showed the toughness of the Niners' defense. The slow motion shots ripped away the real violence of the game and replaced it with grace and form.

Also on hand at the preview showing were head coach Dick Nolan and players Vanderbundt, Forrest Blue, Kwalick and Cas Banaszek. And of course some publicity people from Hamm's Beer. They put on a fine feed for the hungry and thirsty sports writers.

ABOUT THE RECENT trade which sent last year sometimes starting wide receiver Preston Riley to the New Orleans Saints for a future draft choice, Nolan said, "I have some very good people I can use at that position — John Isenbarger, Jimmy Thomas, Terry Beasley. And in the trade we got something good in return." That was an obvious hint that the unannounced draft choice was very high.

The highlight film is available to groups free of charge and can be obtained by getting in touch with the 49ers' business office in San Francisco.

Vida On Crutches, Can't Pitch Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI) — Just when the Oakland A's seem to be getting the kind of pitching that brought them a world championship in 1972, they lose a key starter.

Vida Blue, the sensation of 1971 and holdout flop of 1972, was on crutches with a sprained knee today just when he was supposed to take the hill against Cleveland tonight.

The injury caught Manager Dick Williams by such surprise that he could not name an alternate starter for tonight's contest.

A's officials said optimistically that Blue would have to miss only one turn, but Williams seemed far more pessimistic as he said that the A's would either bring up a lefty from their Tucson farm team in the PCL or pull a quick trade.

Blue was 1-1 as he, Catfish Hunter and Blue Moon Odom have fought to regain the form that has made them sensations in past campaigns.

He got late-inning help from Horacio Pina as they blanked Cleveland 4-0 on six hits Tuesday night.

And when Holtzman was pulled with two down in the eighth, it marked the first time he had failed to go the distance all year.

Gaylord Perry, 24-16 last year and 3-2 this year, went the distance for Cleveland and took the loss to see his record against the A's skid to 0-5 since coming from the National League.

The A's got their first run in the first on a single by Joe Rudi, the first of three walks to Reggie Jackson and Sal Bando's single.

Designated hitter Jay Johnstone singled home the second run in the fourth and a Ted Kubiak homer and a wild pitch brought in the other markers.

Marin Duo Dominates Statistics

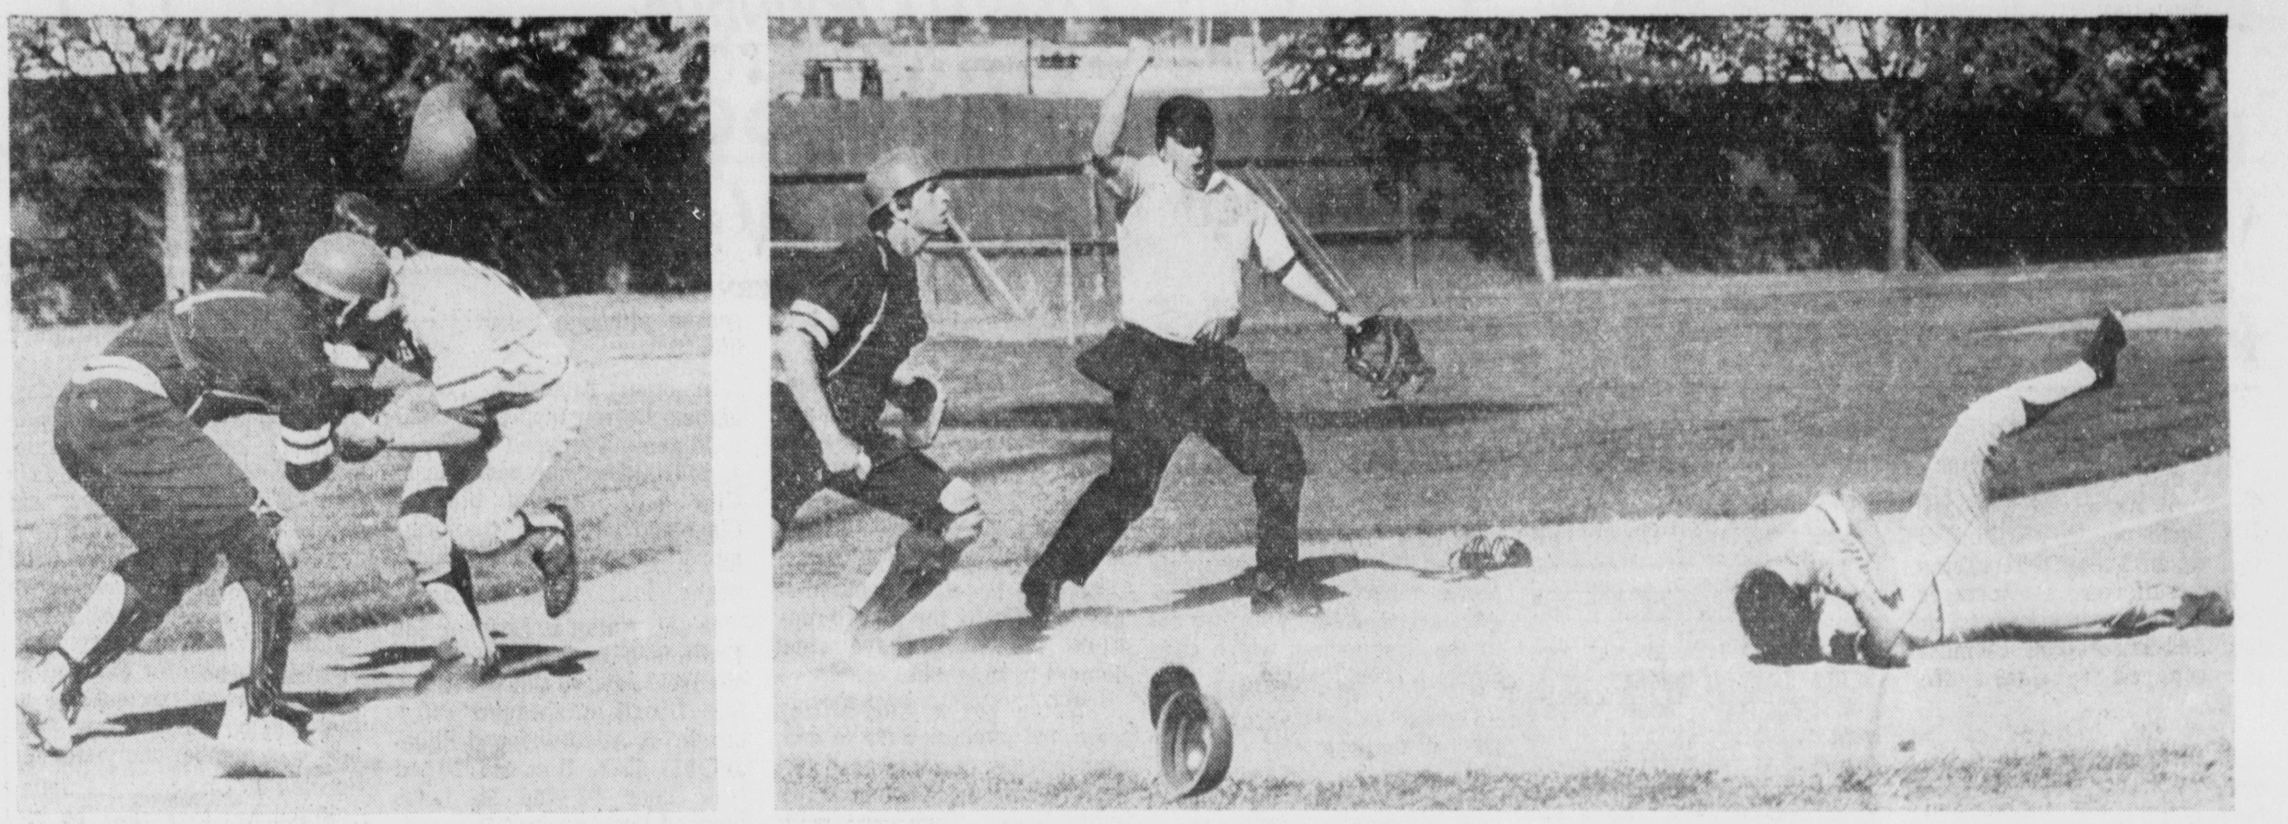
Bianchini held a 4-1 record and 1.37 earned run average through the first 12 Camino Norte Conference games and is 5-1 and 1.60 overall when he takes the mound and Olson catches him, according to statistics released by coach Vic Petreshene.

When they reverse roles, Olson is 2-0 and 2.04 in the league and 3-0 and 1.86 overall.

They are the team's leading hitters in league play as well, Olson batting .411 and Bianchini .367. Olson leads the team with three home runs and his nine runs batted in is second only to Dom Pomilia's 11.

Also stroking the ball is shortstop Steve Sherry, batting .355 in league. Overall, Bianchini leads at .337, Sherry is hitting .333 and Olson .323.

As a team, the Tars are hitting .277 in league and have a conference earned run average of 1.90. Overall figures are .252 and 2.47.



COLLISION AND DECISION — San Rafael High School catcher Dave Steele (dark uniform) and Terra Linda baserunner Steve Withers looked like a pair of football linemen as they collided at home plate in the first inning of yesterday's Marin County Athletic League baseball game at Albert Field. Steele held the ball and plate umpire Sam Watt signaled the demise of the prostrate Withers, who had tried to score from third base on a sharp grounder to Bulldog third-sacker Tim Madera. San Rafael won, 5-4, to retain its hold on second place.

Redwood Retains Unbeaten Record

Visiting Redwood High School was forced to use all three members of its vaunted starting rotation yesterday to fend off Marin Catholic for a 4-3 Marin County Athletic League baseball victory.

The league-leading Giants completed the first half of the season with a perfect 7-0 record, but their consecutive scoreless inning streak was ended at 25 on Rich Lopez' run-scoring triple and Layne Cozza's RBI single in the first.

Redwood broke a 2-2 tie with a pair in the sixth on a sacrifice fly by Doug Hartman and a Wildcat error, but the 'Cats almost salvaged the game in the last of the seventh.

With two runners on base, Bob Temen pinch-hit a single, but a complicated rundown followed in which one runner was retired and the other scored on baseline obstruction by Redwood's catcher.

Pitcher Gene Frey then entered to get the last out. He relieved winner Ed Andersen, who in turn relieved starter Mark Ruggles, whose personal scoreless inning streak of 14 was snapped in the first.

San Rafael Nine In 5-4 Victory

Pitcher Mike Farris won his fifth straight game as San Rafael High School kept pace with Redwood in the Marin County Athletic League baseball race by defeating Terra Linda yesterday, 5-4, at Albert Field.

The Bulldogs (6-1) completed the first half of the season one game behind the Giants (7-0). Terra Linda is 3-4.

Craig Saunders tripled and John Sims singled him home for what proved to be the winning run in the fourth inning. The Bulldogs had scored three times in the first on a one-run single by Lance Loughlin and a two-run hit by Tim Madera.

Warriors, Lakers On TV

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Jim McMillian and Keith Erickson, who both sat out the second half of Monday night's eight-point loss to the Golden State Warriors because of injuries, are expected back for the Los Angeles Lakers tonight in Los Angeles Lakers tonight in game No. 5 of the National Basketball Association Western Conference finals. The game will be televised on Channel 2 at 8 o'clock.

The Lakers hold a 3-1 advantage in the best-of-seven series that will go back to Oakland for the sixth game Friday night if the Warriors prevail.

If the Lakers and New York Knicks win tonight—New York against the Boston Celtics in Boston—the championship series is expected to start here Sunday night. The Knicks hold a 3-1 edge in the Eastern Conference finals.

McMillian, a starting forward, and Erickson both worked out with the Lakers Tuesday and reported their injuries felt "much better," according to a team spokesman. Both said they would play in the fifth game.

McMillian bruised his left knee and Erickson sprained his ankle in Saturday night's 126-70 Laker rout. Golden State won 117-109 Monday night as fireman Cazzie Russell came off the bench to pour in 33 points.

McMillian and Erickson, a reserve swingman, played in the first half but Coach Bill Sharman held them out in the second half as a precautionary measure.

MOFFITT NOT COMPLAINING

It's A Long Work Week

CHICAGO (AP) — At the pace Randy Moffitt is going, the budding San Francisco Giants bullpen ace could wind up hurling in some 80 games this season with impressive rescue results.

"I know that's not possible, but I'm not complaining about a lot of work," said Moffitt, a Mill Valley resident, after his second victory without defeat. The surging Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-2 in 10 innings Tuesday.

Moffitt has pitched in 10 of the Giants' 19 games.

Moffitt replaced starter Jim Willoughby beginning the eighth inning. Although he yielded Ron Santo's second solo homer of the game, lifting the Cubs to a 2-2 tie in the ninth, Moffitt became the winner when the Giants shoved across two 10-inning runs on three hits and an error.

Moffitt, brother of tennis star Mrs. Billie Jean King, said, "I didn't pitch a good game. My rhythm was off and I always seem to have trouble in Wrigley Field."

Giants manager Charlie Fox agreed with Moffitt that the game-saving play was a grass-top catch by leftfielder Gary Thomasson of Randy Hundley's low liner in the ninth.

Thomasson, who also delivered two one-run singles, speared Hundley's sinking drive to probably prevent the speedy Jose Cardenal from scoring the winning Cub run after Santo's second homer tied the score.

The teams were to meet again today with Juan Marichal, 3-1, going for San Francisco against the Cubs' Ferguson Jenkins, 1-1.

Fox admitted his confidence with Moffitt has zoomed since the 25-year-old righthander has developed an effective curve ball. "He did it on his own this spring," Fox explained. "He discovered a new grip which gave him a pretty good curve ball and it gets him some big outs."

"Furthermore, I wouldn't have pinch-hit for Willoughby in the eighth if I didn't have Moffitt to come in," he added.

Cub reliever Bob Locker was charged with the defeat. It was an unfortunate outing for starter Rick Reuschel, who posted a career high of 12 strikeouts in his seven innings.

76ers Draft Collins But Eye Trade

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Philadelphia 76ers, needing all the help they can get after finishing with the worst record in the NBA this season and losing Kevin Loughery as coach just prior to the college draft, were prepared to use No. 1 choice Doug Collins as trade bait today to secure experienced players.

Collins, a big guard at 6-6 whose value is doubling at forward, was the first of 165 players selected Tuesday in 10 rounds of drafting by the 17 National Basketball Association teams.

The American Basketball Association was to draft at 9 a.m. PST today, beginning with the third round. Two rounds were held secretly last January and the names of these players will be revealed prior to the 10-team conference call.

Cleveland sent Rick Roberson and John Johnson to Portland in a last-minute trade and received the Trail Blazers' right to choose second. The Cavaliers took Jim Brewer of Minnesota.

Other first-round selections:

Buffalo — Ernie DiGregorio, Providence; Seattle — Mike Green, Louisiana Tech; Los Angeles (from Cleveland) — Kermit Washington, American; Houston — Ed Ratleff, Long Beach State; Kansas City-Omaha — Ron Behagen, Minnesota; Phoenix — Mike Bantom, St. Joseph's (Pa.); Atlanta (from Detroit) — Dwight Jones, Houston (hardship); Atlanta — John Brown, Missouri; Golden State — Kevin Joyce, South Carolina; Chicago — Kevin Kunnert, Iowa; Capitol (formerly Baltimore) — Nick Weatherspoon, Illinois; New York — Mel Davis, St. John's; Portland — Barry Parkhill, Virginia; Milwaukee — Swen Nater, UCLA; Boston — Steve Downing, Indiana; Philadelphia (bonus pick) — Raymond Lewis, Los Angeles State (hardship).

Warriors' No. 1 Pick: Kevin Joyce

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors, looking for a play-making guard, picked 6-foot-3 Kevin Joyce of South Carolina in the first round of the NBA draft.

The only trouble with that pick is that the Carolina Cougars are also expected to go for the transplanted New Yorker, who averaged 20.4 points for the Gamecocks.

Joyce appeared to be ready for a little competitive bidding, as he commented, "I like San Francisco but I'll wait until the ABA draft. I'll go where the best contract is. I'm happy to be picked on the first round and I think I can play pro ball. That's all I've wanted to do."

Said Al Attles of Joyce, who also had about six assists per contest, "I saw him play. He is a good, strong aggressive kid, who can score and handle the ball."

In their other picks, the Warriors seemed to go for the best available prospect, regardless of position.

They chose 6-7 Derrick Dickey of Cincinnati, 6-9 Jim Retseck of Auburn, 6-4 Ron King of Florida State, 6-11 Nate Stephens of Long Beach State, 6-7 Bob Larinski of Utah State, 6-9 Steve Smith of Loyola (Calif.), 6-1 Jeff Dawson of Illinois, 6-9 Everett Fopma of Idaho State and 6-8 Fred Laveroni of Santa Clara.

Marin Tars Drop 5-2 Decision

College of Marin's hopes for a Camino Norte Conference baseball championship were dealt a cruel blow yesterday by Solano of Suisun City, which took a 5-2 victory in Kentfield.

The Loss dropped the Tars (8-5) into third place behind Contra Costa of San Pablo (9-5), which beat Canada of Redwood City yesterday, 9-8. West Valley of Campbell leads.

The Tars pounded nine hits, but stranded 10 baserunners, including three in the fourth inning, when they loaded the bases with nobody out.

Dom Pomilia went three for four and Tom Olson two for three for the Tars, each driving in a run in the fifth inning. For Solano, Steve Copeland pitched the victory and hit a solo homer over the right field fence in the fifth, about 340 feet away.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Safety Tips For Anglers

Boat show statistics indicate that fishing has only a small influence on the prospective purchaser of a boat. At one time most boats were bought for fishing, but this purpose is now way down the list of boating activities.

However, there are more anglers than ever, and boat manufacturers are making a bigger-than-ever pitch to them this year.

From tiny 90-pound car-top hulls, to 50-foot offshore fishing craft, the selection has never been greater.

But there are many factors in buying and equipping a perfect fishing boat as many of the questions we get indicate:

Q. I use my aluminum boat a great deal for fishing. However, it's very slippery inside. What should be done?

A. A couple of marine paint manufacturers make non-skid paint for just such a condition. It's possible to do the job yourself by sprinkling washed, sharp sand on paint that is still tacky. It's a real life saver.

Q. I'm thinking of buying a 12-foot, 6-inch aluminum boat for fishing. It's light enough for me to put on the trailer alone. Any advice?

A. Just two things. Get one with the biggest beam (width) you can. It's a great safety factor if you get excited when you hook a big one. Also, as another precaution, be certain the inside of the boat is covered with non-skid paint.

Q. My nine-foot pram steers badly when I'm fishing. I weigh 257 pounds and my weight in the back puts the bow up in the air.

A. You could consider a diet. But seriously, I have a gadget which is an extension of the outboard motor steering handle. It lets me (weight 200 pounds) sit amidship and still control the engine.

Q. Should I buy a canoe or a light boat for fishing?

A. I suggest a canoe if you went to camp as a boy and learned how to handle one properly. They are easier to propel by hand and lighter to carry. But if you are a modern-day city slicker like most of us, take the boat. Make it the biggest and beamiest you can handle.

Q. The inside of my boat is painted with a non-slip, stippled paint. However, it's soft and every time I set down a bait bucket the paint scratches.

A. Get a couple of rubber car-floor mats. Put one everywhere you might place a gasoline can, ice bucket or tackle box. The rubber mat is also a good board for cleaning fish. If you want to run up on a pebbly shore, toss the rubber mat out first and drag the boat up on it.

Q. I've read that as a group, fishermen are involved most often in boating fatalities. Is this true?

A. It's a sad fact. It seems that the mature man, out for a quiet day's fishing, is very vulnerable. Getting excited and standing up in a small boat is a big factor involved in accidental deaths. Remember this the next time you get a good strike.

Q. I'm taking a fishing trip through Southern states. Since I'll be driving, I am considering taking along my one and one-half horsepower outboard.

A. A very good idea. Boats are easy and cheap to rent almost anywhere. But sometimes motors aren't. Remember one thing. Take along a life jacket for each person. A lot of anglers forget.

Q. My canvas top has shrunk and the snap fasteners won't meet. Can it be stretched?

A. The experts I've contacted say no. However, it is possible to stitch on extra material to regain a snug fit. Everybody seems to think you've stored it poorly or it wouldn't have shrunk. It should have been left on the boat.

BOCCABELLA LEADS EXPOS

CINCINNATI (UPI) — John Boccabella of Terra Linda hit a two-run double in the ninth inning to drive in what proved to be the winning runs as the Montreal Expos defeated the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night, 7-2.

Boccabella's double came with the bases loaded and the score tied at 2-2. Pepe Frias followed with another two-run double and the Expos went on to score seven runs in the inning.

Schedule Changes In Prep Sports

San Marin High School's track and field meet at Redwood has been changed from Friday to Thursday at 3:30 p.m., Mustang coach Jim Van der Beets announced yesterday.

San Rafael's home golf match against Tamalpais at Peacock Gap will be played today at 3 p.m. instead of Thursday, according to Bulldog coach Marion Howze, and the Tamalpais-Drake swimming meet originally scheduled for March 9 will be held Monday at 4 p.m. at Tam, according to Indian mentor Bill Anderson.

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Wesley Walker, a 9.5 sprinter and all-star wide receiver, and Bakersfield hurdler-sprinter McKinley Mosley have signed letters of intent with the University of California at Berkeley, it was announced Tuesday.

Tamalpais Crushes Drake '9'

Tim Nowell pitched a one-hitter and Dave Thomsett belted a three-run home run in the second inning yesterday as Tamalpais High School clobbered visiting Drake, 12-2, in a Marin County Athletic League baseball game.

Nowell struck out seven, walked three, and allowed only Mark Parachini's bad-hop single past shortstop with two out in the first inning, which gave Drake a brief 1-0 lead.

Thomsett's homer over the 320-foot mark in left field put Tam ahead, 4-1, and the Indians clinched the victory with a five-run uprising in the fifth as Drake made four errors in the inning, three on one play.

Baseball Victory For Novato

Dave Brazell's two-run double in the second inning turned out to be the margin of victory as Novato High School defeated visiting San Marin, 3-2, in a Marin County Athletic League baseball game.

With one run on Scott Harrington's sacrifice fly and Ray Stratford on base after being hit by a pitch and Jeff Rubino after a single, Brazell hit his opposite-field double down the right-field line for a 3-1 lead.

Stratford allowed only three hits and struck out seven for Novato.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

White Sox Show Power Vs. Yanks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

New York's drought has been Chicago's flood.

Eddie Leon drove in three runs with a homer and a single and Bill Melton and Carlos May added homers to power the sock-laden Chicago White Sox to an easy 8-4 win over the New York Yankees Tuesday.

Chicago has 12 homers in 12 games after its three yesterday while the Yanks have eight homers in 15 games.

"We've got a good-hitting team and pitchers have to give good pitches to some good hitters because there are so many in the lineup. They can't walk them all," said Melton, who led a White Sox five-run fourth inning outburst with his fifth homer of the season.

Leon's homer came after a double by designated hitter Mike Andrews in the second inning and May hit his second homer of the season in the seventh inning.

Yankee Manager Ralph Houk conceded the obvious. "There's no doubt in my mind about their offense—they can hit. What they do this year will depend on their pitching and defense, though."

Former Yankee Stan Bahnsen took care of that end in picking up his second win of the season although raked for 11 hits.

In other American League games, Detroit nipped Texas 2-1, Minnesota stopped Boston 6-4, Milwaukee stomped Kansas City 9-1, Oakland blanked Cleveland 4-0 and California nipped Baltimore in 10 innings 6-5.

In the National League, San Francisco beat Chicago 4-2, Montreal downed Cincinnati 7-2, San Diego outslugged Pittsburgh 7-5, Atlanta ripped Philadelphia 11-2, Houston edged New York 4-2 and St. Louis blanked Los Angeles 2-0.

Revenge was sweet in victory as Frank Robinson helped California beat his former teammates with a key three-run homer. Jim Spencer's single in the 10th to score Bobby Valentine won it.

John Mayberry tagged his sixth homer of the season and Dave May added a two-run single to key Kansas City over the Brewers.

Minnesota took over the lead in the AL West as Larry Hisle's fourth homer triggered a five-run third inning outburst that loped the Twins past Boston.

Designated hitter Rico Carty was the hero in Texas's victory over Detroit as he drove in one run and scored another in only the Rangers' third win of the season.

Terra Linda Netters Top San Rafael

Terra Linda High School beat San Rafael yesterday, 6-1, in a surprisingly easy Marin County Athletic League tennis triumph on the Trojans' court.

In other matches yesterday, Redwood rolled to its 70th consecutive league victory whipping Novato, 7-0, Tamalpais beat Marin Catholic, 5-2, and Drake dumped San Marin, 6-1.

Terra Linda remained tied with Redwood for the league lead with a 5-0 record. Only number four man Larry Levy was able to win for San Rafael in the Bulldogs' second loss in five league starts. Doug Carlisle was number-one victor for the Trojans.

Billie Jean King A 3-Time Winner

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Billie Jean King, top woman tennis professional on the Virginia Slims Circuit, was a three-time winner Tuesday night during a Dogwoods Arts Festival exhibition.

Mrs. King beat Rosemary Casals of Sausalito, 8-3, in the opening match.

She then teamed with Miss Casals to beat Knoxville Mayor Kyle Testerman and Racquet Club pro Dell Sylvia, 8-4 in a doubles match.

Teaming with Testerman, Mrs. King was on the winning team again, as the mayor and Mrs. King took Miss Casals and Sylvia 6-4.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — "We came here to win and that's what we did."

Wendell Ladner, the regular season spark of the Kentucky Colonels, was explaining the Colonels' 107-98 victory over the Carolina Cougars Tuesday night for the American Basketball Association Eastern Division crown and the chance to meet Indiana for the ABA championship.

"They have a helluva team. Ours is just a little better," the former Cougar said.

But this time it was quiet but quick forward Dan Issel, not Ladner, who led the Colonels to the top in the last game of the playoffs as he hit for 31 points in the deciding contest.

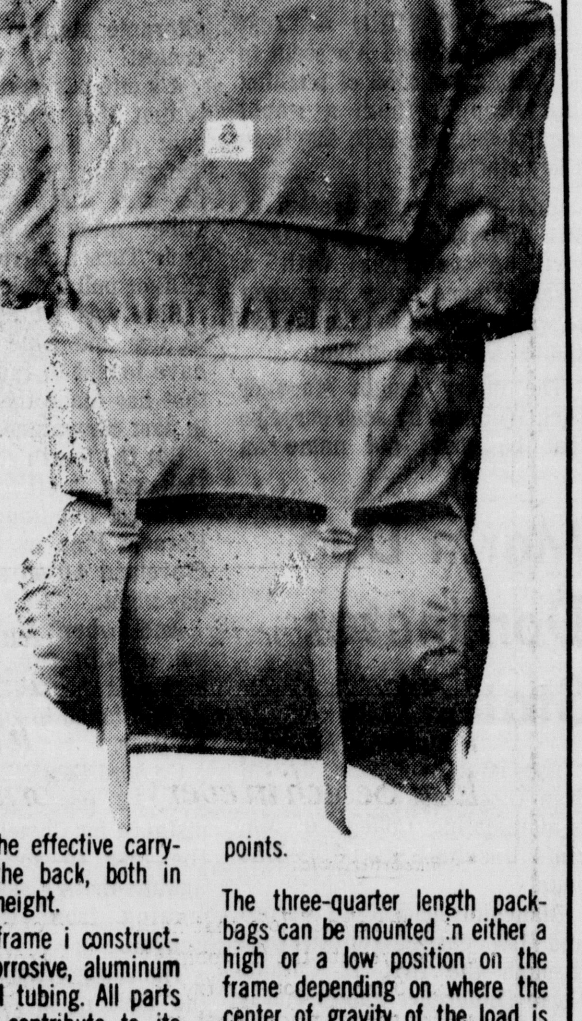
The best backpack you can buy . . . at the Seasons!



TRAILWISE PACKFRAMES AND BAGS — Trailwise packframes are designed and constructed with comfort, durability and lightness as the foremost considerations.

A packframe that is comfortable to wear is the result of (1) a well contoured and shaped frame and packbag that place the load as close to the body as is practical, (2) a padded suspension system that allows the majority of the load weight to be placed directly on the hips, and (3) a full mesh back panel, originated by Trailwise, which distributes weight and allows maximum air circulation between pack and wearer.

The Trailwise contour frame shapes the load around the back and extends the effective carrying area of the back, both in width and in height.

The Trailwise frame i constructed of a non-corrosive, aluminum alloy thick-wall tubing. All parts of the frame contribute to its structural strength because there are no loose or unwelded parts. Every joint is heli-arc welded. The Trailwise packbag is attached to the frame with aluminum and steel eyebolts and aluminum Rivnuts. This combination of eyebolt and Rivnut attachment has a strength advantage over the usual clevis pin and wire attachment in that the frame need only be drilled from one side, plus the Rivnut helps to reinforce this hole. The eyebolts can be used as lashing points.

The three-quarter length packbags can be mounted in either a high or a low position on the frame depending on where the center of gravity of the load is desired. The high position is used for maximum loads on a relatively smooth trail, and the low position is used for climbing or for rough terrain where balance becomes an important consideration. Both the full length packbag and the three-quarter length packbags extend the full width of the frame.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Safety Tips For Anglers

Boat show statistics indicate that fishing has only a small influence on the prospective purchaser of a boat. At one time most boats were bought for fishing, but this purpose is now way down the list of boating activities.

However, there are more anglers than ever, and boat manufacturers are making a bigger-than-ever pitch to them this year.

From tiny 90-pound car-top hulls, to 50-foot offshore fishing craft, the selection has never been greater.

But there are many factors in buying and equipping a perfect fishing boat as many of the questions we get indicate:

Q. I use my aluminum boat a great deal for fishing. However, it's very slippery inside. What should be done?

A. A couple of marine paint manufacturers make non-skid paint for just such a condition. It's possible to do the job yourself by sprinkling washed, sharp sand on paint that is still tacky. It's a real life saver.

Q. I'm thinking of buying a 12-foot, 6-inch aluminum boat for fishing. It's light enough for me to put on the trailer alone. Any advice?

A. Just two things. Get one with the biggest beam (width) you can. It's a great safety factor if you get excited when you hook a big one. Also, as another precaution, be certain the inside of the boat is covered with non-skid paint.

Q. My nine-foot pram steers badly when I'm fishing. I weigh 257 pounds and my weight in the back puts the bow up in the air.

A. You could consider a diet. But seriously, I have a gadget which is an extension of the outboard motor steering handle. It lets me (weight 200 pounds) sit amidship and still control the engine.

Q. Should I buy a canoe or a light boat for fishing?

A. I suggest a canoe if you went to camp as a boy and learned how to handle one properly. They are easier to propel by hand and lighter to carry. But if you are a modern-day city slicker like most of us, take the boat. Make it the biggest and beamiest you can handle.

Q. The inside of my boat is painted with a non-slip, stippled paint. However, it's soft and every time I set down a bait bucket the paint scratches.

A. Get a couple of rubber car-floor mats. Put one everywhere you might place a gasoline can, ice bucket or tackle box. The rubber mat is also a good board for cleaning fish. If you want to run up on a pebbly shore, toss the rubber mat out first and drag the boat up on it.

Q. I've read that as a group, fishermen are involved most often in boating fatalities. Is this true?

A. It's a sad fact. It seems that the mature man, out for a quiet day's fishing, is very vulnerable. Getting excited and standing up in a small boat is a big factor involved in accidental deaths. Remember this the next time you get a good strike.

Q. I'm taking a fishing trip through Southern states. Since I'll be driving, I am considering taking along my one and one-half horsepower outboard.

A. A very good idea. Boats are easy and cheap to rent almost anywhere. But sometimes motors aren't. Remember one thing. Take along a life jacket for each person. A lot of anglers forget.

Q. My canvas top has shrunk and the snap fasteners won't meet. Can it be stretched?

A. The experts I've contacted say no. However, it is possible to stitch on extra material to regain a snug fit. Everybody seems to think you've stored it poorly or it wouldn't have shrunk. It should have been left on the boat.

BOCCABELLA LEADS EXPOS

CINCINNATI (UPI) — John Boccabella of Terra Linda hit a two-run double in the ninth inning to drive in what proved to be the winning runs as the Montreal Expos defeated the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night, 7-2.

Boccabella's double came with the bases loaded and the score tied at 2-2. Pepe Frias followed with another two-run double and the Expos went on to score seven runs in the inning.

Schedule Changes In Prep Sports

San Marin High School's track and field meet at Redwood has been changed from Friday to Thursday at 3:30 p.m., Mustang coach Jim Van der Beets announced yesterday.

San Rafael's home golf match against Tamalpais at Peacock Gap will be played today at 3 p.m. instead of Thursday, according to Bulldog coach Marion Howze, and the Tamalpais-Drake swimming meet originally scheduled for March 9 will be held Monday at 4 p.m. at Tam, according to Indian mentor Bill Anderson.

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Wesley Walker, a 9.5 sprinter and all-star wide receiver, and Bakersfield hurdler-sprinter McKinley Mosley have signed letters of intent with the University of California at Berkeley, it was announced Tuesday.

Tamalpais Crushes Drake '9'

Tim Nowell pitched a one-hitter and Dave Thomsett belted a three-run home run in the second inning yesterday as Tamalpais High School clobbered visiting Drake, 12-2, in a Marin County Athletic League baseball game.

Nowell struck out seven, walked three, and allowed only Mark Parachini's bad-hop single past shortstop with two out in the first inning, which gave Drake a brief 1-0 lead.

Thomsett's homer over the 320-foot mark in left field put Tam ahead, 4-1, and the Indians clinched the victory with a five-run uprising in the fifth as Drake made four errors in the inning, three on one play.

Baseball Victory For Novato

Dave Brazell's two-run double in the second inning turned out to be the margin of victory as Novato High School defeated visiting San Marin, 3-2, in a Marin County Athletic League baseball game.

With one run on Scott Harrington's sacrifice fly and Ray Stratford on base after being hit by a pitch and Jeff Rubino after a single, Brazell hit his opposite-field double down the right-field line for a 3-1 lead.

Stratford allowed only three hits and struck out seven for Novato.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

White Sox Show Power Vs. Yanks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

New York's drought has been Chicago's flood.

Eddie Leon drove in three runs with a homer and a single and Bill Melton and Carlos May added homers to power the sock-laden Chicago White Sox to an easy 8-4 win over the New York Yankees Tuesday.

Chicago has 12 homers in 12 games after its three yesterday while the Yanks have eight homers in 15 games.

"We've got a good-hitting team and pitchers have to give good pitches to some good hitters because there are so many in the lineup. They can't walk them all," said Melton, who led a White Sox five-run fourth inning outburst with his fifth homer of the season.

Leon's homer came after a double by designated hitter Mike Andrews in the second inning and May hit his second homer of the season in the seventh inning.

Yankee Manager Ralph Houk conceded the obvious. "There's no doubt in my mind about their offense—they can hit. What they do this year will depend on their pitching and defense, though."

Former Yankee Stan Bahnsen took care of that end in picking up his second win of the season although raked for 11 hits.

In other American League games, Detroit nipped Texas 2-1, Minnesota stopped Boston 6-4, Milwaukee stomped Kansas City 9-1, Oakland blanked Cleveland 4-0 and California nipped Baltimore in 10 innings 6-5.

In the National League, San Francisco beat Chicago 4-2, Montreal downed Cincinnati 7-2, San Diego outslugged Pittsburgh 7-5, Atlanta ripped Philadelphia 11-2, Houston edged New York 4-2 and St. Louis blanked Los Angeles 2-0.

Revenge was sweet in victory as Frank Robinson helped California beat his former teammates with a key three-run homer. Jim Spencer's single in the 10th to score Bobby Valentine won it.

John Mayberry tagged his sixth homer of the season and Dave May added a two-run single to key Kansas City over the Brewers.

Minnesota took over the lead in the AL West as Larry Hisle's fourth homer triggered a five-run third inning outburst that loped the Twins past Boston.

Designated hitter Rico Carty was the hero in Texas's victory over Detroit as he drove in one run and scored another in only the Rangers' third win of the season.

Terra Linda Netters Top San Rafael

Terra Linda High School beat San Rafael yesterday, 6-1, in a surprisingly easy Marin County Athletic League tennis triumph on the Trojans' court.

In other matches yesterday, Redwood rolled to its 70th consecutive league victory whipping Novato, 7-0, Tamalpais beat Marin Catholic, 5-2, and Drake dumped San Marin, 6-1.

Terra Linda remained tied with Redwood for the league lead with a 5-0 record. Only number four man Larry Levy was able to win for San Rafael in the Bulldogs' second loss in five league starts. Doug Carlisle was number-one victor for the Trojans.

Billie Jean King A 3-Time Winner

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Billie Jean King, top woman tennis professional on the Virginia Slims Circuit, was a three-time winner Tuesday night during a Dogwoods Arts Festival exhibition.

Mrs. King beat Rosemary Casals of Sausalito, 8-3, in the opening match.

She then teamed with Miss Casals to beat Knoxville Mayor Kyle Testerman and Racquet Club pro Dell Sylvia, 8-4 in a doubles match.

Teaming with Testerman, Mrs. King was on the winning team again, as the mayor and Mrs. King took Miss Casals and Sylvia 6-4.

Colonels' Victory Delights Ladner

Combined AP & UPI

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — "We came here to win and that's what we did."

Wendell Ladner, the regular season spark of the Kentucky Colonels, was explaining the Colonels' 107-98 victory over the Carolina Cougars Tuesday night for the American Basketball Association Eastern Division crown and the chance to meet Indiana for the ABA championship.

"They have a helluva team. Ours is just a little better," the former Cougar said.

But this time it was quiet but quick forward Dan Issel, not Ladner, who led the Colonels to the top in the last game of the playoffs as he hit for 31 points in the deciding contest.

Golf

PINEHURST, N.C. — Jane Booth, the defending champion from Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., beat Nancy Hager of Dallas 5 and 3 in the first round of match play in the North and South Women's Amateur championship, ending the match with a hole-in-one on the 154-yard 15th green.

Tennis

GOTEBORG, Sweden — Fourth-seeded Cliff Richey of Sarasota, Fla., defeated Andrew Pattison, South Africa, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4 in a first round match in the World Championship Tennis $50,000 Swedish Pro championships.

DENVER — Arthur Ashe won his singles match over Denver pro Rich Hillway, 6-0, 6-0; Roscoe Tanner dropped Jean Chanfreau of France, 6-0, 7-6, and the two then combined in the doubles to drop Jeff Borowiak and Haroon Rahim 7-6, 6-3 in Tuesday's opening round of the $50,000 United Bank Tennis Classic.

TRAILWISE PACKFRAMES AND BAGS — Trailwise packframes are designed and constructed with comfort, durability and lightness as the foremost considerations.
A packframe that is comfortable to wear is the result of (1) a well contoured and shaped frame and packbag that place the load as close to the body as is practical, (2) a padded suspension system that allows the majority of the load weight to be placed directly on the hips, and (3) a full mesh back panel, originated by Trailwise, which distributes weight and allows maximum air circulation between pack and wearer.
The Trailwise contour frame shapes the load around the back and extends the effective carrying area of the back, both in width and in height.
The Trailwise frame i constructed of a non-corrosive, aluminum alloy thick-wall tubing. All parts of the frame contribute to its structural strength because there are no loose or unwelded parts. Every joint is heli-arc welded. The Trailwise packbag is attached to the frame with aluminum and steel eyebolts and aluminum Rivnuts. This combination of eyebolt and Rivnut attachment has a strength advantage over the usual clevis pin and wire attachment in that the frame need only be drilled from one side, plus the Rivnut helps to reinforce this hole. The eyebolts can be used as lashing points.
The three-quarter length packbags can be mounted in either a high or a low position on the frame depending on where the center of gravity of the load is desired. The high position is used for maximum loads on a relatively smooth trail, and the low position is used for climbing or for rough terrain where balance becomes an important consideration. Both the full length packbag and the three-quarter length packbags extend the full width of the frame.

Petaluma Wins As Leoni Stars

Jim Leoni pitched a three-hitter and hit a grand slam home run yesterday to lead St. Vincent High School of Petaluma into a three-way tie for first place in the North Central League II baseball race with a 9-1 victory over host Kelseyville.

Coupled with Tomales' 7-2 NCL II win over visiting Upper Lake, the victory over the previously unbeaten Indians put the Mustangs in the league lead with the Indians and Tomales at 4-1.

In other Southern Sonoma high school diamond action yesterday, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park kept its Sonoma County League hopes alive with a 3-2 victory over El Molino in Forestville and Petaluma lost a hitter's duel with visiting North Bay League for Ukiah, 12-9.

Leoni was sharp on the mound, limiting the Indians to just two singles and a triple, while striking out 10 and walking three batters. Six of his strikeouts came consecutively in the second and third innings.

Leoni was just as sharp at the plate, stroking a single in the fourth inning and a grand slam homer in the next frame to drive in Tom Lounibos, Pete Leoni and Dan Tocchini. Lounibos also had a strong game at bat, hitting three singles.

Tomales broke the game open in the late innings, scoring five runs in the sixth behind John Ball's single and John Petroni's two-run home run. Ball also pitched for the Braves and went the distance to record the win. He fanned 11 Cougars and walked five.

Rancho Cotate was outhit by the Lions (five to four), but the difference in the game was an out. Marshall Brant hit a towering fly ball at the left field fence in the fifth inning for a long out, but the drive scored Tim Peterson with the deciding run.

The win upped the Cougars' SCL mark to 4-2 and broke a two-way tie for second with El Molino.

Petaluma starter John Alejos was racked for 10 runs in the first four innings to be stuck with his first NBL loss of the year. With the defeat the Trojans' league record dropped to 3-2, putting them one and a half games behind league-leading Napa.

The Ukiah onslaught was led by Aaron Adams, who had one of the Wildcats' three triples and two singles. The Wildcats' clubbed 13 hits of two Trojan hurlers, while Petaluma batters retaliated with 12 hits off Ukiah.

series, the Golden State players spoke in guarded, almost wishful tones—except for guard Jim Barnett.

"We're back in it now," he said. "We just got to win Wednesday in Los Angeles. Then we can come back home and win Friday night. And then will come the seventh game and we'll win it."

The odds say Barnett will be wrong, of course. No team in NBA history has ever come back from a 3-0 deficit.

"This (Golden State) is a strange team," said Russell. "Anything can happen."

Chicago, Montreal In Hockey Finals

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It was a night for "little" brothers in the National Hockey League.

Dennis Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks and Henri Richard of the Montreal Canadiens, nine and 18-year veterans of the NHL, respectively, will never escape the shadows cast by their older brothers but each held the spotlight Tuesday night by leading their teams to the championship finals.

The Hawks, accustomed to "big game" performances from Bobby Hull before his jump to the rival World Hockey Association, got a goal and three assists from Dennis to beat the New York Rangers 4-1 and close out their semifinal series, four games to one.

Richard's tie-breaking goal with less than eight minutes left to play enabled the Canadiens to beat Philadelphia 5-3 and eliminate the Flyers in five games. The Hawks-Canadiens final playoff begins Sunday afternoon with a nationally televised contest from Montreal.

Ukiah Swimmers Whip Petaluma

Petaluma High School's final North Bay League tune-up before the league meet Friday at the Santa Rosa Swim Center was a poor one, as the Trojans were beaten by host Ukiah, 58-37.

The loss set the Trojans' final league mark at 3-10-1.

Sophomore Steve Curtis came off a two-week foot injury to gain the only two individual Petaluma firsts. He swam to a 2:10.9 win in the 200-yard individual medley, and a 55.2 victory in the 100-yard freestyle. The Trojans also took the 400-yard freestyle relay in 4:00.1.

SONOMA BASEBALL

Petaluma Wins As Leoni Stars

Jim Leoni pitched a three-hitter and hit a grand slam home run yesterday to lead St. Vincent High School of Petaluma into a three-way tie for first place in the North Central League II baseball race with a 9-1 victory over host Kelseyville.

Coupled with Tomales' 7-2 NCL II win over visiting Upper Lake, the victory over the previously unbeaten Indians put the Mustangs in the league lead with the Indians and Tomales at 4-1.

In other Southern Sonoma high school diamond action yesterday, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park kept its Sonoma County League hopes alive with a 3-2 victory over El Molino in Forestville and Petaluma lost a hitter's duel with visiting North Bay League for Ukiah, 12-9.

Leoni was sharp on the mound, limiting the Indians to just two singles and a triple, while striking out 10 and walking three batters. Six of his strikeouts came consecutively in the second and third innings.

Leoni was just as sharp at the plate, stroking a single in the fourth inning and a grand slam homer in the next frame to drive in Tom Lounibos, Pete Leoni and Dan Tocchini. Lounibos also had a strong game at bat, hitting three singles.

Tomales broke the game open in the late innings, scoring five runs in the sixth behind John Ball's single and John Petroni's two-run home run. Ball also pitched for the Braves and went the distance to record the win. He fanned 11 Cougars and walked five.

Rancho Cotate was outhit by the Lions (five to four), but the difference in the game was an out. Marshall Brant hit a towering fly ball at the left field fence in the fifth inning for a long out, but the drive scored Tim Peterson with the deciding run.

The win upped the Cougars' SCL mark to 4-2 and broke a two-way tie for second with El Molino.

Petaluma starter John Alejos was racked for 10 runs in the first four innings to be stuck with his first NBL loss of the year. With the defeat the Trojans' league record dropped to 3-2, putting them one and a half games behind league-leading Napa.

The Ukiah onslaught was led by Aaron Adams, who had one of the Wildcats' three triples and two singles. The Wildcats' clubbed 13 hits of two Trojan hurlers, while Petaluma batters retaliated with 12 hits off Ukiah.

series, the Golden State players spoke in guarded, almost wishful tones—except for guard Jim Barnett.

"We're back in it now," he said. "We just got to win Wednesday in Los Angeles. Then we can come back home and win Friday night. And then will come the seventh game and we'll win it."

The odds say Barnett will be wrong, of course. No team in NBA history has ever come back from a 3-0 deficit.

"This (Golden State) is a strange team," said Russell. "Anything can happen."

Chicago, Montreal In Hockey Finals

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It was a night for "little" brothers in the National Hockey League.

Dennis Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks and Henri Richard of the Montreal Canadiens, nine and 18-year veterans of the NHL, respectively, will never escape the shadows cast by their older brothers but each held the spotlight Tuesday night by leading their teams to the championship finals.

The Hawks, accustomed to "big game" performances from Bobby Hull before his jump to the rival World Hockey Association, got a goal and three assists from Dennis to beat the New York Rangers 4-1 and close out their semifinal series, four games to one.

Richard's tie-breaking goal with less than eight minutes left to play enabled the Canadiens to beat Philadelphia 5-3 and eliminate the Flyers in five games. The Hawks-Canadiens final playoff begins Sunday afternoon with a nationally televised contest from Montreal.

Ukiah Swimmers Whip Petaluma

Petaluma High School's final North Bay League tune-up before the league meet Friday at the Santa Rosa Swim Center was a poor one, as the Trojans were beaten by host Ukiah, 58-37.

The loss set the Trojans' final league mark at 3-10-1.

Sophomore Steve Curtis came off a two-week foot injury to gain the only two individual Petaluma firsts. He swam to a 2:10.9 win in the 200-yard individual medley, and a 55.2 victory in the 100-yard freestyle. The Trojans also took the 400-yard freestyle relay in 4:00.1.

Bechtel Anniversary Is Saturday

Bechtel Corp., whose staff includes more than 500 Marin residents, will celebrate its 75th anniversary Saturday with an open house for employees and their families.

Bechtel employees, totalling 6,500 in the Bay Area alone, will gather for the celebration at the home office at 50 Beale Street in San Francisco.

A bronze plaque of the late W.A. Bechtel, founder of the company, will be unveiled by his son, senior director Steve D. Bechtel of Oakland, and placed on permanent display in the building lobby.

Steve Bechtel's younger brother, Kenneth K., former director of the company, retired in 1970 and lives in Kentfield.

Other executives living in Kentfield are William E. Waste, semiretired, who serves as consultant for the company, and William S. Slusser, who is a member of the board of directors and its secretary.

Steve Bechtel's son, Steve Jr. of Piedmont, took over as chairman of the Bechtel Group in 1960 and still heads the organization, which has grown to some 17,000 permanent employees worldwide. Another 43,000 manual craftsmen are employed by Bechtel in construction projects at home and abroad.

Of the three operating companies of the Bechtel Group, two are headed by Kentfield residents. Edgar J. Garbarini is president of Bechtel Power Corp. and John F. O'Connell is president of Bechtel Inc.

Paul W. Cane of Greenbrae, a former Larkspur city councilman, is manager of corporate and community affairs. About 500 Bechtel employees, many of them in managerial posts, live in Marin and commute to the Bechtel offices in San Francisco.

Bechtel's major Marin County project was construction and operation of six shipbuilding ways at Marinship in Sausalito from 1942 through 1945, where 15 Liberty ships and 78 tankers were built. Gov. Earl Warren laid the first keel at Marinship on Dec. 7, 1942, exactly one year after Pearl Harbor.

During peak operation in 1943, Marinship had about 17,500 on its payroll. During the three years of its operation, a total of about 75,000 employees came and went at Marinship.

Other landmark Bechtel projects in the Bay Area include foundations for the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge and the Bay Area Rapid Transit system including the world's longest underwater tube between San Francisco and Oakland.

Today, Bechtel has men, equipment and know-how at work in 26 countries in the fields of conventional and nuclear power, mining, chemical, pipeline, food and paper, land management, water use and conservation, pollution control, rapid transit, airport development, and missile and space programs.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

There's High Risk In Option Contracts

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am curious about put and call options which I have seen advertised. It seems to me this might be a low-cost method of investing. Would you please explain how these options work? — A.S.

A. Trading in puts and calls is not investing in the strictest sense since the option holder has not acquired any securities but rather the right to buy or sell a particular stock within a given time period. Calls are written for 30 days, for six months and 10 days and longer. Once that period is over, the option becomes worthless.

The strike price is the price at which the option will be exercised at or before expiration. This figure is generally close to the current trading price for the stock. Premiums — cost of the option — may run as high as 25 per cent of the current cost for 100 shares, although 12 per cent is a more customary premium.

Advertisements such as you have seen are from the option writer's existing inventory, rather than being specifically written for a particular buyer. On these contracts, the striking price may be several points away from current trading levels.

As the stock moves up, the offering option house will also up the premium and vice versa as the stock drops. In one example, the premium is 33 per cent on a six-month call option in which the shares are 7½ per cent above striking price. In this case the stock would have to rise 31 per cent just to cover commissions and costs.

Puts work in reverse, entitling the buyer to sell within the specified period at the agreed-upon striking price. With calls, the hope is that the stock will rise, whereas in a put profit results from the stock declining. The obvious advantage in these contracts is the small capital requirement.

If the stock fails to perform in the hoped-for manner, the loss is restricted to the cost of the contract and the commission on it.

Market On Decline For Third Day

NEW YORK (UPI) — For the third consecutive session, stock prices today declined. The retreat was broad and sharp as trading on the New York Stock Exchange picked up somewhat.

Shortly before the closing bell, the Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chip stocks had slumped 10.60 to 930.17. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index had declined 1.67 to 118.32.

Among the 17,777 issues on the tape, advances led declines by a 5-to-1 margin.

Lucien Hooper of W.E. Hutton said "The stocks do not reflect good earnings but when you have bad earnings they reflect it very quickly."

Wall Street observers said the market also was troubled by the continuing problem of inflation and the possibility of a credit crunch later in the year.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined in moderate trading.

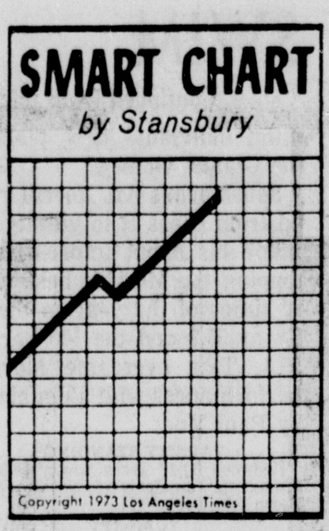
International Telephone & Telegraph was active and lower during the session on the Big Board. A published report said some stock market analysts were skeptical about the future of the stock's price because of the bad publicity the company has received recently.

Earnings Boost For Firm Told

CHICAGO — Commerce Clearing House, whose western regional headquarters is at Quail Hill in Terra Linda, reported an increase in earnings for the first quarter of this year ending March 31.

Net earnings rose to $1,849,382 or 17 cents per share, up from $1,701,608 or 16 cents per share for the comparable 1972 period.

Commerce Clearing House is a nationwide legal publishing firm based in Chicago.



"Meat prices have made all cows sacred."

Home Buyer Guide To Be Published

NEW YORK (AP) — Three out of four heads of household between ages 35 and 54 own their own homes today, and few will ever forget the day the day they signed the mortgage and closed the deal.

It was a day of ignorance, confusion and surprise compounded by legalese, of papers signed and checks slid across the table — all choreographed by legal and lending experts who had practiced the routine for years.

It was a day on which the buyer's naivete was exposed to the lender's expertise. Nobody prepared them adequately for the ordeal, and if they left the table happy to have a home they left with a bundle of insecurities too.

While the scene is still repeated every business day, the consumer movemnt has now provoked lenders and lawyers to better prepare their customers for what lies ahead, to offer help instead of maintaining the needless mystery.

One of the latest efforts at clarification, "Your Guide to a Savings and Loan Mortgage," is now being readied for distribution to the nation's savings and loan associati ns. It assumes that no question is too simple to answer.

For example, what are the kinds of mortgages?

There are three kinds, the booklet relates:

1. Conventional mortgages. The most common type. A private transaction between buyer and lender.

2. Mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

3. Mortgages guaranteed by the Veterans Administration. FHA and VA mortgages are government-backed, but are obtained through the lender, who is assured of reimbursement by the government if the borrower fails to pay.

Pumphouse Gallery Opens In The Barn At Stinson Beach

A new shop called Pumphouse Gallery, featuring wood carvings, paintings, antiques and house plants, opened last week at The Barn in Stinson Beach, next to the Sand Dollar Restaurant.

The shop is operated by Peter Bishop Allen, Stinson Beach sculptor, and several partners including Forty-Niner guard Elmer Collett of Mill Valley.

Peter Allen, son of real estate man Charles Howard Allen, worked for his father in the real estate business for about a year but shifted to wood carving four years ago. He specializes in carving marine mammals like whales, seals, and dolphins.

"We decided to call our shop the Pumphouse Gallery because The Barn still has the old style gas pump where you pumped the gas into the glass portion and then let it drain out," said Allen.

Other partners in the new business are Collett, who has antiques; Steve Lewis, who carves human forms out of large chunks of wood; Fred and Joan Brown of Fairfax, Collett's brother-in-law and sister; Gus Knolles, owner of Las Baulines Nursery, who sells house plants; and Steve Lewis' wife, Marlys, who operates the Village Yarn Shop in the same building.

The Pumphouse Gallery is open only three days a week, Friday through Sunday, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. "During the summer months, we may open from Wednesday through Sunday," said Allen.

JAMES WILLS of Fairfax has joined the San Francisco public relations firm of Arnold & Palmer & Noble as an account executive.

A 1967 graduate of San Jose State University, Wills was formerly on the public relations staff of Foremost-McKesson, Inc.

SUSAN PATICK of Larkspur has been named manager, training department, in Wellsco Data Corp., San Francisco.

Wills

Patick

Miss Patick joined Wellsco, a subsidiary of Wells Fargo & Co., in January of last year with six years previous experience in the computer field.

A native of New York, she graduated in 1964 from Brooklyn College with a degree in physics. She later studied at the University of California at Berkeley under a University fellowship in physics.

SWIM LESSONS — The Atherton Club swimming pool in Novato will be reopened next week by swimming instructor Harland (Bart) Bartholomew, who will give lessons to beginners, intermediates and advanced.

An experienced coach in competitive swimming, Bartholomew will specialize in competitive stroke instruction. He will take underwater movies of his students in action and give these films to the students to improve their techniques.

Bartholomew is taking signups now for swimming lessons to begin in May.

The Atherton Club pool, at Atherton and H Lane behind the Atherton Club Stables, will also be used by the Novato Aquanaut Swim Team and the YMCA. The plunge is 25 yards long and six lanes wide.

Bartholomew formerly coached at the San Rafael Military Academy for a couple of years, at the San Rafael Swim Club (now Marin Aquatic Club), and for two years at Novato High School. He is now coaching the Novato Aquanauts.

A & H AUTO PARTS at 115 Bellam Boulevard in San Rafael has gone "total discount" on all lines and services, partowner Russell L. Flaum announced.

Flaum said he now sells auto parts at wholesale prices to all customers, many of whom are do-it-yourself mechanics. A & H also has a complete machine shop. It is open seven days a week.

Flaum operates the shop with his father, Albert Flaum. A & H Auto Parts has been operating in Marin for six years, and was located in San Francisco for 27 years before that.

DEL F. BAUMBACH of Larkspur has been appointed assistant vice president at Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies in San Francisco. He will direct the newly created customer services operations of the claims department and will also continue to supervise the auto and property appraisal services nationwide.

Baumbach left his own business of Mechanical Consultants Inc. of Fresno to join Fireman's Fund in 1970. In 1972 he was named secretary-claims and given nationwide responsibility for managing and directing appraisal and salvage activities for automobile and home losses.

JERRY BERMAN of Mill Valley, who heads a 12-year-old advertising agency in San Francisco, announced that the name of his company has been changed to Berman, Icardi Inc. It was formerly called Jerry Berman & Associates Inc.

Berman founded the company in 1960 as a graphic design and creative consulting firm for advertising agencies. In 1970, he expanded to a full service advertising agency. Gene Icardi joined him in December of 1971.

The firm has won more than 150 awards in major advertising shows throughout the country.

STAN I. KOROL and his wife Lois of Corte Madera are back from a trip to Spain and Morocco. Korol, Marin sales representative for Nationwide Papers Inc. of San Francisco, won the trip for his sales performance in 1972. He won a similar trip to the Bahamas in 1971.

Nationwide Papers Inc. is a distributor of printing paper and other paper products.

Bechtel Anniversary Is Saturday

Bechtel Corp., whose staff includes more than 500 Marin residents, will celebrate its 75th anniversary Saturday with an open house for employees and their families.

Bechtel employees, totalling 6,500 in the Bay Area alone, will gather for the celebration at the home office at 50 Beale Street in San Francisco.

A bronze plaque of the late W.A. Bechtel, founder of the company, will be unveiled by his son, senior director Steve D. Bechtel of Oakland, and placed on permanent display in the building lobby.

Steve Bechtel's younger brother, Kenneth K., former director of the company, retired in 1970 and lives in Kentfield.

Other executives living in Kentfield are William E. Waste, semiretired, who serves as consultant for the company, and William S. Slusser, who is a member of the board of directors and its secretary.

Steve Bechtel's son, Steve Jr. of Piedmont, took over as chairman of the Bechtel Group in 1960 and still heads the organization, which has grown to some 17,000 permanent employees worldwide. Another 43,000 manual craftsmen are employed by Bechtel in construction projects at home and abroad.

Of the three operating companies of the Bechtel Group, two are headed by Kentfield residents. Edgar J. Garbarini is president of Bechtel Power Corp. and John F. O'Connell is president of Bechtel Inc.

Paul W. Cane of Greenbrae, a former Larkspur city councilman, is manager of corporate and community affairs. About 500 Bechtel employees, many of them in managerial posts, live in Marin and commute to the Bechtel offices in San Francisco.

Bechtel's major Marin County project was construction and operation of six shipbuilding ways at Marinship in Sausalito from 1942 through 1945, where 15 Liberty ships and 78 tankers were built. Gov. Earl Warren laid the first keel at Marinship on Dec. 7, 1942, exactly one year after Pearl Harbor.

During peak operation in 1943, Marinship had about 17,500 on its payroll. During the three years of its operation, a total of about 75,000 employees came and went at Marinship.

Other landmark Bechtel projects in the Bay Area include foundations for the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge and the Bay Area Rapid Transit system including the world's longest underwater tube between San Francisco and Oakland.

Today, Bechtel has men, equipment and know-how at work in 26 countries in the fields of conventional and nuclear power, mining, chemical, pipeline, food and paper, land management, water use and conservation, pollution control, rapid transit, airport development, and missile and space programs.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

There's High Risk In Option Contracts

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am curious about put and call options which I have seen advertised. It seems to me this might be a low-cost method of investing. Would you please explain how these options work? — A.S.

A. Trading in puts and calls is not investing in the strictest sense since the option holder has not acquired any securities but rather the right to buy or sell a particular stock within a given time period. Calls are written for 30 days, for six months and 10 days and longer. Once that period is over, the option becomes worthless.

The strike price is the price at which the option will be exercised at or before expiration. This figure is generally close to the current trading price for the stock. Premiums — cost of the option — may run as high as 25 per cent of the current cost for 100 shares, although 12 per cent is a more customary premium.

Advertisements such as you have seen are from the option writer's existing inventory, rather than being specifically written for a particular buyer. On these contracts, the striking price may be several points away from current trading levels.

As the stock moves up, the offering option house will also up the premium and vice versa as the stock drops. In one example, the premium is 33 per cent on a six-month call option in which the shares are 7½ per cent above striking price. In this case the stock would have to rise 31 per cent just to cover commissions and costs.

Puts work in reverse, entitling the buyer to sell within the specified period at the agreed-upon striking price. With calls, the hope is that the stock will rise, whereas in a put profit results from the stock declining. The obvious advantage in these contracts is the small capital requirement.

If the stock fails to perform in the hoped-for manner, the loss is restricted to the cost of the contract and the commission on it.

Market On Decline For Third Day

NEW YORK (UPI) — For the third consecutive session, stock prices today declined. The retreat was broad and sharp as trading on the New York Stock Exchange picked up somewhat.

Shortly before the closing bell, the Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chip stocks had slumped 10.60 to 930.17. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index had declined 1.67 to 118.32.

Among the 17,777 issues on the tape, advances led declines by a 5-to-1 margin.

Lucien Hooper of W.E. Hutton said "The stocks do not reflect good earnings but when you have bad earnings they reflect it very quickly."

Wall Street observers said the market also was troubled by the continuing problem of inflation and the possibility of a credit crunch later in the year.

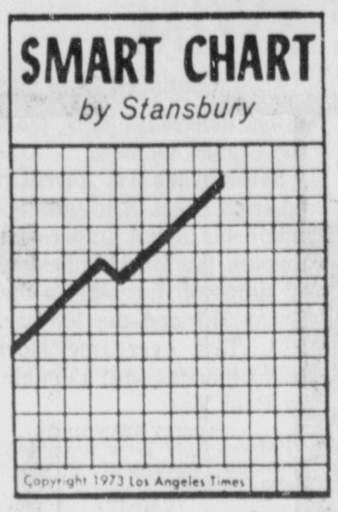
International Telephone & Telegraph was active and lower during the session on the Big Board. A published report said some stock market analysts were skeptical about the future of the stock's price because of the bad publicity the company has received recently.

Earnings Boost For Firm Told

CHICAGO — Commerce Clearing House, whose western regional headquarters is at Quail Hill in Terra Linda, reported an increase in earnings for the first quarter of this year ending March 31.

Net earnings rose to $1,849,382 or 17 cents per share, up from $1,701,608 or 16 cents per share for the comparable 1972 period.

Commerce Clearing House is a nationwide legal publishing firm based in Chicago.



"Meat prices have made all cows sacred."

Home Buyer Guide To Be Published

NEW YORK (AP) — Three out of four heads of household between ages 35 and 54 own their own homes today, and few will ever forget the day the day they signed the mortgage and closed the deal.

It was a day of ignorance, confusion and surprise compounded by legalese, of papers signed and checks slid across the table — all choreographed by legal and lending experts who had practiced the routine for years.

It was a day on which the buyer's naivete was exposed to the lender's expertise. Nobody prepared them adequately for the ordeal, and if they left the table happy to have a home they left with a bundle of insecurities too.

While the scene is still repeated every business day, the consumer movemnt has now provoked lenders and lawyers to better prepare their customers for what lies ahead, to offer help instead of maintaining the needless mystery.

One of the latest efforts at clarification, "Your Guide to a Savings and Loan Mortgage," is now being readied for distribution to the nation's savings and loan associations. It assumes that no question is too simple to answer.

For example, what are the kinds of mortgages?

There are three kinds, the booklet relates:

1. Conventional mortgages. The most common type. A private transaction between buyer and lender.
2. Mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration.
3. Mortgages guaranteed by the Veterans Administration. FHA and VA mortgages are government-backed, but are obtained through the lender, who is assured of reimbursement by the government if the borrower fails to pay.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Pumphouse Gallery Opens In The Barn At Stinson Beach

A new shop called Pumphouse Gallery, featuring wood carvings, paintings, antiques and house plants, opened last week at The Barn in Stinson Beach, next to the Sand Dollar Restaurant.

The shop is operated by Peter Bishop Allen, Stinson Beach sculptor, and several partners including Forty-Niner guard Elmer Collett of Mill Valley.

Peter Allen, son of real estate man Charles Howard Allen, worked for his father in the real estate business for about a year but shifted to wood carving four years ago. He specializes in carving marine mammals like whales, seals, and dolphins.

"We decided to call our shop the Pumphouse Gallery because The Barn still has the old style gas pump where you pumped the gas into the glass portion and then let it drain out," said Allen.

Other partners in the new business are Collett, who has antiques; Steve Lewis, who carves human forms out of large chunks of wood; Fred and Joan Brown of Fairfax, Collett's brother-in-law and sister; Gus Knolles, owner of Las Baulines Nursery, who sells house plants; and Steve Lewis' wife, Marlys, who operates the Village Yarn Shop in the same building.

The Pumphouse Gallery is open only three days a week, Friday through Sunday, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. "During the summer months, we may open from Wednesday through Sunday," said Allen.

JAMES WILLS of Fairfax has joined the San Francisco public relations firm of Arnold & Palmer & Noble as an account executive.

A 1967 graduate of San Jose State University, Wills was formerly on the public relations staff of Foremost-McKesson, Inc.

SUSAN PATICK of Larkspur has been named manager, training department, in Wellsco Data Corp., San Francisco.

Miss Patick joined Wellsco, a subsidiary of Wells Fargo & Co., in January of last year with six years previous experience in the computer field.

A native of New York, she graduated in 1964 from Brooklyn College with a degree in physics. She later studied at the University of California at Berkeley under a University fellowship in physics.

SWIM LESSONS — The Atherton Club swimming pool in Novato will be reopened next week by swimming instructor Harland (Bart) Bartholomew, who will give lessons to beginners, intermediates and advanced.

An experienced coach in competitive swimming, Bartholomew will specialize in competitive stroke instruction. He will take underwater movies of his students in action and give these films to the students to improve their techniques.

Bartholomew is taking signups now for swimming lessons to begin in May.

The Atherton Club pool, at Atherton and H Lane behind the Atherton Club Stables, will also be used by the Novato Aquanaut Swim Team and the YMCA. The plunge is 25 yards long and six lanes wide.

Bartholomew formerly coached at the San Rafael Military Academy for a couple of years, at the San Rafael Swim Club (now Marin Aquatic Club), and for two years at Novato High School. He is now coaching the Novato Aquanauts.

A & H AUTO PARTS at 115 Bellam Boulevard in San Rafael has gone "total discount" on all lines and services, part-owner Russell L. Flaum announced.

Flaum said he now sells auto parts at wholesale prices to all customers, many of whom are do-it-yourself mechanics. A & H also has a complete machine shop. It is open seven days a week.

Flaum operates the shop with his father, Albert Flaum. A & H Auto Parts has been operating in Marin for six years; and was located in San Francisco for 27 years before that.

DEL F. BAUMBACH of Larkspur has been appointed assistant vice president at Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies in San Francisco. He will direct the newly created customer services operations of the claims department and will also continue to supervise the auto and property appraisal services nationwide.

Baumbach left his own business of Mechanical Consultants Inc. of Fresno to join Fireman's Fund in 1970. In 1972 he was named secretary-claims and given nationwide responsibility for managing and directing appraisal and salvage activities for automobile and home losses.

JERRY BERMAN of Mill Valley, who heads a 12-year-old advertising agency in San Francisco, announced that the name of his company has been changed to Berman, Icardi Inc. It was formerly called Jerry Berman & Associates Inc.

Berman founded the company in 1960 as a graphic design and creative consulting firm for advertising agencies. In 1970, he expanded to a full service advertising agency. Gene Icardi joined him in December of 1971.

The firm has won more than 150 awards in major advertising shows throughout the country.

STAN I. KOROL and his wife Lois of Corte Madera are back from a trip to Spain and Morocco. Korol, Marin sales representative for Nationwide Papers Inc. of San Francisco, won the trip for his sales performance in 1972. He won a similar trip to the Bahamas in 1971.

Nationwide Papers Inc. is a distributor of printing paper and other paper products.

Greyhound To Buy Russ Togs

NEW YORK (BW) — An agreement in principle has been reached for the Greyhound Corp. to acquire Russ Togs Inc.

In a joint statement Gerald H. Trautman, chairman and chief executive officer of Greyhound, and Eli L. Rousso, president of Russ Togs, said the proposal calls for the exchange of 1.25 shares of Greyhound common for each share of Russ Togs common stock.

There are about 4,000,000 shares of Russ Togs common stock outstanding.

Dividends Set

COSTA MESA (BW) — Standard-Pacific Corp., an expanding residential construction company has reported a 26 per cent increase in revenues, a 97 per cent increase in net income and a 100 per cent increase in earnings per share for the first quarter ended March 31 compared to first quarter 1972.

Looking For Ancestors? Take A Trip To Britain

By ROBIN WRIGHT
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

LONDON, England — The latest set of ads claims that "history comes to life every day in Great Britain." But what they don't tell you is that, if you have any British ancestry, a trip to Great Britain could bring your history to life. Or life to your history.

In other words, Britain is a great place to trace your family tree.

Because of its long-standing concern for documentation, and the preservation of many old records by churches, census bureaus, courts, land registries, and national record offices, Britain is one of the easiest places in the world to trace ancestry.

So with just a little background work before you leave the states, it may be possible to chart your genealogy back to a time long before family members emigrated from any of the four British nations.

The amount of work involved will vary depending on the information you can collect in advance, thoroughness of local records in Britain, and even the frequency of a surname. But even if the task appears ominous, it's certainly an unusual way to spend a holiday while learning about history via exploration of your ancestors.

Some tips on advance work: go back as far as possible on family information until reaching the emigrant ancestor. From personal records try to find details concerning date of birth, occupation, marriage, and above all town or country of his origin.

If personal records are unavailable and there's no way to trace through American documents, there are several books that contain guides to American lines and some on British families. A trip to the local library could eliminate a lot of unnecessary legwork on your vacation time.

Besides the sources and information listed below, there also are such places as newspaper files, local libraries, and university or community school records that might provide clues once in Britain.

And if you're curious but not too energetic remember that genealogy is such a respected practice in Britain that many of the places provide researchers who will do the digging for you at fees ranging up to $40 for a complete (single) family line.

Civil registration of births, marriages and deaths was introduced in England and Wales in 1837 so certificates of all events registered since that date are obtainable from the General Register Office in London.

Each certificate will provide at least one generation worth of information, and perhaps two if parents' names are listed. Unfortunately, none of the information is collated so each entry must be searched for separately.

The best places to locate information on families living prior to 1837 are the 14,000 parish churches in England and Wales. This is easier in England where there is one main religion and to locate the proper parish involves just location of the hometown.

All churches keep detailed records on baptisms, marriages and burials, many of which go back as far as 1538. Because of their value, there are copies of a large number of them at the Society of Genealogists in London, which may provide another good source.

Although a private association, the society allows nonmembers to use its vast and valuable library at a small fee. Its main features are a general index of more than 3 million names and a document collection on about 13,000 families. The society also publishes books and a quarterly magazine on various genealogy subjects, and houses a research department for those who would rather pay to have their ancestors traced.

The Public Records Office, again in London, is a fourth source, although more complicated and time-consuming to use. This office does not undertake extended searches in the records on behalf of inquirers, but photographic copies of records may be obtained at reasonable prices.

The records most frequently consulated are the census returns, registers, and returns relating to members of the services, the proceedings of the Chancery Court, Inquisitions Post Mortem, Feet of Fines, subsidy rolls, and tax accounts and assessments.

Two other sources are the Guildhall Library, which houses an unrivaled collection of material on families in London, and the College of Arms, which has been empowered to grant and record armorial bearings in England, Wales, Northern Ireland and the British Commonwealth for more than four centuries. Both are located in London.

The College of Arms has built up a large collection of unofficial genealogical material, which, with the officially registered genealogies of numerous families, forms one of the largest genealogical collections in the world. Although the college library is not open to the public, it may be consulted through officers on payment of fees.

In Scotland, compulsory registration of births, marriages and deaths did not begin until 1855. Copies may be obtained from the Registrar General in Edinburgh. The office also houses some 4,000 old parish registers dating back to the 16th Century.

Also in Edinburgh is the Scottish Record Office, which houses indexes of wills, justiciary records, deeds, services of heirs and an assortment of other legal documents which may be consulted.

The Scottish Tartans Society in Edinburgh is the custodian of the world's largest collections of information about tartans. For a small fee, the society will provide identification and information concerning clan, sept, and family links with any particular tartan.

Other sources include the Scottish Genealogy Society and the Scots Ancestry Research Society, both in Edinburgh. Each will conduct searches for fees. Also in Edinburgh is the Public Register of all Arms and Bearings in Scotland and the Public Register of all Genealogies and Birthbrieves in Scotland, which are housed together and provide a wealth of official records on clans and families.

Tracing one's roots in Northern Ireland will be much more difficult mainly because of the split with the Republic of Ireland, but also because of a fire in 1922 that destroyed many records.

Registration of Protestant marriages began in 1845 and of Roman Catholic marriages, births, and deaths in 1864. The original records are in the custody of the Superintendent Registrars and District Registrars of the areas in which the events occurred.

The Public Record Office in Belfast contains many old and helpful documents, even some early rent rolls. Many Presbyterian congregations have deposited their registers with the Presbyterian Historical Society in Belfast. And the Ulster-Scot Historical Foundation, also in Belfast, houses information about Ulster ancestry.

Frontier Wife Had It Rough

NEW YORK (UPI)—When it came to washing clothes, the good old days were pretty bad. America's frontier housewife needed a full day every week to get her washing done. First she had to build a fire to heat the water. Then she had to pump and carry the water, sort and soak the clothes, boil them, scrub them on a washboard, rinse and wring them out by hand, hang them on a line, and finally empty the tubs.

Parents Blamed For Sex Trauma

NEW YORK (UPI)—It is clear from studies of child sexual victims that it is not the sexual assault that usually creates trauma, but the child's parents' behavior upon its discovery and their effects on the child. In an article in the NAMH Reporter, publication of the National Association for Mental Health, one authority said questioning by parents, police and lawyers generally can be far more unsettling to the child than the actual assault.

The authority is LeRoy G. Schultz, associate professor of Social Work at West Virginia University.

Board Sets Session On Complaints

The Marin County Housing Authority will meet in special session tonight at 8 o'clock to review complaints of bungling of the authority's leased housing program by Executive Director Wallace K. Shepherd.

Authority chairman Philip S. Erlich Jr. said the meeting will be based on material submitted by him in the form of a "confidential memorandum" to fellow authority directors. He declined to reveal the contents of the memo, saying he would leave such disclosure to Shepherd.

Erlich said it may be necessary for the authority board to go into closed session to discuss the questions raised by him.

Shepherd could not be reached for comment on reports that his firing would be sought at tonight's special session.

He has been under fire by the Marin County Board of Supervisors which recently called for a grand jury investigation of Shepherd's conduct of authority affairs. Supervisors' ire was stirred by leased housing left vacant and deteriorating while the waiting list for such housing steadily lengthened. Subsequent disclosures had to do with such things as allotting housing mistakenly then rescinding the allotment.

Sausalito Girl Award Winner

Melanie Pervier of Star Route, Muir Beach won top honors in "hunter seat" jumping competition for 16 and 17-year-old riders on Monday and yesterday took first place in English pleasure horse riding, according to a show spokesman.

The horse show, which ended today after a week of competition, hosted more than 700 young riders aged 9 through 17.

Prospective Buyer Fails To Return

A prospective buyer for a beige 1960 Cadillac took the car for a test drive yesterday and did not return it, Malin Maliano Armando of 17 A Taylor Street, San Rafael, reported to police.

The buyer was male Caucasian, about 23 years of age, medium blond hair and blue eyes, according to police reports.

24-Year-Old Jew Handed Russ Notice

MOSCOW (UPI) — Military authorities served a draft notice today on the son of a leading Jewish dissident who has been denied permission to emigrate to Israel, dissident sources said.

They said Yevgeni Levich, 24, an astrophysicist and son of electrochemist Veniamin Levich, was summoned to a Moscow military commissariat and handed a notice advising him he was being inducted into the army on Saturday as a private.

Veniamin Levich, a corresponding member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, is one of the most prominent Soviet citizens who has been denied permission to emigrate to Israel.

The sources said the draft notice to Yevgeni Levich was served in violation of Soviet law, which specifies that no one may be inducted who has not passed a military medical examination.

They said the district military commissariat has at its disposal several documents "proving" that Yevgeni Levich "has several grave illnesses, each of which according to Soviet law excludes the possibility of his being drafted to active service."

Camper Safety Subject Of Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A camper safety bill requiring installation of buzzer systems between camper units and cabs has been endorsed by the Assembly Transportation Committee on a 11-1 vote.

The measure (AB543) by Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Napa, is designed to prevent mishaps such as carbon monoxide poisoning that could be avoided if occupants of the camper could quickly get the attention of the driver. The bill was sent to the Ways and Means Committee.

Nurse Placed On Probation

The Board of Nursing Education and Nurse Registration has placed San Rafael nurse Allisan Rode on five-year probation for "fraudulent representation to obtain a prescription for narcotics," according to the department of consumer affairs.

Her license is subject to revocation any time during the five-year term. The sentence was effective March 22 after the board found her guilty of "unprofessional conduct."

Gas Bubbles Continue To Pop Up In Michigan Resort Town

WILLIAMSBURG, Mich. (UPI) — Eruptions of gas and bubbling mud today widened existing craters and formed news ones with the same intensity of the first eruptions a week ago.

Geologists probing this northern Michigan resort area were pleased that the cratering was confined to a four-square-mile radius, but there seemed to be no letup in sight for the original "danger zone," despite intensified relief drilling operations.

Another family was evacuated from the outskirts of Williamsburg during the night due to high gas level readings. The continued eruptions in the area have caused gas levels to fluctuate.

"The gas levels naturally are building up," said a spokesman for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (NDR), "but this varies greatly with the weather.

"For instance, last night when it was damp and cold the gas levels hit their highest level yet. But then an hour later, the whole thing had lifted," he said.

The spokesman said DNR geologists were encouraged there had been no new reports of eruptions at new locations. But, he added, "this cratering is a very active sort of thing. It keeps going on constantly."

In addition, he said, "gas is seeping through even where there aren't any craters."

Hertz Does Rent Cars For Cash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Hertz Corp. has set the record straight. You don't need a credit card to rent one of their cars. Cash is acceptable.

In fact the nation's number one auto rental company has apologized for a young clerk who refused to rent a car to David K. E. Bruce, now the U.S. Ambassador to China, because all he had was cash—no credit card.

Hertz Monday sent a letter to Bruce in China after learning of the incident from columnist Tom Braden who was standing in line behind Bruce when it happened a year ago.

According to Braden, Bruce went to the Hertz counter at Washington's National Airport upon returning from the Paris peace talks and the clerk asked for his credit card.

"I'm sorry, I don't carry credit cards," he said.

The clerk said sorry but she couldn't rent him a car.

He produced $400 in cash and asked if that was enough for a deposit. Again she refused.

Again, no.

When a bystander suggested the woman call her boss, she refused, and Bruce walked away, without a car.

A spokesman for Hertz described the incident as "an unfortunate administrative error.

"It was then and still is Hertz policy not to require a credit card," he said.

Freshmen At Cal Are Liberal Bent

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A University of California survey shows about half the Berkeley freshmen consider themselves "liberal" and 10 per cent say they are conservative.

The poll report said 32 per cent of the freshmen believe criminals have too many rights and 37 per cent won't support legalized marijuana.

Board Sets Session On Complaints

The Marin County Housing Authority will meet in special session tonight at 8 o'clock to review complaints of bungling of the authority's leased housing program by Executive Director Wallace K. Shepherd.

Authority chairman Philip S. Erlich Jr. said the meeting will be based on material submitted by him in the form of a "confidential memorandum" to fellow authority directors. He declined to reveal the contents of the memo, saying he would leave such disclosure to Shepherd.

Erlich said it may be necessary for the authority board to go into closed session to discuss the questions raised by him.

Shepherd could not be reached for comment on reports that his firing would be sought at tonight's special session.

He has been under fire by the Marin County Board of Supervisors which recently called for a grand jury investigation of Shepherd's conduct of authority affairs. Supervisors' ire was stirred by leased housing left vacant and deteriorating while the waiting list for such housing steadily lengthened. Subsequent disclosures had to do with such things as allotting housing mistakenly then rescinding the allotment.

Hertz Does Rent Cars For Cash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Hertz Corp. has set the record straight. You don't need a credit card to rent one of their cars. Cash is acceptable.

In fact the nation's number one auto rental company has apologized for a young clerk who refused to rent a car to David K. E. Bruce, now the U.S. Ambassador to China, because all he had was cash—no credit card.

Hertz Monday sent a letter to Bruce in China after learning of the incident from columnist Tom Braden who was standing in line behind Bruce when it happened a year ago.

According to Braden, Bruce went to the Hertz counter at Washington's National Airport upon returning from the Paris peace talks and the clerk asked for his credit card.

"I'm sorry, I don't carry credit cards," he said.

The clerk said sorry but she couldn't rent him a car.

He produced $400 in cash and asked if that was enough for a deposit. Again she refused.

Again, no.

When a bystander suggested the woman call her boss, she refused, and Bruce walked away, without a car.

A spokesman for Hertz described the incident as "an unfortunate administrative error.

"It was then and still is Hertz policy not to require a credit card," he said.

WATERGATE MESS: Three Columnists' Views

Symbol Of Dirty System That Is Not 'Just Politics'

By ERNEST B.FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — As the ranks of the indicted, convicted and obviously guilty keep growing, it is past time to put the dirty business beginning with the Watergate into perspective for what it is not.

From the beginning, the Nixon White House and the Committee for the Re-Election of the President wanted the country to think it was just an isolated prank — a "third-rate burglary attempt," as the President's spokesman described it in one of the many misleading statements and worse which he now brushes aside as "inoperative."

Especially during the presidential campaign, they were happy that the great "silent majority" apparently shrugged it off as "just politics," the kind of thing that goes on in both parties all the time.

NOT SO. That itself, if it exists, is a misconception that gives professional politicians a bad name.

The malodorous network of crime very likely never would have been organized and put to work if not for the fact that Mr. Nixon, in his own paranoia, lack of confidence or misguided judgment of individuals, surrounded himself with a phalanx of political amateurs.

Having brought them into his original campaign and transition staffs, he watched them reproduce themselves, in assignments high and low. They were soap salesmen, advertising account executives, bond lawyers, everything but politicians.

In itself, of course, that did not disqualify them for service to the President. But they chose each other for qualities other than political novicehood. The overriding requirement was loyalty —first, at the top level, to the President, be he right or wrong; at lower levels, to the senior man who recruited each, and through him to the President. Implicit in the loyalty requirement was a parallel trait of tough efficiency, the hard-nosed ability to stick to the main objective despite conflicting considerations of public service, for example.

Thus, with enough exceptions to prove the rule, they arrived in Washington distrustful of everyone except each other. The Republican "establishment," the Congress, the press, even outgoing (thus errant) members of their own ranks, were objects of suspicion.

HAD THEY BEEN dedicated students of our political history, a type of which this town and every state capital has a generous share, they could have built on that background in their new roles. Had they come up out of the precincts of Boston or Baltimore, they would have brought self-preserving knowledge of what is and what is not properly done in winning elections.

Instead, the dominant ones came encased in a moral and historical vacuum. To compensate for it, to try to hide it, they overdid their worst traits. Their trademark became an isolated arrogance. They expelled their colleagues who dared mix with the enemy, and who sometimes became contaminated with outside thought.

Their knowledge of history did, however, include Richard Nixon's past successes — in California's 12th Congressional District, in the Senate, running for vice president and President — and how they were achieved. In their vacuum here, the rightness of what they themselves had done was proved by their winning one national election, and they judged what they might do by whether it would help win another.

THAT IS AN atmosphere in which it is permissible, yes urgently desirable, to take dirty tricks from undergraduate elections at the University of Southern California and reproduce them on a national scale, where politics involves war and peace, justice and poverty. It allows the transfer of espionage-sabotage technology direct from spy novels into presidential politics, and justifies lying with a bland, straight face as merely the application of advertising techniques to national affairs.

It may just perhaps be true, as Mr. Nixon is desperately trying to convince us, that he knew nothing about what so many of his intimate aides were doing on his behalf. Perhaps, and perhaps not. But there is no doubt that he himself, his past record, his choice of subordinates, the qualities he sought and encouraged in them all contributed to the atmosphere in which they thought they could get away with such crimes.

That is not "just politics," and it never was. At least, not until this group of nonpoliticans came to town.

Attorney General's Office At Heart Of The Scandal

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — Whatever benefit President Nixon may have gained from his belated disclosure of "major developments" in the Watergate scandal must be measured against the question mark in the public mind about the six months of evasion and denial. How could he not have known about the intrigues initiated within his immediate official family? That is what John Q. Citizen is bound to ask.

Once the Senate had confirmed Richard Kleindienst as attorney general a year ago, the big doubt of the administration's integrity was firmly set in place. In the longest confirmation hearing on record, Kleindienst's connection with the I.T.T. political fix was carefully documented. The vote of 64 to 19 to confirm was a reflection on the Democrats' unwillingness to face up to the revelations before the Judiciary Committee.

Now that Kleindienst has been removed on orders from the White House with any connection with Watergate, he will soon depart. The report current in Washington is that the President may replace him with John Connally of Texas, for whom Mr. Nixon has unbounded admiration. The dramatic impact of such a move is plain enough.

Here comes the bold, unflinching Texan to clean house. He has had no connection with Watergate or with any of those accused of being a party to the scandal. Without fear or favor he will sweep out all with the slightest taint of suspicion. In a speech at Southern Methodist University last week he said the Republicans must not be blamed for Watergate, since it was the fault of the system itself. Needless to say at this stage, no one will comment on this report.

THE OFFICE of Attorney general is the vulnerable point as the name of Kleindienst's predecessor, John N. Mitchell, is increasingly to the fore in the Watergate charges. When he stepped out as attorney general he took over the direction of the campaign to re-elect the President, and he is accused of approving the bugging and the expionage and the payments to the Watergate Seven to keep silent.

As evidence of his continuing involvement was his initiation of a deal to settle out of court the suit brought by the Democratic National Committee against the Committee To Re-Elect the President for $6.4 million. He approached Democratic Chairman Robert Strauss with an offer of $550,000.

This was the political-legal pro of skill and finesse. Strauss was impressed by Mitchell's conciliatory approach and inclined to accept the offer. It would cost $250,000 to prosecute the suit, which the committee does not have, and $550,000 would be a bonanza at this stage. Furthermore, the suit would deflect interest from Sen. Sam Ervin's Watergate investigation on which all attention should be centered.

But voices of discord were quickly raised, illustrating the fragmented nature of the party. Leaders on Capital Hill were in favor of a settlement and so were the Democratic governors. From several state chairmen, however, came a demand to go on to the end. Foremost among these was Massachusetts Chairman Charles Flaherty.

We must, said Flaherty, parade the iniquities of the administration before the world. It happens that neither Flaherty nor anyone else in Massachusetts has given a cent to help the national committee melt down the huge deficit out of the 1972 campaign. Chances for a settlement of the suit with concentration on the Ervin investigation have probably gone by the board. In a three-ring circus atmosphere, the main thrust of the whole business will be lost.

TRAGIC, ABOVE ALL, in the Watergate mess is the way in which it diverts attention from the very real troubles facing on a half-dozen fronts. On the day that flaring headlines reported the latest findings, a half-dozen news stories put in smaller print some of those troubles — oil and Israel, the conflict with the Soviet Union and most-favored nation treatment, the dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

In his first four years President Nixon dealt with many troubles by the simple remedy of rhetoric. It was no time to soil the waters. Send up a message to Congress and let Congress dilly-dally. The second four years would prove the President's capacity to deal with these troubles. And so Watergate was also treated with the rhetoric of denial and evasion.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Cancer Of Secrecy Infects Political Life

Ernest B. Furgurson, Roscoe Drummond and Marquis Childs comment on what initially was called "the Watergate caper." It is now a widening web of campaign corruption, with new disclosures almost daily.

Rus Walton writes of a campaign by Common Cause for a series of reforms, including outlawing of secret political funds, prohibiting campaign contributions by lobbyists, compelling all legislative committee meetings to be open, forcing governmental agencies to make public records truly available to the public, and requiring complete reporting of political campaign contributions.

ALL THESE things, from Watergate to closed committee meetings, are related to one serious illness in our body politic: the desire to supress or evade the public's right to know.

The public is entitled to know what the legislative committees say and do in considering proposed legislation. It is entitled to know who gave how much to what candidate. It is entitled to know how campaign funds are spent. It is entitled to see the record on whatever is done by its government.

Good government can operate in the open. Bad government requires the closed door and the closed book.

The big campaign contributor can put the office holder under obligations which constitute a conflict of interest. "Paying political debts" can become more important than serving the people.

There is another form of conflict of interest of which very little is said. This is the conflict that arrises for lawyer-legislators.

THE MAJORITY of the men and women who write our laws are attorneys. With few exceptions, they still represent private clients — or at least, their firms do.

Who are their clients? The legislator-lawyer is loath to let the public know. He hides behind the supposed confidentiality of the attorney-client relationship.

If a legislator's law firm receives a big retainer from a company with a specific interest, is the legislator likely to support a law that conflicts with that interest?

The influence of these legal clients may be much greater on the lawmaking attorney than the influence of campaign contributors. A $5,000 or $10,000 campaign contribution might sway a vote in some cases; but what of a $25,000 per year legal retainer?

WHILE THE climate is right for reform legislation, how about adding a requirement that all attorneys in lawmaking office — from city council right up to U.S. Senate — publicly list their firms' clients?

We suggest that Common Cause might add that to its package of proposed reforms.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Firemen Demonstrate Tender, Loving Care

I wish to write that I have just witnessed the most tender loving care given by the Sausalito Fire Department to a young man who had fallen from the balcony of the Village Fair and whose injuries were as yet undetermined. The crew of four young men took such pains to not add to his injuries — it was wonderful to behold. He could not have been in better hands, with more concern for his welfare.

A bouquet to the Sausalito Fire Department!

Environmentalists Not In Disrepute In Marin

It's too bad that the editorial writer of "Anti-Environmentalist Backlash" was unidentified. If we knew who he or she was, we could inquire as to the source of information that "environmentalists are in public disrepute."

I consider that statement to be a blatant insult to the majority of Marin County residents. Can the mysterious writer tell us exactly how this disrepute came about? Did it happen because most people want to keep some of the hills in a natural state or because we don't have another bridge across the bay or because we don't have billboards?

Perhaps your esteemed writer could ponder over the possibility that the disreputable environmentalists might be entitled to some of the credit for the fact that "when we awake on a bright spring morning and smell the flower fragrance in the Marin air. . ."

Nixon Now Doing What He Should Have Done Earlier

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon did what had to be done about Watergate, did it with characteristic boldness and just this side of too late.

Most Americans will be relieved that the President is now in the process of penetrating to the bottom — and the top — of the Watergate mess regardless of what comes out or who comes out.

The consequences are bound to be painful and unpalatable. But they will be cleansing.

NIXON IS MAKING certain that the full story of Watergate will now come out in testimony and that none will be shielded from punishment.

This is not an act of virtue; it is an act of necessity. But it is what the nation has wanted all along — no more and no less — so that it could see and feel that the President was on the side of cleanup, not cover-up. Some few may have been relishing the prospect that Nixon might be involved. But I believe most people, whatever they feel about Nixon as a person, do not want to see the presidency stained and stunted by scandal.

The nation, the Republican Party and the President himself would have been spared much tribulation if Richard Nixon had taken time out months ago to reread the speech he delivered in the midst of the 1952 campaign to explain what was called "the Nixon fund" of $18,000 contributed to him by friends. He said:

"I COME BEFORE you tonight as a man whose honesty and integrity has been questioned. Now the usual political thing to do when charges are made against you is to either ignore them or to deny them without giving details.

"I believe we have had enough of that in the United States."

We have had enough of that ever since the Watergate offense 10 months ago. Now President Nixon has seen how right vice presidential candidate Nixon was when he laid it on the line — and won credibility.

THERE IS NO doubt that the President has been grievously disserved by some whom he most trusted. The case of White House counsel John W. Dean III is an example. He was directed to make a "complete" investigation of the whole Watergate thing. On the basis of what Dean reported, Nixon concluded that he could deny "categorically" that anyone in the White House was involved.

A month ago Nixon began his own investigation without Dean and he soon found "major developments in the case" which he had not previously known. Is any conclusion tenable other than that Dean either made an incomplete investigation or chose to leave the President in the dark by not telling all he knew?

EVEN THOUGH the President may not have approved or known about the planned crime does not mean that Nixon is without responsibility.

He hired the people who hired the people who committed the crime.

The tapes and stolen documents were turned over to the President's re-election committee, which did not object to receiving them.

His campaign chairman and his finance chairman permitted hundreds of thousands of dollars in covert bank accounts and handy suitcases to be used as needed.

WHILE THE WASHINGTON Post by its own hard digging was bringing out damaging fact after damaging fact about those involved in the Watergate crime, the White House press secretary was authorized to berate the press for its "irresponsibility." It wasn't the press that was irresponsible.

When a President is the victim of deceitful aides and misguided loyalty, it cannot be overlooked that it is the President who picked them.

How bad is the damage to Nixon? There will be lingering hurt. But much of it can be repaired by worthy accomplishment if there is no further cover-up.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Common Cause Deserves Support In Reform Fight

By RUS WALTON

I do not usually keep company with the likes of the Sierra Club, or the NAACP, or the People's Lobby, or the Women's Political Caucus, or Ralph Nader.

And my acquaintance with Common Cause is, shall we say, an infrequent nod.

But citizen action triggered by the arrogance of politicians creates strange alliances.

SO HERE I AM raising their banner for one specific battle: reform. Because those groups have banded together to seek a reformation that is in the best interests of responsible, representative, and restricted government.

If conservatives have any smarts, they will join the crusade.

First, the reform coalition wants to outlaw secret political slush funds. Hear, hear!

The electorate has a right to know just who is supporting what candidate, or which party, and for how much. In politics, as in poker, everyone should keep their cards and their hands above the table.

Second, the group wants to prohibit lobbyists' gifts and campaign contributions to political candidates. Right on! Under penalty of criminal action.

Lobbyists can and do perform important and valuable services to both the legislators and the public. The legislators cannot possibly amass the facts or assess the impact of the thousands of bills that stream across their desks. Lobbyists can supply the facts and figures and the pros and cons.

But lobbyists should not be permitted to buy votes. Lunch, maybe; but not votes.

NEXT, THE REFORMERS want to do away with all closed meetings of the state legislature. Darned right! Open 'em up.

The public business should be public.

The other week, Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego, pooh-poohed that idea. He said "there is no problem" with secret meetings.

But it was in secret session that his Senate Rules Committee recently voted (3-2) Sen. George Moscone the taxpayers' money for a Los Angeles staff and office. What's a senator from San Francisco doing with an office in Los Angeles? Well, Moscone is running for governor.

Back to reform. The coalition wants all public records of all state agencies available to the press and public. You bet! And the legislature's records, too.

That's not a private corporation or a closed shop those birds and bureaucrats are running. It's our government, and our dough. Open those books!

Finally, the group wants complete and honest reporting of all campaign funds and full disclosure of all assets and income by all public officials.

Why not? Every campaign contribution of more than $50 should be reported, in full and in detail. The voters have a right to know who has what strings on which candidates and which incumbents.

Those are good reforms and that is why I make pillow talk with folks who usually travel in different sleeping bags.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

April 25, 1963

A proposed Marin County budget of $16,234,535, calling for a boost in the county tax rate from $2.07 to $2.48 per $100 assessed valuation, was submitted to the board of supervisors by County Administrator Alan Bruce.

Directors of Marin Hospital District refused to disclose what pay raises they had given Marin General Hospital's administrative staff. The raises were granted in a closed session of the board.

20 YEARS AGO

April 25, 1953

Pravda said the Soviet Union was ready to enter into "business-like discussions" on providing world peace.

Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind.-Oregon) ended a record 22-hour 25-minute filibuster speech in the Senate, which he undertook to dramatize his opposition to a bill giving states rights to offshore oil lands.

It would cost $250,000 to prosecute the suit, which the committee does not have, and $550,000 would be a bonanza at this stage. Furthermore, the suit would deflect interest from Sen. Sam Ervin's Watergate investigation on which all attention should be centered.

But voices of discord were quickly raised, illustrating the fragmented nature of the party. Leaders on Capital Hill were in favor of a settlement and so were the Democratic governors. From several state chairmen, however, came a demand to go on to the end. Foremost among these was Massachusetts Chairman Charles Flaherty.

We must, said Flaherty, parade the iniquities of the administration before the world. It happens that neither Flaherty nor anyone else in Massachusetts has given a cent to help the national committee melt down the huge deficit out of the 1972 campaign. Chances for a settlement of the suit with concentration on the Ervin investigation have probably gone by the board. In a three-ring circus atmosphere, the main thrust of the whole business will be lost.

TRAGIC, ABOVE ALL, in the Watergate mess is the way in which it diverts attention from the very real troubles facing on a half-dozen fronts. On the day that flaring headlines reported the latest findings, a half-dozen news stories put in smaller print some of those troubles — oil and Israel, the conflict with the Soviet Union and most-favored nation treatment, the dismantling of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

In his first four years President Nixon dealt with many troubles by the simple remedy of rhetoric. It was no time to soil the waters. Send up a message to Congress and let Congress dilly-dally. The second four years would prove the President's capacity to deal with these troubles. And so Watergate was also treated with the rhetoric of denial and evasion.

Cancer Of Secrecy Infects Political Life

Ernest B. Furgurson, Roscoe Drummond and Marquis Childs comment on what initially was called "the Watergate caper." It is now a widening web of campaign corruption, with new disclosures almost daily.

Rus Walton writes of a campaign by Common Cause for a series of reforms, including outlawing of secret political funds, prohibiting campaign contributions by lobbyists, compelling all legislative committee meetings to be open, forcing governmental agencies to make public records truly available to the public, and requiring complete reporting of political campaign contributions.

ALL THESE things, from Watergate to closed committee meetings, are related to one serious illness in our body politic: the desire to supress or evade the public's right to know.

The public is entitled to know what the legislative committees say and do in considering proposed legislation. It is entitled to know who gave how much to what candidate. It is entitled to know how campaign funds are spent. It is entitled to see the record on whatever is done by its government.

Good government can operate in the open. Bad government requires the closed door and the closed book.

The big campaign contributor can put the office holder under obligations which constitute a conflict of interest. "Paying political debts" can become more important than serving the people.

There is another form of conflict of interest of which very little is said. This is the conflict that arrises for lawyer-legislators.

THE MAJORITY of the men and women who write our laws are attorneys. With few exceptions, they still represent private clients — or at least, their firms do.

Who are their clients? The legislator-lawyer is loath to let the public know. He hides behind the supposed confidentiality of the attorney-client relationship.

If a legislator's law firm receives a big retainer from a company with a specific interest, is the legislator likely to support a law that conflicts with that interest?

The influence of these legal clients may be much greater on the lawmaking attorney than the influence of campaign contributors. A $5,000 or $10,000 campaign contribution might sway a vote in some cases; but what of a $25,000 per year legal retainer?

WHILE THE climate is right for reform legislation, how about adding a requirement that all attorneys in lawmaking office — from city council right up to U.S. Senate — publicly list their firms' clients?

We suggest that Common Cause might add that to its package of proposed reforms.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Firemen Demonstrate Tender, Loving Care

I wish to write that I have just witnessed the most tender loving care given by the Sausalito Fire Department to a young man who had fallen from the balcony of the Village Fair and whose injuries were as yet undetermined. The crew of four young men took such pains to not add to his injuries — it was wonderful to behold. He could not have been in better hands, with more concern for his welfare.

A bouquet to the Sausalito Fire Department!

Environmentalists Not In Disrepute In Marin

It's too bad that the editorial writer of "Anti-Environmentalist Backlash" was unidentified. If we knew who he or she was, we could inquire as to the source of information that "environmentalists are in public disrepute."

I consider that statement to be a blatant insult to the majority of Marin County residents. Can the mysterious writer tell us exactly how this disrepute came about? Did it happen because most people want to keep some of the hills in a natural state or because we don't have another bridge across the bay or because we don't have billboards?

Perhaps your esteemed writer could ponder over the possibility that the disreputable environmentalists might be entitled to some of the credit for the fact that "when we awake on a bright spring morning and smell the flower fragrance in the Marin air. . ."

Nixon Now Doing What He Should Have Done Earlier

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon did what had to be done about Watergate, did it with characteristic boldness and just this side of too late.

Most Americans will be relieved that the President is now in the process of penetrating to the bottom — and the top — of the Watergate mess regardless of what comes out or who comes out.

The consequences are bound to be painful and unpalatable. But they will be cleansing.

NIXON IS MAKING certain that the full story of Watergate will now come out in testimony and that none will be shielded from punishment.

This is not an act of virtue; it is an act of necessity. But it is what the nation has wanted all along — no more and no less — so that it could see and feel that the President was on the side of cleanup, not cover-up. Some few may have been relishing the prospect that Nixon might be involved. But I believe most people, whatever they feel about Nixon as a person, do not want to see the presidency stained and stunted by scandal.

The nation, the Republican Party and the President himself would have been spared much tribulation if Richard Nixon had taken time out months ago to reread the speech he delivered in the midst of the 1952 campaign to explain what was called "the Nixon fund" of $18,000 contributed to him by friends. He said:

"I COME BEFORE you tonight as a man whose honesty and integrity has been questioned. Now the usual political thing to do when charges are made against you is to either ignore them or to deny them without giving details.

"I believe we have had enough of that in the United States."

We have had enough of that ever since the Watergate offense 10 months ago. Now President Nixon has seen how right vice presidential candidate Nixon was when he laid it on the line — and won credibility.

THERE IS NO doubt that the President has been grievously disserved by some whom he most trusted. The case of White House counsel John W. Dean III is an example. He was directed to make a "complete" investigation of the whole Watergate thing. On the basis of what Dean reported, Nixon concluded that he could deny "categorically" that anyone in the White House was involved.

A month ago Nixon began his own investigation without Dean and he soon found "major developments in the case" which he had not previously known. Is any conclusion tenable other than that Dean either made an incomplete investigation or chose to leave the President in the dark by not telling all he knew?

EVEN THOUGH the President may not have approved or known about the planned crime does not mean that Nixon is without responsibility.

He hired the people who hired the people who committed the crime.

The tapes and stolen documents were turned over to the President's re-election committee, which did not object to receiving them.

His campaign chairman and his finance chairman permitted hundreds of thousands of dollars in covert bank accounts and handy suitcases to be used as needed.

WHILE THE WASHINGTON Post by its own hard digging was bringing out damaging fact after damaging fact about those involved in the Watergate crime, the White House press secretary was authorized to berate the press for its "irresponsibility." It wasn't the press that was irresponsible.

When a President is the victim of deceitful aides and misguided loyalty, it cannot be overlooked that it is the President who picked them.

How bad is the damage to Nixon? There will be lingering hurt. But much of it can be repaired by worthy accomplishment if there is no further cover-up.

Common Cause Deserves Support In Reform Fight

By RUS WALTON

I do not usually keep company with the likes of the Sierra Club, or the NAACP, or the People's Lobby, or the Women's Political Caucus, or Ralph Nader.

And my acquaintance with Common Cause is, shall we say, an infrequent nod.

But citizen action triggered by the arrogance of politicians creates strange alliances.

SO HERE I AM raising their banner for one specific battle: reform. Because those groups have banded together to seek a reformation that is in the best interests of responsible, representative, and restricted government.

If conservatives have any smarts, they will join the crusade.

First, the reform coalition wants to outlaw secret political slush funds. Hear, hear!

The electorate has a right to know just who is supporting what candidate, or which party, and for how much. In politics, as in poker, everyone should keep their cards and their hands above the table.

Second, the group wants to prohibit lobbyists' gifts and campaign contributions to political candidates. Right on! Under penalty of criminal action.

Lobbyists can and do perform important and valuable services to both the legislators and the public. The legislators cannot possibly amass the facts or assess the impact of the thousands of bills that stream across their desks. Lobbyists can supply the facts and figures and the pros and cons.

But lobbyists should not be permitted to buy votes. Lunch, maybe; but not votes.

NEXT, THE REFORMERS want to do away with all closed meetings of the state legislature. Darned right! Open 'em up.

The public business should be public.

The other week, Sen. James Mills, D-San Diego, pooh-poohed that idea. He said "there is no problem" with secret meetings.

But it was in secret session that his Senate Rules Committee recently voted (3-2) Sen. George Moscone the taxpayers' money for a Los Angeles staff and office. What's a senator from San Francisco doing with an office in Los Angeles? Well, Moscone is running for governor.

Back to reform. The coalition wants all public records of all state agencies available to the press and public. You bet! And the legislature's records, too.

That's not a private corporation or a closed shop those birds and bureaucrats are running. It's our government, and our dough. Open those books!

Finally, the group wants complete and honest reporting of all campaign funds and full disclosure of all assets and income by all public officials.

Why not? Every campaign contribution of more than $50 should be reported, in full and in detail. The voters have a right to know who has what strings on which candidates and which incumbents.

Those are good reforms and that is why I make pillow talk with folks who usually travel in different sleeping bags.

CTA Claims Victories In School Board Votes

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

At 1825 Magnolia Avenue in Burlingame, in a building which houses offices of the California Teachers Association's Bay Section Credit Union and Northern California membership processing, is also headquarters of the Association for Better Citizenship.

This organization was formed by the CTA as its "volunteer political action arm" during last year's election campaign. Its purpose is to raise funds and do campaigning for what CTA calls "good education candidates."

After the November, 1972, election, the Association for Better Citizenship claimed that 75 per cent of those it supported had won office.

THIS YEAR, ABC put its muscle into school board campaigns. And following the April 17 school board elections, it issued a press release claiming that 152 of 258 candidates it backed had won office — nearly 60 per cent success record.

ABC stayed out of many of the more than 1,000 school board elections held April 17. It generally ignored the smaller districts. The announcement quoted Jack L. Rowe of Merced, ABC chairman, as saying the 258 candidates whom teachers "backed financially and/or worked for" were in 114 elections.

It said more than $100,000 in teacher contributions was put into these candidates' campaigns.

Candidates elected with CTA backing through ABC unseated 69 incumbents, according to the announcement.

ABC BOASTED a "clean sweep" by candidates it backed to win board majorities in Cajon Valley School District in San Diego County, Valley Oaks in Ventura County, Madera Unified in Madera County, and San Mateo Elementary in San Mateo County. It claimed defeat of two incumbents, one a 20-year veteran, in South San Francisco, and election of five of six candidates it backed, unseating three incumbents, in Stockton, where all seven board positions were open.

Rowe said ABC was finding that "voters listen to teachers when they recommend which candidates are for good education," and that "the public wants school board members who are more in tune with the times."

Its success, he said, "dramatically illustrated there is 'teacher punch' at the polls."

Local members selected candidates to back, according to the announcement, subject to approval by the board of directors of CTA's political arm.

WHO ARE "good education" candidates in CTA's view? Presumably they are those who support the same things supported by CTA. A survey of legislation backed by CTA in current and recent legislative sessions indicates this means they are for these things:

Tighter teacher tenure; higher teacher salaries; more money for the schools, especially through state taxes; teacher organization participation in all school board decisions; smaller class sizes; state-funded educational experimentation; greater retirement and fringe benefits for teachers.

And — since it has No. 1 priority on CTA's legislative list — presumably they support exclusive union representation of teachers in the public schools.

Undoubtedly there are other criteria for CTA (ABC) backing of candidates, including a generally supportive attitude toward public school teachers and current education trends. Being "in tune with the times" would indicate support for open-classroom and off-campus education "alternative education" programs, less emphasis on "basics." All these are currently popular in educator circles.

If ABC had been in existence a decade ago, presumably it would have backed candidates who considered union-type negotiation, compulsory union membership and strikes all highly "unprofessional" for teachers — since that was then the position of CTA and its parent National Education Association. But no more!

Former Member Of Probe Unit Given Sentence

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An 18-year-old former member of a citizens committee investigating Sacramento police practices has been placed on two years probation after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of assaulting a highway patrolman.

Tyrone H. Metters was arrested March 15 after he fled from a highway patrolman and refused to produce identification. He was subdued by three officers after a short chase.

In pronouncing sentence Tuesday, Municipal Court Judge Edward Garcia said he thought the incident resulted from Netters' "own bad judgment and immaturity." Netters also was fined $100.

Additional charges against Netters, including resisting arrest and refusing to show a driver's license, were dismissed.

Pittsburg Remembers Blow Of Camp Stoneman Closing

By KENNETH J. BRADDICK

PITTSBURG, Calif. (UPI) — There's no longer a machinegun mounted in the main street to keep law and order, and gone are the taxicabs that carried young men and women in pursuit of pleasure.

The "New World" housing subdivision and rows of shiny new automobiles stand where once were lines of olive-drab barracks that made up Camp Stoneman, the final staging area for two million Americans sent to fight in the Pacific in World War II and the Korean conflict.

But the scars on this town are visible in old signs bearing such reminders as "Stoneman Water and Sewer Works," boarded-up stores and paint flaking from old movie houses.

Although it's 19 years since the 1,800-acre installation closed, Stoneman changed forever the town of Pittsburg, nestled in hills on the banks of the San Joaquin River 40 miles northeast of San Francisco.

The experience of Pittsburg is what many communities face across the United States with the closure of military bases as a cost-saving measure ordered by the Pentagon.

A U.S. Steel plant—the founding of which led to the name being changed from Black Diamond to the misspelled birthplace of the country's steel industry —and a fishing industry run primarily by Italian immigrants were the life of the town which then had a population of less than 10,000.

"In those days the construction workers would pay $65 a month for a one-bedroom apartment, at a time when a dollar was a dollar," he said. "People just wanted a place to live and they were willing to rent a garage just to put down a bedroll."

Mrs. Yount remembers it also as a time when the townspeople learned to lock their doors for the first time. Other oldtimers recall how MPs set up a machinegun on the main street to keep law and order among the soldiers on their last fling before leaving on troop ships not knowing whether they would return.

Aside from the thousands of troops weekly passing through Stoneman, the camp employed 800 civilians and 1,500 soldiers were permanently assigned to the base, a hefty payroll for a town such as Pittsburg.

King O. Tolles, a drug store owner and onetime president of the Greater Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce, remembers when there were four movie houses, 12 jewelry stores, seven army-navy stores, more than 100 taxicabs, five drug stores in competition with his and about 30 bars in the downtown area. He had a standing order with a toy company for 288 giant stuffed animals a week and up to 500 silver dresser sets.

Tolle's drug store became the last left downtown, more closed, and all the taxicabs went out of business.

Only a handful of bars remained, and the once rollicking Los Medanos Hotel barely gets by as a $5 a night rooming house.

Mrs. Yount lost her job when the electrical appliance store she worked for shut down. She found a job with the state employment office when she went to get unemployment insurance.

The blow was cushioned somewhat by the steel mill and some other major industries such as Continental Can Co., Dow Chemical and the railroad whose tracks still run across the main street, Railroad Avenue.

"We're still trying to recover," said S. Anthony Donato, manager of the city whose population has now swelled to 24,000.

Unemployment still ranges between 18 and 24 per cent, but, as Tolles said, the city is pulling itself up by the bootstraps.

Boosted by the slogan "City on the Move," businessmen, residents and city employes working in the modern buildings of the new civic center are optimistic about the future.

"Tell San Francisco to stop wailing so much," declared one businessman of the outburst that came last week with the order to close the Hunter's Point Naval shipyard which employs 5,600 persons. "They should take a lesson from what we've done."

The city budget of $3.8 million this fiscal year has been boosted by $4 million from the federal government to help redevelop the downtown area and provide housing for low-income residents.

A 200-boat harbor with restaurants and other services is planned to add to the present facilities. Excellent railroad service is being offered as an inducement to new industries. Housing subdivisions and apartment complexes are mushrooming from the still dilapidated waterfront to the new bedroom suburbs on the south side of Highway 4 that is the social demarcation line of modern-day Pittsburg as the railroad tracks once were.

A new campus for Pittsburg high school is a building on part of the land once occupied by Stoneman, Los Medanos Junior College is to open another section in the fall. We're getting the kind of growth that other communities closer to the San Francisco Bay Area were getting," said city manager Donato. "It's the bedroom suburb type."

A suburban home priced at, say, $40,000 in communities closer to San Francisco can be had for $30,000-$32,000 in Pittsburg, largely because of lower land costs and readily available labor.

As a result, city hall is hoping to raise median income from the present figure of about $9,000 to the prevailing $11,000-$12,000 throughout the rest of Contra Costa County.

Bahia Master Plan Reviewed

The Novato City Council held to the Bahia Master Plan, up to 2,250 homes in the Bahia area, in its review Monday night of the Novato General Plan map, according to senior planner Mark Westfall.

The master plan calls for development of single-family homes on about 780 acres west of the Petaluma River.

The council also set lot sizes ranging from 10 to 60 acres for the McAlester Construction Co. land, 574 acres east of Bel Marin Keys and south of Novato Creek.

On the 25-acre Lundblad-Hobbs-Solloway property north of Marion School the council said it will allow 29 to 58 houses. The property owners sought 154 houses on the site.

Newsword Adventure

The job of a grand jury is to decide if there is sufficient evidence to bring criminal charges against someone, or, in some cases, to probe alleged illegal or improper activities. Although the grand jury may have started in ancient Athens, the modern idea of such a jury dates from 14th Century England. Only in the U.S., however, is the system still in use today. Apart from members of the armed forces, the 5th Amendment to the Constitution says that no person can be held for a "capital, or otherwise infamous crime," unless on a ruling by a grand jury. Although guaranteed on a federal level, the grand jury system is used by less than half the states.

DO YOU KNOW — What is the jury called that decides guilt or innocence?

TUESDAY'S ANSWER — Phnom Penh is Cambodia's capital.

CTA Claims Victories In School Board Votes

Being "in tune with the times" would indicate support for open-classroom and off-campus education "alternative education" programs, less emphasis on "basics." All these are currently popular in educator circles.

If ABC had been in existence a decade ago, presumably it would have backed candidates who considered union-type negotiation, compulsory union membership and strikes all highly "unprofessional" for teachers — since that was then the position of CTA and its parent National Education Association. But no more!

Former Member Of Probe Unit Given Sentence

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An 18-year-old former member of a citizens committee investigating Sacramento police practices has been placed on two years probation after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of assaulting a highway patrolman.

Tyrone H. Metters was arrested March 15 after he fled from a highway patrolman and refused to produce identification. He was subdued by three officers after a short chase.

In pronouncing sentence Tuesday, Municipal Court Judge Edward Garcia said he thought the incident resulted from Netters' "own bad judgment and immaturity." Netters also was fined $100.

Additional charges against Netters, including resisting arrest and refusing to show a driver's license, were dismissed.

Closed Meeting

The Tamalpais High School District board has called a special meeting at 8:30 p.m. today to discuss in closed session litigation by Allender Co. in connection with board refusal to pay the firm for furniture ordered without board knowledge for the office of Tamalpais High's educational leader, Lawrence Sheppard, last fall.

Pittsburg Remembers Blow Of Camp Stoneman Closing

By KENNETH J. BRADDICK

PITTSBURG, Calif. (UPI) — There's no longer a machinegun mounted in the main street to keep law and order, and gone are the taxicabs that carried young men and women in pursuit of pleasure.

The "New World" housing subdivision and rows of shiny new automobiles stand where once were lines of olive-drab barracks that made up Camp Stoneman, the final staging area for two million Americans sent to fight in the Pacific in World War II and the Korean conflict.

But the scars on this town are visible in old signs bearing such reminders as "Stoneman Water and Sewer Works," boarded-up stores and paint flaking from old movie houses.

Although it's 19 years since the 1,800-acre installation closed, Stoneman changed forever the town of Pittsburg, nestled in hills on the banks of the San Joaquin River 40 miles northeast of San Francisco.

The experience of Pittsburg is what many communities face across the United States with the closure of military bases as a cost-saving measure ordered by the Pentagon.

A U.S. Steel plant—the founding of which led to the name being changed from Black Diamond to the misspelled birthplace of the country's steel industry —and a fishing industry run primarily by Italian immigrants were the life of the town which then had a population of less than 10,000.

"In those days the construction workers would pay $65 a month for a one-bedroom apartment, at a time when a dollar was a dollar," he said. "People just wanted a place to live and they were willing to rent a garage just to put down a bedroll."

Mrs. Yount remembers it also as a time when the townspeople learned to lock their doors for the first time. Other oldtimers recall how MPs set up a machinegun on the main street to keep law and order among the soldiers on their last fling before leaving on troop ships not knowing whether they would return.

Aside from the thousands of troops weekly passing through Stoneman, the camp employed 800 civilians and 1,500 soldiers were permanently assigned to the base, a hefty payroll for a town such as Pittsburg.

King O. Tolles, a drug store owner and onetime president of the Greater Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce, remembers when there were four movie houses, 12 jewelry stores, seven army-navy stores, more than 100 taxicabs, five drug stores in competition with his and about 30 bars in the downtown area. He had a standing order with a toy company for 288 giant stuffed animals a week and up to 500 silver dresser sets.

Tolle's drug store became the last left downtown, more closed, and all the taxicabs went out of business.

Only a handful of bars remained, and the once rollicking Los Medanos Hotel barely gets by as a $5 a night rooming house.

Mrs. Yount lost her job when the electrical appliance store she worked for shut down. She found a job with the state employment office when she went to get unemployment insurance.

The blow was cushioned somewhat by the steel mill and some other major industries such as Continental Can Co., Dow Chemical and the railroad whose tracks still run across the main street, Railroad Avenue.

"We're still trying to recover," said S. Anthony Donato, manager of the city whose population has now swelled to 24,000.

Unemployment still ranges between 18 and 24 per cent, but, as Tolles said, the city is pulling itself up by the bootstraps.

Boosted by the slogan "City on the Move," businessmen, residents and city employes working in the modern buildings of the new civic center are optimistic about the future.

"Tell San Francisco to stop wailing so much," declared one businessman of the outburst that came last week with the order to close the Hunter's Point Naval shipyard which employs 5,600 persons. "They should take a lesson from what we've done."

The city budget of $3.8 million this fiscal year has been boosted by $4 million from the federal government to help redevelop the downtown area and provide housing for low-income residents.

A 200-boat harbor with restaurants and other services is planned to add to the present facilities. Excellent railroad service is being offered as an inducement to new industries. Housing subdivisions and apartment complexes are mushrooming from the still dilapidated waterfront to the new bedroom suburbs on the south side of Highway 4 that is the social demarcation line of modern-day Pittsburg as the railroad tracks once were.

A new campus for Pittsburg high school is a building on part of the land once occupied by Stoneman, Los Medanos Junior College is to open another section in the fall. We're getting the kind of growth that other communities closer to the San Francisco Bay Area were getting," said city manager Donato. "It's the bedroom suburb type."

A suburban home priced at, say, $40,000 in communities closer to San Francisco can be had for $30,000-$32,000 in Pittsburg, largely because of lower land costs and readily available labor.

As a result, city hall is hoping to raise median income from the present figure of about $9,000 to the prevailing $11,000-$12,000 throughout the rest of Contra Costa County.

Bahia Master Plan Reviewed

The Novato City Council held to the Bahia Master Plan, up to 2,250 homes in the Bahia area, in its review Monday night of the Novato General Plan map, according to senior planner Mark Westfall.

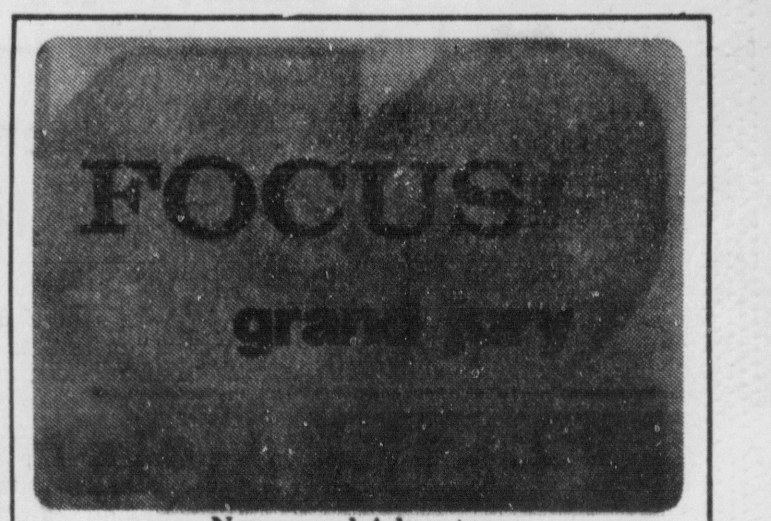
The master plan calls for development of single-family homes on about 780 acres west of the Petaluma River.

The council also set lot sizes ranging from 10 to 60 acres for the McAlester Construction Co. land, 574 acres east of Bel Marin Keys and south of Novato Creek.

On the 25-acre Lundblad-Hobbs-Solloway property north of Marion School the council said it will allow 29 to 58 houses. The property owners sought 154 houses on the site.

POW Classes

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — The Air Force announced Tuesday that 235 former prisoners of war will begin attending classes at Naxwell Air Force Base April 30 to bring them up to date on world and cultural affairs.



Newsword Adventure

The job of a grand jury is to decide if there is sufficient evidence to bring criminal charges against someone, or, in some cases, to probe alleged illegal or improper activities. Although the grand jury may have started in ancient Athens, the modern idea of such a jury dates from 14th Century England. Only in the U.S., however, is the system still in use today. Apart from members of the armed forces, the 5th Amendment to the Constitution says that no person can be held for a "capital, or otherwise infamous crime," unless on a ruling by a grand jury. Although guaranteed on a federal level, the grand jury system is used by less than half the states.

DO YOU KNOW — What is the jury called that decides guilt or innocence?

TUESDAY'S ANSWER — Phnom Penh is Cambodia's capital.

BANK OF AMERICA
for the business of living

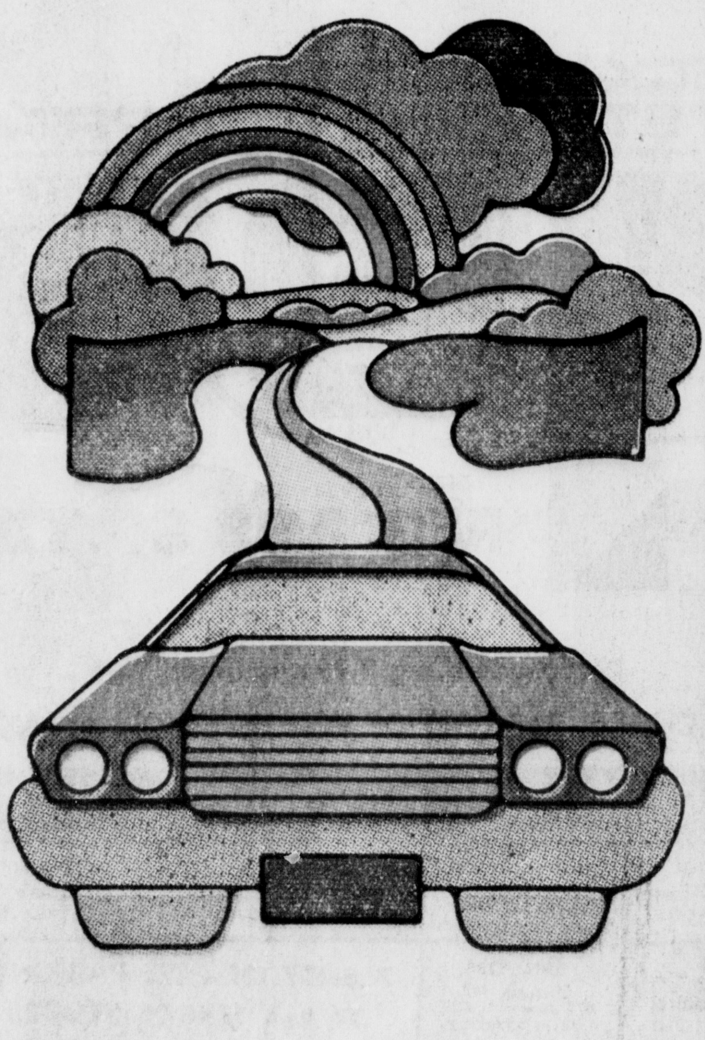
Auto Loans

How better to greet spring than with a bright new car? Bank of America offers you three ways to go.

The regular New-Car Loan. Most people finance their new wheels this way. Through dealers or directly with us. It's quick and very simple.

Auto-Magic. The new way to finance your new car. Rock-bottom monthly payments. How to get that special car you thought you couldn't afford. Ask your auto dealer.

Leasing. Many find it advantageous to lease their new car. We can help here, too. Plans are now available at many Bank of America auto dealers.



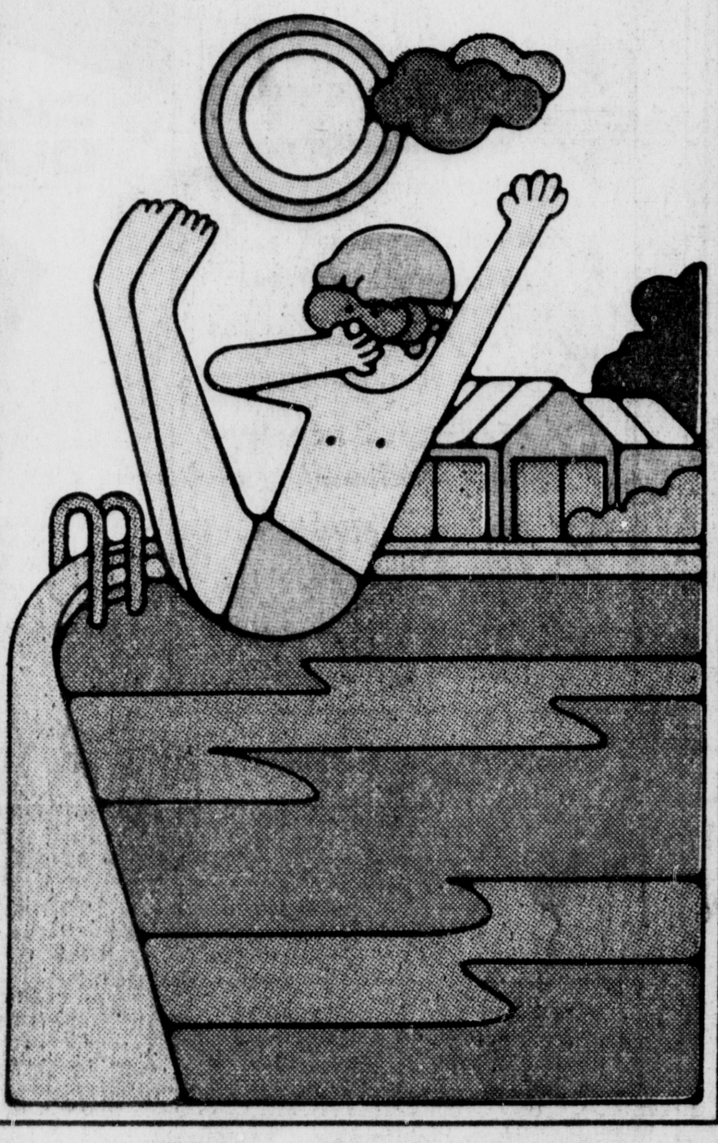
Home Improvement Loans

There's no better investment than your own home. Why wait to improve it?

A new room. A new pool. New carpeting or drapes. From the smallest fixing up to a major renovation, a Bank of America home improvement loan can make it happen. We're an equal housing lender and make all our loans without regard to race, color, religion or national origin.

Talk to a Bank of America loan officer or your contractor soon. Spend spring in your colorful new, old home.

EQUAL HOUSING LENDER

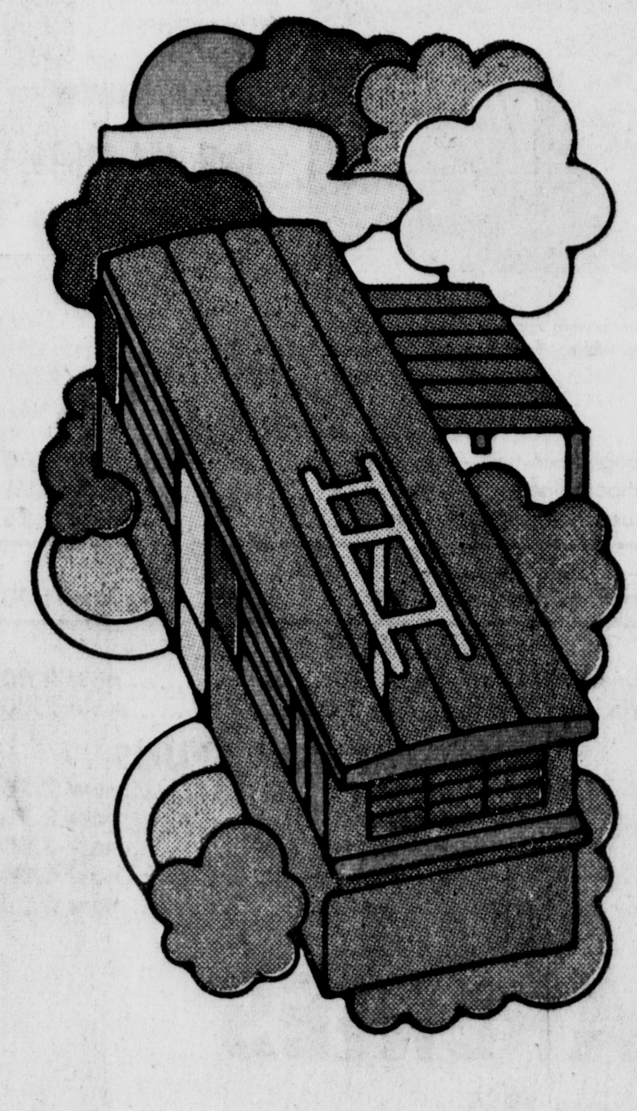


Mobile Home Loans

Mobile home living has a lot to offer. Low down payment. No big mortgage or upkeep costs. An exciting choice of locations. It's an easy, inexpensive way to live. And Bank of America can make it your way.

Just ask a mobile home dealer or Bank of America loan officer about our financing. It can be tailored to fit your needs quickly, simply.

If mobile home living intrigues you, look into it. Then, look into Bank of America financing. They're both nice and easy.



Leisure Loans

Boats or planes. Campers, trailers or motor homes. Bank of America can help you out with just about anything that makes your leisure-time fun.
